Dr. Robert Milisen of Indiana University is in charge of the clinics.
Specialists are Francis Sondag, administrator of speech tests; Florence Woods, in charge of psychological tests; Vivian Roe, chief speech correctionist, and Dr. Warren H. Fardner, director of hearing tests.

Free transportation is being provided for those who wish to be examined, through the cooperation of Superintendent of schools, Merle J.
Abbett.

Library Committee To Review Books

Book Selection Is Semi-Annual Affair; Two Books Will Be Chosen To Add To Library

Members of the book selection committee will perform at the next meeting of the Library Club, Tuesday, April 18. These committeemen are Betty Daniels, Phyllis Tyndall, Marcia Allen, Maurice Lehman, Betty Rose, Dick Strasburg, Laura Ellen Augsburger, Erna Jackson, Emilou
Allendorph, Dick Dyke, Max Mitchell and Marge Rapp. Each person is to select some book he particularly likes, preferably one he has already read, and give a brief synopsis of it.

Miss Emma Shoup has in her possession several book reviews of books published in 1939 and the latter part of 1938 from which members can select the one they wish to review.

This book selection week is a semi-annual event in the Library Club and each time two books are chosen by the whole club. Usually the books are either fiction, biography, travel or adventure. Members of the club are allowed first chance at reading them before they are turned out for general circulation. "The Citadel" by Archibald Cronin, and "Code of the Woosters" by P. G. Woodhouse, were the two books selected last semester.

Grads Made Officers

Bryce Miner and Leslie Johnson, alumni of South Side, were made officers of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity. They attend Northwestern University. Bryce and Leslie were made president and herald.

Senior Thespians Ready To Present Play On Saturday

Directs Play

Miss Margery Suter

Miss Margery Suter, dramatic instructor at the three Fort Wayne public high schools, will direct the South Side Senior Play, "Mrs. Partridge Presents."

New Members Of Quill, Scroll Are Published

Twenty-One Senior Workers Are Named At Times Pot-luck, Will Receive Pins

Twenty-one senior Times staff members were named for Quill and Scroll membership at the last Times potluck,
March 30, in the cafeteria. Miss Harvey announced the new members, who with six others, constitute the entire Quill and Scroll membership for South Side, at this potluck.

Twice a year, usually at Times or 1500 Club potlucks, new members for Quill and Scroll are announced. Only seniors in the upper third of their class are eligible for this award.

Last fall six members were named.
This spring one of the largest groups ever had at this school joined the Quill and Scroll, which is a society for persons who are interested in journalism and have worked for the high school newspapers.

The new members are Helen Banks,
Vera Berning, Betty Bolyard, Richard Buchholz, Wilma Carrier, Beth Ellen Chadwick, Betty Daniels, Donna Dennis, Gwendolyn DeWees, Janice Dyer, Richard Garton, Beverly Ann Griffith, Eileen Hoffman, Nadine Mueller, Betty Neeb, Margery Rapp, Lois Rea, Betty Showalter, Max Spencer, Jeanette Warren and Kenny Warren. Previous members of Quill and Scroll are Julia Ann Smith, Ed Reeves, Eleanor Vesey, Phyllis Geller, Frieda Schubert and Joe Bex.

The new members will receive Quill and Scroll pins as a reward for their effort on behalf of The South Side Times.

Peggy Woodhull, '38, is home for a few days from Western College, Oxford, Ohio, where she is now a student.

Grad At Home

"Mrs. Partridge Presents",
Three-Act Play, Will Be Presented In Gym At 8:30

Tickets Will Sell
For 35, 50 Cents

May Be Bought From Cast
Or Upperclass S.P.C.'ers;
Reserved, Bleacher Seats

The Senior play, "Mrs. Partridge Presents," will be presented in the gymnasium on Saturday night, April 15, at 8:30 o'clock. This is a three-act play written by Mary Kennedy and Ruth Hawthorne for high school students' presentation.

In the play the heroine is Mrs.
Partridge, a woman of tremendous energy, who tries to preside over the careers of her two children, Delight and Phillip. She struggles to give her children the opportunities she herself missed, but the children eventually revolt against her well-meant management.

Parts Described
Margaret Gross will take the part of Mrs. Partridge. Margaret says that she is "A rather sophisticated woman of thirty-seven years. I run a fashionable shop and intend to shape the life careers of my children. I would pass for a domineering person, but I really am rather flighty. I am supposed to be a good business woman, but I get into some bad scrapes where a man has to get me out."

The part of the son, Phillip, is played by Bill Newhard. Bill says of himself in the play, "I'm a young fellow who is attending art school. I'm a sort of happy-go-lucky person with no worries in the world. I don't like art school, but my mother is so dominating that I go just to please her. I would rather travel and see the world.
Another thing, I really like my sister,
Delight, but I do love to tease her."

Delight, Mrs. Partridge's daughter, is portrayed by Kitty Clinard. Kitty sums up the character she plays with "Well, I'm 19 and up to this time I have never revolted against my mother's wishes. Neither have I had any beaus until now. When my mother was young, she wanted to be an actress; and since she couldn't, she always wanted her daughter to be one. But I have no desire to be an actress, but I try, just to please Mother. I might say, too, that although I won't admit it, I have the same kind of temperament that she has, very fiery."

The rest of the cast includes William Germand, as a friend of Mrs.
Partridge, named Stephen Applegate;
Kenneth Warren, who plays the part of Sydney Armstead, a friend of Delight's; and Donna Lou Foutz, who will be seen as Kathryn Everett, a friend of the Partridge family. Other characters include Beverly Ann Griffith, Dick Garton, Lois Rea, Eleanor Vesey, Hazel Perry, Virginia Shidler, and Helen Wiehe.

Act Managers Chosen
Act managers have been chosen by Miss Margery Suter, the director of the play. They are Act 1, Raftida Laudadio; Act 2, Phyllis Branning; and Act 3, Helen Wiehe. These managers must see to all the props needed during their act and also act as prompters.

The first act is to take place in the Partridge living room as does also the second act. The scene for act 3 will represent a Hat Shop in which the concluding action of the play takes place.

Tickets for the play may be purchased from any senior student of S. P. C. or from some member of the cast. Tickets are priced at 35 and 50 cents. The 50 cent seats will be reserved on the floor of the gym. The other tickets are for the seats in the bleachers.

April Fool Party Staged By U. S. A.

Bernadine Bender, Elinor Muntzinger, Marilyn Sappington Give Talks On Superstition.

An April Fool's Party was held at the last meeting of the U. S. A.
Club. Dunce caps were worn by the members of the club. Talks on superstitions were given by Elinor Muntzinger, Bernadine Bender, and Marilyn Sappington. Elinor gave a talk on superstitions of crossing knives.
The title of the talk Bernadine gave was superstitions of black cats. Superstitions of kissing the bride at home was given by Marilyn.

Games and entertainment also were provided during the meeting. Riddles were read and questioned. A hundred per cent test was given.
Cards were given to the members. On these cards were little poems. The members were asked to read and act the part out given on the card.

Pamphlets called "Easter Meditations" were given to each member.
These pamphlets were made by the Girl Reserves Inter-club Council. The cover of the pamphlet was designed by Velma Connett of So-Si-Y. On front of the pamphlet are Easter lilies.

The meeting was closed by refreshments of candy suckers.

The committee in charge was headed by Irene Franke. Assisting her is Jane Cocks, Delores Reiter, Elinor Muntzinger, Marilyn Sappington, and Bernadine Bender.

Donna Lou Foutz

Kitty Clinard

Margaret Gross

Margaret Gross, Donna Lou Foutz, and Kitty Clinard will play the leading feminine roles in the South Side Senior Play, "Mrs. Partridge Presents." They will take the following parts: Margaret Gross as Mrs. Partridge; Kitty Clinard as Delight Partridge, the daughter; and Donna Lou Foutz as Katherine Everett, a friend of the Partridge family. Miss Margery Suter will again direct the senior play as she has ever since South Side first opened the doors. Others in the cast are: William Newhard, William Germand, Kenneth Warren, Beverly Ann Griffith, Richard Garton, Lois Rea, Eleanor Vesey, Hazel Perry, Virginia Shidler, and Helen Wiehe.

Don't forget fellows! Those two classical dance events are nearly here. Get your tickets early.

All Social Scientists are gayly preparing for a many-towered confab here April 21. Interesting items for intelligent folk.

With the springy vacation session out of the way, all agreeable Archers once more resume the quieter life trends in the cycle of worldly and goodly study.

Three Cheers For Book Club!

There are many organizations around school that do a lot and yet seldom get praised. Probably the best example is the Library Club. The members and the librarian take a lot from and do a lot for all South Side. Did you ever stop to think what you would do without the library? Well, first of all, practically every night you would have to go down town to the main library, which in most cases would be impossible. Just think a moment of all the services performed by the library staff. You can go in and ask about some of the most unheard of subjects and almost always be sure of getting what you want. Any day in the week you can go into the library and say, "I wanna 'fight'" and find the staff very obliging. And in numerous other ways you will find them lending aid. Everyone who goes into the library could help make it more pleasant for the workers by being more congenial, and maybe it wouldn't be such a bad idea to tell them how much you appreciate what they are doing even though it isn't courtesy week.

Don't Forget To Attend Your Own Archer Entertainments

From now on till school closes in June, many South Side organizations are going to hold various social events that should be attended by a majority of the student body.

Each of these activities takes a great deal of time and effort on the part of those presenting them. For instance, the senior play. Every year a number of enterprising seniors struggle with lines and practice until they could just about do the entire play by themselves. To show our appreciation for this work of true art, we should at least buy a ticket and attend the play.

This same principle applies to many other Archer activities. The sophomore party, the junior prom, the senior dance, banquets, and other activities should be promoted by us Archers. Why go to some outside source for entertainment when our own friends can satisfy many of our demands? Unless we support the various activities of the students of this school, they cannot be continued; and enough of us realize what a catastrophe that would be to cause us to support South Side.

What has something else got that South Side hasn't got? Not very much, so be loyal Archers and support the Archer activities.

Well, Fellows! With Spring Vacation Gone, How About Studies?

There comes a time every once in a while when we find out the terrible fact that a vacation is over, and once more the time actually to study has come. We are now living in a period of this nature. Spring vacation is over, and so is that first half of the semester.

Now that our annual spring loaf is completed, at least technically, we should get back to work and bring our year of school to a satisfactory close. We have received our grade cards and know just how we stand in the field of studies and whether we are getting thoroughly satisfactory grades or are just sliding through. If you belong to the latter category, remember that it is to your benefit that you get good grades or at least make a fair showing.

Always when we get our grade cards, a large number of us resolve to do better next time; but how many of us ever live up to our resolutions? Not many. This time, however, let's see if we can't struggle through with some home work instead of sitting in class for the rest we get in the class rooms.

It does us no good to take snap courses and slide through high school, because if we expect to live after we leave high school we must have some education; and many of us want to go to college, but this would be an impossibility if we can't ever study here.

Most of us are capable of turning over a new leaf and making something of ourselves. So let's try to do this thing. Remember you can make up for a poor beginning with a good ending, and this is for your benefit.

Exchange Extracts

The Keynote declares that artists of the school have made several clever puppets, dressed then in gaily colored costumes; and they are now dangling from the art room windows. One was a likeness of Pappy of the Lil Abner comic strip fame. The models usually have plastic wood or carved heads. The arms are thin pieces of wood, jointed at the elbows. Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan.

A few helpful hints for soon-to-be job hunters were listed in the North Wind. First important is to procure any possible letters of introduction and recommendation. Personality, promptness, neatness, and smartness in appearance are also deciding factors. Don't be in a big rush, give the employer a chance, and maybe he will do the same for you. Flint, Michigan.

Dogs, cats, birds, and rats are well-known pets; but a girl of Blair, Nebraska, shuns all these in favor of a peacock. She keeps it on the farm. This peacock acts as a watchdog and gives a cry when strangers appear, so we guess it is worthwhile after all. Lincoln, Nebraska.

The University High School is presenting a melodrama, the Follies, complete with beautiful, old-fashioned costumes and scenery. The costumes are being made by sewing classes after school. All the costumes will be new, for some of the outfits left over from previous productions are being made over. Oakland, California.

Along The Clothes Line

With the new season well underway, everyone is interested in the newly smart wearing apparel.

Toeless shoes and sandals are having their day in gay colors and beautiful pastel shades: Japania, vivid blues, yellow, pink, and, of course, shiny patent leather leads the parade.

The fitted reefer coat is frequently colored and cuffed with starch, white pique. They are smart and, to my mind, the perfect all-around coat.

This season, white accessories are top style, teamed with the dazzling prints that are so very clever.

If you are tired of wearing the large, floppy hats, or the classic sport fells, turn to the turban for that welcomed change. They are not expensive so that you can have several in some of the exciting new shades.

For your flashy suit you must have a couple of eye-catching lapel gadgets. Anything goes as far as fashion is concerned. Some that you have no doubt seen before include big, ugly, savage faces with big red lips, miniature drums, a brilliant colored wheel that actually spins when the wind catches it, and many others.

A large, splashy black and white print formal was featured by a well-known designer in a recent showing. A dramatically draped jersey gown was also shown. Several models had the Spanish influence, with fluffy ruffles one upon the other, red-colored edged with black lace. Brown for evening is new.

Hair will be shorter and neater this year because of the little girl influence.

That's all your old fashion flasher has for you chillun' this week.

What Would You Do?

Well, I surely hope you're not too disgusted with recent offerings of the petite pedagogues to read this column. I for one can sympathize with you. Some of my teachers didn't quite agree with me on what my grades should be. Result? My family is ignoring me. What a life! Enough of this grumbling, and on to the problems of the hour.

1. If, while standing in the street car, a boy should offer you his seat, you should:
a. Stop going to so many movies.
b. Be careful, he's dangerous.
c. Wait until he gets up and then sit down (nothing like being practical, I always say.)

2. If you happen to have a younger brother about nine, who is just discovering he's pretty cute, you should:

a. Just let him go, because I always say there is nothing worse than disillusioned youth.
b. Try sticking him with a pin; that should take a little wind out of his sails.
c. Oh well, you were just as cocky once or yet.

In Our Study Cycle

Wee Sketches Of Our Big People

By Jeanette Warren

Lo! and behold, folks, we've neglected Cutie-pie Kowalski in this corner of our journal. How we ever come to strike out on her one can't say, but we are about to remedy the situation.

Delving right into her current history, (hmmmm), we find her doing her bit in promoting the success of the school publications, namely, acting as co-editors of the Totem, and proofreading, typing, and feature-writing for the Times. Every other Monday night she may be seen busily performing her office of vice-president and program chairman of Wranglers. She is also a regular attendant of Social Science meetings. Fifteen-hundred looks upon her as a potential member—and begs a little umph, please.

Julie (her French nom-de-plume) looks upon ice-cream cones, potato chips, and lime phosphates as especially delectable delicacies. Loretta Young and Errol Flynn comprise her favorite movie team. Eddie Duchin (quote—"my Romeo") has an A+ rating with her. And when he plinks out "Deep Purple"—ah, that's too much! Passing time by playing tennis, by dancing, and by swimming suits her suitably, and may we add "gabbings" to this list, too! Being catty, which she contends is her worst fault, is also her pet peeve when observed in other people. Self-centered and conceited persons don't appeal to her particularly either. Her specialty (in case you haven't observed) is being slap-happy.

A hang-over from a childhood ambition is the desire to have black hair. We know how she could accomplish it. But we like her pretty much as she is. Another of her ambitions is to visit Europe, especially Britain and France. She is desirous of attending Indiana University to study for a career of buying for a department store or taking up personnel work.

Ho hum! Oh yes, the dirt column. I'm trying (and very unsuccessfully) to recover from the effects of our recent spring vacation. So far I've made a muddled mess of everything I have attempted to do, so don't be surprised if I happen to get somebody in love or on the verge of love teamed with the wrong person.

It's about time that somebody mentioned the romance that is fairly sizzling between Bill Siples and Laura Jane Reed. I have been observing the rapid development of this new twosome for quite awhile now, but I hesitated to let you in on it for fear I'd get my neck wrung. (For that matter I probably still will, so you can see what I hazard just so the show can go on.)

Present at a recent kid dance, we found Lil Gunzenhauser and her habitual old escort Ed "Big Boy" Reeves. We often wondered when these two kids would restart their affair that has been going strong ever since they began in high school.

Romeo Phil Pressler really goes for Maurine Leas, but he's down in the dumps of late, because the competition for her much-sought-after affections is too much for him to put up with. Too bad, Phil, but there's other fish in the sea even if they can't compare with Maurine.

Delilah Shaffer is heart-broken because her former boy friend John Lyons is vacationing in Florida at the present.

Why is it that Helen Curly always signs her name Minnie Ha Ha when she writes notes to Bob Bolyard in the study hall sixth period?

An up-and-coming couple that has been seeing a lot of each other this past month are LaVerne Holloway and Dick Holmes. Hmmmm... a steady couple in the future? Could be!

After one whole year Janet Hoover and Ted Thimler are seeing very

Southern Accents

Again we take a look into the past and recall to mind the memories worth remembering. When we think of what was happening at this time last year, we kinda' wish that those days could be lived again. But the future looks bright and rosy, so perhaps there will be many events happening this year that will equally correspond to those of last year.

A bulletin proclaiming our splendid basketball victory was issued by Mr. Merle J. Abbott. Such a bulletin as this made our victory seem even greater. In his own words, "The lads, wearing the emblem of the Archer, are worthy of all the splendid approval extended." He expressed something which we all felt. We were all inspired by this bulletin and were very grateful for its issuance.

April 9 marked the date of the speech contest at Logansport. The divisions in which our Archers participated were original oratory, extemp, and declamation. Yes, you bet, it was that fighting spirit that entered the contest and as you might guess Archers would do, they came out on top.

"Magic Wings" was the title of the winning short story in the provincial short story contest. The writer, Betty Garton, put into writing an inspiration and came out a winner. Her story was entered in the state contest. Another champion Archer who is now working her way to the top at college.

Busy tongues were uttering words of the sights and experiences witnessed by seven students from South Side. The journalists, who went to the press convention at New York, got a taste of New York life which included a little opera, sights of Chinatown, a glimpse of a radio star, a tour on a large boat, and a swell train ride.

much of each other these past few weeks. I guess they both spent the year trying to forget the other, but when they found that it just didn't work, they gave it up as a bad job.

I have often wondered what the big attraction is out at Bell's Skating Rink. It seems that some of the students at South Side spend all of their extra time out there and then some. Maybe it is the scenery that gets them. A few of these kids are Phyllis Shirley and Laura May De Salem. Maybe it's one of those things that wander around in pants and that are named boys that holds their undivided attention.

Paul Harrmann... Why don't you ever give a certain H. C. a break? Aren't you aware of the fact that this has the making of a really powerful romance?

It seems that Betty Wolfe has finally made up her mind to choose between Ralph Hamilton and Alfred Edwards. The winnah is none other than Alfred. Tough luck, Hamilton, but things aren't as black as they seem.

I wonder why Paul "Doc" Danecker doesn't notice the efforts that Betty Pepper puts forth to win his heart. Confidently and incidentally, Millie thinks Harold Kitzmiller is really wonderful, and they both are quite happy about the whole thing.

I was of the opinion that Charles Machamer was going steady with Dorothy Shipman, but every time I see him, he's with a different girl. You couldn't be two-timing somebody now, could you, Chuck?

What's this we hear about a budding romance between Katherine Kixmiller and "Baldy" Nahrwald? Have you forgotten Martha Jane so soon, "Baldy", or is just one of these side-line affairs?

That's all for this week, kids... so get busy and really stuff the little box.

Listen Editor!

Hello, folksies! Here's hoping that you enjoyed every minute of your spring vacations and were able to re-visit yourselves for the final lap before summer. I would like to egg you on to outstanding work and a grand finale, but with Easter almost a week in the offing my eggs would probably be a little stale; so instead I'll give you this week's fan mail. Remember, read and heed.

Dear Editor:

With spring vacation and all its glorious memories fading into the dim past, I find myself once more facing the stern realities of school and homework. Every evening I trudge wearily home under a back-breaking burden of books (my family is seriously considering buying me a little red wagon; but if you ask me, I need a truck). Then I spend hours of sheer drudgery at my faithful desk. Please understand that I am not griping about the teachers. The thing that burns me up is that there is no sense to at least half of this after-school work. I have two study periods a day and should be able to complete at least one-half of my lessons at school. However, just about the time I get interested in my literature, The Bee begins to buzz. The Bee is my name for a gal who sits beside me and whispers every word she reads. She sounds as if she were between a hiss and a sigh. I finally decide that it's impossible for us both to read at the same time; so I begin my theme. But the beautifully inspiring thought slowly taking shape in my mind is rudely shattered by a sharp pencil thrust and a whispered command to pass this to Mr. X. By the time I have collected my shattered nerves, passed the note, and resumed my work, another note has arrived—this time from Mr. X to Miss Y. From then on work is impossible. I sincerely hope that some day aforementioned Mr. X and Miss Y will come to one of those silent understandings. I have even considered presenting them with a book on The Art of Mental Telepathy.

THE GO BETWEEN.

Dear Editor:
I used to be such a sweet child. I was the proud possessor of a sweet temperament and a kind heart. But alas! This last week has wrought a regular Jeckyll-Hyde change in me. I now have a suppressed desire to go berserk whenever I hear that certain phrase so common after a vacation. That phrase is the well-known killer (in more ways than one), "I have to come back to school to catch up on my sleep." Maybe I'm wrong, but those unlucky thirteen words make me see red. It always sounds to me as if the speaker were bragging about the number of dates he or she had during vacation, and I detest braggarts. So please, people, even if you do need sleep just kindly keep the fact to yourselves.

ANGRY.

Senior Synopsis

By R. U.

Graduating

With a reestablished bit of vim, vigor, and vitality restored to their decrepit bodies of nearly two weeks ago, all upperclass graders are once more found settling their formerly mentally-exerted minds toward study interests. At least now that our vacation trend has terminated we can at least come back to the old stamping ground to catch up on our lost sleep.

THOUGH WE'RE MILES APART, we can still forward a bit of squire tactics a la post box. At least thusly thinks Jack Kennedy, North Side's dancing demon deluxe, for he was found sending a sweet, sweet telegram to his better half, Margie Rapp, while she spent her happy time touring some Capitol heights at Washington, D. C.

CATCHING CELEBRITIES on the high-flying run seems to be the crafty policy of ivory-toting Peg Bacon. So the story goes Bemay seems to have some awwings for one Eddie Duchin, well known baton swingaroo. Anyhow, when Sir Duchin arrived, Bacon decided to get into some intimate verbiage exchanging with her Sir Galahad of the keyboard, who actually did grant her an interview backstage. When interrogated further on the subject, all Bemay said was "U-umm!" What has he got that gets you?

WE WONDER just exactly how many of you seniors have purchased your tickets for the upperclass drama fete, which will pop off this Saturday in the Archer gymnasium. It is deemed to be rare in any man's language. Will we see you there?

AMONG FUNNY COUPLES seen browsing their way hither and yore through our pillared corridors are: Blondie and Dagwood—Clindard and Garton.

Colonel Potterby and the Duchess—Bollman and Kixmiller. Popeye and Olive Oyle—Bolyard and Iba.

Maggie and Jiggs—Hayner and Baor.

HITTING HONORS HIGH with a beaming personality not to mention soaring ambitions, Annette Snok has proven herself well worthy of the title of an outstanding senior. With music talents combined with patient practice, our sweet nomination will undoubtedly be a four bell ringer in the years to come.

MAY WE EXPRESS our sincere congratulations to those public speakers who because of their verbiage-sending powers, will compete in a national speech rally at Beverly Hills, California, next June. To you of this mighty band, we offer the best of luck. May you bring home the well-known bacon to our old Archer institution.

Archerettes' Arrows Found Flying High Toward Complexions

Keeping attractive is an art to which every woman should devote her attention. It doesn't matter whether you use Camay, Palmolive, Lifebuoy, or Ivory soap on your skin so long as you keep it looking fresh and lovely. No one likes to look at rough, thick, pale, and dry skin—and after all it's what people like or dislike in us that makes us what we are. Don't only strive to be neat and refreshing in your clothing, but also keep your skin alive, healthy, clear, youthful, and lovely to look at.

The majority of women need to use some cosmetics to accent the fairness or darkness of their skin, but most of the teen age girls do not need to use such cosmetics as freckle cream, bleaching cream, skin refresher, or bleaching packs. Their artificial beauty box should consist mainly of powder, rouge, lipstick, and, since the eyes are being accented more heavily this season, some mascara or an eyebrow pencil.

Paris fashions say to keep away from that painted look and wear make-up that is suitable for your type so that you will possess a natural beauty and that lovely "peaches and cream" complexion. Make-up is intended to bring color to your face but not to make you look like a freshly painted barn. If you apply your lipstick too generously, hold a cleansing tissue between the lips to blot up the excess material. Apply rouge in an oval motion and spare the horses. Apply the mascara only to the tips of the upper lashes and even then very discreetly. Don't use creams unnecessarily—it clogs up your pores. Wait until you have to use it to rub out wrinkles in your old age.

If you have a nice new batch of hickies just as soon as you have seemingly ridden yourself of one crop—there is something definitely wrong, unless of course something in your blood causes the blemishes on your skin. If you're having this kind of trouble see if the fault is one of the following:

1. Do you wash regularly, each time rinsing the soap from your face?
2. Do you dry your face thoroughly?
3. Do you neglect to cleanse your skin of stale make-up before retiring?
4. Do you put fresh make-up over old?
5. Is your circulation poor? Vitality low?
6. Do you exercise enough? Take sun baths?
7. Do you eat greasy foods or too many sweets?
8. Do you drink enough water?
9. Do you squeeze the skin and thus make blemishes?

There must be some reason for you having blemishes, and you should experiment until you find out what the cause is. Find out what your trouble is and correct it.

You'll find that friends will love to touch your velvety skin and that your personal attitude will change along with that of your friends.

For Real Successful Gains Curb Your Temper, Studes

Temper is a thing no one wants and every one has. Maybe this is the reason everyone tries to lose their temper at one time or another. Lost temper is always found in another person, and some day you will suffer from the temper you once lost.

In many instances jobs have been lost by overflows of temper; many a prospective job has crumbled into oblivion by a mere touch of temper.

The losses of temper are many and unavoidable when teachers come in contact with students whose chief delight is to irritate a teacher so much that they, to slangily express it, blow up. Thus, students, who really wish to learn, suffer from the tricks of two or three pranksters. Remember, students, if you don't want to learn, refrain from making it impossible for others to learn.

Let's Care For Our Lawn!

Remember how green and velvet-like the grass on the school house yard was last year before the work was begun on our bigger and better school building? What happened to that pretty yard, you will never know. However, every one knows that new and pretty grass, if not prettier than that which we had before, can be grown on our lawn. But, the cooperation of each and every student in our school is needed to produce this smoother and greener grass. Those people who have the idea that you make the grass smooth by walking and riding bicycles over it are very wrong indeed. When our school is paying money to make a pretty yard, it is only the duty of the student body as a whole to help prevent any extra and unnecessary expense. So, remember, don't let people begin to say—"As bare as South Side's lawn is of grass."

A Capitol time was had by all Washington-goers who blossomed out with the cherry trees during our spring vacation. Even F. D. R. was thrilled by the school-going guests.

Senior Funfest Is Scheduled For April 21

Students, Teachers, Parents Will Participate In Annual Upperclassmen Meet

Students, teachers, and parents will all participate in the annual funfest held for the graduating seniors and their parents by the Parent-Teachers Association in connection with the senior class.

The date for this year's funfest has been set for April 21. The funfest will be held in the school gymnasium so that those participating will have the benefit of the stage already erected in the gym.

To Have Skits

The three factions represented in the proceedings, the students, the teachers, and the parents, will each present a fifteen-minute skit in a humorous vein. All three groups have already held meetings to write their skits and select the characters for the playlets. As yet, the subject, title, and characters of the three plays have not been revealed, this not being done until the actual production of the skits.

Refreshments will also be served at the funfest. The Parent-Teachers Association is taking care of these refreshments, but the collection of ten cents needed to pay for the refreshments is in the hands of agents in all senior home rooms. These agents are the persons whose parents are home room parents. Each parent attending the funfest must pay a dime so that the Parent-Teachers Association will not have to use money otherwise intended to help needy students to pay for the refreshments.

Seniors Make Plans

South Side's senior class officers held a meeting last Tuesday in Mr. Sidell's room to select the characters for their skit, which was written by members of the senior class. Teachers held a meeting yesterday at which time they also began work on their part of the funfest program. The teachers' committee is made up of Mrs. Alda Jane Carson, chairman, Miss Erma Dochterman, Miss Olive Perkins, Mr. Burl Friddle, and Mr. Jack Wainwright. Parents also intend to meet and plan their section of the program.

The plans of each of these groups will not be published before the night of the funfest.

April 18th Is Date For Joint Meeting

Philo-Meterites Will Have Mrs. Archie Keene As Guest Speaker; Quartet Will Sing Also

Mrs. Archie Keene has been selected by Philo to speak at the annual Philo-Meterite joint meeting on Tuesday, April 18. She will speak on "Intimate Glimpses of Today's Hoosier Writers." The Philo quartet composed of Margaret Null, Ruth Dauner, Helen Savage and Romayne Rediger and directed by Frances VanBuskirk will sing several numbers. Rebecca Abbett, Philo's program chairman, is in charge of their half of the program.

Meterites are to furnish instrumental music for the meeting.

Plans for the Mother-Daughter Tea to be held May 1 are now being made by Philo. Committees have been appointed as follows: Program, Helen Banks, chairman; Virginia Shidler, Ruth Kaiser, Maurine Seibert and Hertha Hoffman. Refreshments, Lois Rea, chairman; Marjorie Sheldon, Jean Fortriede, Dolores Deely and Suzanne Beck. Decorations, Janice Dyer, chairman; Marjorie Dyer, Katherine Beckman, Miriam Jackson, Faye Gumpfer, Lois Gumpfer, Audrey Hall, Betty Marquardt, Jane Engelking, Lois Rea, Betty Neeb, Helen Banks and Mildred Hanke.

Springtime Styles Featured By W&D

Latest Creations Show Influence Of World Fairs; Colors Are Bright; Prints Small, Neat

World fairs have had a great influence on designs of fabric and frocks. Glowing yellow, a soft pastel pink, a coppery brown, a vivid blue, along with the traditional aqua, wine and black are just a few of the season's shades. They are wonderful accents for bright prints for a touch of excitement. The prints tend to be small and neat.

The pet ensemble for this season is the jacket dress, softly shirred and tucked in the midriff to give that fitted look, with the skirt shorter and fuller than last year. The necklines are touched with a bit of snowy white lingerie, or pleated frills. Small bows are alternates as trim. Sleeves of the frock are short, but the jacket boasts long sleeves. Usually the lesser color is picked up in a shiny belt and shoes.

Roman stripes appear in blouses, jacket linings, scarfs, turbans and sandals. If a print dress needs a lift, top it with a white linen jacket. The sheer woolen dresses for spring have sky-rocketed to importance over night.

To go on now, we come to the coats. Here you can choose from many styles, but the two shown most are the fitted reefer and the boxy swager. They are equally stunning and at the top of the list. Wolf & Desaur's have many striking reefers with crisp white collars and cuffs, which button cleverly up the front with flowered crystal buttons or plain shiny ones. Most of them are sans belt, but a few have attractive leather belts. The swagger ones include combinations, checks, tweeds, stripes and plain colors flecked with balls of color.

Just about every one has gone in for these colorless jackets with contrasting or matching skirts. These suits are very sporty and can be mixed and matched as you like.

German Club To Have Initiation, Potluck Soon

The last meeting of the German Club, which was to be an initiation and potluck was postponed, due to the fact that not even half of the members signed up to attend the meeting. The next meeting is scheduled to be held on April 26. The initiation and potluck is supposed to be held on that evening.

Party Of South Siders Thrill To Sights Of Washington, D. C., On Trip During Spring Recess

By Dorothy Bloemker

It may be rather underhanded to read other people's diaries but on reading the diary of a Washington trekker it was informative (to say nothing of the amusing notes that were also present).

Nevertheless we give you what we found. Behold the diary:

Sunday, April 2nd.

Dear Diary:

Amid thrown kisses and waved good-byes, the Liberty Limited steamed out of Fort Wayne carrying with it thirty South Side and North Side students and two chaperones. We were bound for Washington, the City Beautiful, and the Nation's Capital.

Immediately after leaving the vicinity of Fort Wayne, introductions were in order. Two victims at a time staggered down the aisle of the lurching train to be introduced to everyone else.

We literally tore through Van Wert, Ohio. We suddenly realized we had left the safety of our own state.

Being thirsty, we all spent a goodly sum on drinking cups. After we had done this, Mr. Hall, passenger agent for the Pennsylvania Railroad, popped up with a whole box of free ones. We demanded a refund but we couldn't get it.

Horses! Horses! Crazy over horses!

We may not have been crazy about horses but we did have three carloads of race horses riding with us (don't mistake us—we mean in different coaches, of course). One horse had just won a purse full of money at the Santa Anita Handicap. Most of the travelers decided that they would like to be introduced to the owner.

At Crestline we moved our watches up one hour (how high up is one hour?—Ed.). "That's unconstitutionally," someone cried, "that makes us go to bed an hour earlier." Nevertheless, Time marched on (an hour ahead of time).

As our train reached the mountainous country, we went up (and then down again, of course) and around numerous curves and bends. As we raced around a curved curve Miss Harvey was standing and then she wasn't standing. She did it again! Miss Harvey down again. (It's two down and how many more to go for her?).

An interesting incident came up after Margery Rapp received a telegram from a North Side admirer. After we finally got settled in our "beds" the conductor mistook Yours Truly (how could he make that kind of a mistake?) for Margery and said, "Well, are you happy since you got the telegram?" After informing him I was not she, we all began to wonder if he had read it before giving it to Margery.

Blast Furnaces Seen

Going through the town of Souse we were heated (it may have been our imagination), because of the blast furnaces going full blast just across the river. However, it was quite warm and when we discovered it was caused by the steam pipes going full force, they were turned off. Then we froze!

Monday, April 3.

Dear Diary:

After finally settling down for a little much needed rest, we were rudely awakened at 2:30 a. m. with the exclamation of "Horseshoe Curve. If you want to see it you had better get up." One girl said that she had so many curves in her back (who wouldn't after that so-called bed), she didn't care about seeing any more. But she did! Seriously, though, it was a beautiful sight.

We had to get up about 6 o'clock (that is terribly early for vacation). In a mad scramble to get to breakfast on time shoes, tooth brushes, and other necessities were misplaced. But it was fun.

Eating breakfast while going through Maryland, we noticed that houses were beginning to appear very colonial. Towns give the appearance of a handful of houses just dumped on a section of land.

At Baltimore, the horses left us, and then our coach was the last one on the train. We went out on the end and watched the rails running away from us. That is, we watched when there were no cinders in our eyes.

In Baltimore we saw the traditional white steps in front of every house. Tradition says that the housewives get in front and scrub them two or three times a day. They claim the steps are more conspicuously clean than the inside of their houses.

Met By Congressman

Washington! Finally there after thirteen hours on the train. We were met at the depot by Congressman Gillie and his wife, and found them to be very interesting people. Taking a bus, we immediately went over to the Department of Justice where a smooth talking Southerner escorted us through the building. He showed us the fingerprint files and the things which locate identical prints that have been previously put on file. In one of the department's laboratories we were shown how bullets were compared; moulage casts of guns, footprints, hands, apple cores and other articles that must be preserved for trials; how packages are X-rayed; and how they tell which way a bullet went through an article.

Again on the bus we passed the home of Commodore Stephen Decatur. Five of the windows of his house are bricked up and on questioning Mr. Hall we found that Decatur was afraid of the ghosts of the men he killed in duels so he bricked up one window to keep that ghost out. He fought in six duels but he never bricked up the sixth window. His opponent was dead but that to one of his own windows.

Food! Finally reaching our hotel we had dinner, but immediately after we boarded our bus for more sight-seeing. Our first stop was the Washington Monument. In a raging windstorm we sat (on benches, you understand) around the bottom and waited our turn to ascend the five hundred and some more feet to the top. It was a gorgeous day, a gorgeous view, and a gorgeous elevator ride (it does not sound very sensible, does it?).

Next stopping at the Aircraft Building we saw many different types of airplanes and war pilots (that gave a person a scare every time he saw one).

See Mummies

Trekking over to the Old and the New Smithsonian Institutes we saw the Spirit of St. Louis, Winnie Mae, dresses belonging to president's wives, every type of piano imaginable, stage coaches, boats, mummies and a demonstration of bees at work (there was a tunnel leading outside through which they came and went at will).

Back at the hotel, everyone that forgot their meal ticket had to run way back up to their room before they were served (and take it from yours truly, that's an awful punishment when you are starved).

Tuesday, April 4.

Dear Diary:

We spent most of the morning on the bus. The driver took us past many foreign legations, which were of Lithuania, Netherlands, Siam, Egypt, Columbia and Rumania. The embassies we passed were those of Turkey, Chili, Iran, Britain, France, Poland, Spain, Italy and Mexico. Each of these buildings was very typical of the architecture of the country it represents.

Washington is made up of about 650,000 people, one-third of whom are colored. The district is ruled by a commission which is appointed by the president. No one living here is allowed to vote; however, they must pay taxes.

The city itself a very clean one, there being no factories allowed in it. The largest portion of the people are civil service employees and the second rated industry is transportation.

Famous Homes Viewed

During the sightseeing tour we passed the Mormon Temple, Mr. Howard Taft's home, Herbert Hoover's home, Woodrow Wilson's home, the Congressional Club (which is exclusively for the wives and daughters of Congressmen), Henderson's Castle and we passed through the Zoological Park.

On our way to Fort Meyer, the bus went (we naturally went along, too) through Georgetown. There we saw the home of Edgar Allan Poe and the Oak Hill Cemetery (you'll have to move on to the next one as this is all filled up). It might be interesting to note that John Howard Payne, author of "Home, Sweet Home," was a bachelor. (What brought him up was the cemetery—he is buried there).

Only people who had purchased fire insurance in a certain company (in earlier days) were entitled to that company's fire fighting force. The insured person always tacked a sign on his door so that his house would be saved in case of fire. This sign is still on the door of L'Enfant, the man who designed the city of Washington. We also passed the homes of Robert Todd Lincoln, Mrs. McCormick, the first Congresswoman, the drill house used by General Butterfield in the Revolutionary War and now a city market, Frances Scott Key's home and the bridge which is dedicated to him.

Arriving at Fort Meyer, we saw the bachelor officers' quarters, the married men's homes, Selfridge hospital and the drill field.

On visiting Arlington Cemetery the guide told us an interesting story: George Washington Parke Custis was proprietor of Arlington estate, and as the Civil War progressed and they ran out of burial space, he offered part of his land for the dead. Henceforth Arlington has been a cemetery instead of an estate.

Visit Unknown Soldier's Grave

Going on to the Unknown Soldier's tomb, the lecturer told us that when it was known that an Unknown Soldier was to be honored, four caskets, each containing an unidentified body, were selected. The final choice was left to Sergeant Younger, who went alone to the four caskets and placed a wreath on one of them. So, in 1929, an unknown soldier was buried in America to be honored in memory of all the unknown soldiers who died in the World War.

Going on to Alexandria, we passed the Department of Agriculture, the scientific farm and the place where the government is filling in the Potomac River for an enormous airport.

Our group was driven through Alexandria, Va. This city was built in 1669 by Scotchmen. It was then called Belle Haven (even the name sounds Scotch, doesn't it?) but in 1740 it was changed to Alexandria. Most of the homes here are built of brick that were brought to this country from England. In the city is the home of John L. Lee, formerly the home of Robert E. Lee's uncle. We also saw Lord Fairfax's home, Gadsby's Tavern (the king's birthday was always celebrated there until the country was freed. Then they began to celebrate Washington's birthday in the same place), Robert E. Lee's home, Braddock's headquarters during the Revolution, the homes of the three physicians that attended Washington at his death, and Alexander Academy, which was endowed by Washington as he is also known to have promoted the free school system.

Mount Vernon Enjoyed

Mount Vernon was all we expected. A large colonial plantation home with many outbuildings, vast lawns and large stables. Some of the buildings near the home were the family lichen, the wash house, conservatory, tomb, and a one-room school house. The school room was only about five feet by four feet, so yours truly was very thankful for South Side and present-day methods of living.

An interesting item we noticed while passing through Virginia was that all Confederate Memorials face the South. The memorial circles were also interesting in that there were seven trees planted in each; one tree for every president of the United States who was born in Virginia.

Coming back into the city of Washington we passed over the Arlington Memorial bridge which was built after the Civil War to symbolize the union between the North and the South. At the south end is the home of Robert E. Lee and at the north end of the bridge is the Lincoln Memorial.

We stopped at the Lincoln Memorial building and slowly dragged ourselves up the fifty-eight steps and viewed the enormous statue of Abraham Lincoln. Riding by the cherry trees, our lecturer told us that they were a gift from Tokyo in 1910. They are raised by a secret process which until recently was unknown to anyone but the Japanese.

No Cadets Annexed

Finally we started for Annapolis

Jean Fortriede Named Forum Parliamentarian

Due to the lack of a quorum, the regular business meeting of the Forum Club was suspended until enough members had appeared. Bill McNulty and Marilyn Emenich were appointed chairman and secretary pro tem, respectively. General motions were made for a short time.

When thirteen members had appeared, the club elected a parliamentarian in the place of Bill Riethmiller. Those nominated were Jean Fortriede, Dick Balile, and Elizabeth Kelso. Jean Fortriede was elected.

pretending to listen as we are)... There is a beautiful gold edged clock near the gallery railing. An eagle with outspread wings adorns the top of it. No pictures are allowed to be taken in here.

Ride On Underground Tram

We also visited the Senate, but since they were not in session we got in on the ground floor and sat at the Senators' desks.

Following our guide we went to the Rotunda of the Capitol, a spot seldom visited and little known of. Here, many presidents and a few other famous men have lain in state. The casket itself is an elder box covered with heavy black material which is all enclosed in glass.

As we were waiting for the tram, a little train (with only six seats in it), to take us to the adjoining building of the Senators' offices, we saw Senators Borah and LaFollette.

Only a few of us travelers could ride at a time, but a few of them forgot to get off at the other end (they got another ride, too). At the end of our tram ride, we saw some stops and everyone began to groan audibly (up to this time we groaned inwardly).

Next we visited the Supreme Court Building and the Congressional Library. The walking got so hard that a few of us vain ones that had worn high heels took our shoes off with the excuse that we wanted to give our shoes a rest.

A few final incidents that merit "honorable" mention are here told in detail. Jackie Hugarnd lost her purse and started back to find it. Shelly Wagner, who had been behind, came up with it. Having a nice sized sum in it she was so overjoyed that she enthusiastically thanked him. But she broke his glasses during the thanking. Someone (we refrain from mentioning the name) piped up and said, "Lots of boys would have let their glasses be broken to get that, Shelly."

Homeward Bound

Finally, we dragged ourselves into our train seats. After we were settled, however, two sailors came through the coach and all of the girls decided they wanted to go walking (in the same direction).

Candid cameras came into view as two of the girls looked so-so cute when they were sleeping.

Thursday, April 16.

Dear Diary:

We're happy about the whole thing. It's 6 a. m. and past our bedtime so good-night.

Service Club Point System Put Into Use

Members Receive Bronze, Silver, Gold Pins According To Hours Of Work

A new type of point system to be used in the Service Club has been announced by Mr. A. Verne Flint, adviser. In previous years, no award has been given to service workers. From now on awards will be given to those students who have earned enough points.

During Service Recognition Assembly next Thursday, Mr. Flint will explain the point system and give awards to those students who have earned the required amount of points.

Points will be awarded at the rate of one for every hour of service rendered at school. If work is done by the student at home two points an hour will be awarded. When the student has earned 300 points, he is eligible to receive a bronze pin. A silver pin will be awarded when 450 points have been earned. A gold pin is presented when 600 points have been earned. A worker may be dropped from the club if he deliberately commits some violation of proper conduct.

All members of the Service Club are eligible for these awards except the library workers. Since library pins are awarded already, no Service pins will be given to those workers.

Complete information about the Service Club and Service Club awards is as follows:

I. Service, here in South Side High School, is a willingness on the part of certain students to give to the school their time and effort, and gain education from this service.

The real service worker is loyal, courteous, honest, and responsible. He is prompt, obedient, and helpful to others. Although he probably has one selfish motive in mind—to gain valuable experience—he has a genuine interest in his work, and strives to do his best at all times.

II. APPLICATION FOR SERVICE WORK

Application for service work may be made by any student to Mr. Flint, who will keep the applicant's name for reference of teachers who desire workers. Students may also apply for work to any teacher.

III. RECORD OF SERVICE

A. Immediately after enlisting a student for service work, the teacher is to notify Mr. Flint, giving the name of the student and the type of work being done.

B. At the end of the semester or at the end of the period of time for which a student serves, the teacher is to turn in an individual report of the number of hours the student has worked at school and at home, and also the total number of points earned.

C. A permanent individual record card, on which are entered the reports of all services rendered, will be kept on file in Mr. Flint's office.

IV. POINTS

A. One point shall be given for each hour of service rendered at school.

B. If work is given to a student to be done at home, because of pressure of time or for some other reason, two points shall be given for each hour of service at home.

C. If the student has an excuse absence, he may still receive a point.

D. A full point shall be given for shortened periods.

E. If a student decides to quit working before completion of the period for which he was enlisted, he shall not receive any points for any work during that particular period.

F. Where compensation, such as school credit, is being given for work done, that work will not be counted toward the service pin.

V. AWARDS

Pins shall be awarded for meritorious work in service.

A. A bronze pin shall be awarded to each student who has earned 300 points.

B. A silver pin shall be awarded to each student who has earned 450 points. (Before a student can receive this pin, he must turn in his bronze pin.)

C. A gold pin shall be given to that student who has earned 600 points. (Before a student can receive this pin, he must turn in his silver pin.)

D. If a service worker deliberately commits some violation of proper conduct, he shall be dropped, and shall not be eligible to receive a pin.

E. Awards will be made and announced in a Service Recognition Assembly on Friday of Service Week.

VI. DIVISIONS OF SERVICE

Library work is a division of the Service Club. Library pins are awarded for this service. Teachers are to avoid giving two pins for the same work, points earned working in the library will not be counted toward the Service pin.

VII. OFFICIAL SERVICE WEEK

At the earliest opportunity during the second semester, a Service Week will be held to acquaint South Side with the valuable work being done by service workers.

VIII. SERVICE RECOGNITION ASSEMBLY

A Service Recognition Assembly will be held on Friday of Service Week. At this time the awards will be made and announced; and all members of the Service Club will be recognized as a group, as has been done in the past on Recognition Day.

Committee: Ruth Kaiser, Bob Hageman, Alma Korte, Eileen Hoffman, and Kathleen Ramer.

Hard Boiled Eggs Plus Paint Equals $

Bill Blass At Work

Bill Blass, 12B, Has Allergy In Which He Faces Hundreds Of Eggs During Easter Time

By Jeanette Warren

Humpty Dumpty sat on a wall. Humpty Dumpty had a great fall. All the King's horses And all the King's men Had scrambled eggs.

Not so with Bill Blass, 12B; by now he isn't able to tolerate an egg in any shape, form or color. This egg allergy is seasonal with him. It comes on every year about a week and a half before Easter, during which time he staves literally hundreds of eggs in their faces (and I do mean faces); that is, he has been so affected for the past six years previous to Easter holidays. What we've been beatin' round the bush about is that Mrs. Blass' little boy, William, paints faces on hard boiled eggs each Easter so parents will buy them for their little boys and girls who will consequently have reason to continue their belief in the Easter bunny (incidentally Bill himself doesn't believe in him since entering upon the career of egg-decorator).

The dates, April 1 to April 9, didn't mean vacation to young Mr. Blass. They meant business and industry. His hours on the average were from nine to twelve, from one to six, and from seven to eleven. Occasionally, when it was necessary to speed up production, he followed an even tougher schedule. Acting as his own business manager didn't leave him any too much time for day dreaming either.

But now let's get down to the important topic, eggs. Here are some of the characters that our commercial artist has reproduced; the ever popular pair of mice—Mickey and Minnie, Donald Duck, the Seven Dwarfs ('specially Dopey), crying babies, modern mademoiselles under cocky hats, Charlie McCarthy, Ferdinand the Bull, Matadors, Three Little Pigs, and oh, yes, Humpty Dumpty. He has found that he can always depend upon Walt Disney to create one of his lovable characters which he can reproduce on eggs with a great deal of business appeal. Last year it was Dopey; this year it was "the bull with a delicate ego."

Besides eggs and paint, nut cups, paper, lace and other material for hats, ties, ears, horns and collars were used to prepare the hen fruit for their Easter parade.

Before painting, Bill used to sketch the face on first, but he became so good at applying the paint that he eliminated this process. He employs the use of another time-saver: mass production. He makes all those that are alike at the same time with brush.

Visual Education Department Is Enjoyed By Junior Worker

By Phyllis Frisinger

I have found my work in the Visual Education Office interesting and valuable. Because of it I have become acquainted with a number of teachers, gained valuable experience in learning office work, and met many students here at South Side.

The work in the Visual Education Office is not difficult, but it requires a great deal of time. It is my duty to see that each teacher who desires to order films is given sufficient material from which to select them and to aid in the actual selection. After the choice has been made, my attention is given to sending the order to the film-order house. After the film has been booked I ascertain from him where and what periods he wishes the film to be shown. The operators must then be notified about the showing. A complete record must be kept concerning the postage on each film and letter. Each teacher must pay the transportation charges on the films he orders. After the film has been shown, I am responsible for seeing that the film is sent back to the film order house.

Three other girls and myself work in the Visual Education Office. We all enjoy it—partly because of the interesting work, but the fact that we like the sponsor of this department, Mr. W. C. Wilson, also has a great deal to do with it.

Guarding Lockers Requires Courage

Reporting Names Of Violators Of Order Requiring Pink Slip Sometimes Arouses Ill Feeling

By Sophia Kelak

Being a locker guard is difficult work in one way and interesting in many other ways. During all the periods except the fourth there are locker guards stationed at each entrance. Since I guard the fourth period, this presents some difficulties to me. If I'm guarding one entrance, the girls try to get in at the unguarded entrance. However, this problem has been solved by standing in the middle of the locker room and watching both entrances.

A locker guard can make enemies by taking down the names of the violators. Since not many girls come in without pink slips, however, the locker guard doesn't make too many enemies. When girls come in without slips, they usually have some very interesting excuses. Unfortunately, these excuses do not help.

The duty of the guard is to see that no one enters the locker room without a pink slip. If someone does, the guard writes the name of the offender on a white card. Also on this card, the guard writes her name, the date, and the condition of the locker room as to cleanliness.

Bob Hageman Has Job Of Handy Man With Athletic Office

"Oh, Bob." Ah, what a familiar call this is—in the Athletic Office. It means that the presence of Bob Hageman, the handy man of a thousand odd jobs, is wanted. Bob is a post-graduate and will leave these portals this spring. He has been working for Mr. Ora Davis since 1937. Bob is the only boy in an office of girl workers. While his work is not difficult, it requires long hours. During games he is in charge of the boy workers.

He also sells season tickets, records athletic points, makes automobile deliveries, receives complaints (due to seats during games), runs errands and keeps the office force amused.

When asked why he liked his job, he said, "I like to work for Mr. Davis because he is a swell boss. I have lots of fun, and I'm learning something that will be to my advantage when I am out on my own."

George Finkhausen Made Co-Manager Of Movies

George Finkhausen has been appointed co-manager of the Division of Visual Education. The former manager, Mark Hall, will continue to serve as co-manager in an advisory capacity.

George has been active in radio and in the visual education department since his first year at South Side. His new duties as co-manager will consist of licensing new operators, maintaining projectors, making schedules, and film checking.

He will carry on his work in the newly painted visual education office, in which painting job he had a big part. George has announced that the department now has plenty of film operators, since the recent call for operators brought such excellent results.

There are now about forty operators, nearly thirty having been recently added.

The Universal Cause of Deafness IS

The Closed Eustachian Tube

Normal hearing depends upon an equalized air pressure behind and in front of the ear drum. Air reaches the drum thru the ear canal; it reaches the inside thru the Eustachian tube. Any maintained interference with this air pressure results in deafness. New methods have been developed which normalize this air pressure and improve hearing. A prominent Health writer says: "Some of the most remarkable work I have seen, has been done by this method."

American Legion Will Stage Meet

Third Annual Hoosier Boys' State For Training In Citizenship; Be Held At Indianapolis

At Indianapolis from June 17 to 24 the third annual Hoosier Boys' State will be held. This annual meeting is sponsored by the American Legion Department of Indiana. Although this is sponsored by the American Legion, the enrollment is not restricted to sons of Legionnaires. This Boys' State is open to all boys between the ages of 16 and 19. Church groups and patriotic clubs are asked to aid in stirring interest in this activity. In order to participate one must have a thorough understanding of our scheme of government.

The purpose of this Boys' State is to give practical training in the duties, rights, privileges and responsibilities of American citizenship, to form an appreciation of the forms of government, and to promote a sense of obligation to the community, state and nation.

In order that this plan be most effective, only boys who have distinct qualities of leadership, who are mentally alert, physically clean and have good personalities are permitted to enroll.

Political parties will be formed at the Boys' State, but these will be purely mythical. Elections will be held with good sportsmanship to choose officers from the boys. No reference will be made to existing political parties, for the Boys' State was established to acquaint boys with the meaning and mechanics of the many government tasks, which it will some day be their duty to perform.

Principal Lauds Work Of Service Helpers

By R. Nelson Snider

Many of the services furnished students in our school would be impossible if we did not have the volunteer services of dozens of our willing boys and girls. The lack of clerical and other help would prevent much of the individual service afforded the members of our student body, but the members of our Service Workers' Group provide the assistance needed. Help in all of the offices, clerical help in the health examination work, assistance in the library, errand work and locker and hall supervision are some of the invaluable aids rendered by our volunteers.

Literally hundreds of our students participate in the service work in the school. All of these, it has seemed to me, are actuated by a sincere desire to be of assistance, and to contribute to the efficient functioning of South Side. The spirit of unselfishness and co-operation displayed by these boys and girls is an excellent example for the others of the student body.

Lyle Smith Enters

Lyle Smith entered South Side High School last Monday, April 10. He previously went to North Side High School.

Office Work In School To Prove Very Useful

By Betty Showalter

Since I hope to work in an office upon my graduation from South Side, I am very glad that I am gaining some valuable office experience while working in the office of Mr. A. Verne Flint, the guidance director. My work in his office includes keeping attendance records, filing, typing, taking some dictation, running errands, and answering the telephone. I think that this work will do a lot toward helping to prepare me for a regular office position.

Velma Lehman Is Music Director

Supervises Work Of Other Pianists In Girls' Gym Office; Outlines For Dancing Classes

Velma Lehman is the director of music in the girls' gym office. This job includes a number of different tasks. Holding such a position, Velma must supervise the work of the other pianists in the office. This year she has been busy outlining the music for the dancing classes. She did a clever piece of work in arranging the music for the recent gym exhibition, in which she selected music to fit the mood of the audience for the coming acts.

Occasionally when Miss Smith is out of town on business connected with her radio work, Velma takes over the dancing classes. Velma works on an average of three hours a day in this office. This semester's work has been principally concerned with the recent exhibition.

Velma states emphatically that she wouldn't "give up her work for anything." She says that it is the type of work she wants to do when out of school.

Green Track Squad To Travel To Montpelier Tomorrow

Archer Boys Are Favorites In Next Meet

Kelly Mainstays To Include Bolyard, Beery, Altman, Glass, Botz, Arnold, Cook.

Four Teams Are Entrants In Event

Montpelier, Fairmount, Gas City Are Other Schools Participating In Fete.

South Side's varsity track squad will travel to Montpelier tomorrow to take part in a four team track meet. The other entrants besides South Side and Montpelier are Fairmount, and Gas City.

The Archers will hold the favorite role tomorrow afternoon as a result of their good showing against a veteran Elkhart squad last week. The Blue Blazers are rated as one of the best squads in the state and had a lot of trouble in defeating the Green by a score of 57½ to 51½.

In the Elkhart meet, the relay teams were the big point getters for the Green. The half-mile relay squad, led by Don Beery, anchor man, ran a 1:37 half-mile, which is fine time considering the adverse weather conditions. Seabold, Roth, Brown, and Arnold combined to win the mile relay in the time of 3:51.6.

Mainstays in the field events will be Bolyard in the broad jump, Beery in the shotput event, Altman in the pole vault, and Jim Glass in the high jump. Other Archers who will be heard from in future field events are Wuttke, Ferguson, and Close. Most notable of the Green's field performances last Saturday was the clean sweep in the broad jump, which was accomplished by Bolyard, Wuttke, and Ferguson. All of the Archer broad jumpers bettered 20 feet, which means that the Green can expect points in this event in the future.

Eugene Botz looked the best of the day when he ran a pair of swell 220's, one to win the 220-yard dash, and the other in the half-mile relay. Others who showed promise against Elkhart are Arnold, Merchant, Roth, Cook, and Moorhead.

This will be the third meet of the Archers' current season. The Green having previously seen action in the Gary relays and in the dual meet with Elkhart.

Tiger Trackmen To Meet Marion

Initial Meet To Be Held April 19; Team Is Fairly Strong On Dash, Weak On Distance.

Central Tigers' thinly-clad will embark on their track season by encountering Marion in their initial meet on April 19. The team has not as yet practiced much outside, because of the fact that their track was being repaired and also because of the cold weather.

The team this year is expected to be fairly strong in the dashes, but very weak on the longer events. The six men who Bob Dornte expects to use a great deal in winning are Kulesza, high and broad jump artist; E. Charlton, who runs the low and high hurdles; Campbell, also a hurdler; E. Talley and L. Perlman, who are featured in the dashes; and Ganley, who runs the 440.

Following the Marion meet, the Tigers will meet Muncie, and then enter the Kokomo relays. The team will then meet Garrett, before entering the Northeastern Indiana Conference meet. Competing in both the sectional and possibly the state will not be the season's schedule.

A meet with Huntington has not been definitely scheduled, but is being promoted at the present.

Hammond's Team Wins Gary Meet

Final Score Is 49 1-3; Froebel Is Second With 44 1-6; Mishawaka Third With 40 Points.

Hammond's track team won the eighth annual Gary High School meet in the Notre Dame Fieldhouse a week ago last Saturday. The Wildcats claimed their way to five first places and playing in every other event. The boys from upstate displayed a world of power and balance in winning the meet. Their final score was 49 1/3 points. Froebel of Gary was second with 44 1/6 points and Mishawaka was third with 40 points.

Nineteen schools competed. They finished in the following orders: Horace Mann of Gary 33½, North Side of Fort Wayne 28, Lew Wallace of Gary 21, Central of South Bend 18, Emerson of Gary 17, Elkhart 14, Riley of Gary 9, Clark 6, South Side of Fort Wayne 4, Central of Muncie 3, Garrett 2, and Warsaw 2. Angola and Roosevelt of East Chicago failed to score.

The 60-yard dash record was tied by Jay Wilson of Mishawaka. The standing record was 08.3 held by Hart of Froebel. Hammond set a new meet record in the mile relay with 04.5 mark.

South Side was fourteenth in the meet. The Archers scored in the pole vault and mile relay.

Bill Peters, senior, told of patriotism and school loyalty in an article which appeared on "Youth's Passing Show" page of the News-Sentinel last week. In the article Peters giving a definition of patriotism, he pointed out how ways of displaying loyalty to one's country, and he compared patriotism with school spirit. Bill also related the historic stories in the lines of some patriots of our country, and how he told a patriot differs from a traitor.

GAA GAZETTE

You may have your Broadway Follies and Hollywood Premiere but we'll take the "World Cruise" any day. This show, presented by the G. A. A., was given before a huge crowd two weeks ago. Amid applause and cheers, four hundred girls became stars for a night, wearing picturesque costumes under dazzling lights, and dancing to rhythmic music furnished by Velma Lehman and her able assistants. Although they were not under the spotlight still to us Gretchen Smith and Alice Dean were the stars of the show because of their superior directing throughout the entire production.

Sitting in the midst of some gals from Central G. A. A., yours truly got the lowdown on the impressions, which Sis Arnold, president of that fine club, and her gang got from our show. It seems that Hazel Perry greatly surprised them by dancing in practically every number. They thought that she was strictly athletic. They also hinted that their Spring Exhibition will be held the third Friday in April and that they would like to show us South Siders what they can do.

During the ring tennis game, one ring slid out the exit. So the manager of sports went to rescue the ring from some boys who desired a souvenir. When she picked it up, she was accused, by some prominent seniors, of stealing it. If it would not have been for spoiling a successful evening, she might have tried to clear herself.

So much for the show and now onto the sports listed on the G. A. A. calendar for the spring season. A new one appears: It is badminton and has been looked forward to by all G.A.A.'ers. Not only does it furnish another way of earning points but also is a swell way of having fun. With this new activity comes an old favorite, baseball, which is probably second in the hearts of us all. So everyone had better get to practicing in order that we have some exciting games this season.

Archer Vacationers Catch Up On Sleep, Travel, Read Books

Boys and girls of our dear old Alma Mater seemed to take a number of things on their vacations, but most of them caught up on lost sleep. So here is their reaction to the question, "What did you do on your vacation?" in their own words.

Mary Parker: Busted my glasses. Joan Druhot: Went down to noon-day services at the Embroidery every day.

Helen Goddard: Washed dishes, cooked, went visiting and shopping, and slept.

Mary Jane Christie: Went down town and lost a lot of sleep. Roy Demetre: Slept and practiced track.

Paul Fremont: Ditto. Helen Reichenback: Hiked to New Haven.

Joan Dutterer: Read. Thelma Draper: Caught up on my sleep.

Eugene Johnson: Played horse-shoe and went fishing. Don Duiser: Went to Chicago. Carl Shidler: Loafed.

Marjorie Williams: Picked out an Easter outfit.

Orlida Braun: Looked at all the silly hats.

Harold Layman: Played basketball. Lee Pierce: Went on a Boy Scout hike.

Edna Grossman: House-cleaned and read six books.

Phyllis Branning: Came back to school every day and practiced for the senior play.

Dorothy Foellinger: Read books, and don't like publicity.

Mary Virginia Russ: Had loads of fun, plus.

Max Neff: Worked.

Martha Stemler: Spent half of a week out in the country and read the other half.

Alice Witte: Hiked and went to the country.

Kenny Wollman: Played basketball.

Bill Whetsel: Went to Chicago.

Ossian Appreciates Good Luck Symbol

Dear Mr. Snider:

We wish to thank the student body and faculty of South Side High School for the beautiful good luck token, which they presented to our team and school last week. We feel that this was a most outstanding overture of good sportsmanship and once again serves to remind us that basketball is certainly worthwhile when it becomes an incentive for such deeds as these.

The South Side Archers made a great team and the school has just cause to be proud of them and their coach, as players and good sports.

The team, student body and all, join us in sending you this note of appreciation.

Sincerely yours,
OWEN MOORE,
Principal.

Archer Track Squad Loses To Blue Team

Elkhart Defeats South Side Thinlies By Final Score Of 57½ To 51½ In Meet.

South Side's 1939 tracksters met defeat at the hands of a veteran Elkhart squad last Saturday afternoon at the Southern stadium. The final score was 57½ to 51½. A chill wind was responsible for the slow time in most of the events. The meet was the first dual meet of the season for the Archers.

The invaders captured eight of eleven first events and clearly showed their superiority over the Archers. However, the South Side thinlies were at no time a pushover for Elkhart.

The Blue Blazers high scorer was Swihart, who was responsible for three of the Elkhart's eight firsts.

The Archers were responsible for the only clean sweep of the meet. Bob Bolyard, Wuttke, and Ferguson took first, second, and third places in the broad jump.

Botz Places First

Another fine performance was that of Eugene Botz, who accounted for a first place in the 220-yard dash and also ran a swell stretch on the half-mile relay team.

A cold, sharp wind was responsible for many mediocre performances. The weather also held the attendance down.

The Archers, while defeated, gave evidence that they would be tough in the future. The relays were the Archers' best events last Saturday, but good performances were turned in in the field events with Bob Bolyard, Jim Glass, and Don Beery, who is the most versatile of Archer tracksters, leading the way. Arnold, Altman, Botz, Cook, and Wuttke also showed a lot of promise and will be heard from in future meets.

Summary Is Given

Summary:
100-yard Dash—Ronzone (E), first; Brown (E), second; Merchant (SS), third. Time—10.5.

220-yard Dash—Botz (SS), first; Ronzone (E), second; Brown (E), third. Time—24 seconds.

100 High Hurdles—Swihart (E), first; Barkman (E), second; Arnold (SS), third. Time—15.6.

200 Low Hurdles—Swihart (E), first; Arnold (SS), second; Moorhead (SS), third. Time—25.1.

440-yard Run—Donaldson (E), first; Roth (SS), second; Duke (E), third. Time—55.6.

880-yard Run—Kauffman (E), first; Cook (SS), second; Darr (E), third. Time—2:12.

1 Mile Run—Darr (E), first; Cook (SS), second; Gombert (SS), third. Time—4:52.

Pole Vault—Swihart (E), first; Altman (SS), second; Beery (SS), third. Time—25.1.

Eger (E), tied for third. Height—11 feet.

Broad Jump—Bolyard (SS), first; Wuttke (SS), second; Ferguson (SS), third. Distance—20 feet, 8 inches.

High Jump—Glass (SS), Shemberg (E), tied for first; Stark (E), third. Height—5 feet, 7 inches.

Shotput—H. Elliott (E), first; Beery (SS), second; Close (SS), third. Distance—41 feet, 10 inches.

1 Mile Relay—South Side, first (Seabold, Roth, Brown, Arnold). Time—3:51.6.

Half-Mile Relay—South Side, first (Botz, Merchant, Wuttke, Beery). Time—1:37.

"Monk" Merchant Is One Of South Side's Leading Tracksters

One of South Side's leading speed merchants this year is that heavy-eating Bob Merchant, and, incidentally, the one who has had the most with or without puns, one must admit that one of the Archers' outstanding track candidates is the above mentioned person, who is also widely known as Monk.

Although this is his first year out, Monk has already stepped into the lead position for several events. Monk has never been out for track at South Side before, but now, in his senior year, he is showing everyone that he could certainly have been used earlier in his high school career.

Right now Bob is the leading candidate for the 100-yard dash. Last Saturday he took third place in pretty good time, since everyone competing in the meet was hampered by the bad weather.

Not content with being a top 100-yard man, Bob also stars for the relay squad, and works on other dashes. Since he has been in only one track meet this year, he is expected to show up very well in the many later meets the Archer thinlies have entered. By the time he has had a bit more experience he probably will roll in a large number of Archer points.

And Bob is well known for something besides his track prowess. It is that yellow car he pilots around these parts. Maybe that was where he got the idea that he could go faster than his car, but anyway, he turned out to be, as said before, one of South Side's leading speed merchants.

Intramurally Speaking

Although this may not pertain directly to intramural sports it may have some effect upon those participating and many others besides. Every South Sider loves his school and he would go to his farthest extreme to protect his school from disgrace. South Side is a fine school and it is known for its accomplishments and its fine sportsmanlike attitude toward its numerous victories. Every student at South Side is proud of his or her school. Well, right now South Side is on the balance. The students of South Side are weighing the one side down while the students of the other high schools are trying hard to put more weight on the other side.

What is the cause of all this? Well, by now every student has read or heard about the many editorials which were published in the News-Sentinel's Private Opinions Column criticizing South Side's conduct in the recent Central Catholic High School basketball tournament. It all started when some students and older people wrote items commenting on the fine conduct of South Side. Then many students and parents from the other high schools became jealous and began to write slamming editorials against South Side. Many of these writers wrote that South Side was as much involved in the celebration as the other three schools. If so, then why were there no riotous students destroying property in the portals of the other high schools. Surely no South Sider would want to destroy his own school!

In one editorial written by a North Side mother she stated that if South Side was so saintly during this basketball tournament why should they tell the world so. She said that if a person is saintly the world knows it. Well, this just burned me up and I'll bet that it would burn you up too. People are now merely slamming one another and nothing is being gained so why not just drop the whole business. Once in a previous article when I started rambling on about South Side's defeat by Ossian, I said let's forget any such game like basketball ever existed. At that time I said this because of a loss and this time I say forget basketball because of a victory. It has always been true that a good thing can be carried too far and in this case basketball is that good thing. So now I think it would be a good thing to just drop the whole matter and forget basketball for a while.

Every once in a while I ramble off the subject of intramural sports but please be patient with me. Next week I'll bring you the latest dope on our intramural activities. So until next week remember that victories are not only won on the basketball floor but also in sportsmanship.

Now that I've had my little say I think we ought to just drop the situation entirely. I'm sure that every one of you believe that this has been carried entirely too far. People are now merely slamming one another and nothing is being gained so why not just drop the whole business. Once in a previous article when I started rambling on about South Side's defeat by Ossian, I said let's forget any such game like basketball ever existed. At that time I said this because of a loss and this time I say forget basketball because of a victory. It has always been true that a good thing can be carried too far and in this case basketball is that good thing. So now I think it would be a good thing to just drop the whole matter and forget basketball for a while.

New Dishwasher Is Not April Fool Joke To Happy Cafe Staff

Miss Lucy Mellen, cafeteria head, has issued a statement concerning the new dishwasher, which was installed during the week-end.

"We have a new 'Hobart' dishwashing machine, which has been needed for quite some time as the old one had gotten so it leaked at times, spreading water over the floor, which was unsightly, and unhealthy and dangerous from the standpoint of falling. This machine was purchased from a Fort Wayne firm, Hillman and Company, who deal in cafeteria equipment. It is gas and electrically run. It was installed by the city school plumbers with the aid of Mr. Clark, our own school engineer."

"The staff is finding the machine furnishing a better service and a cleaner and a quicker service in that it gives a rotating wash and rinse process. It is perfectly safe for the student staff to manipulate, due to the automatic door arrangement. I hope that we have now a piece of machinery that will be of many years' service. We hope from time to time to improve upon equipment in our cafeteria-kitchen."

On The Cinder Path

The Archer trackmen despite their loss at the hands of a veteran Elkhart squad last Saturday gave promise of developing into a strong squad as the season progresses. The Galloping Yeomen could gain but three first places, but they were nosed in the rest of the events by a very small margin. The Archers, after a few more meets, should develop into quite a track power.

One of the highlights of the meet was the performance by Dave "Casanova" Roth in the mile relay. Dave really ran a swell race, chopping down a 20-yard lead he crossed the finish line a good 10 feet in the front, giving the South Side anchor man an advantage that he never relinquished. Dave also ran a swell race in his specialty, the 440-yard dash to cop a second place. Roth should be a point-getter for the Archer speedsters in the future.

But perhaps the outstanding performer for the Green was Eugene Botz. Botz's classy pair of 220's netted him a first in that event; he was instrumental in the Green's victory in the half-mile relay. In the 220 Botz was clocked at 24 seconds. This is good time considering the conditions under which he had to run. Besides the 220, the half-mile relay, Botz also ran the century. Gene is a senior this year and his services will be keenly felt throughout the rest of the season.

Speaking of the weather, we certainly wish the old man would gaze at the Archer track meets with a little more favorable eye. Last Saturday the spectators would have sworn the mercury was rushing; as for the tracksters themselves they must have felt like a new glacier wave was on its way. The time for the events was as a whole extremely poor due to the cold weather. Until better weather conditions prevail there is little hope for any new records. Which swings us quite naturally to whether the boys can perform better in cold weather or warm weather. Of course, there is little sweating done in cold weather, but on the other hand warmer weather puts more snap in the boys or something. At least you can't get a sun tan in zero weather, eh boys.

A clean sweep in the broad jump really helped the Archer cause against the Blue Blazers of Elkhart. Bob "Bruiser" Bolyard leaped into first place with a jump of 20 feet, 8 inches. Rudy Wuttke was second and Bob Ferguson third. We were surprised that the Elkhart squad weren't any stronger in this event, than they were. It came as rather a surprise, because the invaders were very well balanced otherwise.

Again it appears as if North Side will have another outstanding track team. Such performers as Don Kemp, Shelley Wagner, Bob Cowan, Casey Lane, Wayne Huber and many others have set Mr. Chambers up with another outstanding squad. Year after year the Redskins come up with championship track teams. We here in the South wonder where they come from.

Freshmen Meet To Start Baseball

Fifty G. A. A.'ers Turn Out For Organization; Newcomers May Sign Up Before Next Monday.

Last Monday the freshman G.A.A.'ers held their organization meeting for that ever popular spring sport—baseball. Approximately fifty freshmen turned out for the first meeting. Miss Dean says that the freshmen who want to join and were not at the first meeting should come to the gym office and sign up before next Monday.

The captains that were elected to serve for the baseball season are Betty Hargan, Lenora Moyer, Rose Stemen, and Martha Cash. The girls who are on team 1, Betty Hargan's team, are Elaine Boerger, Martha Mae Scheele, Patty Smith, Clara Makey, Janet Whetsel, June Whalen, Dorothy Snaveley, Mary Menze, Betty Kammyer, Martha Stemmler, Peggy Berning, and Rosemary Spore. The girls on team 2, Lenora Moyer's, are Jean Junk, Delaine Rose, Sylvia Sholty, Betty Wyss, Virginia Simmons, Carolyn Stalter, Mary Bornschim, Maryanna Klotz, Naomi Rinehold, Ellen Lambert, and Jacqueline McCoy. The G. A. A. members on team 3 are Kathleen Neith, Betty Bligh, Dolly Disler, Betty Baker, Neva Roebel, Flo Hirschman, Audrey Longworth, Betty Jane Littlefield, Delores Bodenbom, Gloria Orr, Maxine Volz, Alice Witte, and Ann Stephens. The girls on team 4 are Thompson Hall, Peggy Greaney, Norma Whitesel, Alice Fisher, Carolyn Fisher, Lois Bremer, Norma Russell, Katherine Zaegel, Peggy Faux, and Helen Marschand.

The first of the regular games will be played next Monday, April 18 and the following games every Monday thereafter.

English Honors Will Be Given At Recognition

Prizes Will Be Presented To Seniors, Freshmen With Highest English Averages

Philalethian Club To Make Awards

Essay Writing Considered; Former Winners Are Announced; Rules Are Listed

Prominent among Recognition Day awards every year are those presented by the Philalethian Literary Society for excellence in English and for creative writing. In this first group come the awards made to the graduating senior having the highest average English grade and to the freshman having the highest average in English.

Previous winners of the Senior Plaque were Ellis Lockner in '35, Ruth Fowler in '36, Virginia Pathauer in '37, and Betty Garton in '38. Virginia Fleming and Frank Duvaldt won the freshman awards in '37 and '38, respectively. Starting this year, a cup will be presented to the winning freshman.

The creative awards are presented to students of English 6 writing the best poem and the best essay. Rules for this contest are as follows:

1. Contributions may be essays or poems written as regular class work or as extra work.

2. A teacher may turn in for final judging not more than two poems and two essays from any one English 6 class.

3. Contributions submitted by the teachers for final judging are not to be marked by the teacher and corrected by the pupil as are the regular themes.

4. Manuscripts must be ready for final judging not later than the Friday before Recognition Day.

5. As manuscripts submitted to the final judges are to be identified by numbers only, the student's name should be clipped to his manuscript, not written on it.

Students who have received the cup for the best essay were Sam Rea in '33, John Bremer in '34, James Dern in '35, Marguerite Scheumann in '36, Charles Dunford in '37, and Jack Feller in '38. The cup for the best poem was received in '35 by Doris Rohrer, in '36 by John Jackson, and in '37 by Elizabeth Neff. Last year none of the poems submitted was considered worthy of the award.

Richard Buchholz Merits Hi-Y Pin

Mr. Ward O. Gilbert, Adviser, Makes Known Highest Award To Member At Best Girls' Fete

Richard Buchholz was presented with the jeweled Hi-Y pin for his meritorious work in the club, by Mr. Ward O. Gilbert, club adviser, at the Hi-Y best girls' banquet which was held Saturday night at the Y.M.C.A. This pin is the regular Hi-Y pin surrounded by a wreath of pearls. "Lasting Friendship" was the theme of the affair for which Andy Bremer, president of the club, acted as toastmaster. Mr. R. Nelson Snider was the principal speaker and spoke on "High School Friendships." Mr. C. G. Leonard, Y.M.C.A. secretary; Mr. E. H. Claire, assistant secretary; and Mr. Ward O. Gilbert, club adviser, were present.

The Honolulu Serenaders furnished the music throughout the banquet. Favors were in the form of flowers—the girls receiving roses and the boys receiving carnations. Programs were printed by Kenny Warren.

The committee who arranged for the event consisted of Andy Bremer, chairman; Dick Buchholz, John Magley, Max Wagner, Clayton Jensen and Frank Devlin.

Butler Journalism Day To Be Held Saturday

The sixteenth annual Butler University Journalism Field Day is to be held at Arthur Jordan Memorial Hall Saturday, April 15. Times staff members who are going will leave by bus early Saturday morning and will return that evening. The round trip costs $1.25, which includes the bus fare and eats.

The day will be spent in attending several addresses to be given by leading journalists. Some of the speakers are editors of leading papers. Others hold major positions on newspaper staffs.

The exact number of students who are going is not definite at present. Those who wish to go should sign up on the bulletin board in the Times' room.

Archers Place Second In County Rifle Meet

The annual county rifle match was held at the armory April 1. South Side gathered together a total of 974 points and placed a very good second. The scores for the match was as follows: Elmhurst, 979; South Side, 974, and Arcola, 969.

Charley Haug paced the Archers with a very good score of 197 out of a possible 200. The individual score was Haug, 197; Kimble, 195; Goebel, 194; Hageman, 194, and Bastian, 194. North Side, who has been the county champions for six years, lost the championship by forfeit.

"World Cruise," G. A. A. Event, Proves To Be Great Success

By Dorothy Bloemker

Helped by music and dancing, visitors were lured on board an ocean liner which sailed to many foreign ports within two hours on Friday, March 31. On that evening the annual G.A.A. exhibition was held in the gym in the form of a World Cruise.

As in writing a diary of their world cruise, the visitor might start, "We were entertained at the New York World's Fair the night before sailing. The Hi-Hat Tap-Dance was something we could never forget."

Soon after weighing anchor at the New York harbor, pretty legs were on display as the European bound visitors began to play deck games. With the games—balls, bean bags and feet began flying in all directions.

But soon we tired of such strenuous exercise. It was soothing to look over the boat rail and picture the sea-weed dancing for our amusement.

As we descended the gangplank at Liverpool we were met by Wharf Rats, or, as New Yorkers called them, "Dead End Kids." They fought among themselves but tried to show us they were not so unruly by doing a tap-dance.

At a London night club there were bright lights, dazzling jewels, handsome men, and beautiful women. But everyone, no matter what his or her station in life, was doing the Yam.

Sail To Ireland Again boarding our steamship we sailed across the ocean blue to the green island of Ireland. Here, Irish lassies entertained us with a truly Irish jig.

Next, stopping for a while on the Isle of Man, natives and tourists participated in volleyball, ring tennis, "pingbad" and other net games.

Leaving our boat again, we found ourselves in icy Norway. As ice skating is one of the national pastimes of these northern people they exhibited their ability for us. The healthfully beautiful damsels that so excellently showed us a skating routine were dressed in white skating dresses with red "bambooskas" over their heads.

Steaming on to Russia we were entertained by—Stalin? No—by a group of modern dancers who displayed their "ultra" dancing very thoroughly.

Next docking at Spain, we visited a provincial garden where native dancers cavorted in a truly typical Spanish style. Once more aboard the steamer we drifted through the Mediterranean and Adriatic Seas where we viewed a clog taking place on the shore. Farther on a group of peasants came on shipboard and danced a Mazurka for us. We were delighted with their short pants and full skirts costumes which were so typical of their country.

Fly To China Leaving our steamer we boarded an air plane and on landing we found ourselves in old China. Coolies shuffled along the street in a quaint Oriental dance. From a Sedan chair floated the lilting voice of a native princess. Her ladies in waiting daintily danced for her and for the tourists.

In India, tumblers greeted our eyes as royal tumblers went through complicated routines. Back on our ocean going craft we drifted lazily into the South Seas. The moon, the softly lapping waves, the haunting melodies, and the beautiful islanders all cast their spell upon us. The dark skinned beauties danced to the tune of an ancient instrument, as a gorgeous native girl sang.

However, too soon their colorful sarongs and swishing grass skirts faded from our vision as our boat headed back across the Pacific for the San Francisco Fair, the last stop of our World Cruise.

Foreigners from every country we visited on our trip were at the fair. Everyone, no matter what race, was very enthusiastically doing the Yam. Exhibitions may come and exhibitions may go but the 1939 G.A.A. exhibition will live in the hearts of all who witnessed this production as one of the best ever put on.

Dorothy May Stock Boasts Fashionable Shoes, Bags, Hose

Smart footwear is essential to the well-dressed miss of today, and there is certainly no question as to where the Fort Wayne younger set should go to buy their shoes, for the Dorothy May Shop is equipped with fashions to suit any type. This store, located on the corner of Berry and Calhoun Street, is noted for its high styles and reasonably priced stock, consisting of Dutch Boys, open toed, and open heeled styles, sandals, pumps, and other desired types of footwear. The newest colors also prevail in many of the shoes, among which are blue, japonica, cranberry, patent leather, and all pastel colors. From $1.99, the prices range to $4.95. To complete the ensemble of the fashionable miss, a large stock of purses are available at the lowest costs and in almost any color one desires. Hose in the newest shades are wanted by any person and these are only one highnote of the Dorothy May Shop.

Famous French Scribes Is French Club Theme

"Famous Authors of France" has been the theme selected for Le Cercle Français meeting to be held this afternoon in the Voorhees Room. A detailed review of "Les Misérables" will be given by Joe Bex. Its author, Victor Hugo, will be discussed by Sue Sweet. The biographies of Anatole France and Alexander Dumas will be given by Jean Smith and Jeannette Warren respectively.

New Public Speaking Prizes Are Awarded

Six new public speaking trophies were recently placed in the trophy case by the main office. The students who won these trophies are Robert Safer, first place in dramatic reading in a contest at Franklin College; Helen Wiehe, second place in dramatic reading at Franklin College; Thomas Gallmeyer, Wabash oratorical contest for High Schools of Indiana; Jeannette Warren, second place in Humorous reading in the contest at Franklin College; and Bill Newhard, first place in oratory at Franklin College.

So-Si-Y Will Hold Feast On May 3rd

Mrs. Joseph Cockrell Speaks On Spring Styles; Club Has Charge Of School Stationary

Marjorie Price, the president, announced that a banquet will be held at the Y. M. C. A. on May 3 and will be for all high school Girl Reserves in the city. The price will be 30 cents. She also announced that So-Si-Y is in charge of the name cards and South Side stationary and that it can be obtained in room 66.

Mrs. Joseph Cockrell from Wolf & Dessauer's was the guest speaker at the last So-Si-Y meeting which was held Tuesday, April 11, in the Greeley Room. A guest soloist, Katherine Bockman, favored the club by singing "Trees", and she was accompanied by Janie Weir.

Mrs. Cockrell's subject was "Spring Styles". She compared some of the styles of today with those worn when she first entered South Side about fifteen years ago. She impressed on the girls that it was correct to wear skirts and sweaters to school and for sport, but they should not be worn on dates. She said that the fabrics for this summer will be thinner and more closely woven. She described some of the most popular styles in formals, skirts, bathing suits, play suits, blouses and shoes.

Rosella Koehler lead the singing and the club sang "Skin-A-Marink," "Over Hill, Over Dale" and "The Girl Reserves Quest."

Miss Eleanor Smetley, one of the sponsors, read a letter received from the superintendent of the Allen County Orphans' Home in which he thanked the club for the Easter napkins which they made and sent to them.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Miss Osborne's English 2 classes are having a "First to get fifteen points," contest. At this time the period 4 class is ahead.

In Mr. Sterner's Latin 3 classes on a written review, the following students received 100: Roger McVay, Robert Holzwarth, Homer Summers, and James Barrett. The following received 98 or above: John Gumpfer, Lucy Smith, and Alene Loeser.

Doris Miller, a student in Mr. Cook's first period English 3 class, handed in a perfect vocabulary test on words in essays. This test was the only perfect one in two classes.

The students of Mr. Heine's biology 2 class are studying about the crossing of the white and red 4 o'clock flower, resulting in a pink 4 o'clock.

The students in Miss Osborne's English 6 class have been making individual reports. They are allowed to choose any poem; then are asked to read it and give a brief explanation.

Recently, Miss Emma Kiefer's English 8 class had a special program of readings and the singing of Robert Burns' songs. A quartet composed of Max Spencer, Max Mitchell, Ruth Ellison, and Patty Lyman sang "My Love Is But a Lassie Yet." Miss Pittenger gave several readings, including "To a Mountain Daisy" and "Bonny Leslie." The entire group sang "Afton Water," "A Fond Kiss," and other songs. Francis Van Buskirk played accompaniments.

A safety program on electrical appliances was given by Olive Jane Zahn and Jeanie Weir in Miss Pocock's home room.

Mr. Hull's advanced physics classes are making x-ray pictures.

Miss Osborne's entire English 4 class have completed their fifteen points of outside reading for this semester.

In Mr. Sterner's Latin 3 class, the following students received over 95 in a vocabulary review: James Barrett, Edmund Bauer, Dorothy Gildea, John Gumpfer, Lucy Smith, Alene Loeser, Charles Miller, Jane Rinard, Louis Swager, Dolores Bodenhorn, Norman Fortness, Gene Lou Harges, Roger McVay, Virginia Menze, Olive Miller, Violet Reiter, Robert Holzworth, Ione Jean Tracht, Carol Whittern, Marjorie Wigbel, and Homer Summers. Out of all these students, Olive Miller was the only one to receive 100.

This week, the girls in Miss Mellen's home nursing classes have been learning to use a clinic thermometer, and how to clean it. They have also learned to take pulse and respiration counts. They discussed the significance of each in relation to illness.

Maxine Althouse, a member of Mr. Cook's second period, English 8 class, turned in a sketch of the stage for the play "Caste," which the class studied. Mr. Cook now has two sketches of the stage in his room, the one drawn by Maxine, and the other by Pauline Oetting.

Mr. Null's new office is situated at the south end of the building, room 65. This new office is much larger than his old office and therefore enables more students to come in for book reports and theme corrections.

In Miss Pocock's English 4 class, the following made the best drawings of the list at Ashby in "Ivanhoe": Audrey Cooper, Ralph Herb, Lisea Kaiser, Mildred Druhot, Mary Cowan, Harry Mayer, Dorothy Perry, and Darrell Zuber.

Mary Jean Michel, a pupil in Miss Pocock's English 8 class, made a very good drawing of the stage in Act 2 in the play "Caste."

The following students in Mr. Cook's first and fourth period English 3 classes made excellent grades on a final test on the "Merchant of Venice": Wanda Eller, Gene Lou Harges, Doris Miller, Olive Miller, Gertrude Irmischer, Betty Baker, Joan Cartwright, Dorothy Gildea, Peggy Greany, Kathryn Gild, Betty Leis, Jeanne McCarthy, and Bernice O'Brien.

Archer Musicians To Be In Contest

Five Students Take Places In Regionals, Will Go To Bloomington April 17 For State.

Five Archer musicians will participate in a State Music Contest early next week, April 17. Those who won places in the regional contest and are going to Bloomington are, piano, Ellen Harry, Elaine D. Hirschy, and Marilyn Sondles; voice, William Woodward Newhard; violin, Alice Light.

These five will compete with the other Northeastern Indiana contestants and the winners from Bloomington, East Chicago, and Indianapolis.

Of the five contest divisions, namely piano, cello, violin, boy's voice, and girl's voice, the piano and voice, and visions are the largest. The contestants will go to Bloomington on Sunday and will be entertained by the sorority and fraternity members in Bloomington.

All divisions will hold their contests in the morning in Recital Hall and in the afternoon a reception will be held for the contestants, their teachers, parents, and friends, at which time winners will be announced and awards made.

Floyd K. Neff, local I. U. Extension director, was in charge of the Northeastern Indiana Regional Contest and Adela Bittner, supervisor of the Music Department in Indiana University, is in charge of the Music Contest.

April 13: Donna Colicho, Jack Dunifon, and Phyllis Landsborough.

April 14: John Bonsib, Richard Bussing, Ralph George, Betty Horst-meyer, Virginia Menze, Dorothy Rohrbach, Sylvia Sholtz, Virginia Sprunger, Roberta Taylor, and Muriel Wetzels.

April 15: David Azar, Jean Brehm, Virginia Collins, and James Straley.

April 16: Marvin Smith, Dick Braun, Gerald Carr, Phyllis Fager, Donald Greenert, and Ralph Myers.

April 17: Herbert Domer, Alene Loeser, Max Wagner, Nadine Mueller, and Fred Peters.

April 18: Marion Jean Betts and John Czerminski.

April 19: Gertrude Irmischer.

April 19: Doris Siebold, Ilene Briggs, and Geneva Martin.

Playlet To Be Given At Junior Math Meet

"If" a mathematical playlet, will be presented at the next Junior Math meeting. The characters for the play are Margaret Heine as Alice, Roger McVay as Bob, Carol Lemon as the lady, Tom Deal as John, and Pauline Schoenherr as Emma. The skit will be presented in the form of a radio skit with Clifford Springer announcing. Betty Jo Nelson, Betty Harvey and Elinor Muntzinger are on the program committee for the next meeting. Roger McVay is in charge of refreshments.

Here's news! Marjorie McNabb is stepping out to North Side to get that Romeo, Dick Didier.

Why does Bill Schultz trip over to North Side about every night? It couldn't be to see Shirley Prentice, could it?

Why don't Mary Menze and Bill Wolf get together. We know they still care for each other.

What's this we hear about Jenouise Babcock and Dale Amstutz?

It seems that whenever Jim Glass goes to see Marjorie McMann, Chuck Close is always there. Is it competition or just neighborliness.

Why wonder why does Mary Jane Tallirico spend all her evenings and time at the Indiana Theater?

Minuet In Blue To Be Theme Of Junior Fete

James Murphy, Class Prexy, Directs Arrangements Of Prom; Event To Be May 6

Fenton Orchestra To Provide Music Various Committee Chairmen Selections Announced; Ticket Agents Named

"Minuet In Blue" will be the theme of this year's Junior Prom, which is to be held in the gymnasium May 6 from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock in the evening. Jim Murphy, class president, after a conference Monday night with other officers and class advisers, Miss Hazel Miller and Mr. Lloyd Whelan, announced plans for the affair. Larry Fenton's nine piece orchestra will be featured.

Jeanne Gumper is in charge of the ticket campaign, which was launched during the early part of this week. She has selected fifteen junior students as her aides. Tickets, as usual, will be priced at seventy-five cents per couple, no stag tickets being sold.

Committees Named
Bill Blass, Marjorie Dyer, and Alice Pope will serve as decorations co-chairmen for the affair. Bill is taking charge of general art work, while Marjorie and Alice will take over the mural and silhouette decorations of the prom.

Jack Hodell, and his assistant, Roy McKee, are in charge of the special projects committee; Betty Marquardt is in charge of programs; Max Kimble and Tom Thiele have charge of lighting; and Doris Dickmeyer, social committee member, heads the orchestra selection committee. Other class officers which are taking over the affair include Tom Gallmeyer, vice-president; Ella Jo Reed, class secretary; and Bruce Bradbury, social council chairman.

Ticket Salesmen Given
Miss Blanche Lattato, art instructor, and several members of her art classes will aid in the preparation of the gym and will contribute to the general plan of the prom. Slightly reminiscent of a pre-civil war Southern era, the setting for the dance, is the Deep South.

Following is the list of ticket salesmen and the number of their home rooms. As only a limited supply of tickets have been printed, students have been asked to order tickets at their earliest possible convenience.

DePauw, Judson Offer Scholarships

South Side Seniors Are Eligible For Nineteen Stipends To Be Granted Early Next Month

Nineteen scholarships are being offered by DePauw University and Judson College. DePauw University will award fourteen scholarships which may be used in either the College of Liberal Arts or the School of Music. Judson College, in Alabama, will award five scholarships which will not be awarded to more than one resident of a single state.

DePauw Pays $200

DePauw University is offering its fifth annual competition for the President's Scholarship at DePauw which will be held in Greencastle on May 27. Each scholarship pays $200 on the tuition of the freshman year. The competition is open to men and women. The scholarship in Liberal Arts will be granted on the basis of competitive examination and personal interview together with the high school recommendation. No preparation can be made for the examination because it is the aptitude type rather than achievement. Those granted in the Music School will be on the basis of audition before the DePauw Music School Committee. The candidates must be recommended by Mr. E. Nelson Snider in order to be eligible for the scholarships.

Judson Pays $700

The Judson College scholarships cover all regular college expenses of $700 for the session from 1939-1940, which includes tuition, board, room in Jewett Hall, and all required college fees. Any young women residing anywhere in the United States outside the state of Alabama will be eligible for the scholarships. Applicants must be senior A's or B's that they can be eligible for admission to the freshman class of 1939-40. For admission to the freshman class of Judson College a student must be a graduate of an accredited school requiring 15 units for graduation; three of these must be in English. The remaining units are not prescribed but should form an integrated program definitely related to the Judson College curriculum.

The purpose is to encourage the outstanding high school graduate to take advantage of the modern educational program which it offers.

The scholarships will be awarded under certain conditions, qualities of character, personality and leadership. The high school record will be considered including psychological test score and extra-curricular activities.

Margaret Ruckel Is Charming Assistant In Principal's Office

On strolling into the general office we were greeted by a cheery "May I help you?" from a smiling brunette.

This charming new office assistant is Margaret Ann Ruckel, who is to take over Viola Yanney's duties as helper to Miss Dorothy Alderice. Viola resigned to accept the position in the General Electric Company office.

Marge, as she is informally called, plans on working in the office until the end of this semester.

As to the type of work she does, it is general office work, such as filing, answering the telephone, taking dictation, typing and taking care of people that come into the office. When we asked her what part of the work she liked best she said, "Oh, I think I like taking care of people the best."

Margaret Ann graduated last June and while taking typing here at school she received her gold ribbon for typing sixty words per minute and by the time she graduated was able to type sixty-five words per minute with ninety per cent accuracy.

In answer to the question of how she likes working in the office, Marge says, "Oh, I think it's fun. I enjoy it a lot."

While attending South Side Margaret Ann belonged to Philo, Interclub Congress, Art, Social Science, Travel, Metevites, 1500, Philo-Thespians, S.P.C., Times and was co-activities editor of the Totem.

Service Workers Receive Awards

Thirty-five Student Assistants Given Pins As Compensation For Help Throughout School.

At the Service Club assembly Tuesday thirty-five outstanding Service Club members were awarded bronze, silver, or gold pins, on a basis of points accumulated. Number of points needed to gain pins are three-hundred for bronze; four hundred fifty for silver; and six-hundred for a gold one. A student may earn one point an hour by working during school hours or two points an hour for work after school hours.

Points may be acquired by working in the various offices about school, among which are the athletic, dean's general, and vocational guidance offices. Checking attendance and guarding lockers are other activities in which many students are employed.

The names of thirty-five students who were presented with pins and the number of the points each has earned are as follows: Gold pins: Marjorie Schelper, 720; John Magley, 665; Margaret Niblick, 630; Max Magner, 618; Irene Kirk, 600; and Mary Emily Seibt, 600. Silver pins: Robert Stillwell, 573; Kathleen Ramey, 540; Marianna Newell, 540; Nancy Valiton, 540; Joan Hoy, 510; Mark Hall, 500; Delilah Shaffer, 495; Velda Oppenlander, 488; Ruth Bade, 480; Phyllis Frisinger, 470; Robert G. Hageman, 461; Dorothy Bloemker, 450; Helen Faux, 450; and Annette Snoko, 450. Bronze pins: Evelyn Kruse, 445; Alma Korte, 410; George Finkhausen, 400; Velma Lehman, 395; Russell Long, 378; Phyllis Branning, 379; DeLores Ulrich, 360; Roy Ellingwood, 360; Marjorie Hopkins, 360; Eleanor Schelper, 360; Kathryn Boerger, 330; Beverly Ann Griffith, 325; Eileen Hoffman, 325; Ruth Kaiser, 378; and Doris Siebold, 310.

Potluck Is Discussed By Airplane Members

At a special meeting of the South Side Airplane Society, Wednesday, April 19, plans for the summer fund-raiser were discussed. It was finally decided it would be a potluck at Foster Park May 27 at 2 o'clock. After this, the meeting was adjourned, and the boys held a short contest before going home. There will only be three more meetings of the club.

Teacher Resumes Work

Miss Clara Schmidt, German teacher, who has been absent from school for a little over a week, resumed her teaching on Tuesday.

Two Students To Participate In State Meet

Joyce McAlister, Jim Murphy Are Archer Representatives In Depauw Extemp

Joyce McAlister and James Murphy will represent South Side at the State Extemporaneous Contest to be held at DePauw University Saturday, April 22. In the City Declaration contest, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club April 26, Jeanne Gumper will be the South Side representative. Another feature on the extra-curricular activities calendar of the speech department will be the Wranglers' Extemp, to be held April 24.

Announcement of the representatives who would attend the state extemp meet was first made at the meeting of Extemp Club April 13. Both Joyce and James are juniors, and outstanding Extemp Club members. They were selected on a basis of their consistent excellence in extemporaneous speaking, and also because they rated the highest of South Side contestants in the invitational meet held at South Side recently. The speech work of each has been supervised by Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, predominantly through Extemp Club.

In the city contest to be held next Tuesday contestants are each to give a ten minute oratorical declamation. Each school is allowed one contestant. Jeanne Gumper was selected to represent South Side, because she had the highest rating of any South Side contestant in this particular division in the recent invitational meet. Her declamation, "The Light That Is Dark-ness," is a plea urging the use of reason for peace rather than for war. Jeanne is a junior. Mrs. Rieke has been her coach.

A trophy is awarded to the school who enters a winning contestant, and the name of the school is engraved on it. It is the permanent possession of the school that wins it three times.

Dawn McAlister won it once and tied for it once; Central contestants have won it once and tied for it once.

At noon, the contestants, their principals, and coaches will be guests of the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon.

At the Wranglers' Extemp contest next Monday subjects from the last three issues of the "Reader's Digest" will be used. Participants Wranglers only, will be given thirty minutes in which to prepare their speeches, which are to be from five to seven minutes in length. A Wrangler medal will be awarded the winner at Wranglers' banquet.

Constitution Devised By Board Of Directors States Purpose, Organization Rules Of Forum

The following is the constitution of the Indiana Student Forum as it was originally devised by the Board of Directors at a meeting here in South Side last December.

Preamble
We, the undersigned, acting as representatives of the school systems with which we are affiliated, and on their behalf, hereby establish a league of high school social studies clubs and adopt this constitution as its basic law.

Article I. Name.
The name of this League shall be "The Indiana Student Forum."

Article II. Purpose.
The purpose of the Forum shall be to stimulate interest in, and afford an adequate outlet for the expression of, current and continuing social, political, and economic problems particularly on the part of high school students.

Article III. Organization.
Sec. 1. The general policy of the Forum shall be determined by a Board of Directors consisting of five members to be elected annually by the faculty advisers of the member clubs from among themselves. Election shall be by ballot and shall be held at the same time and place as the annual meeting of the Forum. The term of office shall be three years. Newly elected members of the Board shall assume office the day following the conclusion of the annual meeting of the organization. The principle of rotation of office shall be observed. No school may have more than one representative on the Board of Directors at one time.

Sec. 2. The Board of Directors shall, immediately upon election, select by ballot a chairman and an executive secretary for the Board, the latter of whom shall not be a member.

Executive Secretary's Duties
Sec. 3. The Executive Secretary shall be a teacher of the social studies in a school holding membership in this Forum.

Sec. 4. It shall be a duty of the executive secretary to maintain contact with all the members of the Board, and with the Secretary of the Forum; to bring to the Board any matter presented to him by any member of the Board, or by the Secretary of the Forum, with the request that such matter be brought before the Board, and to inform the members of the Board and, when advisable, the President of the Forum, of the results of the votes cast by it, such votes to be preserved as a matter of record.

President's Duties Given
Sec. 7. It shall be the duty of the President to preside at the annual meetings; to appoint committees; to call meetings of the Executive Committee for the purpose of formulating programs of study and activities for recommendation to local clubs; and for any other legitimate purpose with the approval of the Board of Directors.

Sec. 8. It shall be the duty of the Vice-President to preside at meetings and otherwise act as President whenever the latter shall be absent and/or unable or unwilling to function, and to assist the President in whatever capacity he (the President) may desire.

Sec. 9. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to carry on all necessary correspondence with the secretaries of the local clubs, and the Executive Secretary of the Board of Directors. The Secretary shall, with or without the express direction of the President, keep the Executive Secretary informed at all times, of matters made before him by local clubs, which shall render action by the Board necessary.

Fete Scheduled For Tomorrow Night At 7:30

Students, Teachers, Parents To Participate In Annual Senior Fun Fest In Gym

Tomorrow night students, teachers, and parents will meet in the school gymnasium to hold the annual Senior Funfest. At this annual event each of the three factions mentioned above will present a short skit to be about ten minutes in length. The theme of the entire funfest is humor and a general good time.

These skits, to be presented by seniors, teachers, and parents in turn, will be given on the stage used for the senior play. Committees for each group have written their skits and have also started rehearsals.

The seniors held practice for their skit last Tuesday after school and will hold another this evening at 7:30. This skit was written by the officers of the senior class who are Eugene Schmidt, Max Magner, Max Spencer, Janice Dyer, Eddie Reeves, and Nadine Mueller. The skit will be directed by Mr. Paul Sidell and Miss Dorothy Magley, class advisers, and Eugene Schmidt, president of the senior class. A large number of seniors will act in the play.

Last week a committee met and wrote the skit to be presented by the faculty. This committee is composed of Mrs. Alda Jane Carson, chairman, Miss Erma Dochterman, Miss Olive Perkins, Mr. Burl Friddle, and Mr. Jack Wainwright. At a meeting held yesterday after school the teachers practiced their part of the funfest. The skit of the teachers is made of acts consisting of an instrumental trio, a vocal trio, a performance with marionettes, and Who's It contest. In this contest members of the faculty will represent prominent seniors and the audience will be asked to guess which senior is being represented.

Parents To Present Skit
Parents also have been preparing for their skit. However less is known about the parents' part in the program than the others.

Refreshments for the evening will be provided by the parents who each must pay a dime towards the refreshment fund. The home room parents will take care of the collection of this money through the members of their family in the home room. Unless the parents pay their dime, the Parent-Teachers Association will have to use money set aside for the relief of more unfortunate students for the purpose of providing the refreshments.

Miss Mary Pocock Vacations In Florida

Miss Mary Pocock, English teacher, spent her spring vacation in St. Petersburg, Fla., where she visited her parents, who have spent the winter there in a cottage on the gulf. She went for the purpose of resting and getting a lot of sunshine. She came back successful in doing the latter by swimming and walking up and down beaches gathering beautiful shells. She also visited some gardens of tropical flowers and trees.

Social Scientists Prepare To Greet Guests At First Student Forum Meeting

Committee Heads, Crews Are Listed

Eleanor Vesey, Dick Garton, Phyllis Geller, Lois Rea, Kenny Warren, Leaders

Taking direct charge of committee work in the Indiana Student Forum's first convention to be held at South Side all day tomorrow, thirty-seven South Side Social Science Club members will begin the final work this evening at three-thirty when the registration and reception committee goes into operation and will conclude work tomorrow night when the convention officially draws to a close.

Under the direction of Eleanor Vesey, who is in charge of reception and registration, a crew of persons operating on shifts will be placed at the registration desk at 3:30 o'clock today to receive students and faculty members of other schools that are located at distances from South Side which make it necessary for them to come this evening. Assisting Eleanor on her committee are Beverly Ann Griffith, Betty Neel, Phyllis Geller, Lois Rea, Marjorie Rapp, Betty Daniels, Helen Banks, Reva Foster, Jeanette Warren, Mildred Trout, Jim Murphy, Dick Buchholz, and Morton Nahrwald.

Arrange Conference Rooms

In charge of arranging rooms 170, 114, 112, and 26 for general assemblies, luncheon, business sessions, meeting by the Board of Directors, and for the four panel discussions are Kenneth Warren, chairman, Ronald McVay, and Bill Riemiller.

Lois Rea heads the housing committee, and is assisted by Margaret Null, Phyllis Geller, Morton Nahrwald, Eleanor Vesey, Mr. Wilson and Miss Smeltzly. Janice Dyer, chairman, and her staff of workers are making the badges, emblems, signs, and decorations. Her staff consists of Lois Rea and Phyllis Geller.

Phyllis Geller, vice-president of the local unit, is heading plans for the noon luncheon. Assisting her are Emiliu Allendorph, Marjorie Sheldon, Max Magner and John Magley. Betty Daniels assisted Phyllis in the preparation of the programs.

Garton Named Head

Dick Garton heads the check room committee. Bruce Bradbury, publicity head, is assisted by Dick Aronhalt and Carl Goebel.

These Social Science Club members have worked with the principle idea of making the first convention of the Indiana Student Forum a success and a conference to be beneficial to the minds of all who attend.

Dramatic Scout Group Begin Work On Play

The dramatic group of Senior Scout Troop 41 began work on the play, "Mrs. Magician's Mistake" at the meeting Wednesday, April 12, in the Greeley Room. The play is to be presented at the Mother-Daughter Tea on April 26. The following cast was announced: Magician, Carl Whit-tern; Kallyho, Martha Jane Kress-kopf; Tom Perkins, Ruthann Stiegler; Mrs. Magician, Hilda Schubert; Mrs. Friend, Joan Cox; Children, Kathryn Guild, Peggy Greaney, Jean Peterson, and Holly Reppert.

Two members of the Airplane Club, Henry Veltor and Bob Hodell, displayed several model airplanes to the airplane division at the meeting on March 29. This group went to the airport on Saturday, April 1.

Mrs. J. M. Purcell showed to the clothing group exhibits of spun glass and cellulose as textiles.

Roman Amusements Is Topic For Latin Club

Amusements of the Romans will be discussed at the regular Latin Club meeting at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in Room 26. The committee for the meeting consists of Betty Ann Bohn, Betty Jane Koehler, Avel Bridges, Joan Cox, Josephine Frosh, Charlene Atee, Jenouise Baccoco, Virginia Grey, Sally Hobbs, Dorothy Jaggers, Gloria Kramer, and Marilyn Loomis. Maurine Seibert, regular program chairman, will be in general charge of the program.

The various Roman amusements to be reported on are the Game of Knucklebones, Games of Ball, the Theater, Dice, Bath Houses, and the Foot Race. A nominating committee composed of the following graduates seniors, Betty Daniels, Rosella Koehler, and William Newhard, will be announced during the business meeting.

The meeting will be closed with refreshments.

Miss Lucy Osborne Talks To U. S. A.'ers

Miss Lucy Osborne, the guest speaker at the U. S. A. Club Thursday, gave an interesting talk on New York City. She told of the different means of transportation. Several of these means are by surface cars, bus, street cars, and subway. The location of the World's Fair was pointed out. Miss Osborne showed several of her post cards and pictures of New York.

Jean Sheets led the group in the game Upset the Fruit Basket, while the refreshments were prepared. Refreshments of popcorn balls were served. The committee was under the head of Rosanna Veston. Assisting Rosanna were Jean Sheets, Eileen Hormann, Etheldrea Behling, and Marjorie Hopkins.

Twenty-Three Schools To Be Represented At Conference

260 Delegates Sent To First League Meet

Various Indiana Secondary Institution Students Enroll As Charter Members

Host Club Directs Program For Day

General Sessions, Luncheon, Directors, Business Meetings, Discussions Planned

Lists of delegates, material about various clubs, students who will speak on topics at the sessions, and other general information pertaining to the convention was received too late for publication. It is regretted that these things were necessarily omitted, but it was unable to be helped.

Assembling because of a growing interest in social studies, approximately two hundred sixty delegates from 23 Indiana high schools will enroll as charter members of the Indiana Student Forum at its first annual convention to be held at South Side all day tomorrow. Working under the direction of the host club, the South Side Social Science Club, an initial program will consist of two general sessions, a noon luncheon, business meeting, board of directors' meeting and four panel discussions.

After the delegations from Plymouth, Hammond, Muncie, South Bend, Lafayette, Auburn, Richmond, Montpelier, Clark High School in Hammond, Martinsville, Angola, New Haven, Columbus, Wiley of Terre Haute, Anderson, Dunkirk, Garrett, LaPorte, Kokomo, Elmhurst, Huntington and both North Side and South Side of Fort Wayne register shortly before 9:30 tomorrow morning in room 102, the initial session in room 170 will be held.

Schmidt To Be Toastmaster
Eugene Schmidt, president of the South Side unit, acting as toastmaster, will introduce Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal of South Side, and Mr. Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of the Fort Wayne public schools, who will give their welcomes to the guests at the convention. Mr. Walter Meyer, director of civic education service, Washington, D. C., will present an address, "The Possibilities and Responsibilities of the Indiana Student Forum."

After the opening session, two panel discussions on Housing and on Health will be held in rooms 112 and 26, respectively. Supervising over the Housing program, Mr. C. J. Bechtold of Richmond, faculty leader, and Donald Eldridge of South Bend, student leader, will take charge. Mr. John Essig, executive secretary of the Fort Wayne Housing Authority, will present motion pictures dealing with "Homes for the People." Five minute speeches of discussion will be given by Palmer Singleton, Hammond, "The National Housing Program," Peggy Hachet, Auburn, "How Foreign Countries Have Housed Their People," and "Better Homes, Better Citizens," will be presented by Jean Alden Hargis of Lafayette. An open forum, will then be presented giving those in the audience a chance to participate in the panel.

To Speak On Health
In the Health group, Glen W. Maple of South Bend, and Ray Longway of Hammond will serve as faculty and student leaders, respectively. "Health in Indiana" will be the basis of a talk to be presented by Dr. Thurman Rice, chief of the Bureau of Health and Physical Education of Indiana. "The Presidential Health Program," is the topic of the five-minute speech which will be given by Robert Park of Montpelier. "Socialized Medicine in the United States" is the topic of Margaret Thompson of Richmond. "Health Insurance in England" will also be discussed. An open forum on Health luncheon music is to be presented by the South Side music department. An address by Dr. Andrew Cordier, European history instructor at Manchester College, "European Politics and American Interests" will precede the business meeting at which the new officers will be elected. After the business session, a board of directors' meeting will be held in room 112.

Afternoon Topics Listed
The two afternoon panels, devoted to Foreign Relations and Problems of Youth will begin at 2:00. In room 112, where the Foreign Relations Forum will be held, Russell T. McNutt, faculty adviser, and Beverly Griffith, as student leader, will take charge. "Should the Neutrality Act Be Amended?" will be the subject of Jim Murphy's speech. "Should America Ally Herself with England?" is the topic chosen by James Yinst of Muncie. "Should the Open Door Be Maintained in the Far East?" is the topic of Robert Allamang of South Bend. "Millions for Defense or Millions for Tribute?" will also be discussed. After the regular five minute speeches, an open forum having as its subject, "Should the United States Adopt a Policy of Aggressive Leadership among the Democracies?" will be conducted by Beverly Griffith, the student leader, from South Side.

The other afternoon panel discussion will be on the Youth Symposium in room 26. Miss Thelma Robinson and George Rake of Muncie will serve in the capacity of faculty and student leaders, respectively. Janice Dyer of South Side will speak on "Are the Problems of Youth Any More Numerous or More Serious than Formerly?" Marguerite Moor of Angola will discuss the "Major Problems of Youth," and Hugh Wiley of Auburn will present "The Responsibilities of Youth for Social Welfare." The open forum will then be conducted. At the conclusion of the two afternoon panels the officers of the Forum for next year will be announced.

Luncheon Toastmaster

Eugene Schmidt

Eugene Schmidt, president of the South Side Social Science Club, will be the toastmaster at the convention luncheon tomorrow noon in the cafeteria. He has been head of the arrangements for this initial conference of the Forum.

Social Studies Clubs Needed In Institutions

Students Should Have Sense Of Good Citizenship The Clubs Help To Develop.

Although twenty-one high schools in Indiana feel that sending delegations to the first annual convention of the Indiana Student Forum is a worthwhile project in the development of citizenship, there are still many schools that do not possess any organization within themselves to further the study of social science.

There is no doubt about the need of such organizations; that a true sense of good citizenship should be developed in every student—this is self-evident. But can a high school club, organized by high school students fill this need, or is there a stronger unit that is needed?

Can Be Tried

It has been proved, in many schools over the nation, that if a high school club cannot adequately fill this large job, it can do a great deal in the trying. Anyone must admit that creating a desire for good citizenship isn't an easy job, and it takes a lot of work to do it. But it can be done.

Wide-awake organizations with wide-awake officers are always on the lookout for new ideas or new ways in which to promote this desire. But one sure way in this creation is to promote good meetings; ones that give the members a chance and desire to take active part in the discussion and that promote good sound knowledge of government and current events.

School-wide events are also a big help in selling your club to the student body. Perhaps, as has been done by some schools, the sponsoring of a visual education department can be managed. In the schools of today, leading educators agree that visual education work does help the average student. For seeing a subject in motion picture form is much easier than reading about it in a text. School-wide assemblies can be held; noted speakers brought before the student body; the music department of any school can be helped in the ways of buying music and instruments; civic improvement is still another realm; and the excursion trip into city and county governmental offices can be made.

Students May Discuss

Besides the work that can be accomplished by a club of this sort, an outlet is offered for those students who feel that history, civics or government classes are not long nor thorough enough to provide for the benefits which may be enjoyed by the formation of such a club. It gives the student a chance to partake in the discussion of current problems, and develops leadership among the club's members.

At the earliest possible opportunity a constitution for the club should be formed, providing for officers, standing committees, and all the other essentials of a good constitution which should serve as a guide book to the club. Membership, whether limited or not, should be decided upon, and the bringing into the club underclassmen who can take over when the present seniors graduate should be considered immediately.

To Make Scrapbook

Delegates from all schools are asked to check in their local newspapers and school editions and collect material for use in an Indiana Student Forum scrapbook. Because so many organizations fail to do this at their inception, they often lose out when it comes to keeping a record of their activities for use in later years. The clippings will be asked for soon after the first set of officers are elected and a permanent institution is established.

Follow The Arrow

Delegates to the Indiana Student Forum can find their ways to the various rooms for use in the convention by simply following the arrows made by Janice Dyer from South Side and her committee.

Times To Be Given

Free issues of The South Side Times and the special Student Forum page, will be distributed to delegates to the convention early Friday morning at the registration desk.

Mellen Directs Cafeteria

Miss Lucy Mellen, director of the South Side cafeteria, is in charge of the noon luncheon which will be served to members of the Indiana Student Forum tomorrow in the new study hall, room 114.

Archers' Social Science Club Begun In 1932

Holds Discussions On Questions Of Interest To All Citizens Of United States

Interested Students Present Debates

Originate Visual Education Department; Campaign Is Sponsored For Project

Since its formation in 1932 by Mr. Wilburn Wilson and Miss Eleanor Smeltz, the South Side Social Science Club has endeavored to be beneficial to its members and to make its presence appreciated within the confines of this institution. Through discussions it promotes, members gain knowledge; through its other efforts the school as a whole reaps much.

Discussions on worldly questions of interest to every American citizen have been the content of the programs of the South Side Social Science Club for the past year. Students who are interested in civic and economical problems have been the debaters and speakers at these meetings and several times outside speakers, having knowledge of the topic being discussed, have aroused and directed much thought at the regular meetings.

Topics Discussed Named

The main topics discussed at the recent meetings of this term and last were: What type of government do we have? What is the cause of war? What should America do in the event of a foreign war? a debate on the League of Nations and the World Court presented material for discussion on this topic. Discussions on International Peace, rearmament and munitions in the United States, and a discussion concerning the form of government in the United States, whether it is inferior or superior to that of other nations were also participated in. Mr. William B. F. Hall, chairman of the Fort Wayne Housing Authority, was a guest speaker at one of the meetings. The subject matter of the program was Housing and Slums in Fort Wayne and in England. Mr. Hall showed some motion pictures on the subject, prevention and correction of delinquency was the topic of a discussion at a recent meeting.

The Social Science Club was the first to start visual education here in South Side. This division has been a success and much of this success is due to the club. It is hoped that some day motion pictures will be taken by this department and shown for the benefit of South Side students.

Hold Annual Campaign

The Social Science magazine campaign which is held each year is carried on for the purpose of aiding the Division of Visual Education. The returns from this campaign are spent for the purchase of new picture machines and films to be shown to the students. This equipment costs large sums of money and without this year's campaign or some other drive to fund the continuance of this department would be impossible.

Officers for this semester are, Eugene Schmidt, president; Phyllis Celler, vice-president; Janice Dyer, secretary; Kenny Warren, sergeant-at-arms; Jim Murphy, parliamentarian; and Dick Buchholz, Inter-Club Congress representative.

Name Officers

Officers for last semester were Eleanor Vesey, president; Margery Rapp, vice-president; Helen Banks, secretary; Eugene Schmidt, sergeant-at-arms; Dick Buchholz, Inter-Club Congress representative; and Betty Daniels, parliamentarian.

In the past years, the topics of the meetings have concerned the well-being of this country. One year topics such as, Should the United States recognize Soviet Russia and should the soldier's bonus be paid were subjects for debates. The N.R.A. was thoroughly discussed and the speakers explained what it meant to us and to others and how it will affect the government in the future. Former Congressman David Hogg once spoke on "Some Low-Downs on the High Ups in Washington." Dr. Warren directed a tour of the Lincoln Museum and explained various points of interest. The club also took a tour through the filtration plant.

Discuss Foreign Problems

The international relations of countries was the theme of discussion for the entire year of 1934. Dr. Paul H. Krauss spoke on the "Economic and Political Aspects of the Italo-Ethiopian Conflict." This meeting was an open meeting and all students who were interested in this topic attended. Mr. Gordon Foster, editor of the Fort Wayne "Municipal Booster" gave a talk on city government.

Mr. Argo Vogeleus of Fort Wayne Post No. 47 of the American Legion presented the case of the American Legion. Mr. Willis Richardson, social science instructor at Central High School, gave a full discussion of the history of Indiana. This was of prime importance because this topic is too often neglected in the classroom.

A demonstration of the Filmsound was given at a joint meeting with the Math-Science. This demonstration aroused much interest among the members and showed one of the marvels of invention.

Through the topics of discussion which have prevailed at the meetings in the past few years, the members received a wider range of knowledge of what situations were existing in the world and what should be done to correct the present faults. Better knowledge of civic problems makes better citizens seems to be the motto which prevails at all of the meetings.

Welcomes Guests

Mr. Merle J. Abbott

We extend to our guests on this occasion a heartfelt welcome. Our committee goes to the students of South Side and its leaders.

Your efforts to seek and discover truth are fine measures of your studentship. May all your endeavors be marked by honest research and discussion. Your findings and opinions will thus be honored, sought, and respected.

Sincerely,

Mr. Merle J. Abbott,
Supt. Public Schools.

Delegates To Meet Bear Responsibility As Forum Members

If you, as a delegate, have traveled a number of miles just to attend the first convention of the Indiana Student Forum, especially if you are a graduating senior, and you wish merely to "witness all" without a degree of work; perhaps you don't rightly belong here; for the responsibilities of each charter member of the Indiana Student Forum are heavy.

Especially if you are a junior, the task is not an easy one; for the seeds of next year, and the year after that, and every year even after that year's convention lies on your shoulders. The responsibilities, the obligations, and each personal assignment are many. From among the crop of juniors present, officers with a splendid degree of leadership, capability, excellence in the field of social science, must be chosen—with special care, for these officers, more so than any other set, will largely determine the fate of the Indiana Student Forum.

Each member present should and must see that clubs or sustaining bodies are organized (if there are none at the present time) to promote those qualities of leadership and investigation into community problems that are so necessary to a social studies club.

Cultivation of present underclassmen in your schools is another great item. Take the stock of the delegates from your school—how many of them are freshmen, sophomores, or juniors? You may have done a splendid job of organizing and promoting your club during your senior year, you may have had programs that are among the best ever held, but in spite of all you may have done, if there is no one to carry on the work you have so nobly attempted, there is no use to even plan conventions in the years in the future.

And then there is the problem of truly taking part in the present convention, and adding that incentive that will actually make present underclassmen want to do their own part. Carry the principles and the underlying ways of study into the later years of your schooling and into your later life. Take an active part in your government, and show an interest in local, national, and foreign affairs. In other words, bring into practice, the actual proof that joining the Indiana Student Forum brings into display good citizenship in later life.

But more than all the other responsibilities listed, you should have obtained the idea and fundamental principle to carry out into later effect the ideas and knowledge you have obtained from joining such an organization as the forum. You should make the knowledge you have obtained work for you.

Carry the principles and the underlying ways of study into the later years of your schooling and into your later life. Take an active part in your government, and show an interest in local, national, and foreign affairs. In other words, bring into practice, the actual proof that joining the Indiana Student Forum brings into display good citizenship in later life.

Constitution Revised By Board

or advisable; keep record of all correspondence; issue notices of annual and other meetings of the Forum, and of the Executive Committee; and keep a record of the minutes of executive and general meetings.

Duties Of Treasurer Listed

Sec. 10. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to collect, keep safely, and disburse whatever funds may come into the treasury of the League from dues or other sources. But the payment of funds out of the treasury, when not expressly authorized in advance by the by-laws, shall be previously approved by the Executive Board.

Sec. 11. The expenses of the League shall be defrayed by the assessment of dues on the local clubs, . . . cents per member. Sec. 12. Any social studies club in any high school in Indiana may become a member of this League by ratifying its constitution, after signing its desire to join to the Secretary of the League, and paying whatever dues are established. All clubs so joining shall send the names of their officers and advisers to the Secretary of the League immediately. All club advisers must be members of the faculty of the high school in which the local club exists.

Sec. 13. Amendments to this constitution may be proposed by a majority vote in the annual meeting, approved by the Board of Directors; they may be proposed by the Board and approved by the annual meeting of the League.

Forum Is Now Actuality, Not Mere Dream

Movement Started In December Toward Formation Of New Organization

League Is Begun By Faculty Group

Instructors Devise Original Constitution, Elect Head Board, Youth To Carry On

Within the short space of five months the Indiana Student Forum has become an actuality instead of a dream. Although it has been a subject of discussion by the South Side Social Science Club, until last December no real moves were made in an effort to organize the social science groups of Indiana into a state-wide organization. At that time a group of teachers from Indiana high schools met and adopted a constitution for The Indiana Student Forum.

These teachers planned the Forum with the schools which were represented in the organization meeting being the initial members of the Forum. Temporary officers were also elected at this first meeting. The representatives of the schools present at the first meeting now constitute the Board of Directors. This board was to serve until the first convention. Mr. Wilburn Wilson, of South Side, was chosen as the first president of the Board of Directors, and Mr. McNutt, of Central of Muncie High School, was chosen as the executive secretary.

Organized On Friendship Basis

The Indiana Student Forum is an outgrowth of a many years' desire of the South Side Social Science Club to organize Indiana social science groups into a state-wide organization which would make it possible for students from all over the state to meet and discuss problems of the world and themselves. This Forum is organized on a friendship basis, not a competitive basis, so that the people entering the discussions will do so to help solve some problem of interest to most high school students, and not to win prizes for public speaking. By the annual conferences to be held in various parts of the state it is also thought that a more general friendship between the different parts of this state will be made.

After the Indiana Student Forum has become a steadfast Indiana institution, it is hoped that the membership of the Forum will expand so as to include most of the Indiana schools which have a social science organization. At present the membership of the Forum is twenty schools. This membership will be enlarged as the Forum gains prestige.

Forum Expected To Expand

Mr. Walter E. Myers, director of the Civic Education Service, with headquarters in Washington, D. C., also helped the advisers from the initial members of the Forum. He was invited to attend the organization meeting by Mr. Wilson of South Side. He has helped organize adult forums throughout this country and was very helpful to the organizers of the Indiana Student Forum; he did all of this work on his own time.

All of the present members of the Forum believe that it will expand until it includes a large number of Indiana high schools and that it will eventually be a prominent organization throughout the state.

Many Striking Personalities To Be Found In Instructors

Among the teachers who will be present at the first conference of The Indiana Student Forum we will see many striking personalities who will serve in the capacity of members of the Board of Directors and as faculty advisers for the many clubs represented at this meeting.

Mr. T. A. Kleckner, adviser of the social studies group representing Lincoln High School of Plymouth, will be present at the conference. Mr. Kleckner is the social studies teacher at Lincoln. He is an outstanding instructor and is known throughout the state as an all-round good fellow. He worked in a firm in Pennsylvania with Mr. Wilburn Wilson, of South Side, and was very successful as a salesman. At the present time Mr. Kleckner is recovering from a serious and prolonged illness with pneumonia which kept him out of school several weeks this semester. His interest in the Indiana Student Forum is shown by the fact that he is willing to make the long trip from Plymouth to attend this conference and to give the benefit of his activities to Plymouth school students.

Mr. T. A. Kleckner—A very capable assistant to Mr. Kleckner. She is co-adviser to assist him in his duties in connection with the social studies at Lincoln and has many of the good qualities seen of her husband. Mr. Glen Maple and Mr. C. W. Kuhn, co-advisers of the social science group at Central Junior-Senior High School of South Bend. These two men make a very effective team in their work in the field of social science. Together they wrote an outstanding work book, which has enjoyed widespread popularity for the use of Government students. Both men are widely known among the teachers throughout this state because of their professional activities. They have promoted some exceptional forum discussions during the past year. Mr. Kuhn is the head of the social studies department at his South Bend high school; Mr. Maple is a member of the faculty, teaching the social studies at this same institution.

Archer Advisers Listed
Mr. Wilburn Wilson—One of the co-advisers of the Social Science Club of South Side. He has helped this club to put over some outstanding projects in the interests of the school. He is known among the teachers for his humor. The students know him because of his clever comments and examples which live up to his classes. He is very interested in visual education and has organized the visual education department at South Side. He is also a ping-pong enthusiast.

Miss Eleanor Smeltz—Other co-adviser of the South Side social studies group. She has spent a great deal of her time in the development of this club. She also has done a great deal of traveling about the world. Every summer she takes a trip to

Welcome Speaker

Mr. R. Nelson Snider

At the first session of the convention tomorrow Mr. R. Nelson Snider will officially welcome the delegates to the first conference of the Indiana Student Forum. He has been interested in the work of the local group and is glad to see the enthusiasm for the league.

Student Forum Leaders Name Late Delegates

Additional Representatives For Convention Are Listed By Social Scientists.

Because the names of some of the delegates attending the Indiana Student Forum Conference arrived in Fort Wayne at a date too late for publication in the printed program they will be listed here.

The panel speakers from Lafayette are Catherine Cavanaugh, Renee Nelson, Robert Herod, Charles Hawkins, Katherine Weaver, Harry Eversch, Charles Zipp, Geraldine Hargis, and Francis Prien. Health—Henry Taylor, Frederick Heimlich, Ellen Hudgens, Marilyn Danley, Betty Childress, Sue Hazelgrove, David Wolfe, Warren Thompson, and Lois Baugher.

Other delegates from Lafayette who have specified their desire to attend certain panels are: Housing—Catherine Cavanaugh, Renee Nelson, Robert Herod, Charles Hawkins, Katherine Weaver, Harry Eversch, Charles Zipp, Geraldine Hargis, and Francis Prien. Health—Henry Taylor, Frederick Heimlich, Ellen Hudgens, Marilyn Danley, Betty Childress, Sue Hazelgrove, David Wolfe, Warren Thompson, and Lois Baugher. Foreign Relations—Renee Nelson, Robert Herod, Charles Hawkins, Katherine Weaver, Marilyn Danley, Charles Zipp, Warren Thompson, Francis Prien, Betty Childress, and Sue Hazelgrove. Student Problems, Government—Catherine Cavanaugh, Frederick Heimlich, Ellen Hudgens, Henry Taylor, Harry Eversch, David Wolfe, Charles Zipp, Geraldine Hargis, and Lois Baugher. The visitors at large, who may attend any forum discussion which they wish are Irene Cunningham, Al Scheffe, Richard Sellers, George Lumm, and M. D. Jackson.

More Schools Late
Several schools notified those planning for the student forum too late for the names of their delegates to be included in any publication. These schools are Central Junior-Senior High School of South Bend, North Side High School of Fort Wayne, Montpelier High School, Wiley High School of Terre Haute, Anderson High School, Laporte High School, and Kokomo High School.

ers in the state of Indiana. He is a member and an officer in a large number of teachers associations. Miss Thelma Robinson—Social Science instructor at Hammond High School. She has been a very enthusiastic supporter of the Indiana Student Forum. She has planned a program embodying many of the ideals and purposes of the Forum in the social science club of which she is adviser. Many successful forum discussions have been promoted by her. She has also been able to secure the services of some of the most talented and best informed persons in their particular field to promote an understanding of public questions and problems. Incidentally, Hammond High School is sending a delegation of students that may be larger than that of any other school represented at the conference.

Mr. Marion Wilson, principal of the Montpelier High School and also the adviser of the social science group at that school. That he is interested in the field of social studies is shown by the fact that he gives much of his time to encouraging, aiding, and advising other clubs besides Montpelier's social science club, besides being principal of the high school. But that is not all—he teaches five classes a day. He is the brother of Mr. Wilson of South Side.

Mr. Andrew Cordier—European history instructor at Manchester College, will be the speaker on the present world situation. His subject will be "European Politics and American Interests." Dr. Cordier is the professor of European History at Manchester College. He has traveled extensively, and during the recent Czech crisis he was in Czechoslovakia. He has spent a great deal of time in foreign countries studying their problems and is an authority on modern European history. Dr. Cordier is planning on organizing a tour to be made up of students and teachers to be held this summer. This tour would include most of Europe so that a study of the present European situation can be made. Dr. Andrews earned his Ph.D. degree in the field of European history. Because of his experience concerning modern developments throughout the world his speech will be looked forward to by everyone interested in new developments in the world.

Health Subject Of Talk

Dr. Thurman Rice, chief of the Bureau of Health and Physical Education, will be the speaker for the panel which will discuss Health in general. Dr. Rice will speak on the subject, "Health in Indiana." He is connected with the Indiana Board of Health and is particularly interested in the promotion of health in the schools. He is very well known in national medical circles for his work in this field. He is a friend of many Fort Wayne doctors.

Other Schools To Attend

Word that delegations from Martinsville and Clark High School of Hammond planned to attend the convention, arrived here too late for publication in the principal stories on this page; therefore it is here printed. Names of representatives were not sent, but Mr. Myrtle Dorsett will be the adviser from Clark High School. Clark High School's adviser was not known before the Times went to press.

Noted Persons Will Address Student Forum

Civic Education Service Director, Walter E. Meyer, To Talk At First Session

Dr. Cordier Slated Luncheon Speaker

Mr. John Essig, Dr. Thurman Rice Will Speak At Forenoon Discussion Meet

Rooms For Meeting Are Named In List

Rooms in which the respective meetings of the Forum will be held during the day are as follows:

- 102—Check room.
- 170—General meeting at 9:30.
- 26—Panel discussion on Health.
- 112—Panel discussion on Housing.
- 114—Luncheon and business meeting.
- 112—Board of Directors meeting.
- 112—Panel discussion on Foreign Relations.
- 26—Panel discussion on Youth Problems.

Four outstanding personalities will be the speakers during the first annual conference held by the Indiana Student Forum April 21. Each of these speakers is outstanding in his own field of endeavor.

Mr. Walter Meyer will be one of the speakers. His topic will be "The Possibilities and Responsibilities of the Indiana Student Forum." Mr. Meyer is the director of the Civic Education Service, which has headquarters in Washington, D. C., and has charge of the publication of several newspapers for grade school students who are studying current events. Each of these newspapers has news since he has been the executive editor of the world. Mr. Meyer works with the United States Office of Education, and besides his work in the field of youth training, he is in charge of the organization of adult forums throughout this nation. He has had a good education, especially in the social studies. According to Mr. Wilburn Wilson, of South Side, Mr. Meyer is an effective speaker. He is spending this time on the Indiana Student Forum at the request of Mr. Wilson, and he is receiving no pay for his work. In a pamphlet, "Making Democracy Work," Mr. Meyer listed the constitution of the Indiana Student Forum as a good example for other groups wishing to organize such forums. He will speak during the first ceremonies of the conference at 9:40 tomorrow morning.

Essig To Speak

Another speaker on the program is Mr. John Essig, a Fort Wayne realtor. He has been engaged in real estate business for many years. He will speak at the panel discussion on housing since he has been the executive secretary of the Fort Wayne housing authority, which has made great progress in the development of better housing facilities. Mr. Essig carries on the correspondence for the housing authority and also directs all activity of this group. He has worked with William B. F. Hall, who is president of the Housing Authority. He will speak at 10:20.

At the luncheon tomorrow Dr. Andrew Cordier of Manchester College, will be the speaker on the present world situation. His subject will be "European Politics and American Interests." Dr. Cordier is the professor of European History at Manchester College. He has traveled extensively, and during the recent Czech crisis he was in Czechoslovakia. He has spent a great deal of time in foreign countries studying their problems and is an authority on modern European history. Dr. Cordier is planning on organizing a tour to be made up of students and teachers to be held this summer. This tour would include most of Europe so that a study of the present European situation can be made. Dr. Andrews earned his Ph.D. degree in the field of European history. Because of his experience concerning modern developments throughout the world his speech will be looked forward to by everyone interested in new developments in the world.

Health Subject Of Talk

Dr. Thurman Rice, chief of the Bureau of Health and Physical Education, will be the speaker for the panel which will discuss Health in general. Dr. Rice will speak on the subject, "Health in Indiana." He is connected with the Indiana Board of Health and is particularly interested in the promotion of health in the schools. Green Thinlies Go To LaPorte Next Saturday

Archers, Feeling Good After Early Success, To Give Slicers A Real Contest.

Coach George Collyer's harriers will engage in a track meet with the strong LaPorte Slicer squad on Saturday at LaPorte. Inspired by wins over several tough foes this year, the Archers will be out to add another win to their list.

Little is known about the LaPorte Slicers, but they are sure to give the Archers a severe test. In the 100-yard dash the LaPorte team has produced one of the best tracksters in the state. The Slicers are also strong in the shotput, broad jump, and 220-yard dash. The LaPorte team as usual is big and fast.

Coach Collyer has announced that about thirty boys will make the trip. The following boys are certain to go, while others are to be selected before Saturday. Alison Arnold will represent the Green in the low and high hurdles, Al Gumbert will participate in the mile run along with LeRoy Cook. Bob Merchant will run the 100 and the 220. Arden Altman will do the pole vaulting, Bob Bolyard will broad jump and high jump, Jim Glass will also high jump, Bob Beery and Chuck Close will take care of the shot put, Roth and Brown will run the 440, and Tom Moorhead will be featured in the low hurdles. Eugene Botz, Archer sprinter, will run the 220; Bob Ferguson is sure to see action in one of the above events. The Archer mile relay team will be composed of Roth, Ferguson, Wuttke, and Beery.

Eleven Teams Sign For Softball

Six Are In Heavyweight Division, Five In Middle; Will Play Fifth, Eighth Periods.

Eleven teams have, up to this time, signed up to play intramural softball. There are six teams in the heavyweight division and five in the middleweight. This year the games will be played during the fifth period and after school. The play will start as soon as the weather permits. As many as ten more teams may be expected to enter the race before its beginning. The teams and their members are listed below.

Heavyweight Division

Cubs—Bolyard, Beery, Hamilton, Kitzmiller, Hall, McKay, Heinzelman, Hire, Colicho, Shimer, and Cook.

Greyhounds—Shirk, Meyer, Forb-ing, D. Taylor, B. Taylor, Stobaugh, Stolte, B. Miller, Peters, and Singer.

Thugs—Goodman, Heiny, Dykes, Ginger, Dahman, Cassidy, Koltz, Ferguson, Stauffer, Wuttke, Saalfrank.

Middleweight Division

Palmer's—Mansbach, Rose, Rendleman, Figley, Bone, Byer, Kesterson, Blauvelt, McNulty, Schaffer.

Hottotot Hustlers—Duiser, Davenport, Faylor, Kite, Parry, Oppenlander, DuWaldt, Geiser, Bauer, and Ludwig.

Yankees—(Incomplete)—Bower, B. Kesterson, Cook, Ratliffe, J. Kesterson.

T. O. P.—Zuber, Martin, McClain, Rietdorf, Werkman, Kilpatrick, Brower, Reynolds, Wolf, Hall.

Jumpers—Hall, Martin, Gettys, Hoffman, Seibold, R. Hornberger, Glenn, E. Meyers, D. Meyers, Ray.

Archers Win Nine Events In Track

Pile Up 62 Points In Four-way Meet Staged At Montpelier; Merchant Takes Two Firsts.

Chalking up firsts in nine out of twelve events, in a quadrangular track meet held at Montpelier last Thursday, South Side High marked one up on the right side of the ledger for the first time this season. The South Siders scored a total of 62 points. Montpelier was second with 27½ points, Mount Summit had 11, and Winchester 6½ points.

Summary of South Side winners: High Hurdles—Arnold, third.

Mile Run—Gumbert, third.

100-yard Dash—Merchant, first.

Time 10.6.

Shotput—Beery, first; Close, third.

Distance—43 feet, 5 inches.

440-yard Dash—Roth, second; Brown, third.

High Jump—Glass, first; Bolyard, second. Height—5 feet, 6 inches.

Low Hurdles—Arnold, first; Moorhead, third. Time—26.3.

On The Cinder Path

The results of the quadrangular track meet last Saturday between South Side, Montpelier, Mount Summit, and Winchester provided quite a few surprises for the Archer squad. The biggest surprise was South Side copping nine firsts out of twelve events. True the competition wasn't of the hardest type, but 62 points in a quadrangular meet isn't hay. The Archers really did a fine job of running and they also did well in the field events.

Another surprise was Bob Merchant's pair of firsts, one in the 100-yard dash and the other in the 220-yard dash. These two victories undoubtedly established Bob as South Side's number one dash man. Merchant ran the 100 in 10.6, which is fairly good time. His performance of 24.8 in the 220 was very good, considering the condition of the track at Montpelier. Bob also throws a mean shot-put, which is rather strange, since most muscle men aren't worth a hoot as runners.

It's always handy to have a man like Don Beery on one's track team. Don in one sense of the word can be called a track freak. He is South Side's number one man in the shot-put, runs anchor on the half-mile relay team, can pole vault nearly as high as Altman, runs a fast 220, and as if this weren't enough, broad jumps and hurdles. Besides all these accomplishments, Don is a swell football player and one of the best basketball guards in the state. But Don doesn't draw the line at these strenuous sports, he also is quite a checker player and likes nothing better than to sit down to a hard, bruising game of checkers. Beery really had an athletic reputation to uphold in South Side. His brother Bob was a wov of a football player, and had no equal on the hardwood. Oh yes, we forgot to mention, Don used to play dodgeball on the Harrison Hill varsity.

Old "Saggy" Jim Glass is becoming quite a high jumper. In the Elkhart meet, Jim tied for first and won the Montpelier classic copped another first place with a jump of 5 feet, 6 inches. With just a little more training and practice Jim should become a first class high jumper in the City. Bob Bolyard took second to Jim in the quadrangular meet. But Bob's specialty is the broad jump. He took a first in that event twice in a row. His latest performance was a 20 foot, 9½ inch jump. We believe Bolyard can outjump Ervin of North Side. Anyway, we are anxious to see these two boys tangle in a meet.

South Side has a lack of good high hurdles on the squad. At present Arnold is stepping over the high hurdles, but his specialty is the low hurdles and we wonder if the high sticks won't ruin him. Last year Arnold set a new track record at North Side for the 220 low hurdles with a time of 24.6.

We haven't heard a whole lot about the Central squad yet, but we presume they will be tough, under the able tutelage of their new coach, Bob Dornie. Certainly they will have one of the fastest boys in the city in Feling Talley...We certainly would like to see some boy toss the shot over 45 feet. Last year Regedanz of North Side was the only putter-shot to go over 45 feet...Dick Goshorn is really developing into a fine half-miler. He ran it in 2:24 on the poor track at Montpelier...It looks like North Side Redskins have the best balanced squad in the city. But they did feel the loss of Ross Leakey in the mile event...We can't help wondering why Central Catholic hasn't got a track team...Henry Kulesza, city high basketball goal scorer deluxe, will be sure to take the high jump event for Central in their coming meets. "Hungry Hank" is one of the best high jumpers in the state. He has gone over six feet several times...By the way what has hold tight and sea food got in common.

Upperclassmen Open Baseball Season Friday

Soph Squads 1, 2 Play First Game In G. A. A. Competition; Team 2 Is Victor

The first round of games in the upperclassmen baseball season in G. A. A. was played last Friday in the gymnasium. Bernadine Bender's Soph. 1 team and Jeanne Smith's Soph. 2 team drew the honor of officially opening the season. The final score of this game was 5-2, with Smith's team on top. Scoring runs for the losing team were B. Bender and M. Calkins. Spurring their team on to victory by crossing the plate were Seemeyer, Smith, Martin, Walker, and Shimer.

Meeting at 3:50 were Frances Nash's Soph. 3 team and Pauline Werling's Junior 2 team. This produced the first tie game of the season, with the score at the end of the playing time being deadlocked at 2-2. The two runs for the Soph 3's were scored by Knippenberg and Nash, while Keith and Hoffman scored the runs for the Junior 2's.

The third game of the evening was played between Betty Thiele's Soph 4 team and Lucille Scheuman's Junior 1 team. The fighting sophomores completely outclassed the juniors and registered eleven runs while holding their opponents scoreless. Schoenherr and Goddard each counted twice for their team, while Meyer, Thiele, Sterling, Wiebke, Campbell, Sharam, and Mischo each scored one run.

The final game of the evening was played between Bernadine Pressler's Soph 5 team and the Senior team captained by Hazel Perry. This game was called when the score stood at 4-0 in favor of the seniors. Scoring the four runs for the seniors were Roberts, Perry, Schelper, and Ottinger. Scorers for the games were Bligh and Hoppe. Umpires were Nash, Snyder, and Hall.

Mr. George Collyer Guiding Destinies Of South Trackmen

The destinies of the 1939 South Side track squad are being guided by a new mentor, Mr. George S. Collyer, by name. Mr. Collyer has filled the position vacated by Lundy Welborn, who gave up his duties in order to accept a full time teaching post. Besides being appointed chief track coach, Mr. Collyer also assisted the new Archer grid mentor, Bill Moss.

Mr. Collyer was formerly basketball and track coach at Harrison Hill School. He first came to Fort Wayne from Knightstown where he taught school for eight years. Mr. Collyer received his A.B. degree from Butler University and his A.M. degree from Indiana University. He teaches history.

Mr. Collyer, while at Harrison Hill, was quite successful with his basketball and track teams. He is quick to recognize ability in a boy and is always willing to give him a chance to show what he can do. But this does not necessarily mean that he allows any loafing on the squad, not by any means. If a boy desires to come out for track, he may do so; but he must work at it or turn in his equipment.

Mr. Collyer likes winning track meets very much and he is quite happy after winning. But if he loses he does his best to find out the fault for losing and then proceeds to correct it. He has fairly good material to work with this year, and he is determined to develop a powerful well-balanced squad. From the way the squad is beginning to shape up it looks as if Mr. Collyer will get his desire. Win or lose, all of South Side is pulling for Mr. Collyer and they wish him and his hard-working tracksters the best of luck during the season.

Well, the baseball season has started. It really is grand to hear "play ball" again, isn't it? Baseball is one of the G. A. A.'ers favorite sports, because it is played in the "great out of doors."

The seniors seem to be repeating what they have done all year. At their first game of baseball, they had four runs and no outs, so it was decided to call it quits. If this is an indication of what they intend to do all season, every other team had better watch out.

About the best hit of all the games played last week was one by Eileen Goddard in the game between the Junior 1 and Sophomore 4 teams. The hit was a home run into the bleachers. Even the junior girl in the bleachers couldn't reach it! When Eileen was asked how she was able to hit such a long one, she answered that it was just an accident.

After looking over the scores of the other games, the team that seems to have the power to match the mighty seniors was the sophomore 4 team. They walloped the junior 1 team by the score of 11-0. Look out, seniors!

Freshman Girls Start Class Baseball Games

Freshman G. A. A. baseball games got off to a start Monday with two games between teams 1 and 2 and 3 and 4. Team 1 and 3 were the winners.

Betty Hargan's team 1 defeated Lenora Moyer's team 2 by the score of 2-1. Patricia Smith and Martha Stemler made the runs for the winning team, and Sylvia Sholly, the pitcher, made the only run for the other team. Because of the fact that both teams were very evenly matched, the score was low.

The second game at 4 o'clock was between Rose Stemen's team 3 and Martha Cash's team 4. Cash's team was defeated by the score of 8-2. Those on Stemen's team who came through with runs were Kathleen Neith, Betty Baker, Marceline Batdorf, Stephens, Neva Rabel, and Betty Littlefield. Rose Stemen made the only home run of the evening. Elma Shearer, and Doris Holle made the runs for the losing team.

Mural Softball Squads To Enter Competition

As soon as enough softball teams have signed up for intramural competition, the Intramural Softball League will swing into action and games will be played during the noon hour and after school. Several teams have already sent their entries to Louie Briner and many boys have organized their teams over spring vacation.

Since teams will have a chance to play at noon as well as after school, it is thought that more teams will enter the annual softball league. Schedules will be worked out by Louie Briner after a sufficient number of teams have made their entries.

Baldies Conquer Thugs 15-3, 15-14

Are Champions Of Heavyweight Intramural Volleyball; Tippy Truckers Win Middleweight

The Baldies won the heavyweight intramural volleyball championship by defeating The Thugs, 15-3, 15-14. Heinzelman served six scores in the first game to lead the winners, while Hornberger won the only three for the losers. In the second game the Baldies' scoring was divided between Heinzelman, Bolyard, and Kitzmiller; Heiny served seven points for the losers.

In the middleweight division The Tippy Truckers defeated The Lone Rangers to win the crown. The game scores were 15-5, 15-9. The winners were sparked in both contests by the superior play of McLain, who served nine of his team's total points in the first game, and twelve in the second contest. Both of the games were very fast. The Tippy Truckers keeping a constant advantage over their opponents. The heavyweight championship games were by far the better than those of the lighter division. In the heavyweight division the teamwork of the Baldies proved to be too much for The Thugs, while in the middleweight division McLain played practically a one-man game for his team.

Another intramural sport has come to an end this year, and we wish to congratulate Mr. Louis Briner for the fine manner in which he conducted the volleyball tournament.

Badminton Tournament Is Featured In G. A. A.

The G. A. A. badminton tournament has started with a bang. Although there are not a large number of participants, those who have signed up are full of enthusiasm. The fact that it is a new sport to the G. A. A.'ers along with their lack of a court for practice has kept the entrants down to twenty-two. The drawing was made last Thursday and the results are as follows: Deel and Griffith vs. Thiele and Meyer, Stemen and Batdorf vs. Nash and Squires, Hargan and Spore vs. Smith and Martin, Calkins and Nichols vs. Bender and Merkel, Pressler and Krauskopf vs. Rarick and Jarvis, and Whalen and Junk vs. Dunten and Wylie. Twenty-five points will be awarded to all those who win their first game. One hundred points will be given to the winners of the tourney, and fifty points will be given the second-place winners. The student leaders to referee the games are: Martin, Rarick, Squires, Perry, and Nash.

Ruth Henline, '38, Has Good Position At Grade Institution

—Courtesy of The News-Sentinel

Ruth Henline

Ruth Henline, '38, has gone back to grade school. Do not mistake this statement; she is at present a clerk in the office of Harrison Hill grade school. To look further into her work, it is interesting to know just what composes the daily life of a grade school office clerk.

Day Is Full

Miss Henline says that her business day is filled with filing, typing, mimeographing, answering phone calls, aiding teachers, collecting milk money from the pupils, taking care of the daily attendance, and selling street car passes. Although her day is filled to capacity, Ruth says, "I like my work very much. It is so very interesting. There are so many different things to do."

The way in which Ruth secured her position in the office is very interesting. It so happens that while a student in the commercial class, she was assigned to write a letter of application, applying for a position in the office of a grade school. Not taking the situation to be a true one, Ruth filled the assignment to the best of her ability. The best letters of the class were selected and were sent to Mr. Merle J. Abbott. Ruth was selected for the position and is working in the office at the present time. Before going to work in the school office, Ruth worked in Mr. Abbott's office for about one month.

Accuracy Is Important

Ruth says that she now sees that accuracy in everything you do is the

Fifteen Receive Points For G. A. A. Tumbling

At the close of the tumbling season, the advanced tumblers to receive 100 points were: Katherine Browning, Margaret Brower, Velma Connett, Marceline Batdorf, Orilda Braun, Mary Jane Derck, Gwen Roberts, Pauline Schoenherr, Marjorie Williams, and Marilyn Wolf. Those who earned 75 points were: Adelheid Scheele and Elaine Helms. Fifty points were received by Jane Hahn, Marion Owens, and Peggy Harrod.

main thing. To get a good knowledge of letter writing is vitally important. She was a commercial student under the supervision of Mr. Earl H. Murch. While a student she was awarded a ribbon in typing for her ability to write fifty words per minute with 90 percent accuracy. In bookkeeping she was awarded a pin. She finds that her shorthand comes in very handy. Concerning the opportunities which the commercial course offers, she says, "The commercial department is very efficient. It enables one to step from high school to a good office position without having to take additional business training."

While a student here, Ruth was an active member in Meterites, 1500, secretary of Philo, vice-president of Social Science, Totem, Quill and Scroll, and former Times general manager, copy editor, managing editor, news editor, and assistant circulation manager. She was a member of the National Honor Society and the four-year honor roll. While working in the school office, she has helped with the school paper, The Beacon.

Ruth Henline is another of the many students who took the commercial course while a student here at South Side and who is now well on the road to success in the business world.

Observance Of Service Week Is Begun Here

April 17 To 21 Is Set Aside To Do Honor To Students Who Give Personal Help

Extending throughout the week of April 17 to 21, the first observance of Service Week has been inaugurated. The committee responsible for the inauguration of such a custom was appointed by Mr. A. Verne Flint several months ago. Besides Mr. Flint, Mr. Earl Murch, Mr. Ora Davis, Ruth Kaiser, student chairman; Kathleen Ramer, Alma Korte, Eileen Hoffman, and Robert Hageman attended numerous conferences for the purpose of deciding an appropriate recognition of service workers.

The faculty felt that they were not given sufficient remuneration for the service they extended to the school. So a system was devised whereby a worker is able to measure the amount of service he contributes by means of points. One point is given for each hour of service at school, and two points are given for every hour of service work done at home. Students have a sufficient number of points—300, 450, and 600—receive either a bronze, silver, or gold service pin. Thus, Service Week, a special service assembly, and other forms of public appreciation are to take place each year in honor of service workers.

Apply To Flint

Application for service work is made in Mr. Flint's office or to any teacher who conducts any form of service work.

The South Side Student Service System probably extends throughout every activity in the building. It has been in operation for as many years as has the school. Including as it does every type of work from office to motion picture operation, its staff of membership is made up of a variety of students with a varied line of abilities.

These students in the visual education department, for instance, must be trained to operate machines, select and mail films, and arrange for their showing in the school. Mr. Wilburn Wilson is the able director of this department.

South Side is a large community, a huge business organization in itself. Being that, stenographers, printers, and general office workers are needed to carry out the inevitable work of such an organization. There are a number of offices throughout the school. Mr. Ora Davis, Mr. Benjamin Null, Miss Dorothy Alderice, Miss Gretchen Smith and Miss Alice Dean, Mr. Earl Murch, Mr. Wilburn Wilson, Miss Martha Pittenger, and Mr. A. Verne Flint all have a hand in the direction of these offices, and they employ a large number of efficient and willing workers.

Work For Scott

Mrs. Lillian Scott has under her a galaxy of workers, including boy and girl locker guards and study hall assistants. Mr. Ward Gilbert, Mr. J. H. Chappell, Mr. C. A. Bex, Miss Crissie Mott, Mr. Joseph Plasket, Miss Pauline Van Gorder, Miss Mabel Thorne, Miss Adelaide Fiedler, and Miss Mary Crove are also aided by helpers in the service group.

The smooth functioning of this complicated system depends upon absolute cooperation between the service workers and the faculty. Therefore, the student enlisted in service work must be loyal, capable, and willing to give up a portion of his leisure time for serious, necessary work.

However the average service worker is not entirely unselfish in his desire to help in this system. He knows that besides gaining the respect of his teachers and classmates, and making new acquaintances among them, he is gaining experience in working under his own initiative, he is getting a taste of these things, which can be obtained only from actual experience, are very likely to prove invaluable to him in later life. Thus, the service worker, while giving up time and energy in helping to operate the school, is also being presented with an invaluable gift, which can never be taken from him.

Rogues' Gallery Is Cause Of Much Fun For Nosey Reporter

Somebody is feeling good around this school, and we are glad that somebody is retaining their sense of humor after the termination of recent unmentionable events. At last the unforeseen has happened. South Side has a rogue's gallery.

Some witty member of the faculty saw fit to resurrect some extremely funny pictures of the teachers and to post them on the bulletin board in the teachers' rest room.

The heading reads, "Do not deface." Do not remove or face! Some class side comment. There is a fairly good picture of Miss Pittenger, with the comment, "Would you say a little cross?" And there is a very good picture of Miss Peck with an accompanying "just too, too demure." Miss Kelly's picture rated the comment from this unseen joker of "sweet and shy." To cap the climax was a picture of Miss Osborne saying, "seared?" Maybe there is an excuse for the results of these pictures because they are the ones taken about a year ago to go on file. Remember? At that time we called them the line-up. They were complete with a number and everything. Well, anyway, if you do want to get a good laugh, just drop up there sometime, only don't get caught, and don't disturb the peace.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Mr. McClure's sociology classes are studying the relation of religion to society and they are also taking up the study of world religion.

In her English 2 classes, periods 3 and 4, Miss Osborne is staging a contest between these two classes. This week the period 3 class is ahead of the period 4 class.

Miss Smeltzley's 9A home room had their picture taken last Wednesday. They are planning to have it taken again when they are seniors and then compare the two.

In Miss Peck's period 2, English 8 class, the following people have completed 15 points in reading: John Abbot, Eileen Blombach, Irene Blombach, John Dingley, John Weck, Helen Medsker, Virginia Meyer, Don Proehl and Mary Jane Underwood.

In Miss Osborne's English 2, period 3 class, James Bunner made the highest grade on an Ivanhoe test, and in the English 2, period 4 class, Arthur Howard made the highest grade.

Virginia Sites is in charge of programs concerning safety with electrical appliances, in Miss Emma Kiefer's home room, 58.

On a recent test given by Mr. Clyde Pierce to his sociology classes, the following were outstanding: Jane Belt, Richard Gents, Robert Hawkins, George Hohnhaus, Josephine Antrum, Marian Ehle, Rosella Koehler, Lillas Patton and Virginia Shidler.

All girls' gym classes are playing baseball.

Miss Mellen's classes in home nursing have been studying the rules for handling and the giving of medicines. It was especially stressed that medicines should be prescribed by a doctor and his directions followed.

Marjorie Boese and Jean Blume had charge of the home room program in Mr. Davis' room recently.

The following students of Mr. Null's English 8 class have completed their outside reading: Andy Bremer, Melba Brindle, Janice Dyer, Marjorie Jackson, Dela Rauner, Thelma Roberson, Mervin Schlenger and Eleanor Vesey.

Mr. Heine's biology 1 class is studying transportation and photosynthesis.

In Mr. McClure's home room, 70, talks were given on etiquette for all occasions by Betty Koehler, the chairman, Betty Harrison and Nancy Hess.

Miss Peck's period 1 English 1 class has taken up the study of "Dutch Boy." Over quizzes taken over this book, the following people have made very good grades: Harry Anderson, George Breinfalk, Dolly Disler and Vivian Price.

The boys in Mr. Chappell's mechanical drawing 6 classes have completed the first unit of work and have started on drawings in the second unit. These drawings deal with true lengths, developments, conic sections, triangulation, intersections and penetrations.

In the study of "Milestones," a play, in Miss Peck's English 8 class, Wilmer Bens made an excellent drawing of the stage for act 1 of the play.

Mr. Bex announces that a number of boys of his manual training classes have already finished their lay.

Special reports are being made by Miss DeLancey's English 3 students on parts of the "Epic of Kings" which are interesting to the students who are studying "Sohrab and Rustum." Reports are being made by Mildred Holmes, Betty Ann Bohn and Charles Beall.

Mr. Moss' general history classes have just completed a test over the unification of France and Germany.

On a grammar test in Miss Pocock's English 4 class, those making A were: Robert Allen, Gloria Staley and Lester Oppenlander. Others who made A—were: Betty Koehler, Bob Hines and Lois Holzworth.

In Miss Pocock's home room, Helen Wiehe gave her dramatic declamation, "Eyes."

The highest average in Miss Osborne's English 2 class for this grade period is Ruth Werkman with an average of 97 per cent; second highest is Margaret Heine with 95 per cent.

Miss Peck's period 4 English 6 class is studying poetry.

On Monday, April 10, Evelyn Talbot visited Miss Osborne's English 2 class.

Twenty-four of Miss Kiefer's pupils have completed their outside reading for the semester. The English 8 class leads, with 13 completed tasks.

Mr. Clyde Pierce's sociology classes are studying the merits and demerits of education.

Girls' dancing classes are learning how to tap dance. Student teachers are as follows: Lois Campbell, Marjorie Quackenbush, Gloria Kramer, Billy Stover, Maxine Goers, Patty Sanford and Joan Smith.

The students in Miss Peck's period 2 English 8 class have handed in their 800-word theme and are working on their 1,200-word theme.

Mr. Whelan's P. G. 2 classes are studying about the weather. They are studying the U. S. weather maps and are keeping records themselves.

Loraine Dicke has made the highest average of Miss Osborne's English 6, period 2 class. Her average is 94 per cent.

In typing 4, the following students qualified for awards: Wilma Carrier, who wrote 60 words a minute with 98 per cent accuracy, qualified for a gold ribbon; Norma Driver wrote 51 words per minute with 94 per cent accuracy, and qualified for a green ribbon, and Doris Reinking, who wrote 50 words per minute with 92 per cent accuracy qualified for a green ribbon. Jean Fortriede made the Honor Roll in typing 3 last week. She wrote 48 net words per minute with 100 per cent accuracy.

In Mr. Sterner's Latin II class, period 1, the students are writing letters to the governors of the different states asking for the state seal or a facsimile of the state seal. There are twenty-four states that have the state seal written in Latin. It is the aim of this class to obtain these seals, mount them and frame them.

Mr. Walker's marketing classes are studying textiles. They are also making tests to show the difference in these textiles.

In Mr. Cook's English 6 classes, the following students made grades of A— or better in a final test: Third period, Yvonne Bateman, Harold Hagan, Joie Hayes, Eugene Nahwald, sixth period, Jack Hornberger, Bernice Etzler, Lois Jarvis and Jean O'Brien.

Times Room Mural To Portray Various Journalistic Scenes

Janice Dyer, Marjorie Dyer, Alice Pope, Sam VanHorn, Eloise McKee, Basil Thompson, Bill Blass, and Lorraine Iba are painting the mural in the Times room. It is in sections showing the activities connected with newspaper work. To give atmosphere the mural is being painted on printed copies of the Times. The color scheme is red, black, and white. Each section will be framed in red strips.

Here are the scenes the mural is going to portray: A staff meeting, a trip to the New York convention, a Times potluck, the machinery connected with the Times, printers and Miss Rowena Harvey, students getting news and ads, the Totem office, people folding Times copies, and copy readers reading copy.

The mural will brighten the Times room considerably. There are three sections up now and the rest will go up as soon as they are painted. If the work is not completed this semester, it will be continued next semester. Miss Blanche Hutto is in charge of the project, and she is doing a grand job of supervision. Everyone is invited to come to the Times room soon to see it.

Times Awarded Cup For First Place In State

South Side Paper Ranked High For Excellence In Contest At Butler U.

The South Side Times by winning the major award for being the best all-around paper published by a school with an enrollment of 1,000 or more was presented with a gold loving cup at the Sixth Annual Journalism Field Day, held April 15, at Butler University, Indianapolis. The Times was selected from a total competitive field of seventy-four entries, and was adjudged best on the basis of its outstanding features: well-balanced make-up, timely, well-written stories, unboxed ears, and easily readable type. Eleanor Vesey was general manager of the edition that was entered for competition. Miss Rowena Harvey was adviser.

Of the three hundred fifteen who attended the field day, ten were from South Side. They were Dick Craighead, Lora Lee Montgomery, Gloria Werkman, Rebecca Abbott, Josephine Frosh, Dick Aronhalt, Jean Fortriede, Jessie Freeman, Marjorie Sheldon, and Miss Harvey.

The program for the day included three sessions of speeches in the morning, a noon luncheon, and an inspection trip through The Indianapolis Star editorial and mechanical departments.

In all, five trophies were presented. Of the five, two were awarded Fort Wayne schools, the other going to The Northwestern for having the best sports page.

Famed Blind Pianist Displays His Ability In Archer Assembly

Winthrop C. Chapman, blind and deaf youth of Redfield, North Dakota, was a guest at South Side on Monday. Mr. Chapman gave a demonstration of his musical ability during the third and second periods in the study hall. Mr. Chapman played several well-known selections on the piano. He talked to the group of students and answered several questions asked by his traveling companion. A character sketch of Mr. Chapman was also given.

Mr. Chapman told of his recent visit to South Africa, and of his book, which he finished after his trip. The book tells of the wonders of the country he visited. It was first written in Braille and then typewritten.

Mr. Chapman is twenty-four years old. His favorite sport is swimming. He enjoys playing the piano and likes to hear others play. He is able to hear the piano by placing his hand on it and catching the vibrations. He listens to others talk by the same method.

Mrs. Ora E. Goff, president of the City Parent-Teacher Association, arranged his appearance.

The Fort Wayne Lions Club printed several poems by famous present-day poets on the "Man with the White Cane," since this has been the week set aside for the observance of the blind. These poems were given to the students.

School As A Whole Appreciates Work Of Service Club Members

What does South Side think of its Service Workers? The faculty thinks they are a fine group of people. When the students stop to think about it, they think so too. The point is, however, that the student body as a whole, harring members of Service Club; seldom stop to give any consideration to the people in this school who assist in the school's smooth functioning.

There is no surer method of bringing a thing to the attention of a group than by asking them their opinion on the subject. Believing in this theory, we asked point-blank two questions, considerably waiting until vague replies were formulated into more certain answers.

We questioned three groups of people: teachers, interested persons (service workers), and disinterested people. The faculty were very commendable in their direct and appreciative answers; interested persons were very modest; and disinterested persons were generous in their words of praise. Following are some of the most pertinent and interesting answers we received to these two questions: (1) In your opinion what has been the value of the time and effort contributed to this school by its service workers? (2) What do you think is the principal reason they enter that work?

Miss Martha Pittenger: The work of the service committees makes it possible to handle efficiently the many details which are necessary for the management of a large organization. For example, messages which may effect any individual may be promptly delivered, property is protected, class preparations are increased, and the distribution of materials is made possible. Pupils enter the service work with a genuine spirit of cooperation, and to avail themselves of an opportunity to gain valuable experience.

Mr. A. Verne Flint: The young men and women who have served the school have helped to improve the efficiency of the institution to which they belong. They in turn will profit from this experience and also from learning that service is one of the most important parts in successful living. I believe the desire to be helpful has inspired most service workers to enter the various jobs. Practically all are unselfish and are very loyal South Siders.

Mr. Wilburn Wilson: Service work is of inestimable value to the school and of very great value to service workers themselves because of the discipline, training, and experience they receive and in the impression that they make. The reason they work, I think, is simply the desire to be of service and also for experience which may benefit them when out of school.

Miss Mabel Thorne: The value has been, and is, inestimable. What would we do without them! They enter the work because of a spirit of helpfulness, training for future work, and a desire for association with people who are "doing things."

Mr. Earl Murch: It has relieved teachers of clerical work—typing, filing, mimeographing, etc. They enter it because it gives actual experience. Following are the opinions of three disinterested South Side students.

June Holzwarth: It has been very valuable because without these service workers, South Side would not be the school it is. They are needed to maintain the high standards that South Side has established. I think the principal reason they enter the work is because of pride in their school.

Scholarship To Yale Again To Be Awarded

Three South Side boys have applied for the Griffin Scholarship to Yale, which is annually awarded to some boy in the territory surrounding Fort Wayne. The Archer candidates for the award are Joe Bex, Kenny Warren, and Hank Velkoff.

The Griffin scholarship is awarded every year to the applicant who makes the highest grade on the scholarship examination which will be given this June in the office of Superintendent of Fort Wayne Public Schools, Merle J. Abbott.

Besides the South Side applicants for the honor, several boys from other schools in the Fort Wayne area have applied. The time limit is not yet up for application and several more applications may be sent in before long. The scholarship is for four years, and goes to a person who was not otherwise intending to go to Yale.

French Scientists

Will Be Discussed

Language Group Will Meet Today; Seven Pins Awarded Members For Earning Points

For the April 27 meeting of French Club, the theme will be "French Scientists." The organization will have as guest speaker, Miss Martha Pittenger, who will review "Madame Curie." The life work of Louis Pasteur will be discussed by a club member.

In the absence of Joe Bex, Annette Snoke acted as president pro tem at the meeting of April 13. Jeannette Warren, in the absence of Jeanne Smith, took over secretarial duties. Club pins were awarded seven outstanding members of the club at this last meeting. Recipients and the number of points earned by each are Joe Bex, 744; Ruth Bado, 600; Marjorie Sheldon, 566; June Holzworth, 444; Phyllis Geller, 441; Francis VanBuskirk, 379; and Doris Hilbisch, 323.

The pins are of a shield design, gold with green enamel bearing the letters "C. F." for Le Cercle Francais. The upper field which is green is decorated with a gold fleur-de-lis.

Miss Olive Perkins, club adviser and French instructor, took charge of the social program and directed the singing of several French songs. Several games similar to our "Authentic" were played. They were "Si Nous Unions" and "Les Grande Hommes de France." Murray Squires was the winner of the first, and June Holzworth of the second.

Heads Academy

Maurice Murphy

Mr. Maurice Murphy, of the social science department, was elected president of the Fort Wayne Academy of Social Science last Friday. Miss Kate Voss, history teacher at Harmar, was elected vice-president, and Mr. Paul Mueller, teacher at Harrison Hill, was elected secretary. Miss Mary Crowe, social science teacher here, was elected chairman of the program committee. Miss Crowe is allowed to choose her own committeemen.

There are four meetings of this club held each year. They are held in September, November, February and April. Mr. Murphy's term will end in one year.

Extemp Victor Is Determined At Wranglers'

Tom Gallmeyer Is Adjudget First Place With Speech The Ramparts We Watch

Tom Gallmeyer was adjudged first place winner of Wranglers' Club semi-annual extemporaneous speaking contest Monday at the regular Wranglers' meeting. His subject was "The Ramparts We Watch." Second and third place winners were Jim Murphy and Bill Riethmiller, respectively. Their topics were "Hitler's Aerial Triumph" and "The Other German."

The places were awarded after a three-way tie had been broken by each of the judges questioning the contestants on their topics. The winner will receive a medal at Wranglers' banquet.

Oliver Eggers and Richard Teepie, city attorneys and former South Side students, judged the contest. All topics were taken from the last three issues of the Reader's Digest. The eleven participants were given thirty minutes in which to prepare their speeches. Richard Buchholz acted as chairman for the affair as Ed Reeves, club president, participated in the contest. Time-keepers were Ed Meyer and Dick Markowitz. Bob Guion acted as sergeant-at-arms.

Announce Banquet Aides
Committees for the coming Wranglers' banquet were announced for the first time at this meeting. The committee on decorations is headed by Sally Moorhead. Math-Scientists Have

Radio Demonstration

James Murphy presented the main entertainment at the Math-Science Club meeting, April 12. He demonstrated "Radio Transmission and Reception."

The club song was led by John Magley, accompanied by Richard George. Kathleen Boerger then played a selection on the piano. Elaine Boerger accompanied her on the violin in another selection.

The members then retired to the Physics Lab, where James Murphy gave his demonstration, assisted by Ralph Parry. Robert Hageman gave a talk on "Maxwell and His Life Work." Games were then played in the Greeley room. A relay race was played, and a game called "Blowout" was held. Refreshments were served; and several dramatic skits were presented under the leadership of Richard Buchholz and Bruce Bradbury.

The club supervisors, Miss Adelaide Fiedler and Mr. Lloyd Whelan, presented Mr. Elva S. Gould also attended the meeting.

Archer Student Receives Title In Latin Meet

Violet Steinbauer Wins Initial Place In Second Division Of State Contest

Is Awarded Gold Medal At Dinner

Katherine Ernsburger, Carolyn Snoke, Frank DuWaldt, Joe Bex Entered

Violet Steinbauer, sophomore, placed first in Division II of the sixteenth annual State Latin contest which was held at Indiana University last Friday morning. She was awarded a gold medal at the dinner on Friday evening; first and second place winners in all four divisions of the contest were given medals at this dinner. The awards were presented by Mrs. Adele Bittner of the Extension Division.

First place winners in the other divisions are, Division I, Don McLeod of Peru; Division III, Joyce Moon of Vincennes; and Division IV, Wayne Hubbard of Oolitic.

Others Also Compete

Other contestants from South Side in the state contest were, Division I, Carolyn Snoke; Division II, Frank DuWaldt, and Division III, Katherine Ernsburger and Joe Bex. There were 51 high schools represented in the state contest by 84 pupils.

Professor Stout, master of ceremonies, gave a speech welcoming the contestants. Professor Lillian Berry and Miss J. L. Lee, authors of the second year Latin text book which is used in South Side, were guest speakers. Miss Lee is a Latin teacher in the Shortridge High School in Indianapolis. Two students of the Classical Club of Indiana University gave a modern dialogue taken from Vergil's "Aeneid." They presented a dialogue between Aeneas and Dido. "My Bonnie Lies Over The Ocean" and "Annie Laurie" were sung in Latin by all those attending the banquet.

Tour Indiana Campus

On Friday afternoon, the contestants were taken on a tour of the campus. The tour included a bird's eye view of the campus. A lantern slide lecture on a trip to Mount Athos was presented by Professor Diller of the Department of Greek. A demonstration of how copies of inscriptions are obtained was given by Professor Schumann of the Department of Latin. The contestants also visited the medical laboratory of the School of Medicine.

On the return trip, the contestants visited the State park located in Brown County.

Picnic To Be Held Tonight By S. P. C.

Play "Retreat" To Be Presented By Cast Of Seven; Becky Abbott In Charge Of Food

A potluck or picnic meeting, depending on the condition of the weather after school, will be held by the Student Players' Club of South Side tonight. The regular meeting of the club will be held in Foster Park, unless there is rain some time during the day and continuing after school.

A play, "Retreat," will be presented at this meeting by the play committee for this week's meeting. The committee which is arranging this part of the program for the meeting is composed of Bill Newhard, Donna Lou Foutz, Lila Patton, Margery Clapp, Marjorie Quackenbush, Jeanette Warren and Bruce Bradbury. The play, "Retreat," is a short skit telling about the actions of a group of elderly persons setting on the front porch of Ames Retreat for the Aged, which is very, very close to a poorhouse. A typical morning in the lives of the inhabitants of this home for aged is depicted in the skit.

Becky Abbott is in charge of the food for the meeting this evening. Any one wishing to attend this potluck or picnic can do so by signing up on the Student Players' Club bulletin board in the hall by room 52 before noon today.

P.T.A. Are Sponsoring Band Concert May 3

A band concert, sponsored by the Parent-Teachers' Association, will be presented by the South Side band on Wednesday, May 3, at 8 p. m. The co-chairmen for the event are Mrs. A. K. Rummel and Mrs. H. W. Garton. The admission price for the concert will be ten cents per person.

Honor Society Banquet Is Set For May 11

To Be Held At Plymouth Congregational Church; Faculty Members, Hosts

Alumni, Parents, Friends To Attend

Expect 225 Persons Will Be Present; Tickets Will Be On Sale At School Office

A banquet for members of the National Honor Society will be held at the Plymouth Congregational Church May 11. At this banquet, each member of the South Side faculty will be the host to one newly elected member of the society.

Alumni, parents, and friends of the new members of the National Honor Society are invited to the banquet in honor of the society members. It is expected that approximately 225 persons will attend this banquet, since a similar number were present at the event held last year when a smaller number of seniors were chosen for the honor. Tickets for the banquet are fifty cents, and may be purchased in the school office. Because of the large number of persons who usually attend the banquet, reservations will be taken now so that assurance of tickets may be given.

Teachers Arranging Program
Miss Mabel Thorne and Miss Pauline VanGorder are arranging the program for the banquet. Decorations for the event will be made by the South Side Booster Club under the direction of Miss Blanche Hutto. Last Wednesday forty-eight new members to the National Honor Society were elected. During each period of the day, except the fifth, new members were elected by alumni, the teachers, and former National Honor Society members. At 2:50, after all new members had been tagged, an assembly was held to present all of the new members to the entire student body. The presentation of the new members was made by Eugene Schmidt, president of the senior class. A short talk on the National Honor Society was made previous to this presentation by Mr. Herman Makey.

Persons Elected Listed

The persons elected to the National Honor Society and the period they were named is as follows: Period I, Evelyn Kruse, Jack Feller, Lorain Iba, Velma Lehman, Patricia Lyman, Margery Rapp, Lois Rea, Max Spencer, Beverly Ann Griffith; period 2, Eileen

Program Is Given By Music Groups

Baton Twirling, Vocal Solos, Dancing, Novelties Are Selections Given At The Assembly

Many entertaining special features were presented at the music assembly last Tuesday.

Gloria Gumpfer, who presented some baton twirling, was one of the highlights of the assembly.

Another of the features was the dancing of Frances VanBuskirk and Carl Goebel. They danced to "Neodorian Night," while accompanied by the chorus and orchestra.

The band presented a novelty, "Comin' Round the Mountain." This novelty was written in eight parts. First the train approached. Then the piccolo played its version of "Comin' Round the Mountain" in the "Spirit of '76." Then the clarinets, trumpets, basses and oboes did a version of the piece. The novelty ended with the train leaving the station.

John Wells presented a trombone solo. His number was "My Regards." Two singing features were presented. Wayne Wright sang "On Parade." On this piece the audience was asked to join in on the chorus. "Only a Rose" was sung by Eileen Lee.

The orchestra played a long and difficult overture, "Semiramide," by Rossini, for its main feature. The orchestra also accompanied the chorus as it sang "Marianina."

"Military Overture," by Medelssohn, which was played by the band, was the final number.

Senate Elects Slate Required By Change

Bill Gernand, vice-president; Elizabeth Kelo, Inter-club Congress representative; Sarah Jane Makey, parliamentarian; and Beth Ellen Chadwick, were chosen new officers of the Senate at the meeting in room 72 last week.

The election was a result of the provisions of the club's constitution. Before, only a president and secretary had been provided for.

Dick Baile, president, and Clara Makey, secretary, were elected at a previous meeting.

Before the election was held, a constitution, drafted by members of the club, was established and adopted. Plans for the next session of the club were announced to be in the form of a quiz program. Each member is asked to present at least five questions concerning parliamentary law at the meeting.

Gloria Staley, Bob Zimmer and Bill Gernand were appointed as a committee to draw up a point system for the club.

Concert Presented

The Wittenberg College band presented a concert at South Side Tuesday morning in the gym. The band was introduced by Mr. Jack Wainwright, who arranged for them to play here. During an intermission, a monologist presented a comedy version of Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet.

Club Congress Is Sponsor Of Drive For Coming Week

Wins Honor

Bruce Bradbury

In the Quill and Scroll, national creative writing contest, that was held recently, Helen Banks and Bruce Bradbury were awarded high places.

In the headline writing contest, Helen Banks won honorable mention in the East Central States division which is comprised of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin. In the copyreading contest, Bruce Bradbury won second place in the East Central States. Bruce Bradbury also won honorable mention in the editorial writing contest.

The pupils of South Side have always placed high in these contests. Miss Rowena Harvey selected the entrant for each contest.

'Derby Day' Is Soph's Choice As Party Idea

Class Party To Be Held On May 12; Dancing and Acts Will Comprise Program.

"Sophomore Derby Day" has been selected as the theme of the annual Sophomore Class party. This theme will be used in connection with the top race in American horsing circles, the Kentucky Derby, which will be held the Saturday preceding the party. Derby Day will be May 12.

Bob Anweiler and his orchestra will furnish music. The program will consist of dancing and various acts presented by sophomore students. The party will be held in the gymnasium. The tickets, which can be purchased only in sophomore home rooms from the home room ticket agents, will be 25 cents and will go on sale the week preceding the party.

Name Class Officers

The officers of the sophomore class, Bob Hines, Becky Abbott, Sam Bacon, Betty Elbersson, Bob Robinson, and John Bonis are acting as a general committee in charge. These officers are being assisted by a large number of other sophomores.

Decorations for the party are already being prepared by a committee under the direction of Miss Blanche Hutto, art instructor, and Margery Dyer, chairman of the decorations committee. Miss Hutto is supervising all art work, which is being done by sophomores on the decorations committee and also some sophomores in her art classes. The decorations committee is composed of Margery Dyer, chairman, Victoria Anderson, Doris Feichter, Sam Van Horn, Gerald Owens, Constance Bessche, Betty Horstmeier, Maxine Crago, Lenora Kensler, Marjorie Jackson, and Lester Oppenlander.

Mellen To Assist

Miss Lucy Mellen, supervisor of the cafeteria, will advise and assist the refreshment committee, the members of which are Kathryn Guild, Mary Bowley, Eva Jean Wylie, Hilda Schubert, and Helen Savage.

The program is being arranged by a committee which is working with Miss Lucy Osborne and Mr. Earl Sterner, faculty advisers. Members of this committee are Emalyn Remmel, Albert Verriere, Rozella Foutz, Katherine Beckman, Robert Brooks, James Brooks, Faye Gumpfer, Lois Gumpfer, Carolyn Emrich, and Marilyn Emrich.

Juniors Are Entered In State Extemp Meet

April 22, Joyce McAlister and Jim Murphy represented South Side at the State Extemp Meet at DePauw University. Miss McAlister spoke on "Hitler's Policy of Oppression;" Mr. Murphy on "The 1940 Election."

First place winner of the contest was Morrison Miller of North Side. Jeanne Gumpfer was the South Side representative to the Kiwanis Club City Declaration Contest last Tuesday. Her subject was "The Light that is Darkness." Tom O'Rourke of Central was the winner. Three other delegates of city schools participated.

South Side speech students who took part in the recognition of "Humanity Week" were Anna Lou Kowalski and Janice Cross. Anna Lou gave a "kindness to animals" speech at the Rotary Club Monday night and to the Lions Club Wednesday. Janice gave a similar speech from a local radio station Friday night at 9:00 o'clock.

Clean-up Campaign Annual Event; Home Rooms Will Take Part In Projects

Oliver Eggers, '31, To Speak Monday

Home Room Periods To Be Lengthened For Students To Perform Various Jobs

Oliver Eggers, '31 and now a prominent lawyer, will address the student body Monday in the interest of Clean-up Week sponsored by Inter-club Congress during the week of May 1-5. Mr. Eggers is a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the annual city-wide clean-up and paint-up campaign the same week. Speaking over the public address system, Mr. Eggers will give a sketch of what the Junior Chamber of Commerce is going to do in the interest of Clean-up Week and also speak a word of commendation and encouragement to the school.

Clean-up Week in South Side is an annual event and is planned by the Congress so that as many home rooms as possible can take part in the special projects with the hope that every person will cooperate for the general beautification of the school.

Restrict Dandelion Diggers
This year students are to be denied the right of digging dandelions because our laws have just recently been seeded. However, other projects are being offered such as planting flowers in the urns at the two entrances, cleaning the outside of the urns, planting flowers in flower beds, and planting trees, shrubs, and perennial flowers. One other project for the beautification of the school is that of cleaning the paint off the stadium walls. If there are any rooms or groups of boys wishing to undertake this task, they should contact Mr. Bex for complete instructions.

All home rooms intending to take over one of these projects should send a representative to sign up for them to room 58 not later than tomorrow. In order to accommodate rooms accepting projects, the home room period will be lengthened on Wednesday and Thursday.

Credit will be given to those home rooms who do something to beautify their own room.

Congress Makes Plan

Inter-club Congress, in a plea to South Side students says, "Inter-club Congress members desire that all South Side students have real pride in their school, their homes, and their community and that they carry their clean-up efforts to all parts of our school property and to their homes; they also hope that the oft-spoken words of our principal regarding protection of lawns and shrubbery in the community will be very carefully heeded by all students."

Latin Club Topic Is Roman Games

Knucklebones, Ball, Dice, Foot Race Are Some Amusements Discussed By The Members

Amusements of the Romans was the topic of the Latin Club meeting held Thursday, April 20, at 3:30 in the Voorhes room. Speeches on the game of knucklebone, games of ball, the theater, dice, bath houses and the foot race were given by the following committee:

Betty Ann Bohn, Betty Jane Koehler, Avel Bridges, Joan Gay, Josephine Frosh, Charlene McAtee, Jennifer Babcock, Virginia Grey, Sally Hobbs, Dorothy Jaggers, Gloria Kramer and Marilyn Loomis. Maurine Seibert, regular program chairman, was in general charge of the program.

The club voted at the meeting to purchase a small statue of Vergil for the Latin department at Bruce Bradbury, Jane Nathan and Joyce Cleaver were placed on a committee to investigate and carry out this project. The following nominating committee was also chosen: Betty Daniels, Rosella Koehler and William Newhard.

It was also announced that the next club meeting would be held May 18. The program committee for this meeting is composed of Betty Lou Geake, chairman, Gene Lou Harges, Ivan Truman, Ruth Dauner, Dorothy Gliden, Joan Cartwright, Jane Engelking, Audrey Smith, Jack Byers and Charles Baile.

The meeting was closed with refreshments consisting of punch and wafers.

Senior Boy Receives Honors With Poster

Delmar Stier, a senior, was informed by Mrs. Clotilde Patton Sanguinet, Director of School Health Education, that his poster received honorable mention in the Indiana Health Poster contest. The winning posters were from Terre Haute, Gas City, and Fort Wayne.

Articles Are Published

Eileen Hoffman, senior A, and Jeannet Whetsel, freshman A, both wrote articles which appeared on the "Youth's Passing Show" page of the "News-Sentinel." Eileen's story told about how she enjoys working in the Service Club. Jeanet's article was written about the two dates on Johnny Appleseed's tombstone that don't agree.

Teacher Named Student Forum State Official

Mr. Wilburn Wilson Chosen Executive Secretary At An Organization Session.

Mr. Wilburn C. Wilson, social science teacher, was selected by the board of directors of the Indiana Student Forum which was organized here Friday, as executive secretary of the board for the coming year. It will be his duty to maintain contact with members of the board and the secretary of the Forum, and also to advise officers of the Forum.

Bruce Bradbury, 12B, was elected secretary but will do nothing in connection with his office until January, 1940, because of his holding the position next fall of general manager of The South Side Times.

Approximately three hundred Indiana students and their advisers attended the convention to which thirty-seven South Side Social Science Club members and their advisers, Miss Eleanor Smeltzly and Mr. Wilson, were hosts.

Eighteen Towns Represented
Among the Indiana towns represented were Plymouth, Hammond, Muncie, South Bend, Lafayette, Auburn, Richmond, Montpelier, Angola, New Haven, Columbus, Terre Haute, Anderson, Hartford City, Garrett, LaPorte, Kokomo, and Fort Wayne.

The program arranged for the day by the host Social Science organization and advisers consisted first of two "welcome" speeches given by Principal R. Nelson Snider and Superintendent of Schools, Merle J. Abbett.

These were followed by a talk on "The Possibilities and Responsibilities of the Indiana Student Forum" by Mr. Walter Meyer, Director of Civic Education Service, Washington, D. C. Four panel discussions, two each in the forenoon and afternoon, on current problems were led by Student leaders. Planned speeches of an expository nature on the topic of the moment were made at each session. At one of these, Mr. John Essig, executive secretary of the Fort Wayne Housing Authority, discussed the Fort Wayne housing project. Dr. Thurman Rice spoke on "Health in Indiana" at the panel discussion on health.

Election Followed Luncheon

A noon luncheon was served in room 170 by the cafeteria staff, following which Dr. Andrew Cordier, Manchester College, addressed the group on "European Politics and American Interests." During the election of officers by the students which followed the luncheon, a board of directors meeting was held by the senior class.

Eugene Schmidt, president of the South Side unit, presided over all of the general assemblies and the luncheon.

Committee chairmen in charge of plans were Eleanor Vesey, registration and reception; Kenneth Warren, room arrangements; Lois Roe, housing of southern delegates; Phyllis Geller, luncheon arrangements; Betty Daniels, program; Janice Dyer, posters, emblems, signs, decorations; Dick Garton and Bruce Bradbury, check-room. Every club member was a committee member.

The next convention will be held at Lafayette in May of 1940.

Two Archers Win In Poster Contest

Thelma Pifer, Jack Hodell Awarded Prizes For Entries In Recent Youth's Contest

Thelma Pifer and Jack Hodell were the two South Side students whose posters were adjudged the best from this school in the recent poster contest sponsored by the Fort Wayne Council on Youth. These two posters were selected from a large group entered by Archers. Thelma was awarded with a prize of two dollars; Jack won honorable mention.

Thelma and Jack are students in the art classes of Miss Blanche Hutto and Miss Erma Dochterman, respectively. The contest was open to students in all of the public high schools and also students at the Fort Wayne Art School. The judges for the contest were Walter O. McBride, Art School director, and Miss Mary Zent, supervisor of art studies in the city's public schools. A first prize and an honorable mention were given to every school, except the Art School which received three prizes and five honorable mentions.

All posters entered whether they won an award or not, were on display at the Women's Club.

Wo-Ho-Ma Sets Date Of Skate At Bell's Rink

May 19 has been selected as the date of the Wo-Ho-Ma Club skate to be held at Bell's Rink. At the meeting last night Lois Gumpfer was selected as chairman of the skate.

Miss Erma Dochterman gave a talk on "Art of Home Life Yesterday and Today" at a special Wo-Ho-Ma Club meeting last night in room 75. The Wo-Ho-Ma Club meeting was postponed from last Thursday to yesterday because of the teachers meeting at Central.

Peggy Zirkel sang a few selections. Olive and Jeanette Zahn played a duet on the piano. Jeanette and Olive Zahn and Flora Sauer played a trio on the piano. Wilma Kellogg gave a recitation. Betty Lapp played a selection on the piano.

Dum-dums were served as refreshments.

The committee which was in charge is as follows: Eileen Hormann, chairman; Marilyn Anweiler and Helene Lisues, assistant chairmen; Joy Degitz, Jean Hamis, Olive Zahn, Flora Sauer, and Jeanette Zahn.

Head Congress In South Side Annual Clean-up Week

Mr. A. V. Flint

Miss Emma Kiefer

Mr. C. A. Bex

Mr. A. V. Flint, Miss Emma Kiefer, and Mr. C. A. Bex will advise the Inter-Club Congress in the direction of the annual South Side Clean-up Week, May 1 through May 5. Plans for the clean-up include a speaker and the various projects which are to be signed up for by the home rooms. The home room period will be lengthened on Wednesday and Thursday so that the home rooms can carry out their projects.

Harold Brudi, Bob Safer Are Speech Victors

First Wins Frosh Division, Second Is Soph Winner; Both To Receive Awards

Final winners of the South Side Freshman-Sophomore Speech contest were determined through a series of contests held last Wednesday and Thursday. Harold Brudi was adjudged winner of the freshman division, and Robert Safer of the sophomore division. Brudi's subject was "The United States Should Establish a Stronger Atlantic Fleet", Safer's "Chain Stores Are An Asset to the American People." Joan Cox and Caroline Lichtenberg placed second respectively in each of the two divisions. There was a tie for third in each final contest, also. The two freshmen who captured this place were Marjorie McNabb and Paul Johnson; the sophomores were Albert Shaaf and Paul Klie.

Judges for the freshman finals were Attorney Paul Congdon, Mr. Benjamin Null, and Principal R. Nelson Snider. Judges of the sophomore finalists were Miss Virginia Kincaid and Attorney Paul Congdon.

To Present Awards
Contestants for the semi-finals of Wednesday, and consequently for the finalists on Thursday, were determined by a series of contests last fall. These winners, all recent participants, will be presented with Wrangler Honor Awards at Wednesday's banquet. The names of the first place winners of the finals will be engraved on Psi Iota Xi plaque presented to South Side by that organization.

Of the eight contestants in each of the series of the semi-finals four of the best speakers were selected to participate in the finals. Of the semi-finalists listed below, the first four mentioned were also finalists. Judges for the semi-finals were Mr. Earl Sterner, Mr. M. J. Cook, Miss Amanda Hemmer, Mrs. Lex Combs, Mrs. A. J. Carson, Mrs. Dorothy Rieke, Miss Beulah Rinehart, Miss Mary Pocock, Miss Emma Kiefer, Dorothy Foellinger, Betty Daniels, and Bob Hodell. Chairmen were Tom Gallmeyer, Anna Anderson, Eugene Schmidt, and Arthur Chevalier.

Peggy Bacon Places Second In Piano Meet

Peg Bacon, senior, placed second in the piano division in the eleventh annual Indiana high school state music contest held at Indiana University recently. Elaine Hirschy and Marilyn Sondles, other Archers, received honorable mention after advancing as far as the final test.

Held at Indiana University, the finals were conducted after an extended series of contests were held throughout the state. Peg, Marilyn, and Elaine won the right to compete in the state meet by virtue of their victories in contests held earlier in Fort Wayne.

Two Archers Act As Guests At Youth Meet

Janice Dyer, Ed Reeves Are Representatives; R. N. Snider Is Toastmaster

Mr. R. Nelson Snider, our principal, acted as toastmaster at a meeting in observance of Youth's Day at which two South Siders, Janice Dyer and Eddie Reeves, were guests. This meeting was a dinner-meeting held last Thursday at the Fort Wayne Women's Club.

In the afternoon at three o'clock a panel discussion on youth problems was held for the youths themselves, and at 6:30 the dinner-meeting was held for adults. The theme for both of these meetings was Youth, and the discussions and speeches were on this subject. The afternoon meeting was held in Central High School auditorium with representatives from home rooms in the city high schools in attendance. These two meetings were held under the auspices of the Fort Wayne Council on Youth.

Snider Introduces Speakers

Mr. Snider introduced the six speakers on the dinner program, who were Dr. Howard McCluskey, noted youth educator from the University of Michigan, speaking on the subject "Fort Wayne and its Youth"; Mayor Harry W. Baals; Judge Harry H. Hilgeman, of the Allen County Circuit and Juvenile Courts; the Rev. Joseph J. Hennes, C. Y. O. Deanery director; E. H. Kilbourne, president of the Board of Public Welfare; and E. A. Barnes, president of the Community Chest.

Are Honored Guests
Janice Dyer and Ed Reeves were among eight other boys and girls who were guests at the banquet. Each of the ten guests had been selected from their school, a boy and a girl from each of the five city and parochial schools. The other schools who were represented were North Side, Central, Central Catholic, and Concordia.

Awards will also be made at this banquet for the best poster on the theme of Youth and Their Problems. A winner from each high school received two dollars.

May 1 Is Marked As Dedication Date Of Central Building

Citizens and friends of Central are eagerly looking forward to the dedication of the addition, which is to be held May 1 at 7:30 p. m. After a year of construction, the finished product is open for public observation. The dedication exercises are to be held in the Central auditorium.

Central High School was established in 1865 and the old building was constructed in 1903. At one time it was the only high school in the city. In 1865 there were four graduates. Seventy-four years later, in 1938, there were 321 graduates.

The program for the dedication is composed of music by the Central band, an invocation by the Rev. E. Burns Martin, a speech on "The School and Business," by William T. McKay; "The School and Government," Mayor Harry W. Baals; "The School and Industry," Mr. Neil Currie; "The School and We, Its Members," Raymond Heine, and "The School and Democracy," Mrs. Vera Lane. The program will be given by the Rev. Richard H. Trojan. Mr. Merle J. Abbett will give a speech of appreciation.

After the program in the auditorium, the visitors are privileged to inspect the building. In the new building there are three stories. The manual training rooms are located in the basement and the other two stories contain classrooms.

Because of the over-crowded condition existing at Central, it was urgent that a new building be constructed. The new building is located on the corner of Clinton street and Douglas avenue. There are 32 classrooms in the new building. A few offices are located in the new part. A passageway connects the second floor of the new building with the second floor of the old one and one connects the basements of the two buildings. The basement is built of Indiana limestone. Three hundred and five windows furnish light for the classrooms. The Hagerman Construction Company built the new addition.

Girl Scouts Give Tea To Entertain Mothers

The Mother-Daughter Tea of Senior Scout Troop 41 was held in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock on Wednesday, April 26. Two short plays were presented by the dramatic group of the troop. "The Girl Who Would Buy a Stamp" was given by Hilda Schubert as the girl and Martha Jane Krauskopf as the postal clerk. The other play, "At A Restaurant," was presented by the following cast: customers, Ruthann Stiegler, Holly Reppert, Joan Cox, and Jean Peterson; and the waitress, Peggy Greeney.

Music was provided by Elaine Hirschy, who played piano selections of "Nola," "Deep Purple," and "Star Dust," and Eileen Lee, who sang "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" and "The Indian Love Call." Glass and rayon exhibits and model airplanes were displayed as another part of the program.

Tompie Hall and Joan Cartwright poured the tea and other refreshments were served. For favors carnations were presented to all the mothers.

Committees who served were as follows: refreshments, Carol Trenary, chairman, Holly Reppert, and Martha Cash; music, Carolyn Fisher; clean-up, Susy Sweet, chairman, Marilyn Rose, Kathryn Guild, Ruthann Stiegler, and LaVon Cartwright.

Two Archers Are Delegates At Convention

Mary Jane Christie, Velma Lehman Attend Red Cross Affair In Washington

Velma Lehman and Mary Jane Christie are representing South Side at the Annual Red Cross Convention being held at Washington, D. C., this week. Mary Jane and Velma are both members of Travel Club, Travel being the club which takes over the duties of a Red Cross club since there is no such organization at South Side.

The club has sent delegates to the annual convention for the last several years, but was unable to send any last year as it was in San Francisco. The two delegates left last Saturday and will return tomorrow. They are attending the Junior Red Cross division of the convention.

Award First Place
The award for high schools in the Red Cross exhibit on Saturday, April 15, was given to South Side. Travel Club was in charge of this exhibit. The exhibit consisted of the files of the Disaster Relief cards which were signed at South Side a few weeks ago and two dolls dressed as a typical South Side boy and girl. The Red Cross representatives of Travel Club, Edmund Bauer and Ivan Truman, were in charge of these files; but much credit should be given the former Red Cross representatives and many other Travel members for helping file the disaster cards. Those who were in charge of dressing the dolls in the exhibit were Phyllis Branning, Ruth Bade, Mildred Brett, Rebecca LeFever, Helen Luepke, and Annabelle Heckler. These dolls are to be sent to a foreign country.

Virginia Menze was in charge of the last meeting of Travel Club, April 19. Singapore was the subject of the meeting; and for the program, the members of the committee presented a playlet in which they discussed Singapore. Refreshments consisting of dum-dums covered with paper to represent pineapples were served. Virginia Menze's committee was as follows: Vera Berning, Marilyn Greig, Bernita Gregory, LaVerne Greiner, Helen Medsker, Rebecca LeFever, Betty Minnick, Bill Newhard, Neva Rabol, Ivan Truman, Verlene Wiedelman, and Olive Miller.

The meeting next Wednesday is on Hawaii, and the committee in charge is as follows: Ruth Dauner, chairman; Janie Weir, Margaret Hart, Thelma Draper, Janice Sprunger, Charles Will, Marjorie Voltz, Helen Reichenbach, Mary Jane Hale, John Dingley, and Helen Fry.

Inaugurate Second Baseball Session

Junior Squad Outplays Sophomore Team In 2-1 Victory Opening G. A. A.'s 1939 Set

The second session of the 1939 upperclass baseball season was inaugurated by a clash between the sophomore 4's, captained by Betty Thiele, and the junior 2's, headed by Pauline Werling. Werling aided her team in capturing the 2-1 victory by a run. Ruth Doebla brought in the other winning run, while Maxine Sterling consoling the defeated sophomores with a home run.

At 3:50 o'clock the second game between Bernadine Bender's sophomore 2's and Frances Nash's sophomore 2's turned out to be a draw, with each team scoring one run. Bender and Lois Holzworth did the scoring for their respective teams.

The junior 1's, captained by Lucille Scheuman, scored a smashing victory at 4:10 o'clock by defeating B. Pressler's sophomore 5's 10-0. Delores Menefee set the pace with one run and one home run. She was assisted by L. Jarvis, M. Feichter, L. Scheuman, A. Mutschlechner and M. Rarick, who all scored runs.

At 4:30 p. m. the seniors and sophomore 2's combated with the result that the more youthful sophomores ran away with their elder G. A. A.'ers, defeating them 7-4. However, the seniors were somewhat comforted by the two home runs made by Marjory Price and Hazel Perry. Other sophomores and seniors who scored runs were G. Roberts, J. Smith, E. Walker, F. Shimer, R. Weston, G. Martin and F. Gross.

Mr. R. W. Hall Talks To Engineering Group

On Tuesday, April 25, a vocational conference was held at the General Electric at 3:30 o'clock on chemical engineering with Mr. R. W. Hall as the speaker. Another conference will be held today at South Side for those students who are interested in engineering.

Three engineers from the Fort Wayne Engineers' Club will have individual conferences with students. These men are Mr. R. W. Hall, Mr. R. H. Johnson, and Mr. C. M. Summers, who has had a great deal to do with the various meetings which have been held during the past three years.

The last conference to be held will be the conference on office work. This conference will be held on Tuesday, May 2. Mr. Ralph L. Burry, who is employed at the Fort Wayne Paper Box Company, will be the speaker. This meeting will be held promptly at 3:30 o'clock in room 114.

What was that important business Mary Menze and June Whalen have in the locker room? It seems that they had a certain someone locked in it, and wouldn't let her out. What is this all about anyhow?

In gym class, the other day, the great, great Scheele, the youngest of the Scheele outfit, fanned out on the first three balls pitched.

Congratulations to Geneva Martin and Jeanne Smith for winning the badminton tournament. We also admire the sportsmanship of the new champions for playing a consolation game with Rarick and Jarvis.

If you want to see a new version of Romeo and Juliet, just come to the gym office some night after school and Miss Smith and Betty Fremion will show you. No admission.

To all upperclass G. A. A.'ers: Don't lose interest or any of your ability just because you couldn't play baseball Friday. Come out next week and make a dozen homers for your team.

Ready, Willing, Able Is Good Description Of Miss Helen Faux

The quotation of "Ready, willing and able" only partly describes Helen Faux, a capable service worker. We must also add the expression, "He who talks the least, does the most."

Helen is a modest senior who works hard at everything she has to do and does not demand praise for her services. Although belonging to the Service Club for only one year, Helen has qualified for this membership by working for Miss Martha Pittenger, Dr. Werner Duemling and Mr. Wilbur Wilson.

This year, however, she has directed her service giving energies to Dr. Duemling and the film office. But we directed our questions only in the direction of the doctor and were astounded at the amount of work she did.

Examines Three Groups
The doctor examines students for three different groups: G.A.A., Intramural and varsity. For these exams she must keep in order two files of cards; a permanent one in Miss Pittenger's office and another file in Mr. Snider's office.

As each person is examined (there are some times twenty students taken in one hour), Helen must record defects of tonsils, teeth, heart, lungs, thyroid and feet.

There are three pulse records which must be taken of each student. One is taken before exercise; another just after exercise; and the third, two minutes after exercise.

This busy service worker also sees that notices of these defects are sent to all parents if something wrong is discovered in their offspring.

Works In Dean's Office
Accidents may happen anywhere and South Side is no exception. But South Side may be an exception in that it has a competent attendant in the person of Helen Faux. Besides her many other duties she cares for students that wander into the Dean's office requiring simple medical attention.

Besides keeping records of injured students, this likable senior must keep on file a list of students who have been expelled from school because of some disease.

"I have to keep the first aid kit up to date and always well filled," hard-working Helen offered. She also must keep a check on all other supplies.

We were curious as to when she got time to do all that she did. She answered, "I work up there just the second period and average about one hour extra each week." Your's truly was slightly suspicious of that explanation, so we did some private reconnoitering and found that she was not including the unaverging weeks when she spent three or four extra hours on medical recording.

Enjoys Filing
During our little tete-a-tete with Helen we discovered that the part of the work she liked best was the filing (and with all the record keeping she does we just could not understand it). But we did find out something she did not like to do. That is to run after examinees with pink slips (but who can blame her).

"An amusing situation," related Helen, "comes up when we find a boy that is too lazy to breathe." And with this statement the thought comes to our mind of the boy that could not take a deep breath. He just did not know how. He claimed he "Never could finger it out."

We asked her if she liked all this hard work and she exclaimed, "Oh, yes. It's good experience for general office work."

This capable Miss also claims that service work has given her a good sense of responsibility.

Besides extensive service work, Helen Faux also participates in the activities of the Cameramen and Three E's Clubs. Her work extends also to the Totem and her home room, of which she is chairman.

Three Champs Are Crowned In Ping-Pong

Sunier, Commers, Erne Are Winners Of Light, Middle, Heavyweight Titles

Champions were crowned in the Intramural Ping-Pong Tournament Monday. In four close games Sunier defeated Brower 17-21, 24-22, 21-13, and 21-19 for the championship of the lightweight division.

In the middleweight division Commers outplayed Dammeier 12-21, 21-18, and 21-9 for the crown.

Erne played four thrilling games with Lehman for the championship of the heavyweight division, before he could down him and win by the score of 21-15, 26-21, 21-17, and 21-7.

In order to enter the finals of the finals of the lightweight division, Sunier defeated Hartman 21-19 and 21-11. Brower entered the finals on a bye.

Erne Enters Finals
From the semi-finals Erne entered the finals by winning from Beltz 21-12, 21-12, and Lehman defeated Gramlich 21-13, 21-15 to enter the finals.

In the middleweight division Dammeier went into the finals on a forfeit from Trulock, and Commers entered by defeating Craig 21-13, 21-11.

In the quarter-finals many close games were played. In the middleweight division Trulock won a forfeit from Wulliman. Dickerson was defeated by Dammeier 21-18, 21-16; Commers won from Wolf 21-13, 21-19; and Craig defeated Martin 21-14, 21-17.

In the heavyweight quarter-finals Erne barely defeated Stobaugh by a score of 18-21, 21-11, and 21-19; Beltz won from Stock 21-12, 21-10; and Lehman defeated Trevis 21-18, 21-10. Gramlich entered the semi-finals on a bye.

Lightweight Results Given

Hartman defeated Boese 21-8, 21-18 in the quarter-finals of the lightweight division; Sunier won close games from Markowitz 21-16, 22-20; and Brower defeated Werkman 21-16, 18-21, and 21-14.

In the lightweight first round 12 entries were received. Those who were eliminated in the first round were Coverdale, Nahrwald, Wade, Hirsch, Lehman, and R. Brower.

The eight of sixteen entries in the middleweight division who were eliminated in the first round are Hall, Gumpfer, Dutton, Hagaman, Melson, Pierce, Sprunger, and Zuber.

Perry, Baals, Swinehart, Zimmers, Lichtenberg, Spiker, and Reeves were the heavyweights eliminated in the first round.

North Side Will Be In Kokomo Relays

Coach Rollo Chambers Will Send Cowan, Erwin, Kemp, Winner, Wagner Into Action Saturday

Coach Rollo Chambers of North Side will send his thirlies into action in the Kokomo relays on Saturday. For the first time in several seasons the Red and White harriers are having trouble in coming out on top; however, Coach Chambers is confident that the boys will begin to swing into form during this week.

Ross Leakey, one of the greatest runners in the state, was lost to the squad this year because of a pulled tendon in his right leg. Bob Cowan, Corny Erwin, Don Kemp, and Jim Winner have been carrying the burden for the Red this year along with Wagner.

The North Siders have a sure shot in the medley relay with Kemp, Winner, Erwin, and Beams carrying the stick; also Bob Cowan appears to be very tough to beat in the 100-yard dash. Chambers has announced that he will take twenty-eight men to the relays.

Just last Saturday the Red harriers placed seventh in the Muncie relays. Although the Redskins lacked the winning punch, they appeared to be improving and should soon hit their usual stride. Coach Chambers and his lads are looking forward to about six more meets this year. The four big meets will be N. E. I. C. on May 8, the Sectional on May 13, the City Meet on the 27th, and the State Track Finals at the state capital on May 20 prior to the City trackfest.

Seniors Successfully Perform In "Mrs. Partridge Presents"

For two and a half hours, the audience at the Senior Play on April 15, watched the heroine, Mrs. Partridge, attempt to guide the careers and lives of her two children, Delight and Philip. They watched the 'teen age children submit to the wishes of their mother until the last act, when they revolted against her well-meant management.

The first curtain rose on the living room of the Partridge home, in which Philip, excellently portrayed by William Newhard, was doing a bit of art work. The only reason he attended art school was because his mother thought that he was cut out for an artist and gave him an artist's education.

Ellen, the family maid, who in real life is Beverly Ann Griffith, was maternally and Irish. Bev changed her hair style and her walk and also acquired a brogue to better fit her for that character portrayal.

Delight was portrayed by Kitty Clinard as a fragile actress. Her mother considered her an actress, but the casting offices did not. Nor did Delight want to be an actress. She was taking up drama, just as her brother was studying art, because of her mother's wishes. Not until Delight married Sydney Armstead did she go against her mother's ideas and give up a stage career for "what every girl wants."

Delight Is In Love
The main love interest centered around Delight and Sydney Armstead. Mrs. Partridge had forbade Delight to see Sydney, alias Kenneth Warren, but she had seen him often at her friend's house. Mr. Armstead was a young man with plenty of money. He wanted Delight to give up the stage; but Delight did not want to cross her mother, so she and Sydney quarreled often, but made up just as often.

Donna Lou Foutz was cast as Katherine Everett, a friend of the Partridge family. She was a frivolous, gay thing who went after anything with pants on; but, though she never guessed it, they didn't go for her. The Partridge family was always glad to see her come, but they were more glad to see her go (especially Philip, whom she thought a lot of). Donna Lou never strayed from her portrayal of this giggling deb.

Margaret Gross efficiently portrayed Maisie Partridge, the domineering mother, and, although she didn't like it when Delight got married and Philip took a six months job in Spain, she gave in to them even though it meant giving up her ideals for her children. She ran a dress shop and she was a good business woman, but when she got into trouble about the French milliner she was hiring, Maisie turned to Stephen Applegate, the man she had always depended on since her husband's death. Maisie so thoroughly convinced the audience of her beliefs that they were sorry for Maisie when Philip and Delight left her.

Stephen Helps Maisie
Stephen was Maisie's lawyer and was always willing to help her out and stand by when she needed him. He had wanted to marry her for the

Sophomore Girls Win At Badminton

Geneva Martin, Jeanne Smith Win Tourney; Betty Thiele, Irene Meyer Reach Finals

Geneva Martin and Jeanne Smith, sophomores, won the badminton finals which were played last Friday in the handball court, 15-2, 15-5. Mary Alice Dunten umpired the match. Those who reached the finals were: Betty Thiele, Irene Meyer, Geneva Martin, and Jeanne Smith.

There were twelve pairs of badminton entrants who played their games the fifth and eighth periods on April 19, 20, and 21. The entrants were: Thiele-Irene Meyer, Rose Stemen-Marilyn Batdorf, Frances Nash-Joan Squires, Helen Hargan-Rosemary Spore, Jeanne Smith-Geneva Martin, Bernadine Bender-Getrude Merkel, Marguerite Calkins-Betty Nichols, Bernadine Pressler-Martha Jane Krauskopf, Miriam Rarick-Lois Jarvis, June Whalen-Jean Junk, and Eva Jean Wylie-Mary Alice Dunten.

Those who won their first games and will receive twenty-five points are: Irene Meyer, Betty Thiele, Joan Squires, Frances Nash, Jeanne Smith, Geneva Martin, Bernadine Bender, Getrude Merkel, Lois Jarvis, Miriam Rarick, Mary Alice Dunten, and Eva Wylie.

Umpires for the games were: Geneva Martin, Miriam Rarick, Joan Squires, Hazel Perry, Frances Nash, and Mary Alice Dunten.

Jeanette Warren Has Contest Essay Entry

Jeanette Warren, a senior, was adjudged the third winner from South Side to be entered in the Law Essay contest sponsored by the Indiana Bar Association. Jeanette's theme, which was originally selected by her English teacher, Miss Elizabeth Demaree, along with six others, was chosen by Mr. Benjamin Null, head of the English department to represent this school in the state-wide contest.

The other six students whose themes were originally selected to be considered for entrance in the state-wide contest were Betty Neeb, Beverly Ann Griffith, Bruce Bradbury, Jean Fortriede, Gwendolyn DeWees, and Betty Showalter.

Miss Smeltzly Guest At Exchange Luncheon

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly, teacher of World History, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Exchange Club at the Y. M. C. A. on April 18. Miss Smeltzly spoke about the economic conditions of Australia. She stated that there are 2,600 sheep in a single station in Australia. They export wool and mutton. The finest horses in the world for racing are raised in Australia. Precious gems such as jade and opals are found there. It is the only place in the world where blue opals are found. Miss Smeltzly also said that there are many dairy farms in Australia. She concluded her talk by telling of their modern ideas of chocolate factories.

Archers At Kokomo Saturday; To Meet Tigers Tonight

Blue vs. Green Will Be Seen At Field Here

Meet This Afternoon To Be First Time Local Thin-lies Will Have Clashed

Strong Competition Assured At Relays

Some Of Strongest Teams In State Will Be Entered At Wildcats' Open House

South Side will participate in the invitational meet at Kokomo Saturday. This meet is perhaps the biggest track meet held in the state other than the State Finals, as only the toughest teams are invited to enter. The meet is an annual event sponsored by the Kokomo team. The Archer team will no doubt be up against the toughest competition they have met this season. Froebel of Gary, the winner of last year's meet, has plenty of power this year, too. Brown, Froebel's crack pole vault star, has an average of 12 feet on the bar and when necessary he can skim 14 feet. Hammond, by no means, is to be overlooked after the way their team showed up at the Muncie meet last week. Hammond walked off with the top honors at Muncie cinder path, and the Hammond Wildcats are looking forward to capturing the Kokomo crown.

Announce Entries
Coach George Collyer and the team are looking forward with great anticipation to the Kokomo Invitational. Mr. Collyer has announced the following entries for the various events at the Saturday meet:
Half-Mile Relay—Botz, Merchant, Wuttke, Beery, Bolyard (substitute).
Pole Vault—Altman.
Hurdles—Moorhead, Arnold.
Shotput—Beery.
Broad Jump—Bolyard, Wuttke, Ferguson.
100-Yard Dash—Merchant.
Mr. Collyer is undecided whether to enter any boys in the 1500-yard relay or the medley relay.

Archers Face Tigers
Tonight at 3:30 o'clock, the South Side Green Archers will contend with the Central Tigers on the southern battle grounds. This is the first time since the beginning of the track season that the Archers have faced the Tigers, and from the outcome we can expect to have a better glimpse of the City Track Champs for 1939. Central has plenty of power on their team with Charleton leaping the hurdles, Kulesza performing in the high jump, and Talley defending the Tigers in the broad jump.

New Records Set By Gym Classes

Brower And Puff Set Two New Marks Among Lightweights In Annual Gym Carnival

Fifteen new records were set in the gym class carnival this year. George Collyer Is Successful Molder Of '39 Track Team

A former Butler University letterman, George Collyer, is molding one of South Side's most successful track teams. In his first year at this school Mr. Collyer has begun to build a powerful track team and has also helped Bill Moss with the football team.

Mr. Collyer was born in Indianapolis and attended Indianapolis Technical in his junior and senior years after spending the first two years of his high school career at Brownsburg High School. At Tech he was on three teams, football, baseball and track.

He continued in these three sports at Butler University where he won his letter and a reputation for being an outstanding athlete. While at Butler, he decided to enter his present field of work. The three main reasons for this were Pat Page, Patsy Clark and Paul Hinkel, who were coaches at that time and persuaded him to take up physical education.

After deciding that he would be a physical education instructor and coach, he obtained his M.A. degree at Indiana University in education and physical education.

His first teaching post was at Knightstown where he coached all sports. After eight years at this place, he went to Harrison Hill grade school in this city. In his two years at this school he won the city grade school basketball championship and made Harrison Hill an outstanding school in the field of sports.

However, his work at Harrison Hill was too good, and he was soon promoted to his present position, that of track coach, assistant football coach and history instructor at South Side.

A quiet, not easily ruffled person, it is expected that he will build up some very good track and football teams for this school. Certainly if this thing can be done, he is the one to do it.

"Was Here" Botz Is Most Hard Working Of Kelly Tracksters

Who is one of the hardest working athletes out for track? This question is easily answered with the name of Eugene George Botz, who has been out for track for four years.

"Was Here" Botz came to South Side from the Zion Lutheran School where he did not participate in sports because there was none. After he entered South Side, he immediately went out for track. Through four years of hard work, Botz has finally become the star of the Archer squad, running the 220-yard dash, 100-yard dash, and the half-mile relay team.

When Eugene was asked what he thought of our new track coach, Mr. Collyer, he said, "He is a swell coach." Upon asking what his hobby is, Roy Demetre, a teammate of his, wise cracked that it was girls, but Mr. Botz soon corrected this and stated that he spent his leisure time collecting coins and fooling around with mechanical models. Fooling around with mechanical models seems to have created a great interest in him to the extent that some day he hopes to do bigger things and become a mechanical engineer.

Eugene at present has no girlfriend, but his teammates say that the only thing holding him back is that he is bashful, very bashful. His answer to this is that he has no time for girls, because he would rather spend his time on his favorite subjects, chemistry and mathematics. Oh yes, girls, if the old saying is true, that you can win a man's heart through his stomach, then you're very lucky, because as Mr. Botz puts it, "I eat anything at any time."

For three years "Bashful" has been having dirt kicked in his face in the track meets, but this year it's a different story, because he is now having the pleasure of kicking dirt in the opposing trackmen's faces. So, Archer fans, if you want to see a real track star, a hard worker and a great guy, just come out and see Eugene George Botz kick dirt in his opponents' faces.

Rose Stemen's Team Leads Frosh Baseball

Team 3, captained by Rose Stemen, leads in the freshman baseball by having two consecutive victories to its credit. The last game that brought his team to the lead was held Monday at 3:30 o'clock in the field south of the school. Stemen's team won over Lenore Moyer's team 2 by the wide margin of 15 to 1. Those on the winning team to make home runs were Betty Baker, Cathleen Neith, and Valda Stemen.

At the same time, Martha Cash's team 4 defeated team 1, captained by Betty Hargan, by the score of 11-2. All of the members on the winning team contributed equally to the victory of their team.

Hazel Perry and Jean Snyder acted as umpires for these games.

Redskins Sixth, Central Tenth, In Track Meet

Hammond Wildcats Win Muncie Contest With 35 1/2 Points; Records Broken

North Side's Redskins took sixth place and the Central Tigers placed tenth as three meet records fell in the third annual Muncie relays last Saturday.

Hammond High won the meet with a total of 35 1/2 points. The Redskins were able to garner ten points while Central got five. A victory in the medley relay accounted for the Redskins' only first place of the meet. The North Side relay men also got a pair of thirds in the 880-yard and mile relays and Bob Cowan took a fourth place in the 100-yard dash to help the Redskins cause along. Henry Kulesza's first place in the high jump accounted for all of the Tiger scoring.

Three records were broken as the sixteen track squads clashed. Bobby Stevens of Muncie ran the mile in 4 minutes, 37.2 seconds to break the old meet record of 4:41. Cobb of Hammond jumped 21 feet in the broad jump for the second new record of the meet and the Anderson medley relay team hung up the third record, an 8 minute, 2.4 second win.

Complete scores are as follows: Hammond, 35 1/2; Southport, 17; Central of Muncie, 14; Shortridge of Indianapolis, 14; Anderson, 12 1/2; Kokomo, 12 1/2; North Side, 10; Technical of Indianapolis, 10; Garrett, 9 1/2; Broad Ripple of Indianapolis, 7; Central, 5; Burriss of Muncie, 3; Alexandria, 3; Montpelier, 2; Angola, 0; and Muncie, 0.

Two Of South Side's Faculty Are Chosen As Athletic Officers

Mr. Louis Briner and Mr. J. H. McClure, members of the South Side faculty, were elected as officers in the Northeastern Indiana Athletic Officials' Association at a meeting April 10 at the Catholic Community Center. Louis Briner, Archer gym instructor, was elected to the position of secretary, and J. H. McClure, basketball official and former Archer net mentor, is to serve as sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Briner served as an official in the group last year, but Mr. McClure is a new officer.

The meeting was the last meeting for this season. The group will meet next at the Hotel LaFontaine in Huntington on August 28. Football rules will be discussed at this meeting. In the second week of September, the local officials will have a joint meeting with South Bend officials at which time the business and mutual problems of both groups will be discussed.

Green Track Squad Shows Improvement With Coach Collyer

South Side has always been well-known for their outstanding basketball and football teams, but track has always been the underdog in South Side's roster of sports, but this year, partly due to both the track team and the fine coaching on the part of track mentor, George Collyer, track has come to the attention of every Archer.

The Archers have competed in three meets so far this year and they have shown up exceptionally well in all of them. The team collected four points at South Bend, more than any Archer team has collected in any big meet before. At Montpelier and at Goshen, the squad turned in a fine performance by capturing top honors at both. Arnold, Altman, Beery, Cook, Wuttke, Merchant, Bolyard and Glass are a few of the boys responsible for the fine record of the team so far this season. Coach Collyer hopes to have his team in winning form for the Central meet tonight and the Kokomo Invitational on Saturday.

The fine performance on the cinder path this season of our crack squad have succeeded in arousing the majority of the student body to the fact that we do have a track team and has excited more interest in this kind of school athletics than has been seen for some time. Here are some of the opinions of the more versed in track lore:

Andy Bremer:—They'll be tough with a little more experience.
Max Wagner:—Great! A lot of good material and all they need is a little shaping up.
"Red" Ferguson:—Pretty good in general.
Charlie Bollman:—They look fine to me.
Al Schaaf:—With Collyer as a coach we can't lose.
Bob Young:—Lots better than last year.
Kolman Gross:—If they live up to Mr. Collyer's expectations they'll be very good.
Jim Brooks:—We have a chance.
Bob Guion:—I don't know.
Max Atkins:—We're doing O. K. so far.
Bob Brooks:—We'll be state champions.
Ed Kettler:—Fair, need improvement.
Alex Azar:—We'll win state.

A poll of girls' opinions was attempted but after a few such reports as the following, your reporter gave up:

Eleanor Vesey:—Well, I really do not know much about it.
Jeanette Warren:—Oh! Have they done anything yet?
Marge Wallace:—What about it?
Anna Lou Kowalski:—Well, they are not very good looking.

Softball Leagues Start

Tournament Tuesday

The softball league tournament started Tuesday. Double elimination style of tournament will be played. In other words, one must lose two games to be out. There will be night leagues of seven inning games. There will be noon leagues at 12:30 and 11:15 o'clock. In noon leagues games will stop at 1:15; if the inning is not over the score goes back to the last complete inning.

Anyone entering the tournament will have to have a health card. Any player who plays on more than one team will be dropped and the player's team will lose the game.

Umpires are requested to remove anyone who makes remarks about his decisions. Failure to leave a game on the request will result in a 2-0 forfeit game.

Archers Sweep Track Events In 5-Way Meet

South Side Scores 80 Points And Takes Six Firsts; Annex Half-Mile Relay

Winning six first places and a large number of other places, the South Side track team piled up 80 points to capture first place in the Laporte invitation track meet last Saturday.

Archers came in first in the half-mile relay, the 100-yard dash, won by Merchant; the low hurdles, won by Moorhead; the 220-yard dash, won by Beery; the broad jump, won by Bolyard; and the pole vault, won by Altman. Besides these six firsts, the Archers rolled in points for about a dozen other places.

South Side probably would have won a first in the high jump if Jim Glass would have been able to attend the meet.

The scores of the five schools entered in the meet were: South Side, 80, first place; Laporte, 62 1/2, second place; Knox, 45 1/2, third place; Hobart, 26, fourth place; and Valparaiso, 10, fifth place.

The South Side summary follows: High Hurdles—Moorhead, second. Mile Run—Cook, second.

100-Yard Dash—Merchant, first; Botz, second; Wuttke, fourth. Time: 10.1.

Shotput—Beery, fourth; Close, fifth.

440-Yard Dash—Roth, third.

High Jump—Bolyard and Arnold, tied for fourth.

Low Hurdles—Moorhead, first; Arnold, second.

220-Yard Dash—Beery, first; Merchant, second.

Pole Vault—Altman, first. Height: 11 feet.

880-Yard Run—Goshorn, fifth.

Broad Jump—Bolyard, first; Ferguson, third; Wuttke, fourth. Distance—20 feet, 6 inches.

Mile Relay—South Side, second.

Half-Mile Relay—South Side (Botz, Bolyard, Wuttke, Beery), first. Time: 1:40.0.

Central Tigers Enter Kokomo Invitational

Central's Tigers will again participate in the annual Kokomo relays, which will be held at Kokomo next Saturday. Because of the recent showing of Central's teams, they are expected to make a showing. Bob Dornte and the Tigers' hopes depend upon Hank Kulesza, who has jumped his way to victory in recent events in both the broad and high jumps; E. Charlton, who is both a high and low hurdle artist; Campbell, who also runs the hurdles; E. Talley and L. Perlman, who have made points for Central in the dashes; and Hanley, who runs the 440.

Central is expected to make all their points in the dashes and high jump because they have shown that they are weak in the other events.

Dorothy Buchholz

Miss Dorothy Buchholz, a graduate of South Side High School and the Private Secretarial Department of International College, has joined the secretarial staff of Westinghouse WOWO.

Miss Buchholz took a prominent part in various activities at South Side High School and was in the upper third of her graduating class. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Buchholz, 821 Colerick Street.

Rudolph Wuttke Is Spark For Green's Varsity Track Team

About one and a half years ago South Side received a new and needed addition to our track team. This new cinder star came to us from St. Paul's Lutheran school where Rudolph Wuttke was a member of the class of 1937.

When Rudy joined the Archer ranks, he became a member of the varsity track team. Since that time he has entered four of the events as follows: 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, broad jump, half-mile relay. Rudy has been outstanding in every one of these sports and he has really shown that he's got what it takes. Rudy once jumped 22 feet in the broad jump and that's doing pretty good.

However, don't get Rudy wrong, for he isn't an athlete alone but is also a careful student. Rudy always seems to pull out grades which most athletes would envy. When asked what his favorite subject is Rudy immediately replied, "history."

This year so far Rudy has shown up pretty well in the three track meets which have been held. At Elkhart he grabbed a second place in the broad jump and helped the half-mile relay team capture first place. At Montpelier he helped the half-mile relay team win another victory. At Goshen Rudy did the most to push South Side on to victory. He placed first in the half-mile relay, second in the 100-yard dash and third in the broad jump.

As to the opposite sex, Rudy seems to have quite an

Gap Between High, College Is Surveyed

Some Claim Prep Schools Not Adequate; Others Say Colleges Are Ruthless

Much has been said in educational circles recently concerning the so-called "gap" between the high school and the college. Some colleges claim the high schools have lowered standards and that high school graduates are not adequately prepared to enter college. On the other hand some high schools claim that the colleges "step up" the program too fast in the freshman year and a somewhat "ruthless" attitude on the part of college professors causes many college freshmen to fail.

Who is right, who is wrong? That is the question.

Prepare Questionnaire
In order to get some small idea in regard to this most vital question, a questionnaire was prepared and sent to college freshmen now enrolled in reputed institutions of higher learning. Seniors from both the large and the small high schools were considered. Replies were received from colleges ranging from 350 enrollment to universities having over 9,000 enrollment. The college freshmen had come from high schools ranging from 175 enrollment to over 2,000 enrollment.

An attempt was made to get the true picture from two different angles. First, from the student's own reactions; and second, from the length of the assignment in the senior year in high school as compared to the freshman assignment in college.

Like all questionnaires, this one had its limitations.

1. Perhaps not enough cases were considered. Although there was a noticeable uniformity in the replies received.

2. Since the comparison was largely on the basis of text-book-page assignments, and since in some subjects (such as chemistry or physics) where laboratory work enters in, it was difficult to get a true perspective; only approximations could be established.

Following are the chief questions propounded, and typical replies received.

A. Question one. "Do you have a faculty adviser?" Forty per cent answered, "No." Sixty per cent answered, "Yes." Students in smaller schools were much better provided with faculty advisers than were the students in the larger colleges and universities.

B. Question two. "Other than subject material, what have you experienced as the most difficult circumstances in college?" Such as type of instruction, social life, food, friends, roommate, etc? The answers were varied and many. The chief difficulty, however, seemed to be the difficult task of learning how to budget time and really learning how to study. How to choose the essential and throw away the trivial.

C. Question three. "Would you recommend any changes in your high school curriculum or in the type of instruction (lecture vs. question and answer method)?" Here again the replies varied some, however, there was a consensus of opinion that the high school should provide in the senior year at least, some experience in the lecture method, note-taking, handling supplementary materials, and a final examination covering an entire semester's work.

D. Question four. "What changes would you recommend in your present 'set up'?" The answers ranged all the way from the abolition of all fraternities and sororities to complete satisfaction with existing conditions. Here are the condensed typical replies:

"Abolish fraternities and sororities, they give prejudiced views."
"Shorter assignments at first, then increased as semester advances."
"None."
"Need better library facilities."
"Cover too much territory, get only a smattering which does not stick."
"Smaller assignments, better done."

E. Question five. "Do you feel that there is too great a gap between high school and college? That is, do you feel that the college load is too great, or was the high school load too limited?" Here again the replies varied from an absolute indictment of both the high school and the college, to a very mild "all is a matter of adjustment."

Here are some typical replies: "Could bluff your way through high school."
"College load entirely too heavy."
"Big gap—had not planned high school course to go to college."
"High school too easy."
"College load too heavy, only skim over top."
"High school is not difficult enough."
"College load too heavy, high school was O. K."

"More outside reading should be required in high school."

The preponderance of answers, however, was to the effect that the high school load was too easy. It must be remembered that these students are now removed from high school by one year. A year ago their story would have been quite different so far as the high school load is concerned.

Now for the assignment load. In order to get some idea of the comparative "load" between senior high school and freshman college, an effort was made to get, as near as possible, the assignments for a two-week period in senior high school work and a two-week period in the freshman college load. The replies were far from satisfactory, but yet good enough to get a rather clear idea. Often chapters were given and had to be translated into pages. Naturally the size of pages varies.

Bob Gregg, Carol Whittern Pen Themes For Latin Class

In Mr. Earl Sterner's Latin 3 classes, periods 1 and 4, students have written original English compositions employing various grammatical Latin constructions studied this semester—gerund, gerundive, passive periphrastic, substantive volitive, independent volitive, negative command, etc. Then one composition was selected from each class and the entire class translated the original composition into Latin for a Latin prose lesson. Following are the two themes which were selected:

Superstition
When I arrived at school on Friday, the 13th, I discovered that I had forgotten my rabbit's foot. Since it was already the eighth hour, I didn't have time to go home to get it. Although it was Friday the 13th and I didn't have my rabbit's foot, the day went along very smoothly.

When I arrived at school another day, I had my rabbit's foot. Although everything favored me that day, things didn't go so well. Don't believe that a rabbit's foot is lucky. I don't know why I carry one. I must bring an apple to my teacher in order to have luck.

I enjoy school in the morning. When students get home they must prepare their lessons. They say to themselves, "Let us prepare our lessons." Some students wish that they didn't have lessons to prepare. Many students prepare their lessons very willingly in order that they must have good grades. I hope that I am among the latter group.

Puppy Love
When the rivers and lakes were frozen, a boy and a girl and their friends skated on the ice. Because the friends knew that the boy and girl liked each other, they formed a plan to bring them together.

To Make Programs
Janice Dyer is chairman of the committee which will make the programs. She will be aided by Jeanne Gumpfer, Ed Kettler, Reva Kirk, Richard Short, John Chester, Bill Germand, Dorothy Gore, Mary Lampton, Morton Nahrwald and Vergil Springer.

The head of the committee on invitations is Dick Garton. Committee members are Kathryn Eipper, Margaret Gross, Max Mitchell, Dorothy Rohrbach, Henry Velkoff, Helen Wiehe, Kenneth Warren, Charles Bolman, Richard Buchholz and Kitty Clinar.

Members of the award committee headed by Dorothy Foellinger are Jim Brooks, Bob Brooks, Lois Bloemker, Carolyn Cartwright, Reba Coppock, Delores Daniels, Don Meyer, Emalyn Remmel, Albert Schaaf and Bill Siebold.

Recognize Backstage Workers For Events

Many students who worked backstage for the Senior play, the G. A. A. Exhibition, and the Service Club play were not recognized for their work.

The students who worked for the G. A. A. Exhibition were Walter Staicht, Albert Ferguson, Bill Riethmiller, and Tom Gallmeyer, lights; and Bonnie Taylor, messenger.

The students who worked for the Senior play were Phyllis Branning, Helen Wiehe, and Raftida Laudido, act managers; and Harold Martin, Don and Ed Meyer, and Jim and Bob Brooks.

Northern Prom To Be Saturday From 9 to 12

"Polynesian Paradise" is the theme of the Junior Prom to be held Saturday from 9:15 until 12:15 o'clock. Jimmy Sanford's orchestra will play and the Hawaiian Serenaders will be an added attraction. The price of the tickets is one dollar.

The class officers are in charge of the affair. They are Dean Needham, president; Charles Thomas, vice-president; Anna Jane Byers, secretary; and Charles Cleazer, social chairman.

Gets New Desk

Miss Martha Pittenger, dean, recently received a new desk and a new chair for her office. Miss Pittenger issued this statement about them: "I have a new desk and a new chair, of which I am very proud. I am extremely happy to have them, for they were very much needed."

him so that he will pick her up," said someone.

"Let me do it," said one girl. This task was more difficult than the friends had expected. Although the girl liked the boy very much she always skated in the opposite direction from him.

At length one girl persuaded her to skate with her. By doing this the girl was able to lead her to the place where the boy was. Immediately the friends came near for the purpose of helping. When the girl was pushed, she fell. The boy hurried to help her to get up. The girl enjoyed this. The boy had a smile which reached from ear to ear. She started to go away, but he said to her, "Don't go."

This made the girl happier. Next he asked her if she would like to skate with him. The answer pleased him. Away they skated. It was very evident that he was in command of her heart already.

John Boles Is Interviewed By Roving Reporter

By Bob Martin
After a slight vacation, your roving reporter is off again to interview another of the personalities appearing at the Paramount Theatre. This time it's that star of the stage and screen, John Boles. Getting backstage before the show, we found out these facts about Mr. Boles.

He was born and reared in Greenville, Texas, where he attended public grade and high schools. From high school he went to the University of Texas where he received his A. B. degree. His favorite subjects were the sciences and history and geography.

Mr. Boles' favorite sport is golf, which is his hobby; he also collects antique furniture.

Mr. Boles has been in the show business for about twelve years and he has been in pictures for some ten years. When he started in motion pictures, sound was yet to come and the studio furnished the actors with "mood orchestras." Between scenes Mr. Boles and the boys got together; and when talks came, he was ready for them. Some of the pictures he has made are the "Desert Song," "Rio Rita," "Back Street," "Only Yesterday," "Age of Innocence," "Life of Virge Winters," and his latest "Stella Dallas."

Mr. Boles is going back to Hollywood after a trip to New York on business. He is 6 feet, one inch tall, has grey-blue eyes, and brown hair. When we asked him about his favorite song, he replied that he had no favorite as there were too many beautiful songs to pick a favorite one. As to playing any instruments, he said he played the piano by the hunt and peck songs from the pictures he has made.

While on the stage, Mr. Boles sang Three of the most outstanding were "Rio Rita" from the picture of the same name, "One Alone" from the Desert Song, and a novelty number, "Waitin' at the Gate for Katie."

Ping-Pong Tournament Arranged For Faculty

Mr. Morris Cook, South Side English teacher, has planned a ping-pong tournament for several of the faculty members.

The first match is to be played between Mr. Earnest Walker and Mr. Ora Davis. The second match is to be between Mr. R. Nelson Snider and Mr. Wilburn Wilson. The third match is between Mr. Clyde Pierce and Mr. Lloyd Whelan. The fourth match is between Mr. A. Verne Flint and Mr. Smith. The fifth match is between Mr. Albert Heine and the winner of the first match. The sixth match is between the winner of the second match and the winner of the third match. The seventh match is between the winner of the fourth and fifth matches. The winners of the sixth and seventh matches then play, thus getting the winner.

Mr. Maurice Cook, who planned the match, will not play as he is the undisputed champion of the faculty and it would not be fair to match him against other players.

John Bremer, '34, Wins High Honor

South Side Alumnus Gets High Scholastic Average Among Teachers College Seniors.

John Bremer, a graduate of South Side High School, heads the senior scholastic honor roll at Ball State Teachers College, according to the list released this week by the registrar's office.

Mr. Bremer leads the senior class with a point-hour ratio of 2.877 for his four years at Ball State. Ratings are based on the average honor points per credit hour, which would mean that a straight A record would be 3.000.

Besides his scholastic attainments, Mr. Bremer recently resigned the editorship of the college weekly after serving in that capacity for two years. He is assistant editor of the college yearbook; a member of Blue Key Honor or fraternity; president of Pi Gamma Mu, social science honorary; a member of Alpha Phi Gamma, journalism honorary. He is a member of the Student Executive Committee and served as president of his class in 1936-37. At graduation from South Side, he won the Kiwanis award in 1935. He served as general manager of The South Side Times.

Mr. Bremer is one of the delegates to the Midwest Conference of International Relations clubs being held Friday and Saturday at Northwestern University.

Purdue Representative To Confer With Girls

All girls interested in attending Purdue University will have a chance to talk to Miss Dorothy C. Stratton, dean of women at Purdue University. Miss Stratton will be in Fort Wayne Tuesday, May 8. Any girls interested in meeting her may arrange to do so by leaving their names in the office.

Miss Stratton was brought to this city by the Purdue "Alum" Club for Women which has just been organized and is trying to get girls interested in attending Purdue University.

Alumnus Gives Talk
Eleanor White, an alumna, spoke in Miss Alice Dean's home room last Monday, April 17 on preparing for the future.

Mr. Elma S. Gould To Serve Roasting Ears, Lemonade

Roasting ears and lemonade have been jokingly promised to all of the botany classes by Mr. Elma S. Gould. To feed his six classes, there are two ears of corn and one lemon. The corn plant and lemon tree are at the present time lodging in the conservatory outside the botany room.

After a bit of snooping we found one green lemon on the tree. Also holding down a branch is a group of white blossoms which smell very sweet. Mr. Gould has hopes of this lemon getting as large as the other one from this same tree, which grew to the size of a grape fruit. When that one was ripe, Mr. Gould treated five teachers to a nice cold glass of lemonade. Believe it or not, only one lemon made enough lemonade for five teachers (men teachers at that).

This plant was given to South Side's botany teacher four years ago by one of his students because it became too big for her home. The student started it from a seed and it has now grown to be a good sized plant.

A plant like this which far from its own climate, and it needs a good deal of care. Mr. Gould always keeps it in the conservatory during the winter, but in the summer he allows it to soak up the sunshine and outside air.

The two corn plants also nursed by Mr. Gould were started only two months ago from seeds and are already about five feet high. Two ears, each resplendent in beautiful yellow silk are almost ready for roasting.

The roots of these stalks are in water. Since the water does not contain the elements which the plants take from the soil, Mr. Gould made a solution of nutrients which he adds to the water. Because of this experimental arrangement, a hose leading to the roots with a bulb on the other end has also been arranged to give the roots the necessary air by just squeezing the bulb.

Whether the botany students do or do not have corn and lemonade in class soon, it is interesting to them and to others to watch the development of these two plants.

Twelve Health Talks Remain To Be Given

Twelve lectures on health remain to be given for the seniors. The remaining dates follow: April 25, 26, May 2, 3, 9 and 10. On each of these days, two lectures will be given in room 112. Dr. Allen Chambers and Doctor Werner W. Duemling are the speakers.

Specialization Is Stamp Club Theme

Philatelists To Discuss Nationalistic Phases At Meeting Wednesday; Name Nominees

The theme of the next Philatelic meeting to be held next Wednesday, will be Specialization by Countries. There will be an exhibition of stamps bringing out the theme of the meeting. Games involving identification of countries and stamps will be played, and refreshments will be served.

The committee for the meeting is Melvin Schwartz, chairman; Ed Turner, Jack Feller, Helen Karnap, Don Hensch, Peggy Zerkel, Richard Hirsch, Thelma Pifer, Maxine Hudson, and Bud Haberstroh.

The nominating committee consisting of Ed Turner, chairman, Dave Slattery, Maxine Case, Keith Lakey, Rosemary Spore, and Don Hensch will give a report on next semester's officers.

The last meeting on April 19 consisted of a potluck held in the cafeteria. Maxine Hudson was in charge of the food and Peggy Zerkel was in charge of the program. Dave Slattery played several pieces on his saxophone, and the meeting was concluded with some games.

"Hank" Is Valedictorian With Average Of 96.51; "Vi" Is Second With 95.85

Fifty-Six Others Accredited Honor

Joe Bex Ranks Third Scholastically; Heads Rest Of Group With 95.848 Mark

Leading their fellow students through four years of scholastic endeavor, Henry Velkoff and Eleanor Vesey, as valedictorian and salutatorian of the class of 1939, head this year's honor roll with averages of 96.51 and 95.85, it was announced this morning by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal. Joe Bex ranks third with an average of 95.848. Besides these leaders, fifty-five other senior students were accredited the honor of "making" the list.

Prominent In Activities
Both Hank and Eleanor, besides being outstanding in scholarship, excel in service, leadership, and in character; and, as a result, were named to the South Side Promethean Chapter of the National Honor Society last December. Hank has served as president of the Airplane Club, is an honorary member of Extemp, and belongs to Wranglers.

Eleanor is an ex-general manager of The Times, past-president of both Art Club and Social Science Club, vice-president of the Indiana High School Press Association, and has served as secretary for S. P. C. Last year she placed second in the statewide Latin contest in the third division. She also is a member of Quill and Scroll and of 1500 Club, of which she possesses a gold-jeweled publications pin.

Honor Students Listed
Henry and Eleanor, by virtue of this honor, will have the privilege of leading their class in the annual commencement exercises this June. Following is a list of four banks, honor members: Edith Allen, Allison Arnold, Ruth Bade, Helen Banks, Joseph Bex, Andrew Bremer, Mildred Brett, Richard Buchholz, James Craig, Betty Daniels, Donna Dennis, Gwendolyn De Wees, Janice Dyer, Helen Faux, Donna Lou Foutz, Phyllis Geller, Richard Gentsis, Carl Goebel, Joan Gunter, Dixie Lee Hanna, Mary Lee Hines, Eileen Hoffman, and June Holworth.

Also Audrey Jefferies, Marjorie Jackson, Ruth Kaiser, Sophia Kelak, O'Lily Kensler, Eleanor Kneller, Rosella Koehler, Alma Korte, Evelyn Kruse, Velma Lehman, Max Magner, Nadine Mueller, Margaret Nuss, Velma Oppenlander, Dorothy Pifer, Margery Price, Kathleen Ramer, Margery Rapp, Della Rauner, Lois Rea, Earl Edward Reeves, Mary Sapp, Eugene Schmidt, Frieda Schubert, Robert Shimmel, Betty Showalter, Julia Ann Smith, Annette Snoke, Max Spencer, Jeannette Warren, Kenneth Warren, Richard Weaver, Charles Willis.

Catherine Clinard, Robert McKay, and Ruth Ellison have not been here for the three years required to acquire a place on the four year honor roll but have maintained an average which makes each eligible.

Meterites To Fete Mothers May 16

Peggy Greaney, Carol Whittier, Sally Hobbs, Thompsie Hall Are Named Committee Heads

Various committees for Meterite's Mother-Daughter Tea, to be held on May 16, were appointed at the regular meeting on Tuesday, May 2, in the Greeley Room. They are: Decorations, Sally Hobbs, chairman; Joan Wagoner, Alice Fisher, Jean Foreman, Naomi Koopman, Dorothy Jaggers, Berdine Lechner, Ruth Bates, Mary Carlo, Barbara Koenig, and reception, Carol Whittier, chairman, Marilyn Emrich, Ruth Henry, Martha Lee Wake, Helen Anderson, Ruthanna Doll, Mary Lou Feller, Gloria Kramer, Phyllis Ann Fager, Alice Klinke.

To Give Plays
Two plays, in keeping with the theme of the semester, will be presented by two groups. Janet Whesell, director of the first one, has as her committee Mary Louise Dunbar, Janis Tremper, Betty Leis, Ann Haller, Gloria Kortum, Marjorie Haller, Carolyn Harriett, Norma Russell, and Patricia Snoke. The other director is Janice Springer, whose committee is composed of Ellen Henry, May Scheele, Lois Hoff, Mary Ellen Barrett, Gladys Foellinger, Virginia Grey, and Virginia Simmons.

Rosebuds will be presented to the mothers as favors.

At the last meeting the play, "The Dear, Dear Children," under the direction of Patricia Underhill, was given by the following cast: Hilda Leininger, Esther Willard; Ruth Henry, Mrs. Lake; Alice Klinke, Mrs. Pitus; Helen Anderson, Mrs. DeLacey; Hilda Leininger, Mrs. Bates; Martha Lee Wake, Mrs. Willard; and Mary Elizabeth Turner, Mrs. Rollins.

Totem Price $2.25
The price of the Totem is now $2.25. Those people who forfeited their payment by not paying the deadline, April 27, must now pay $2.25 to obtain a book.

Teacher Has Flu
Miss Rosemary DeLancey, English teacher, was absent from school Monday. She was at home because of an attack of the flu.

Hail The Leaders!

Henry Velkoff

Eleanor Vesey

Henry Velkoff and Eleanor Vesey have been announced by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, as valedictorian and salutatorian of the class of 1939. "Hank" and "Vi" will lead the annual procession of graduates at the annual commencement rites to be held this June.

Students Still Owe $34.00 To Times

Entire Circulation Staff Is At Work To Bring In Remaining Amount Of Publication Money

To obtain thirty-four dollars, which should have been paid many weeks ago, is the object of The Times circulation staff at the present time. Thirty-three dollars which are unpaid make up this total.

The circulation staff is trying to attain the record which was made last year, when all of the money of The Times subscriptions was paid in full for the first time in the history of the paper. Virginia Goeglein was then circulation manager.

Maurine Seibert, present circulation manager, made the following statement concerning the present campaign: "I hope that I can get all of the payments."

Foolish Fest Affords Frivolity For Parents, Faculty, Seniors

Strictly Anonymous

"All is fair in love, war," and senior fun fests. Anyway, it's a lot of fun, though a wee bit astonishing to see our supposedly dignified parents and teachers cutting-up in such an inimitable manner (not that we'd want to imitate them, however).

The particular fun fest of which we write was held Friday night, April 21, and was a riot if we ever saw one. It was comprised of three skits given by the teachers, parents, and senior students in the order named.

The setting of part the first on the collapsible stage in the gymnasium was the waiting room for potential plane passengers at an airport. The manager, our highly esteemed principal, was busily engaged answering the phone as business in the portly persons of Miss Blanche Hutto and Mr. Maurice Murphy made entry. According to the regular procedure, Miss Hutto was "weighed in"—but not quite, as before this could take place, she had broken down the scales. About this time "Mose" Mose decided to nap in the middle of the floor, whereupon the merciful manager decided he wouldn't and immediately remedied the situation. Similar scenes occurred frequently throughout the act.

Miss Peck Attends Child
Miss (Mrs.) Susan Peck came in with a squawling child and was busied throughout the scene attending its many wants. She was ably assisted by Stewardess Mary Pocock. Miss Erma Dochterman was pulled on the set by an enormous bulldog, which she was promptly instructed to tie outside. After a large group had assembled, a very distressed Mr. Snider informed them that the plane could not take off as scheduled due to bad weather. Such wailing and gnashing of teeth, but not for long. Mrs. Alda Jane Carson conceived an exceptionally brilliant (?) idea. Why not entertain themselves?—surely there was talent in the crowd.

It was discovered that several musicians were in the crowd. They played several questionable selections. Accompanied by these same musicians, Miss Dochterman discovered to be a concert artist, warbled several melodies. Her efforts were not appreciated by Mr. Pierce, who was unhappy about the whole thing. Then "Mose" tried to atone for his laxity in work by a-singin' and a-jiggin'. He put on a right smart show too. A one-man puppet show was given by Miss Hutto, aided by Miss Kiefer. And they even passed the time by playing guessing games. And so on far, far into the night—Until the curtain rang down on their very successful production, while the audience stamped, roared, and applauded approval. P.S. Mr. Friddle waltzed Miss Dochterman around.

Scene II Given

Scene II. The parents did what the students wouldn't have dared to do: they staged a riotous round-up at "Slats" Snider's ranch with paint-covered, tough cowboys, and real fierce-looking Indians. Such goings-on you never before beheld! There was singing, dancing, shouting, and an impressive Indian war dance by a "big chief" and "heap bunch of squaws." Then the Chinese cook made up a very delectable dish; he cooked up the best school in the whole United States, which accidentally enough turned out to be our own South Side! It wasn't especially to our liking however when he let a box of blocks represent the students!

Last but not least, shortest: the senior presentation. Tah, tah, tah, ta-a-ha, ta, ta (fanfare)! We're back in that little old red schoolhouse where all the South Side teachers went to school. It's about that era, too. The pedagogues enter and ring the bell. With no especial enthusiasm the student body lolls in. One of them falls flat on the floor due to the inconsideration of a fellow student, but no one minds. After singing "good morning" recitation begins.

Questioned about the most important dates in American history, Hazel Miller enumerates her dates with Maurice Murphy. Then up spake "Georgie" Collier in answer to the question, "Where were the kings of England crowned?" with "On their heads." "Ronnie" Snider was acclaimed for his audacious efforts by several rowdy students pouring water on him. Previous to this mishap one child washed his hands in the drinking water.

The general behaviour of the class that day was decidedly bad. Missiles were constantly bombarding feminine members of the class, benches were tipped over upsetting the equilibrium of the students seated thereon,—in fact, confusion reigned. Then,—oh, joy,—the bell rang and our future pedagogues tripped (and I do mean tripped) merrily out to recess.

Many Students Are Provided Vollmer Tests

Final Readings Will Be Tomorrow; Archer Examinations Now Completed

Concert Proceeds To Finance Cause

Pupils Testing Positive To Be Given X-Ray Treatment To Find Active Cases

Sophomores, juniors and all other persons in South Side who had previously taken the tuberculosis tests were given the test last Monday morning. This completes the tests for South Side High School since the freshmen and seniors took the test at an earlier date.

The patches used in testing the students for the disease were placed on their arms the first period Monday. Because of the high efficiency with which the students were handled, all of the students were tested during the first period. Three doctors, Dr. Werner W. Duemling, Dr. E. A. Moravec, and Dr. Allan Chambers placed the patches on the students' arms with alcohol. Yesterday these tests were read for the first time by the physicians in charge of the tests. Another reading will be taken tomorrow.

To Give X-Rays
Arrangements have been made so that these tests and the X-rays of those whose tests show up positive can be taken here at South Side without any expense to the students. Pupils who show positive reactions when the tests were taken earlier may also have X-rays taken here at school if X-rays have not already been taken of them. The X-ray is the only positive method of finding out whether a person has an active case of tuberculosis.

The money which will be used to provide this service for the students was secured by the Parent-Teachers Association. This school organization sponsored a concert by the South Side High School music department to be held in the school gym at 7:30.

The school orchestra, band and glee club presented selections at this concert. A large number of soloists were presented. Although anyone could attend the concert, parents and friends of students were especially invited since these persons have little opportunity to hear the band.

Present Concert
Tickets which were only ten cents were distributed by the Parent-Teachers Association through the home room parents and members of the faculty. The proceeds of this concert could not be determined in time for publication in The Times, but it was estimated that enough money would be taken in to greatly defray the costs for the tests.

The tuberculosis tests are designed to determine if any high school students have an active case. If the case is not too far developed, treatment can be made and any advance of the disease stopped with little expense without causing the student to leave school.

A. Lyman Answers Probing Questions Of Times Reporter

By Bob Martin

Again we stop just inside of the stage door at the Paramount Theater in hopes of interviewing another of the personalities that pass through. This time it's that star of radio, stage and screen, Abe Lyman.

Some of the outstanding memories of Abe Lyman's California Revue were the California Varsity 8 singing a group of marches ending with "Indiana," "The Notre Dame Victory March" and "I'm a Rambling Wreck from Georgia Tech."

He had a ventriloquist and his heckler, Bob Neller and Dizzy Dugan. This act has something outstanding in ventriloquism acts when both the dummy and the manipulator seem to whistle at the same time. With the show over, we corner Mr. Lyman and start questioning. Here are the answers.

Mr. Lyman's home town is Los Angeles. When he had reached the very old age of thirteen, he was playing in the pit of a motion picture house in Chicago. This theater by the way, was run by the parents of Paul Muni. This is where he got his start. It may be interesting to note that Mr. Lyman has never played in anyone's band but his own. His favorite sports are golf, hunting and fishing and these also are his main hobbies.

Mr. Lyman is six feet two inches tall, has black hair and brown eyes. He also plays the drums. He is celebrating his twenty-fifth year in music which makes him something like thirty-eight. In the past, to prove his ability as an actor, he has appeared in "Broadway Through a Keyhole," "Paramount on Parade" and other top-notch pictures. As to radio, Mr. Lyman and the band have had different programs from time to time, the latest being "Waltz Time." His favorite type of songs are the "Sweet" type songs and limiting it still farther, it comes down to "Melancholy Baby." At present, there are twenty in the band plus the acts which comprise his "California Revue."

As to writing music he has tried his hand at that, too, with such results as "Mary Lou," "What Can I Say After I Say I'm Sorry Dear," and the currently popular favorite "I Cried For You."

While in Fort Wayne Mr. Lyman was awarded a special Boy Scout music award by the Boy Scouts of Anthony Wayne Area Council. It was an exact copy of the one he earned years ago as a Boy Scout.

Scouts Will Plan Feast For Fathers

Committee Appointments Will Be Made At Next Meeting To Be Held Wednesday, May 10

Committee appointments for the annual Father-Daughter banquet will be made at the next meeting of the Scout Troop 41 to be held Wednesday, May 10, in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock.

Two short plays entitled "The Girl Who Would Buy a Stamp" and "At the Restaurant" were given by the dramatic group at the Mother-Daughter Tea on April 26. Those who took part in the former were Martha Jane Krauskopf, postal clerk and Hilda Schubert, the girl; participating in the latter were Ruthann Steigler, Holly Reppert, Joan Cox, and Jean Peterson as customers and Peggy Greaney, the waitress.

Eileen Hirsch provided music with the piano solos "Nola," "Deep Purple," and "Star Dust." Vocal selections sung by Eileen Lee were "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Indian Love Call." Several model airplanes and a glass and rayon exhibit were placed on display.

Jan Cartwright and Carol Whittier poured the tea after which other refreshments were served. All mothers were presented with carnations.

A photograph of several of the girls was taken at the beginning of the meeting.

Committees who served were as follows: Refreshments, Carol Whittier, chairman, Holly Reppert, and Martha Cash; music, Carolyn Fisher; cleanup, Susy Sweet, chairman, Marilyn Rose, Kathryn Guild, Ruthann Steigler, and LaVon Cartwright.

Three E's Meet To Be May 13-16

Hostesses Will Be Ruth Bade, Joan Hess At Regular Study Meeting Of The Organization

The Three E's will hold a regular study meeting on May 13 for which Ruth Bade and Joan Hess will be hostesses. The meeting will be held at the home of Joan Hess. Also there will be a picnic at the lake home of Margaret Null.

The last meeting of the Three E's was held at the home of Marion Miller with Ruth Allison as assistant hostess.

The study of the club this semester has centered mainly around derivatives from important Greek and Latin words. Word contests have included exercises in synonyms, homonyms, foreign phrases, and spelling.

Miss M. M. Pittenger To Talk At Wo-Ho-Ma

Miss Martha Pittenger will give a talk on "Amusements of Yesterday and Today" at Wo-Ho-Ma Club meeting this afternoon in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock.

The members are asked to be present on time. Skating party tickets will be given out at this meeting. These games will be played, Poor Pussy, Hot Potato, Tell the Truth, and Alphabetical Love.

The committee in charge is Mildred Korte, chairman; Doris Douglas and Betty Kinley, assistant chairmen; Jean Junk, June Whelan, Betty Wyss, Patricia Smith.

Southerners To Swing "Minuet In Blue" Here Friday Night In Gym

Larry Fenton's Nine-Piece Orchestra Will Provide Music For Yearly Fete

Ticket Salesmen Make Last Effort

Bill Blass, Marjorie Dyer, Alice Pope, Decoration Chairmen Complete Plans

Larry Fenton's nine piece orchestra will provide music for the "Minuet In Blue," this year's annual Junior Prom to be held tomorrow night in the school gym, it was announced last week by Jim Murphy, class prexy, who, with the aid of Miss Hazel Miller and Mr. Lloyd Whelan, class advisers, are supervising the affair.

Bill Blass, Marjorie Dyer, and Alice Pope, decorations co-chairmen, starting last February, and working up to the present day, have planned the entire affair which will be carried out in an all blue and white color scheme. Pertaining to a southern garden in the Old South, the decorations for the affair will typically portray an evening in an old plantation.

Arrange Special Program
Chairmen in charge of special projects for the affair include Dick Aronhalt, who will take charge of the lounge, a new innovation being added this year for all attending the prom. Planning to sell coke in the lounge which is being constructed in room 26, Nick Markoff, Don Greenler, and Bud Carper will serve as co-chairmen during the dance.

Fred Pugh, chairman, Harold Somers, Bill Rugemer, Don Hench, and Melvin Schwartz will take direct charge of the check room during the evening, and will supervise all work on there. A charge of five cents will be made for the use of this service.

Roy McKee, Blackie Braden, and Jack Hodell will take charge of the special art projects for the prom. Roy is in charge of constructing an old well for use at the south end of the gym. Blackie is constructing a giant arch which will be used at the north end of the gym as an entrance piece. Jack is making the giant silver star which will be the feature of the mid-night blue canopy which is being planned.

Name Winning Group
The writing committee, working under the direction of Alice Azar, will meet tonight to set up all equipment for workers tomorrow. Helping Alex are Bill Riethmiller, Eugene Tigges, Dudley Snyder, Dick Aronhalt, Fred Pugh, Bob Palmer, Bob Wright, Bill Weichert, Bill Steup, Dave Roth, Elmer Schmoie, Jim Winters, and Stu Welborn.

Last Tuesday night, Max Kimble and Tommy Thiele, chairman of the lighting committee, met with the class officers and advisers, to test special lighting effects which will be used.

Public Speakers To Sponsor Show

North, South Side Departments Are Holding Sale Of Tickets For The Clyde McCoy Fete

The North Side and South Side public speaking departments are sponsoring the sale of tickets for the Paramount's Clyde McCoy show to be held six days beginning May 5. The purpose of the campaign is to raise money for entry fee in the national speech contest to be held June 19 in Beverly Hills, California. With five students from South Side eligible, the cost for this department will be fifty dollars.

Wranglers, in charge of managing the campaign, and both members of the speech department and Wranglers are selling tickets. The project is under the advisement of Mrs. Dorothy Rieke. Joyce McAlister, chairman of distribution of tickets, is being assisted by Dorothy Foellinger, Jeannette Warren in charge of publicity. Every Wrangler is asked to sell at least five tickets. They are priced at twenty-five, thirty, and forty cents. Any South Side student interested in participating in the campaign will be welcome to sell tickets for the show. Such persons are asked to call for tickets in room 190.

French Club To Hear Book Review May 11

The French Club meeting of May 11 will feature a review of "Les Misérables" by the club's president, Joe Bex. He will also tell of the life of the author, Victor Hugo. The lives of Alexander Dumas and Anatole France will be discussed by several club members.

Miss Martha Pittenger gave an exceedingly interesting review of "Madame Curie" at the meeting on April 27. Marjorie Sheldon in accordance with the theme of that meeting, "French Scientists," discussed Louis Pasteur's contribution to mankind. Frances VanBuskirk and Gerald Polman entertained the group with a duet sung in French, titled "Gentile Bateliere."

Friday Marks End Of Grading Period

Tomorrow will end the last grading period before the end of the semester. U and S cards will be issued next Tuesday.

Prepares Prom

James Murphy

James Murphy, president of the junior class, has, with the assistance of his various committees, worked out the plans and decorations for the "Minuet In Blue."

Civil War Times In Southern States Relived By Juniors

Students who are planning to attend the "Minuet In Blue," the junior prom, will find themselves surrounded by an atmosphere of the old south — the south in the Civil War days. The color scheme of blue and white prevails in all of the decorations. Blue streamers running from a large star in the middle of the overhead decorations to the walls and then dropping to the floor, will give an effect of the evening sky. Other stars will adorn the overhead decorations.

On the west wall of the gym an old fashioned colonial southern home stands. On both sides of the home are picket fences. On the opposite side of the gym, along the east wall, are two carriages, one on each side of the orchestra platform. At the south end of the gym will stand an old-fashioned well. Life-size white figures of old-fashioned boys and girls, shrubs, trees, birds, and bird baths go to make the garden scene complete.

Spotlights will carry out blue color scheme. Larry Fenton's orchestra will beat out the rhythm to which all who attend will dance.

Bill Blass, Alice Pope, and Marjorie Dyer are in charge of decorations. Approximately sixty-five students are assisting on the decoration committee.

Junior officials promise all who attend a good time as well as beautiful music and scenery. The programs and favors are a secret, but we've been promised that they are just as beautiful as all of the other decorations. After Friday night we'll see what kind of a prom this year's junior class turned out to be, also we'll know what the favors for this year are.

Sophomore Party Plans Are Made

Committees Are Meeting Every Night To Prepare Program, Decorations, Refreshments.

Meetings of all of the committees for the Sophomore Party are being held. This past week the officers and program committee have held meetings. The decorations committee has been working on the decorations for the party all during the week.

The favors, as well as the other decorations for the party, are being made now under the direction of Miss Blanche Hutto, art instructor.

The refreshment committee under the direction of Miss Lucy Mellen has been working out the menu for the party.

Last night all home room ticket agents met to discuss plans for the ticket sale for the party. Each of the home room agents will contact the persons in their home room to promote the sale of tickets.

Next week all of the committees will meet several times to complete the details of the party.

A program is being planned and rehearsed at the meetings of the program committee.

Three South Siders Win Poster Contest

Wilmer Bengs, senior, won third place last week in the Fort Wayne Junior Chamber of Commerce's annual "Clean-Up Paint-Up" poster contest. Roy McKee and Charles Machamer, other South Side art students, were awarded fourth and fifth places. Wilmer's poster depicted a house with trees and shrubbery around it with signs such as "Clean-Up" and "Paint-Up." Roy's poster depicted a bird on a flower pot and a rake. Charles' poster depicted a light bulb illuminating a house behind it with the slogan, "Light up your homes." Wilmer received three dollars as his prize and both Roy and Charles received one dollar.

Annual Junior Fete Begins At 8:30 Tomorrow Eve; Will Last Until 11:30.

Officers Announce Prom Chaperones

Special Feature To Be New Lounge In Room 26 Under Dick Aronhalt's Direction

Beginning at three-twenty tonight until approximately eight o'clock Friday evening, two hundred junior class members will work in mad "haste" to complete plans for their annual prom, this year termed the "Minuet In Blue." Beginning at eight thirty and lasting until eleven thirty, the prom, which features Larry Fenton's orchestra, will be headed by Jim Murphy, class prexy, with the aid of Miss Hazel Miller and Mr. Lloyd Whelan, faculty advisers.

Other class officers who have undertaken a large share of the work are Tom Gallmeyer, vice-president; Ella Jo Reed, secretary; Bruce Bradbury, chairman of the social council; and Jeanne Gumpfer and Doris Dickmeyer, social council members.

Ticket Committee Named

Making a last minute drive for their ticket sale, Jeanne Gumpfer, chairman, and her ticket committee of home room salesmen are making a last minute effort to sell the admissions which are priced at seventy-five cents per couple. Assisting Jeanne are Betty Marquardt, Ronald McVay, Dick Doerner, Dudley Snyder, Dick Riethmiller, Audrey Hall, Anna Anderson, Bruce Klotz, Avel Bridges, Tommy Thiele, Dorothy Foellinger, Keith Spiker, Ray Bushing, Bob Hageman, Jack Hogan, and Bob Porter.

Name Chaperones

Chaperones for the affair were announced this week by the class officers as follows: Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Abbett, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Whelan, Miss Martha Pittenger, Miss Hazel Miller, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gallmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Reed, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bradbury, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dickmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Gumpfer, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sterner, Mr. and Mrs. Lundy Welborn, Miss Erma Dochterman, Miss Blanche Hutto, and Miss Pauline VanGorder.

List Assistants

A special feature of the affair will be the new lounge which is being constructed in room 26 under the direction of Dick Aronhalt. Students who are assisting him include Bill Blass, Suzanne Beck, Bill Morgan, Sally Moorhead, Betty Marquardt, Chuck Long, Bill Riethmiller, Helen Gysinger, Jean Fortriede, Dorothy Amstutz, Maurine Seibert, Hertha Hoffman, Don Hire, Eugene Tigges, Marion Peichler, Audrey Mutschler, Betty Lou Geske, Avel Bridges, Phyllis Branning, Becky LeFevre, Mary Holthouse, Elsie Braun, Pauline Bracht, Geraldine Thomas, Phyllis Frisinger, Jeanne Nail, Marcia Allen, Dudley Snyder, Doris Pritchard, and Jewell Goette.

Philalethians Hold Tea For Mothers

Present Play, "Sauce For The Gosling" At Affair; Music, Speeches Make Up Program

Philo-Thespians presented the play, "Sauce for the Goslings" at the annual Philo Mother-Daughter Tea held May 1, at 4:00 o'clock in the Greeley Room. The play was directed by Virginia Shidler and had the following cast of characters: Richard Taylor, father, Pearl Wollen; Margaret Taylor, mother, Wilma Lageman; Robert Taylor, son, Helen Savage; Elizabeth Taylor, daughter, Bernice Etzler; Martha Lee, grandmother, Martha Jane Krauskopf; and James Ward, Robert's friend, Charlene McAtee.

Speeches were made by Betty Daniels, club president, Mrs. Lichtenberg, and Carolyn Lichtenberg. Music was furnished by Betty Rose, Virginia Fleming, and the Philo quartet. The quartet directed by Frances VanBuskirk and composed of Margaret Null, Helen Savage, Romaine Rediger, and Ruth Dauner, sang "Mother's Crazy Quilt" and "Mother Macchree." "My Mom" was sung by Katherine Beckman.

The following committees were in charge: program, Helen Banks, chairman, Virginia Shidler, Ruth Kaiser, Maurine Seibert, and Hertha Hoffman; refreshments, Lois Rea, chairman, Marjorie Sheldon, Jean Fortriede, Dolores Daniels, and Suzanne Beck; decorations, Janice Dyer, chairman, Marjorie Dyer, Katherine Beckman, Virginia Fleming, Fay Gumpfer, Lois Gumpfer, Audrey Hall, Betty Marquardt, Jane Engelsing, Lois Rea, Betty Neeb, Helen Banks, and Mildred Hanke. Rebecca Abbett, program chairman, was in general charge of the program.

Incidentally, Archers, why not make Courtesy Week an all-seasonal commemoration? Let's show Emily Post we're really in the swing of nicey actions.

And this time it really looks as though father winter has definitely laid aside his frigidian garments, for spring is definitely here. Ah, the magic spell!

And who was the misinformed individual who said that ropes were the only things you could skip without further ado? Some class!

And there was the tall tale of the forester who called his pet baby deer 98 Cents, because he wasn't quite a buck.

And then there was the man who was so dumb that he thought a football coach had wheels.

Are You Cleaning Up?

Have you done all you could possibly do to help make Clean-up Week a success, or have you just been sitting back and watching the other fellow do it? When you saw paper lying in the halls, did you pick it up or did you send it scuttling under the radiators for the janitors to rout out? Just ask yourself these questions. When your home room agreed to plant flowers in an urn and pay for them, did you help them or did you wait until the job was completed and then criticize work that you were too "shy" to help with? Of course, if every South Sider doesn't enter into the spirit of the week wholeheartedly, it cannot possibly be a success. Success depends a great deal upon enthusiasm for the work, and that is all it is going to take to put this week over. Won't you give that bit of enthusiasm for the cause, South Siders?

Pay Your Dimes Pronto To Help A Worthy Cause

Judging from the enthusiastic response received from the students and parents of our institution, the free administration of the Vollmer patch test for the detection of tuberculosis to every willing Archer has been far from in vain. The great majority of our student body has reacted negatively to the test, but those individuals who received a positive reaction are already realizing the unmeasurable benefits rendered to them by the observations. Such a stride in the field of health education is always worth the time and the expense involved. We have all benefited from the test, and to further them, extra funds must be collected in the near future to continue these excellent health preservers.

At the concert, which will be sponsored next week for this very worthwhile enterprise, each and everyone of you who have already been the fortunate recipients of this advantageous test should make your honored presence. The cost is only a dime, and yet the benefits to be received will far exceed this meager cost.

Three Little Fishies Meet Some Mishap As Waring Nations

Recently a new song hit introduced by Guy Lombardo and featured by Kay Kyser, called The Three Little Fishes, has caused quite a sensation. Let's use this popular little tune to illustrate what might happen to our nation if we should go to war within the near future.

For our purpose let's compare the three little fishes to Great Britain, France, and our own United States. In a general European war, in which we should become involved, the three fishes would go over the dam, in this case the war.

I am sure that none of us could possibly want to go to war with any of the totalitarian states unless our own nation was invaded. In that case, which is admittedly remote, we all would pitch in and give everything we have in an effort to defend our homes. But that would not be the case. We would have to go across the seas again to fight any war we entered within the next few years, since none of the military nations can possibly attack us at the present time.

If we should go over the dam of war with two other "poor fish," we would soon meet a shark. This shark would be all of the suffering, deaths, hardships, and similar difficulties undergone during any major campaign.

Certainly we students don't want our country to become a sap, or in other words, a poor fish. One of the best ways of assuring us of immunity from this sort of foolishness is to form public opinion against fighting any foreign war. We don't want America to be the poor fish of the world, and if we do make the mistake of entering a foreign war, remember that our friends and ourselves will bear the brunt of the offensive.

Now It Can Be Told

Boy oh Boy! Has this premature summer heat ever put the jinx on the dirt business this week. Actually (and I'm not exaggerating a bit) when I came to collect the dirt this week there wasn't a note to be seen. In other words the mailbox was and still is devoid of dirt. So, what I'm writing this week is strictly the product of my own research.

Emalyn Rimmel and Claude Davenport have become more than just good friends lately. In fact, they have become so thick that if you see the one you are bound to see the other. Maybe it's just one of those things that will blow over in due time, but I have my doubts.

Attention Ralph Hamilton... Are you the one that I heard saying that you liked blondes? Well, here's the opportunity that you have been waiting for. In other words, the blonde of your dreams is fairly on top of you and you aren't aware of the fact. The young lady is none other than Ruthann Stiegler, who has admired you from afar for a long time now.

I've heard hither and thither that Wanda Eller is really "that way" about Jack Hornberger. What are your comments on this matter of your heart, Jack?

Alice Minser is havin' a tough time these days making up her mind between two very insistent young lads. The boys in dispute are Jack Snyder and Richard Teel.

I'd like to know if Elaine Ferguson is going for Jack Waldschmidt again or is it just one of those drawn-out affairs? They used to be one of our steady couples a few months ago, but due to some little (?) difference of opinion they broke, which is a very sad story. In the meantime while both Jack and Elaine were free-lancing, Jack had a little affair with Phyllis Lauer. Could it be that cutie Lauer is still carrying the torch?

There is something about a grade school affair that lingers in the memory. Anyhow, after arriving in high school and escorting some pretty keen girls to places of interest, Dick Bailhe has gone back to his grade school love, Joan Mayer.

What's this we hear about Velma Connet going for a boy from Central. From all Velma tells about him he really must be some catch. Some girls have all the luck.

Cute little Catherine Sommers has been using her algebra class for something more than the good old algebra. She's always turning around and giving Richard Markowitz the glad eye and vice-versa. Must be love... Hmm.

Jim Brooks has definitely decided that a certain Mary Jane is the only one for him. I couldn't find out what her last name is (maybe she doesn't have one in his estimation.)

Charles Rothschild is really rushing Arlene Loser lately, much to the sorrow of Fritz Wolfe who from what I have heard still carries the torch for her. Chuck is going to escort her to a dance in the near future, which will give them a splendid opportunity to further their friendship.

That boomerang of the junior class, Marny Dyer, has completely and efficiently won the heart of Bruce Bradbury. In fact Bruce finally mustered up enough courage to ask Marny to that super-elegant affair—the Junior Prom.

Selected Shorts

This being a new column, I would like to say that I will welcome and attempt to honor any suggestions that you may have to offer through the happy medium of the mailbox.

On a Hot Spring Day we like to remember the times when it was cold this past winter, and we thought of ourselves as we now are, the blizzard winter days when the daily grind over to the Grill, the Tavern, or home was really a grind, the time not too long ago when we sat in the study hall or the gym instead of lounging about the entrances to the building we call home from 11 to 3:20 (or later, as the case may be), the terrible time we had originating this little masterpiece.

On The Band Wagon—At the Paramount we see lots and even more Archers enjoying the music of good orchestras. The only trouble with seeing Tommy Dorsey, Jan Garber, Eddie Duchin, to mention only a few of the top ranking aggregations that have appeared in this city, is that one would like so much better to be dancing some of those slow, and some fast, numbers. It is my opinion that music, bands, and other allied subjects have been the topic of much more discussions since the new policy of the Paramount Theatre.

From Our Notes we find that one day during the past flu epidemic Coach Bill Moss wrote on the blackboard for his football classes a remedy consisting of lemon juice to prevent catching a swell case of the prevalent disease. Result was the next day Mr. Moss was absent with the above mentioned disease. Moral—Practice what you preach. Maybe Bill preached what he should have practiced.

We Wonder what has happened to the once flourishing bow-tie brigade. For a few hectic weeks, bow ties flapped in the breeze, and then they just disappeared after a very swell cartoon on this page featured several of the more prominent of the above mentioned brigade. Too bad, they were a topic for discussion and argumentation at least.

The Question Of The Hour—Will it be warm for a while, or will we enter onto another "wet" era?

What Would You Do?

Disgust sits heavy on this one today. Even after these several weeks, I cannot but believe that I was, putting it bluntly, downright gyped on the Louis-Roper fight. At the risk of baggy eyes, this one remained awake until 12 o'clock, heard Bing Crosby's little social chat about people, heard the two fighters step into the ring at 12 o'clock, dozed off at 12:01 for a moment, and awoke at 12:13 to hear the announcer congratulating Louis. What a life. As Rochester put it: the gong, Roper swings, Louis swears, that's all. Well, this is all leading up to the questions. Information please, all of you fighting gazelles.

1. If, while out walking on a Sunday afternoon, a burly brute insists on picking a fight with you, you should:
 - a. And on Sunday, too, tech, tech.
 - b. California, here I come.
 - c. It is better to run and bear the shame than not to run and get your head knocked off.
2. If, while you are watching a fight, the fighters go into a clinch, you should:
 - a. My, and at their age, too.
 - b. Hmm. They couldn't be relatives, could they?
 - c. Ain't it touching, though?

Some of the teachers of the East High School were getting tired of the primping of the boys and girls during classes, so they have assigned a staff of make-up artists, hair dressers, and manicurists to each room. They will work on the students during class.

Flicking The Tips

You must be on your guard at the Junior Prom! You must be sure to have your best manners on parade, for this is one social activity at which you will either make friends or break many friendships.

In the first place you must receive the chaperones cordially. By receiving them we do not mean that you must necessarily stand in a line and greet them as they come in, but it is the duty of the guests of the junior class, as well as the juniors themselves, to make the elders feel welcome. A certain amount of respect and welcome should be expressed by each person attending the dance. It is your duty, as a member of the student body, to help uphold the name of South Side and what it stands for.

Are some of you boys too bashful to ask that particular blonde that you have seen and admired so many times? Don't be shy? Ten to one if you ask her she'd say "I'd love to," because everyone likes to go to the Prom.

And then that old problem of what to wear comes up, you are frustrated at the very thought of it. The way you look has a lot to do with the kind of time you have and if you want to have the best time ever... wear the suitable clothes. Girls should adorn their lovely figures with something delicate and youthful, such as a blue perhaps, or maybe a yellow, a white, or a pink. Do not dress formally. Long dresses are to be worn, but cut-out backs and low-necks would definitely be out of place. Something simple and feminine will hit the spot. The boys are expected to wear suits. A flower in the button hole does wonders, fellows.

When you accept an invitation to a party or tea, you usually (that is if you are properly bred) stay until everyone leaves. And this isn't a horse of a different color! It also is considered improper to leave this dance early. We are not at all afraid that this sort of ill-bred thing will occur, because the students like the Prom dances so well that they are not even ready to go at the appointed time for adjourning. These dances are so rare that the junior students consider it a privilege to have you as their guests. But to be considered so in the future, you must sport your best manners and stay until the last waltz.

Be on time. There is nothing so humiliating to you and to the juniors as your being late. Promptness is one essential of good manners and do not neglect to be aware of the fact.

There are so many things to remember in order to keep up with modern etiquette. So be on your guard at the Prom and make the best impression.

Way Down South

BEHIND THE EIGHT BALL—

We find Al Schaaf and two of his pals who recently purchased an exclusive automobile for the outrageous sum of $6.00. At the present this bit of tin and stuff is having a rendezvous with a garage mechanic who is adding a few extra accessories, such as a motor and wheels. It is reported that this one time piece of scrap iron has already been blessed with the appropriate title of Deep Purple. Get it: when the Deep Purple falls!

CIO BONA (WHAT'S THE USE)?

Thus the utterance of Frankie Duwaldt, one of South Side's Latin sharks, who recently attended the contest at Bloomington, when he saw this sign on one of Bloomington's hardware stores, Iron Sinks: Frank knew that marble busts and sulphur springs, but he couldn't figure out why Iron Sinks. Wise-crack No. 03978.

"I CAN'T FIGURE IT OUT"—

Stated Bill Bundy last week when he just discovered that he sat beside a blonde and a brunette in the study hall.

THE BROKEN RECORD—

Mr. Null stated two years ago, quote, "I can beat up on any teacher in this school", unquote. This year Mr. Null said, quote, "except Bill Moss." However, to this very day Mr. Null seems to have revengeful eyes on Mr. Moss, for every now and then he bursts in on one of Mr. Moss's general history classes, but when he catches sight of Mr. Moss he immediately weakens and makes a hurried exit, with the words, "I thought so and so was in this room this period." Teachers are human, too, I guess. They know when they're beaten.

South Side Thinlies Are Entered In N. E. I. C. Track Meet

Cinder Events To Be Staged At North Side

Hopes Of Collyermen Lie In Tom Moorehead, Allison Arnold And Art Altman

Redskin Harriers Favored To Win

Archer Entrants In Events Are Listed; Mainstays Of Red, Blue Squads Named

Hoping to regain the title which they lost to the North Side Redskins five years ago, Coach George Collyer's Archer track team is looking forward to the annual Northeastern Indiana Conference track and field meet, which will be held next Friday at the North Side track.

Entering N. E. I. C. competition as the favorites, North Side's track squad is expected to retain their crown, which they won in four of the last five years of competition. North Side won the title in 1934, 1935, 1937 and 1938.

South Side's hopes lie partially with two long hurdle stars, Tom Moorehead and Allison Arnold, and Art Altman, star pole vaulter. These three have consistently made points for South Side and Altman is expected to take the pole vault event.

Central's hopes rest on Henry Kulcsa, who is one of the best high jumpers in the state. In a recent meet he reached the six-foot mark, and he is expected to take the high jump event.

Two half-milers, who will be Coach Rola Chambers' and North Side's hopes to take the half-mile event, are Bob Winner and Bob Neidhart. The North Side team is a well-balanced squad, and they have been working hard to insure the retaining of their N. E. I. C. crown.

South Side's entrants into the N. E. I. C. field and track events are as follows:

120-Yard Dash—Hamilton, Matott, Moorehead.

100-Yard Dash—Botz, Wiebke, Bee-ry.

One Mile—Cook, Gumpert, Pressler, Demetre.

440-Yard Run—Brown, Ferguson, Roth, Siebold.

220-Yard Dash—Beery, Botz, Wuttke, Thiele.

220-Yard Low Hurdle—Arnold, Moorehead, Thiele, Fiestkorn.

880-Yard Run—Roth, Goshorn, Freeman, Turner, Gernand.

One Mile Relay—Arnold, Ferguson, Roth, Brown, Siebold.

Half-Mile Relay—Beery, Botz, Glass, Wuttke, Thiele.

Three Mile Relay—Ferguson, Wuttke, Shot Put—Beery, Close.

Pole Vault—Altman, Hoffstetter.

High Jump—Glass, Turner, Hines, Arnold.

Horseshoe Games Start This Week

Entries In Light, Middle, Heavy-weight Divisions Should Be In By 3:30 This Afternoon

Entries are being accepted this week for the annual spring horseshoe tournament. Boys wishing to participate must sign in the intramural office not later than 3:30 this afternoon.

Three weight divisions have been organized. These are heavyweight, middleweight and lightweight. The middle and heavy weights will throw the horseshoes 40 feet, while the lightweight will pitch 30 feet.

A single elimination style of play has been organized. One match will consist of three games. The victor must win two of the three games. Each game is played to twenty-one points.

Two points toward an intramural letter will be received for participation in this event. Also two points will be given for each match won.

Intramurally Speaking

With all the talk of Hitler and war, I hardly could keep from writing what I thought, but I decided that a little dose on intramural doings would do us more good than war. American boys shouldn't have their minds filled with war and fighting, but instead they should be enjoying their younger years by such facilities as our intramural department and our gym classes. Of course we should know a little about what is going on in this crazy world of ours but, as far as we ourselves go we should just keep out of it. So I guess I'd better keep quiet and forget about all my sentiments toward the European situation.

On the diamond we find the future Hank Greenbergs and Babe Ruths of South Side, hitting the apple around the sandlot thus announcing the opening of another intramural sport. Softball becomes more and more popular at South Side and this year seems to be no exception. There is a full schedule of teams with noon and night leagues. The noon leagues games will continue from 11:15 to 1:15 o'clock. If a game is still on at 1:15, the score goes back to the last complete inning.

Here's a fair warning to all those wise-guys who like to tell the umpire what they think of him. These belligerent little wise-crackers who make clever remarks concerning the umpire's work will be requested to leave the game and if they fail to do this it will result in a 2-0 forfeit game. I think it would be safer to just play the game rather than to make these wise remarks. So let's play ball!

From the solar system we reach up high and pull down the name of Harold Brudi, an up-and-coming freshman. Harold, better known as just plain Bud, is well deserving of his stratosphere position among the other intramural stars. Bud, however, not only pursues the intramural orbit but also he does a little exploring in the path of varsity sports. If you've ever seen Bud, you'd notice at the first glance that he's real football material. Bud's got a build on him which any gridiron aspirant would envy. He is well known in the intramural world of South Side's vast universe of sports, for his ability in the chin-ups. Last year he broke an all-time chin-up record of 40 and this year he bettered that record by five. If you think this doesn't take muscle just try it some time. With this as proof you can expect to see Bud Brudi performing spectacular feats on the gridiron of next year, and helping the Kelly Klads on to victory next fall.

If you've never seen Bud (this is to the women only) you don't know what you've missed. He's handsome, muscular, has curly hair, and is a football hero whose got all it takes. Although Bud didn't seem to take much interest in the girls while a freshman year, now that he's a high and mighty sophomore he seems to show his affections toward a certain blonde by the name of Eileen Eldner. Boy, she's really got something there and vice versa.

So now I am proud to present to you a varsity man who is no doubt one of the handsomest, hottest fellows in the sophomore class, Harold Brudi.

Sport Glimpses

It has been said that the best way to learn is from experience. Skeeter Newsome, of the Philadelphia Athletics, seems to heartily agree with this proverb. In 1937 and 1938 Skeeter suffered two fractured skulls from pitched balls. Now he places a heavy fibrous protector inside his cap before taking his turn at bat. He's really got something under his hat there, don't you think?

Hank Greenberg hit his first home run of the 1939 season in the Tiger White Sox game at Detroit on last Thursday. But Hank's homer wasn't the unusual incident of this Detroit-Chicago bout. The remarkable occurrence in this workout was the fact that the game lasted for 14 innings. All in all, there have been eleven extra-inning games chalked up so far this season in both leagues, despite the fact that many of the matches were rained out. This was approximately double the number of extra-inning ventures over any similar period.

Junior 2, Soph 2 Lead In Baseball

Each Has Taken Three Straight In Upperclassman Tourney; Junior 1 And Soph 4 Beaten

Junior 2 and sophomore 2 teams are leading in the upperclassman G.A.A. baseball games, each having three consecutive victories to their credit. Both teams played fast and exciting games to bring their clubs to the lead.

At 3:30 o'clock junior 1 team, captained by Lucille Scheuman, won a surprising victory over Hazel Perry's senior 1 team by the score of 4-1. Margery Price, a senior, was the only member of the two teams to make a home run. Members of the winning team who showed outstanding ability on the ball diamond are Minam Rerick, Irene Schepler, and Delores Menefee. The seniors who succeeded in touching all the bases were Marg Price and Gwen Roberts.

A tie game, 4-4, was played between Bernadine Pressler's sophomore 5 team and the junior 2 team, captained by Pauline Werling. None of the members of either team received the honor of making a home run, but Ruth Doehla, Pauline Werling, Hertha Hoffman, and Delores Ulrich of the junior team proved they knew how to handle a ball and a bat. Helen Ellenwood, Bernadine Pressler, Marjorie Voltz, and Connie Deel on the sophomore team also showed their mettle.

The next game at 4 o'clock between Bernadine Bender's sophomore 1 team and Betty Thiele's sophomore 4 team resulted in the former's victory. The score of this game was 3-1. The outstanding players of the winning team were Betty Nichols, Marguerite Callins, and Margaret Brower. Gloria Wiebke was the only member of the losing team to get clear around the bases.

At 4:15 o'clock the outstanding sophomore 2 team captained by Jeanne Smith made a decisive winning over Frances Nash's team 2 by the wide margin of 9-1. Each team had a member who succeeded in making a home run for her team. Marion Seemeyer was the one from the winning team and June Knippenberg, for the losing team. Other girls on the winning team that were responsible for their victory are Joan Squires, Alice Sweet, Geneva Martin, and Jeanne Smith.

The umpires for the games were Mary Fry, Jeanne Smith, Betty Medsker, and Hazel Perry. Betty Bligh and Mary Alice Dunten acted as scorers for all of the games.

South Siders Favor Green Track Team As N.E.I.C. Winner

This time of year all the teams in Northeastern Indiana look forward to annual track meet which decides the 1939 N. E. I. C. champion. This year the conference meet is to be held at the North Side track and field grounds, approximately all those schools represented in the conference sending their best barriers to compete.

South Side won the conference meet six years ago with North Side managing to gain the pedestal in '34, '35, '37 and '38. No meet was held in 1936.

By this time all South Siders should be aware of the fact that the Archers have got one of the toughest and best teams in the state. The Archer squad is out to win this year with Mr. George Collyer as their mentor. This is Coach Collyer's first year at South Side and from the looks of things he seems to be doing a pretty good job of grooming the Archer harriers. But to get back to the question before us we again turn our attentions toward the N. E. I. C. meet, and this time the Archer track squad is looking with us. The following are a few statements from our Archer track squad concerning our chances in the coming N. E. I. C. meet, to be held Saturday:

Bob Hines—Better than years before.

Chuck Fiestkorn—Pretty doggone good.

Chuck Close—Fair.

Jim Glass—About equal to the rest of the city schools.

Carlton Clem—With Mr. Collyer as coach we have a pretty nice chance of winning.

Paul Fremion—First in state.

Phillip Pressler—I'll tell ya' after the Central meet.

Allison Arnold—We might win and we might not. We'll have to beat North Side first.

Gloria Werkman, heart breaker number one, just won't give anybody a "tumble."

Bill Bundy and Marilyn Dennis seem to be hitting it off fairly well lately, according to Blackie Dager.

It seems like spring has brought a new romance to Maurine Leas. The lucky fellow is none other than Dick Fishering. What happened to Bob Hines, we wonder?

After Reading This We Believe Geneva About Has Everything

By Eileen Hoffman

This is the proclamation of the discovery of the typical American girl—Geneva Marcelle Martin. This girl has everything, with no reservations. As if her inherent good looks combined with her personable charm were not enough, this young lady is one of the foremost feminine athletes of the sophomore class.

Since her entrance in South Side two years ago, she has attained the much commented upon age, 16. Her claim of "sweet sixteen" is that she was born on April 19, 1923, and she will verify the "sweet" condition. She takes time out from her studies in the commercial course to participate in speedball, hockey, baseball, basketball, volleyball, tumbling, badminton, and tennis.

Really An Athlete

Having captained teams in several of the above sports, been a member of the sophomore honor basketball team which incidentally won the championship, doubled with Jeanne Smith to win the badminton tournament, and attained her numerals, one can readily observe that she is not exactly a bystander in the girls' sporting world. Geneva is rather ashamed to admit that she has piled up only 800 points since participating in G. A. A. in view of her pronounced activity in that organization. But we can explain this fact by her eight weeks' absence from school last year because of scarlet fever and the resulting rheumatism.

Having mentioned above the good looks of this particular South Sider, perhaps we had better go into a little more detail about that point. Entrancing brown eyes combined with shining brown hair and a peachy complexion are, we think, anybody's idea of an attractive appearance. Geneva wants to become a business woman. She can cook, and she adores fried rabbit and detests spinach. (Can you blame her?)

Other opinions of Geneva Martin: Things if we get through April peacefully, we won't get into war because every other war we entered into in April. Likes Tyrone Power and Alice Faye of the cinema. Kay Kyser is favorite radio program. Dark colors, dark blues and reds, and neat efficient sport clothes are favored. Her ideal senior girl because of her nice personality and prominence on the team. Likes Kenneth Warren as ideal senior boy, would like a brother like him. Thinks that South Side Times is a very good paper. Does not attend many of the big stage shows in Fort Wayne, starring big names, but would undoubtedly go to see Tyrone Power if he came in person. favors Dutch Colonial and Modernistic styles of architecture. favorite subject is botany; favorite teacher, Miss Emma Kiefer.

Geneva chooses basketball as her favorite sport, but likes bicycle riding as a hobby. She also keeps a scrapbook of all basketball doings out at school.

Geneva hails from the James H. Smart grade school and therefore dislikes baby talk. (For readers' information the foregoing sentence contains a pun.) She represents G. A. A. in the North Side Looks For Track Victory

Redskins Expect To Take First In N. E. I. C. Meet Tomorrow; Have Win For Four Years

The North Side harriers are confident of walking off with first place in the N. E. I. C. meet tomorrow evening. The Redskins have won the meet for the last four years, and, unless South Side really clicks, the northern tracksters will have little competition.

The Red and White stock rose last Saturday as they gained a third place at the Kokomo Relays. Coach Chambers will bank on Bob Cowan in the 100-yard dash in the N. E. I. C. meet, Kemp, Beams, Winner, Ervin in the half-mile relay; Shelly Wagner in the short dashes; Everett Huth in the shot put, and Paul Baumgartner in the high jump. North Side will, as in the past, have its squad at full strength for the meet.

The North Siders are looking forward to three more big meets after the one tomorrow, namely the sectional on May 13, state finals on May 20 and the Fort Wayne City meet on May 27.

Ballots Are Being Cast For U. S. A. Nominees

Following nominations of officers at the last meeting in the Greeley Room, the U. S. A. this week is counting ballots. Election of the new officers will be held at the last meeting of the year. The retiring officers will be Marilyn Sondles, president; Eileen Hormann, vice-president; Jean Sheets, secretary; and Joan Cox, treasurer.

Rosanna Weston, the chairman, was in charge of the games. Esther Schueler gave a talk on the origination of May Day.

The invitations for the Mother and Daughter Tea, to be held on May 12, were given to the members. Members who have not yet received their invitations should obtain them from Miss Elizabeth Kelley in room 62 or from Mrs. Grace Welty in room 34.

G. A. A. Team 3 Leads In Freshman Baseball

Rose Stemen's team 3 still leads in the freshman G. A. A. baseball. After the games Monday in the gym, her team has three consecutive victories to its credit. At 3:30 o'clock, Rose's team won a close and exciting game over team 2, captained by Betty Hargan. The final score was 7-4. Dolly Disler and Betty Baker were partly responsible for their teams' victory because each succeeded in making a home run.

Immediately following this game, Lenora Moyer's team 3 made a decisive winning over Martha Cash's team 4 by the wide margin of 10-3. Sylvia Sholtz was the only girl to receive the honor of making a home run. She was a member of the winning team.

The umpire for the two games was Hazel Perry, and Eva Jane Wylie acted as scorer.

Archer Art Students Benefit By Exhibition

The work of the students from John Herron Art School, Indianapolis, is being exhibited in Miss Erma Dochterman's room this week. The exhibit includes multi-color oil, charcoal, lithograph, commercial and mural compositions. This exhibit is a traveling one that Miss Dochterman arranged for earlier in the year.

The purpose of having such work shown is to give the art students the opportunity to study the variety of techniques. They learn to evaluate art work and it gives stimulation to class discussion.

Honor Seniors To Hold Feast With Teachers

May 11 To Be Banquet Date, Dinner To Start At 5:30 At Congregational Church

A banquet for the sixty-three members of the National Honor Society in South Side will be held May 11 at the Plymouth Congregational Church at 5:30 o'clock.

Friends, parents, and students, as well as faculty members and the honor guests are all to attend the banquet. Last year approximately 225 persons attended this banquet. It is expected that a similar number will attend this year since a larger number were pledged to the society this semester.

Tickets for this event are now on sale in the school office for fifty cents. Because of the large number of persons who will attend, reservations for the banquet must be made.

The Booster Club of South Side is creating the decorations for the banquet under the direction of Miss Blanche Hutto. A program is also being prepared. However, this program can not be revealed for publication.

Every year the new members of the National Honor Society are honored at a banquet. The new members are the guests of faculty members at these annual banquets.

A committee composed of faculty members is making plans for the event.

High School Pupils Invited To See Technical Work Done In Many Departments Of College

A special invitation is extended to high school students as well as instructors to the Third Annual Indiana Tech Open House and Exhibit to be held at the college building Friday evening, May 5 and Saturday afternoon and evening, May 6.

The exhibit will feature technical work that is being done throughout the year in the various departments of the college. Over a half hundred novel engineering exhibits and demonstrations have been planned by the students.

The Aeronautical Engineering Department will have on display a collection of flying model airplanes and a demonstration of a typical motor such as used to power model planes. Mr. George Akkanen, Aeronautical Engineering Student and former junior weather observer will have an assemblage of instruments, and a radio for airways weather reports. Mr. Akkanen will take the reports and show how weather maps are constructed. The large wind tunnel at the College will be in action for demonstrations.

In the chemical laboratory there will be an exhibit of the distillation of crude oil showing production of gasoline, kerosene, gas, oil, wax distillate, and stock bottom. Also, displays of types S.A.E. lubricating oils and various other products such as wax, neutrals, and bright stocks for blending of lubricating oils.

The Civil Department will have a display of surveying instruments, and a demonstration of concrete testing; the Electrical Department will have an unusual amount of technical exhibits, as well as electrical phenomena. The Mechanical Department is featuring Mechanical Drawing and Machine Design, and included in the Radio Engineering exhibit will be the Modulated Light Beam.

The Summer Term at Indiana Technical College opens June 1, offering courses in Aeronautical, Chemical, Civil, Electrical, Mechanical, and Radio Engineering.

Concert Is Presented By Music Department

A band concert given by the South Side band under the direction of Jack Wainwright was presented to the parents and friends of South Side Wednesday night in the gym. The purpose of this band concert, sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association, was to obtain money to help finance the project of using the X-ray machine in examining, free of cost, those students who tested positive to the tuberculosis tests given recently at South Side. The interesting program presented by the music department is as follows: "Symphonie Overture" by Rossini, by the orchestra; "Out of the Dusk to You," duet by Jan Earl and Betty Franklin; selection by the glee club, "Marianina"; "Neapolitan Nights" by the orchestra; "On Parade," solo given by Wayne Wright, accompanied by the orchestra and glee club; "Umbrella Man," solo by Gerald Polman; "Rose Marie" sung by Emelyn Remmel; "Great Waltz" by orchestra; selection by the glee club, "Nightfall in Grenada"; "Military Overture" given by the band; baton twirling by Gloria Gumpfer, accompanied by the band playing, "Grandioso," novelty number, "Comin' Round the Mountain" by the band; "Till Serenade," solos by Albert Verweire with the flute and with the French horn by Robert Allen; and "William Tell Overture" presented by the band.

S. P. C. Club Members Hold Potluck Meeting

A potluck meeting of the South Side Student Players Club was held in the school cafeteria last Friday immediately after school. At first it was planned to have this meeting in Foster Park, but inclement weather caused the postponement of the proposed picnic meeting.

At this meeting a play, "The Retreat," was presented by the April play committee. Bill Newhard, Jeanette Warren, Marjorie Quackenbush, Donna Lou Foutz, Margery Clapp, Lila Patton, and Bruce Bradbury made up this committee. The play concerned an establishment for old folks. A typical morning on the front porch of Ames Retreat For the Aged was presented in the skit.

The committee for food for the meeting was in charge of Becky Abbott. The next meeting of the club will be held in four weeks.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Mr. Elma Gould's beginning botany classes are now studying fruits. This study will be followed with the study of seeds.

Two debates were given in Mr. McClure's United States history class. The first one was "The railroads are not monopolistic in nature and as such should be owned by the government." The affirmative was presented by Bruce Klotz and Bob Formanek; the negative by Jim Winters and Arthur Matott. The second debate was "The railroads are rapidly outgrowing their usefulness and should therefore no longer receive financial aid from the government." The affirmative for this debate was taken by Alex Azar and Byron McCammon; the negative, by Irving Dickerson and Arthur Matott.

In Mr. Plasket's industrial arts 4 class, Ralph Hamilton and Ray Tienman have completed modernistic end tables.

Miss Demaree's English 2 period 7 class is writing autobiographies.

Excellent themes from written sources were turned in by Mary Treen, Bill Peters, Anna Lou Kowalski, Ethelda Koch, Rosella Koehler, Ruth Ellison and Kitty Clindard of Miss Kiefer's English 8 class.

Mr. Sidell's general mathematics classes are studying compound interest.

On a recent test given by Mr. Pierce to his U. S. history 2 classes, the highest grades were made by Jean Berlin, Lillian Meeker, Leonard Shepherd, Joyce Harwood, Eileen Briggs, Eugene Hofstetter, and Ellen McKay.

Approximately two months ago, Mr. Gould planted two tiny corn plants in a water solution. These two plants now have attained the height of four feet and each has a growing ear of corn.

Reports on the Youth Forum were given recently in home room S by the representatives, Harold Brudi, Lucy Smith, and Arthur Howard.

Boys taking mechanical drawing 6 are starting to ink drawings which they have made. Each boy is required to have enough work in inking so he will be able to make an ink tracing from which a blue print can be made.

Charles Long, Billy Foye, Clara Hawse, and Virginia Goggin formed the cast for the reading of Frank G. Thompkins' "Sham" in Miss Kiefer's English 6 class.

Mr. Sidell's plain geometry classes are studying the origination of the circle.

Mr. Rex announces that a number of his 10B manual training boys are making knives such as butcher knives, carving knives, and the like.

The students of Mr. Murphy's sociology 1 class are studying the habits of the American family.

A family of girls in home management served a breakfast on Tuesday. The menu was as follows: orange slices, goldenrod eggs on toast, and chocolate milk. Betty Swan was cook and Jeanne Snyder, hostess. The meal was very appetizing and nicely served. The other members of the family were Valetta Witte, Ellen Shroufe, and Helen Weitzman.

Mr. Gould's advanced botany classes are studying mosses in the laboratory.

school. In this way any prospective cases can be found, thus preventing any undesirable consequences due to ignorance of the disease. Tests of this kind are being made in many other schools in the city, and also in other large cities throughout the country. The tests show students whether they are susceptible to the disease, and thus enables them to guard their health throughout their lives. These tests were not compulsory and were taken only after the student's parents had signed a card signifying their acceptance of the plan, thus allowing their son or daughter to take the test.

In home room 30, Velda Oppenlander gave a very excellent report on the Youth Forum held at Central High School on April 20. She took notes in shorthand and later wrote the notes out.

In Mrs. Welty's Latin 2 class, those who made 95 or above on a test over albatross absolutes and indirect statements were Dorothy Hessler and Romayne Rediger.

Mr. Moss' general history classes just completed a test over the chapter, "The Growth of Democracy in England."

In the greenhouse off Mr. Gould's room, some tiny cabbage and tomato plants have been placed so the students may view them at different stages of their growth.

In Mr. Plasket's industrial arts 1 class, Keith Lakey was the first one to assemble his project.

Mr. Walker just received two sets of "Better Buymanship" booklets. The first set is on fish, and the second on fruits and vegetables.

G. A. A. Gazette

What's happened to those fast-moving seniors? Where has their pep gone? They started the season with a bang, but now they have lost the last two games. Why? We'll leave that for you to answer, but we think it's spring fever.

In a recent baseball game, Frances Gross made a hit and ran to first base. Somehow Marilyn Sandler, first baseman, got in the way and they collided. Result, they both fell face forward. Watch yourselves next time, girls.

Our little G. A. A.'er, Nancy Hess, is really learning to hit the ball (in baseball) at last. She actually hit the ball so she got to first base. Believe it or not.

What's Elaine Herschey been thinking about lately? While umpiring a baseball game during gym class, Elaine actually let one team get four outs. It must be love.

What's all this riot about G. A. A. letters? The girls demand more letters. Why? That's simple, the more boyish the girls look this spring the better they like it.

Extemp Meet To Commence On Wednesday

Announce Three Topics For Use As Subjects; Talks Will Last Five Minutes

On May 10 and 11 the semi-annual South Side Extemporaneous Contest will be held. The subjects to be used this year are "What Should America Do About The Railroads?" "How Can The United States Best Contribute To Peace?" and "What Should Be Done About The Labor Union Problem?"

The contest consists of five-minute constructive speeches on the subject drawn and three-minute rebuttals. Drawing for the first series of contests will be held at 3:20 o'clock on Tuesday in room 190. Contestants in the contest on Thursday will draw their subjects at eight o'clock, one hour and twenty minutes before the contest begins.

The contests held on Wednesday are not eliminations or preliminaries. Each first, second, and third place winner will be given a Wrangler Honor Award.

Bob Safer was the winner of the last contest held in November. He will defend his title in these contests.

Participants will be Veril Springer, Arthur Chevalier, James Murphy, Harold Martin, Bob Safer, and Don Meyer. Every one wishing to enter is to sign up in room 190 by tomorrow night.

Direct Plans For Junior Prom

Miss Hazel Miller

Mr. Lloyd Whelan

Miss Hazel Miller and Mr. Lloyd Whelan have approved the plans for South Side's Junior Prom with the theme of "Minuet in Blue." This theme carries out the plan of the old south. This year's leading artists for the decorations are Marjorie Dyer, Alice Pope, and Bill Blass, who are co-chairmen of the decorations committee.

Homer Hire Receives High Military Award

Homer Hire, former South Sider, was given the saber presented at Indiana University by the Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity.

Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Kentucky student military units participated in the annual spring military review held at Indiana University.

The coveted saber is given by Scabbard and Blade for the most receptive and best trained cadet officer. Lieutenant Colonel Homer E. Hire is the commander of the third regiment of Pershing Rifles, Lieutenant Colonel of the Indiana University R. O. T. C. regiment, and Captain of the Scabbard and Blade. He is probably the most outstanding cadet in the department of Military Science and Tactics at the Indiana University. Since distinguishing himself in his sophomore year by winning the Scabbard and Blade medal as the most outstanding cadet of his class, he has risen to leadership in all military affairs on the campus.

Homer acted as general chairman for two of the largest dances on the campus. The two dances sponsored by the Military department were the Military Ball and the Band Benefit Ball.

Colonel Hire, a senior at the University, has been active in Sigma Alpha Epsilon, a social fraternity, and various university functions.

"Creatures Of Impulse" To Be Given Seventh Period By The Marionette Club

Cast Will Consist Of Eight Players

Tickets May Be Purchased For Ten Cents Next Week From Members, Room 140

"Creatures Of Impulse" is the puppet play which the Marionette Club has chosen to present to the students in the seventh period, Friday, May 19, in the Greeley Room. The cast consists of eight characters who have extremely distinctive personalities. The climax is reached when an old lady changes their personalities to the direct opposite, which results in quite a humorous confusion.

A French peasant community is the setting for the play. Script was secured from the National Service Bureau of the Federal Theater Project in New York.

Characters Listed

Members of the club who comprise the cast are Pipette, Lillian Sherbondy; Peter, Ralph Ransome; Sergeant Kloque, Bill Morgan; Old Lady, Marjorie Dyer; Jacques, Mildred Berry; Bloombeard, Mary Ellen Barrett; Martha, Jane Klinefelter; Dog, Bill Morgan.

Tickets may be purchased next week for 10 cents from any member of the club or in room 140 from Miss Dorothy A. Magley, club adviser. Students will be excused from their seventh period class by presenting the ticket to their teacher. The four captains and their teams appointed for the ticket sale are Betty Shewalter, captain, Janice Dyer, Jim Strawbridge, Kathryn Beckman, Donna Dennis; Wilma Carrier, captain, Max Spencer, Virginia Hill, Mary Ellen Barrett, Betty Bowman; Hilda Leininger, captain, Marcia Allen, Mary Dyer, Mildred Berry, Jane Klinefelter; Mary Lou Feller, captain, Ann Haller, Ralph Ransome, Lillian Sherbondy, Nadine Mueller.

Mueller In Charge

Nadine Mueller has been in general charge of the affair. Bill Morgan has been put in charge of publicity; Janice Dyer, behind scenes. The costume committee was headed by Kathryn Beckman. Other costumers were Mary Dyer, Ann Haller, and Mary Ellen Barrett.

A potluck for the members of the club will be held Thursday, May 18, after which the stage will be set up in the Greeley Room and other final preparations made. Mildred Berry and Ann Haller have been put in charge of the potluck.

Phyllis Branning Is Travel Prexy

Other Newly Elected Officers Are Ruth Dauner, Elizabeth Koehler, And Elizabeth Rose

Phyllis Branning was elected president of Travel Club for next term at the last meeting of the club Wednesday, May 3. Other officers elected are as follows: Vice-president, Ruth Dauner; secretary, Betty Jane Koehler; treasurer, Elizabeth Rose; foreign secretary, Edmund Bauer; Inter-Club Congress representative, Janet Holmeyer; Red Cross representative, Marjorie Kruse; and sergeant-at-arms, Helen Luepke.

Hawaii was the subject for the meeting, and Ruth Dauner was in charge of the program. Ruth introduced Delores Menefee and Hazel Collins who played several Hawaiian selections on their guitars. Miss Alice Dean's first period dancing class then presented a Hawaiian dance while Kathryn Beckman sang "The Moon of Manakoa." Helen Reichenbach gave a general description of Hawaii. Following this, Charles Will talked on the city of Honolulu and Janice Weir spoke on Hawaiian music.

As a special feature of the meeting, Velma Lehman and Mary Jane Christie told of their recent visit to Washington, D. C., during a Red Cross convention. They passed several pictures of various scenes about Washington around the room. Following this, refreshments consisting of marshmallow dolls with paper ties about their necks were served.

Those who were on Ruth Dauner's committee are Janice Weir, Janice Sprunger, Charles Will, Marjorie Veltz, Helen Reichenbach, Mary Jane Hale, John Dingley, and Helen Fry.

The topic for the meeting next Wednesday is San Francisco and the chairman for the meeting is Lilia Patton. The following are members of her committee: Irene Meyer, Marian Owens, Patty Lyman, Betty Baumgartner, Audrey Jeffries, Mildred Brett, Helen Ellenwood, Doris Douglas, Wilma Jean Sullivan, Patricia Underhill, Joan Blum, Phyllis Hess, and Dorothy Karnap.

John Bex, '37, Elected To Honorary Society

John Bex, '37, a student at the University of Chicago, was selected by the Iron Mask, along with fifteen other juniors-to-be, to fill the ranks of this junior men's honorary society. John, Blackfriar's man, track and football athlete, is a member of Phi Delta Theta.

While John was a student here at South Side, he took part in many activities. He was general manager of the Iron Mask, a member of Quill and Scroll. He took the main lead in the senior play, "The Taming of the Shrew." John was quite an athlete and played a nice game of football. John has continued his outstanding work in college these past two years as he did in high school.

Banquet Head

Miss Mabel Thorne

Miss Mabel Thorne is chairman of the National Honor Society banquet to be held at the Plymouth Congregational Church tonight. Each member will be the guest of a South Side faculty member.

Skating Party Will Be Held By Wo-Ho-Ma

Affair Will Be Staged May 19 At Bell's Rink; Price Of Tickets Will Be 25c

Wo-Ho-Ma Club skate is to be held May 19 at Bell's Rink. The tickets are twenty-five cents. The bus will be in front of South Side at 7:30 o'clock.

Lois Gumpfer is chairman of the skate. Tonspie Hall, Peggy Greany, and Elizabeth Kelso are assistant chairmen. Constance Bender, Holly Rappert, Ruth Ann Stiegler, Martha Cash, and Norma Whitesell also are serving on the committee. Tickets may be bought from any one of these students.

Hold Meeting Thursday
Wo-Ho-Ma Club held its meeting last Thursday in the Greeley Room at 3:30. May 18 has been selected as the date for the "Mother and Daughter Tea." The theme of the tea is the "Tulip Tea." Leah Tassler is chairman. If a girl's mother is unable to come to this tea she should bring her grandmother, aunt, neighbor, friend, or someone else. If you wish, you may bring both your mother and grandmother. The girls who are coming to this tea should sign up in room 75 no later than Wednesday evening.

Dean Is Keynote
Miss Martha Pittenger gave an interesting talk on "Amusements of Yesterday and Today." She told of the party, games, and other amusements of the olden days. She also described the clothing that she wore. Games were then played.

The committee which was in charge is as follows: Mildred Korte, chairman; Doris Douglas and Betty Kinley, assistant chairmen; Jean Junk, June Whalen, Betty Wyss, and Patricia Smith.

Delivery Of Totem May Be June 2

Book Will Feature Pictures Of Bigger, Better South Side Since Addition To School.

Delivery of the 1939 Totem has been promised by the printers to June first or second. Monday, sixty pages will be sent to be printed and all of them will be sent by May 22.

This Totem will feature the bigger and better South Side as many pictures of the school's construction and new additions have been photographed.

Janice Dyer has contributed a great amount of her work to this 124 page memory. Her drawings include pictures of Mr. Merle J. Abbett, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Miss Martha M. Pittenger, and sketches of the first and second floor of our alma mater.

"This Totem is one that students will want to save for years," stated Miss Rowena Harvey, adviser of publications. "Students may still subscribe if they pay $2.25."

Win I. U. Honors

Ruth Adler, '36 represented Indiana University in a Big Ten debate conference held at Northwestern University. Anne Abbett, '36 has been initiated into the Women's Athletic Association.

National Honor Society Dinner To Be Tonight

Honor Students Are Guests Of Faculty; More Than 250 Expected To Attend

Program Planned By Honor Studes

South Side Trio To Provide Music; Students, Mr. Snider, Mr. Abbett To Speak

With two hundred thirty-two reservations already in, plans for the annual National Honor Society banquet for newly elected members of the society have been forwarded. The banquet will be held this evening at the Plymouth Congregational Church at 5:30 o'clock. The number of reservations which had been made last Tuesday indicated that the largest banquet in the history of the organization in South Side would be held tonight.

National Honor Society members, members of the South Side faculty, as well as parents and friends of the honor guests will be present at the banquet.

A committee of students composed of Jeannette Warren, Donna Lou Foutz, and Ruth Kaiser under the direction of Miss Mabel Thorne is arranging the program for the event. The program will consist of music by the South Side trio, and speeches by Mr. Snider, Virginia Kincaid, Eugene Schmidt, Margaret Null, Betty Neeb, Henry Velkoff, William Newhard, Richard Buchholz, Mr. Merle J. Abbett, Janice Dyer, Mark Hall, and more music by Ruth Bade, and Velma Lehman. The theme of the banquet is America, and the decorations are being carried out in this theme under the direction of Miss Blanche Hutto by the South Side Booster Club.

Tickets for the banquet have been on sale in the school office for two weeks. Last year 225 persons attended the banquet. Most of the arrangements in regard to the banquet are being planned by a faculty committee.

May 16 Is Date Of Meterite Tea

Miss Pittenger Will Be Guest Speaker At Mother-Daughter Affair To Be Given Tuesday

Miss Martha Pittenger will be the guest speaker at Meterite's Mother-Daughter Tea to be held in the Greeley Room next Tuesday, May 16, at 3:30 o'clock. Marjorie McNabb, president of the club, will welcome the mothers.

In charge of the program is Dorothy Gildea. Helping her are Ellen Harry, music chairman, and Jeanet Whetsel and Janice Sprunger, directors of the plays. Working with Jeanet are Mary Louise Dunbar, Janis Tremper, Betty Leis, Ann Haller, Gloria Korte, Marjorie Haller, Patricia Harfitt, Norma Russell, and Carolyn Snoko. Those in the play directed by Janice are Ellen Harry, May Scheele, Lois Hoff, Mary Barrett, Gladys Foellinger, Virginia Grey, and Virginia Simmons. These plays are being given in keeping with the theme carried out through the semester by the club.

Guests will be greeted by the reception committee, composed of Carol Whittier, chairman, Marilyn Enrich, Ruth Henry, Martha Lee Wake, Helen Anderson, Ruthanna Doll, Mary Lou Feller, Gloria Kramer, Phyllis Ann Fager, and Alice Kanne.

Thompson Hall, chairman, Dolores Bodenhorn, Suzanne Roebel, Elinor Munting, Marilyn Gregg, Edna Ream, and Mary Nell Spiegel will be in charge of the refreshments, which will be served by Peggy Greaney and committee, Ruth Hageman, Catherine Sommers, Carmel Roy, Jane Rineard, Mary Louise Wilson, Betty Ann Bohn, Patty Burns, Mary Carlo, and Barbara Koeng.

Sally Hobbs, chairman of the decorations, has as her committee, Joan Wagner, Alice Fisher, Jean Foreman, Naomi Koopman, Dorothy Jaggers, and Berdine Lochner.

Social Scientists Hold Annual Fete

Sixty Members Attend Banquet; Speech Of Thanks Is Offered By Mr. Wilburn Wilson

Sixty members of the Social Science Club attended their annual banquet yesterday at 6 o'clock in Mr. Wilburn Wilson's home room, 108. Mr. Wilson gave a short speech thanking the members for their co-operation and work in making the State Social Science Convention a success. All of those attending sang several popular songs.

The program and banquet were planned by the club president, Eugene Schmidt, Phyllis Goller, vice-president and Janice Dyer, secretary. Janice Dyer was in charge of the favors for the banquet. Miss Martha Pittenger and Mr. R. Nelson Snider were guests of the affair. Several juniors who desired to become members next semester attended as guests.

Club To Give Review Of "Les Miserables"

Plans for the coming French Club picnic will be announced at the May 11 meeting. The program will consist of a review of "Les Miserables" by the club's president, Joe Bex; and discussions by members of the lives of three French authors, Victor Hugo, Alexander Dumas, and Anatole France.

Famous Trumpeter Answers Questions Of Staff Interviewer

By Bob Martin

This week we drop back stage at the Paramount with the intention of finding out about the foremost trumpet player of today, Clyde McCoy, and, much to our surprise, we found that he was very willing to "set down and hash things out" with us.

We found out that Mr. McCoy was raised not so far from here at Ashland, Kentucky, where he attended grade and high school. His favorite subjects were dramatic art and industrial arts. His hobbies are amateur sound movies and collecting of pipes. Mr. McCoy is 5 feet 10 inches tall, has brown eyes and black hair. He has been in show business for 21 years and has had his own band for ten years.

It might be noted here that the Bennett Sisters, who drew a large amount of attention, have been with Mr. McCoy for some two years. They hail from way down South in San Antonio, Texas, with Marguerite and Maxine both 5 feet 5 inches tall and Charlie Belle only 5 feet 4 1/2 inches. They consider swimming, tennis and dancing their favorite pastimes and algebra, music and dramatics their favorite subjects while in school.

Mr. McCoy likes all blues numbers and that is probably why he is so famous for his rendition of "Sugar Blues," which, by the way is not his theme song. He uses about four bars of "Sugar Blues" and then breaks into his theme song.

Mr. McCoy has composed some of the popular tunes of the day with such songs as "Tear It Down" and "Ridin' to Glory on a Trumpet." He has made several short subjects which have been probably seen at the theater and he is thinking of making a feature picture next fall.

And with that we run out of questions and take leave of Mr. McCoy.

Music Assembly Will Be May 23

To Be "Biggest, Best Concert Of Year"; Student Body Will Select Numbers To Be Played

On May 23, the last music assembly of the year will be held. According to Mr. Jack W. Wainwright, director of South Side's band, orchestra, and chorus, it will be the "biggest and best concert of the year."

In the past concerts of this year, Mr. Wainwright has endeavored to please everyone. However, this time the students will select the numbers to be played. At previous concerts, there has been music to please the classical music lovers, those who prefer semi-classical music, those who like the novelty arrangements, the swing fans, and those who like jazz. The William Tell Overture, Victor Herbert's Favorites, Comin' Round the Mountain, The Moon Got In My Eyes, and the March of the Jitterbugs are examples of the different types of music that is played at the concerts.

At this last concert, however, a different plan is to be used. A list of the numbers to be played is to be found below. The students are to write down the selections they would like to hear and take it to the music department office in room 40. The numbers that seem to be more popular will be used to make this longer concert. The music that has been played at all the concerts this year has been placed in the list from which the choices of the students will be made.

This custom is observed every year. The list is as follows: Title Serenade, by the band; Under the Double Eagle March, by the band; Rosamunde Overture, by the orchestra; Kunhild Overture, by the orchestra; Peter and the Wolf, by the orchestra; Lullaby, by the orchestra; LaDance Blanche, band; Don Quixote, band; L'Amour Toujours L'Amour, vocal and orchestra; Indian Love Call, vocal and orchestra; O Lovely Clouds, chorus; Piping Tim of Gallway, chorus; O Columbia We Hail Thee, chorus; Indian Summer Suite, band; Bells of the Sea, vocal; First Waltz, orchestra; Baton Twirling; William Tell Overture, band; Star Dust, band; March of the Jitterbugs, band; Sakuntala, band; Day in Venice, band or orchestra; You're the Only Star, vocal and orchestra; Rose Marie, vocal and orchestra; Out of the Dusk to You, vocal and orchestra; Unwilling Maiden, vocal and orchestra; Morning, Noon, Night, orchestra; Nightfall in Granada, chorus; A Day in Ireland, band; Cinemaland Parade March, band; Semiramide, orchestra; On Parade, vocal and orchestra; Neapolitan Night, orchestra; Marianini, chorus; Comin' Round The Mountain, band; O Rose, vocal and band; Military Overture, band.

"Little Sir Echo" Is Too Great Nuisance For Speech Classes

"Little Sir Echo" was too frequent a visitor in Mrs. Dorothy Riecke's room to be appreciated. In fact, he became a nuisance and was disturbing speeches and conversations.

Last Monday curtains were put up at the back of the room to eliminate the little fellow with the throwback. These hangings really are the old Greeley Room curtains; but if they really prove helpful, some kind of scientific drapings will be hung in their place.

The reason for the additions was that echoes were (and are) quite prevalent in all of the new rooms. An experiment had to be conducted in finding its elimination, so the public speaking room was chosen to be the guinea pig of this experiment. But from Mrs. Riecke's words, we gather that she and her classes have not minded participating in the trial as they have really softened the reception and eliminated echoes.

About these curtains Mrs. Riecke says, "I'm very much pleased in the improvement it has made in the acoustical problem of the room."

Sophomore Derby Dance To Be Run Off Friday In Archers Gymnasium

Members Make Final Arrangements For Annual Fete; Gym Is Decorated

Program Groups To Supervise Fun

Bob Hines To Be Master Of Ceremonies; Music, Dancing, Skit Also Included

A large number of committees are making final arrangements for the Sophomore Party which will be held tomorrow evening, beginning at eight o'clock. The decorations committee will complete all of the decorations in the gym during periods tomorrow. This committee will be assisted by class officers. A meeting of this committee was held last Wednesday night so that the completion of arrangements could be made. All members of the decorations staff will be excused from some classes during the day if the work can not be completed during the morning.

Program Worked Out
A program for the party has been worked out by the program committee which has been meeting during the past two weeks to rehearse for the program. Every member of the program committee has a part in the entertainment for the party. Bob Hines, class president, will serve in the capacity of master of ceremonies during the program for the annual event. Music, solo and group dancing, and specialty acts will comprise the program. A skit written by Harold Martin and directed by him will also be given the skit, entitled, "They Were Born With Stand Ins", is concerned with a woman and a day in her life. The trials and tribulations of this mother with her children are presented in the play, an all student production.

The games on the program have been arranged by Miss Alice Dean along with the students who are on the program committee.

Eats Being Prepared
Refreshments, also to be carried out in the theme of Derby Day, are being prepared by the refreshment committee of which Katherine Guild is chairman. She is being assisted by Miss Mellen and the committee composed of Mary Bowly, Eva Jean Wylie, Hilda Schubert, and Helen Savage.

The decorations committee is made up of the following persons: Margery Dyer, Constance Hirschy, Betty Horstmeier, Elaine Hirschy, Harold Martin, Jim Brooks, Bob Brooks, Ed Meyer, Don Meyer, Robert Moses, Dick Theye, and the class officers. This committee will be in general charge of the decorations, but will be assisted by other sophomores Friday.

Final meetings for all committees on the party were held last night after school or will be held during the remainder of the week. The clean-up committee of most of the members on other committees will meet in the gym Saturday morning to clean up after the party.

Philo To Sponsor Event For Seniors

Seniors To Give Entertainment; Election Of Officers To Be Held; Chairmen Are Listed

Philo's annual Senior Day will be held Monday, May 15, at the home of Lois Rea, 2445 Fairfield avenue, at 4 o'clock. The juniors will entertain the graduating seniors with music, favors, refreshments, and a prophecy. The committees are as follows: music, Kathryn Beckman, chairman, Rosella Foutz, and Marian Jackson; favors, Marjorie Dyer, chairman, Dorothy Gore, and Phyllis Branning; prophecy, Elsie J. Reed, and Carolyn Keel; invitations, Maurine Seibert, chairman, Alveda Randol, and Jean Fortriede.

The seniors will present several stunts also, with Frances VanBuskirk in charge of the music. Eleanor Vesey will give the speech of advice to the juniors.

An election of officers will be an important part of this meeting. The nominating committee consists of Janice Dyer, Gwen DeWees, and Maurine Seibert.

Airplane Club Picnic Committees Appointed

The annual picnic of the South Side Airplane Club will be held at Weisser Park May 26 at 4:30 o'clock instead of Foster Park as previously announced. Henry Velkoff, club president, appointed two committees for this outing. The entertainment committee is under the charge of Bob Brooks. The other committee is the general picnic committee with Bob Hawkins in charge.

Any boy who is a member of the club, but does not regularly attend, should see Mr. Joseph Plaskett, club adviser.

Poems Are Published

Dorothy Gore and William Whetsel both wrote poems which appeared on the "Youth's Passing Show" page of the News-Sentinel, last Saturday. Dorothy's poem was written about home, William's bit of rhyming was called "Bashful," and it told about his bashfulness around girls.

Prexy Plans

Bob Hines

Bob Hines, sophomore class president, is the "mainpring" of the annual sophomore party "Derby Day," to be held tomorrow night here at South Side.

Dances Represent Derby Day Races At Sophomore Fete

A theme of Derby Day is being carried out in all things pertaining to the Sophomore Party, scheduled for tomorrow night. The school gym is to be decorated in typical derby settings. The gym floor is being used to represent the track and several dances which will correspond to preliminary races will be held during the evening.

At 8 o'clock sharp, the grand march or warm up, will be held, and after that the Technician Trot, Johnstown Jockey Jig, among others, will be run by the dancers. Several other novelty acts, also in the theme of Derby Day, will be presented. This Derby Floor show will be featured by a short skit which tells about the life of a mother, and her difficulties concerned with her family.

Decorations, under the direction of Miss Blanche Hutto, art instructor, will consist of fences surrounding the track and the field area near the track. The platform for the orchestra will be made to look like the judges' stand on Churchill Downs. Horses being ridden by jockeys will also constitute part of the decorations.

Programs and favors which were made with the help of the South Side art department will be presented to everyone attending the Sophomore Derby Day.

All in all, it seems that the best thing that the people who weren't fortunate enough to be able to attend the actual Kentucky Derby can do is attend the Sophomore Derby which is trying to live up to the traditions of the more renowned derby as much as possible.

Seniors On Times Will Meet Tonight

All graduating seniors on The Times staff are to meet in room 16 immediately after school this evening for an important meeting. Plans for the senior issue which will be distributed on commencement evening, are to be made. This meeting was postponed from Tuesday until today.

Stamp Collectors To Elect Officers

"Specialization By Theme" Will Be Topic Of Meeting To Be Held Next Wednesday Night

Election of officers will feature Stamp Club's last program meeting of the year, to be held next Wednesday night in room 26. "Specialization by Theme" will provide a program topic under the direction of Carlton Clem, chairman. Edward Turner is in charge of the nominating committee.

Assisting Carlton on his committee are Howard Fishback, Ralph Herb, Don Parkinson, Betty Clem, Mary Virginia Russ, Kieth Lakey, Richard Kilpatrick, Bob Wylie, and Jack Rogers.

A panel discussion concerning "Specialization By Theme" featured the last program meeting held May 3. Bob Wylie won first place in a guessing contest, and as a result was awarded a first day commemorative cover depicting the visit of King George the Sixth and Queen Elizabeth to Canada. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

$24 Is Main Object Of Agents' Campaign

Approximately twenty-four dollars remains to be collected by The Times circulation department. An effort is being made to collect all money owed The Times so as to tie with the record which was set last year, when for the first time, every cent owed on subscriptions was paid.

Party To Be Staged From 8 To 10:30; Bob Anweiler's Swingsters Are Featured

Select Chaperones For Yearly Fete

Ducats Priced At Twenty-Five Cents Each; May Be Bought Of Room Agents

Sophomore Derby Day will be held tomorrow night in the school gymnasium, 8 to 10:30 o'clock, for everyone in South Side, especially the members of the sophomore class, which is arranging and sponsoring the annual event. Derby Day was chosen so as to coincide with the Kentucky Derby as much as possible, and all decorations and the program are being carried out in this theme by the various committees working on the party.

The party will begin promptly at 8 o'clock with a grand march, after which the other events planned for the party will be given.

Tickets On Sale
Tickets for the party have been on sale in all 10B, 10A, and 11B home rooms for two days, Tuesday and Wednesday, during which time only sophomores were able to purchase tickets. Starting today, however, the tickets will be available to everyone in the school, if the supply of tickets is sufficient to warrant this enlargement of the ticket sale. Tickets are only twenty-five cents and have stub for refreshments on the ticket.

Bob Anweiler and his Sophisticated Swing Orchestra will provide music for dancing at the party. The other entertainment will be given by members of the program committee.

Faculty Aids
Five faculty members have assisted the sophomores in arranging for this party. Miss Lucy Osborne and Mr. Earl E. Sterner have been in general charge of the event, and these have been helped to a great extent by Miss Blanche Hutto, who worked out all of the decorations, Miss Lucy Mellen, who helped to arrange for the refreshments, and Miss Alice Dean, who prepared the game for the party. Without the aid of each of these faculty members the class of '41 would have been unable to arrange the party.

Parents of the class officers and of other sophomore students will serve as chaperones along with faculty members. Those who will act as chaperones are: Mr. and Mrs. Merle J. Abbett, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, Miss Martha Pittenger, Miss Pauline VanGorder, Miss Mary Pocock, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur K. Remmel, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hines, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bonisb.

So-Si-Y Gives Tea In Faculty's Honor

Three Skits To Show Activities Of Club Are Given; Punch, Cookies Are Served Tuesday

So-Si-Y Faculty Tea was held Tuesday, May 9, with most of the teachers attending as guests of the members. Three skits were given to show some of the activities of Girl Reserves. Punch and cookies were served during the social hour in which the students and teachers got better acquainted.

The first part of the program was entitled "Time Marches On." Dixie Lee Hanna was in charge of this group and those on her committee were Bernita Gregory, Mildred Brett, Helen Fry, Rosella Koehler, Helen Ellenwood, Marjorie Veltz, Dorothy Gerdorn, Dorothy Ringenberg, Helen Luepke, Delores Menefee, Marjorie Jackson, Thelma Krauskopf, Virginia Selby, Alice Volmerding, Mary Antrim, and Becky LeFevre. Rosella Koehler, dressed in a black robe, showed the beginning of Girl Reserves. Mildred Brett and Bernita Gregory demonstrated the growth of the nationally known organization. Then Virginia Selby showed the business girls' entered Girl Reserves. The meaning of the code was then given by the other members of the committee.

"News of the Year" was the theme of the second group. This group showed the ideals of service and explained that So-Si-Y no longer gives degrees as a reward for service work. Phyllis Fackler was in charge and those on her committee were Phyllis Branning, Wilma Jean Sullivan, Lillian Meeker, Norma Jean Sprunger, Elsie Pederson, Doris Douglas, Verlene Weideman, Carolyn Schueler, and Mildred Korte.

The third skit showed some of the life at Conference, Inter-Club, and Ring Circle. One of the main things brought out was the fact that G. R. Rings cannot be bought, but must be earned by attending meetings and meeting certain qualifications. Those on this committee were Virginia Menze, Velma Connert, Ruth Ellison, Dorothy Bloemker, Elizabeth Rose, Dorothy Amstutz, Mary Emily Seibt, and Beth Ellen Chadwick.

And then there was the wise old gentleman who declared that the things we enjoy are either illegal, immoral, or fattening.

With our spring sessions in the background we watch the slow approach of school closure and with it the sorrows of commencement.

And there was the tale of the lad with spots before his eyes who said, "What a period I'm living in!"

Let's Keep Clean Perpetually!

It really is marvelous what a whole student body can do working cooperatively toward a single goal—that of making and keeping the school clean. The way all the home rooms pitched right in and made Clean-up Week a success was really a fine commendable thing. Perhaps, some of you have seen the shrubs planted by the south entrance by an enterprising home room or the ivy and flowers set out by others. Maybe some students have smelled the painting issuing forth from the radiators in Miss VanGorder's room. We have only to look about us to see what has been accomplished to know that Clean-up Week has been a huge success. Now, let's try to keep the school looking as fine as it does at present by staying off the grass and by preserving all the fine things we have around our Archer institution. It took a lot of hard work to complete these projects but it takes only a short time to destroy it. So, take care, South Siders.

Bouquets To Those Coaches Who Help To Bring Laurels!

While South Side is swinging into a very successful track season for the first time in several years, we also find a football season with good prospects as is shown by the results of spring practice as well as prospects for another good basketball season. We can be thankful that Archer athletics' standings are at the top again.

With three capable mentors to guide the respective big three squads, it seems likely that South Side will become widely known for her athletes. By training younger students while they are freshmen and sophomores, better, more experienced teams can be developed. This new policy is being demonstrated by track coach, George Collyer who last fall began training a number of boys for track. This year he is being rewarded with one of the most successful teams the Archers have had for some time.

No school likes to have champ teams in one sport and not in another as was our experience for a time. Nor does any school like to win speech, Latin, mathematics, art, music, essay and journalism honors and at the same time turn out ill trained inexperienced football, basketball, and track squads.

Fortunately, with the assistance of Burl Fridle, Bill Moss, and George Collyer, South Side is once again coming into the lead in state athletic circles. In other words, Happy Days Are Here Again!

For Keener Living, Why Not Harken To Famed Verbage?

On a stone plaque at the northwest end of our school and facing the stadium is a brief statement that was made by one of our greatest presidents. The words inscribed on that plaque should be an inspiration to almost anyone. The speaker: Theodore Roosevelt, whose human touch made him one of the most beloved leaders ever to grace the highest position in America. The words: "Let us hope—that our own blood shall continue in the land, that our children and children's children shall rise to take our places and play a mighty and dominant part in the world. But whether this be denied or by the years we shall not see. Let at least the satisfaction be ours that we have carried onward the lighted torch in our own day and generation."

Too many of you who move fast in this rapidly changing universe, those words mentioned above will mean absolutely nothing, or at least little more than a jumble of misunderstood verbage and phrases.

To others, however, will come a feeling of responsibility mingled with other absorbed emotions. If thought is given to the words of Theodore Roosevelt, one will realize that they have a more than surface meaning.

If we intend to live another life after the completion of our interlude on earth, the best insurance for our happiness is the living example of a complete and useful life.

Flicking The Tips

Are you the dignified type? In determining the accurate answer you should be aware of the correct definition of the word "dignity." Yes, it is impressiveness, but it is also excellence and nobleness in style and grace. It is a position of elevated rank!

To attain the honorary degree of "dignified" there are certain qualities which you must possess. And there are some qualities which you should avoid having. Some people have acquired the idea that to be dignified they must look down upon all others except those in the rank they wish to ascertain. This is definitely the wrong conviction, for immediately following this idea they acquire the title "snobbish." There is such a thing as over doing it. You must be particularly careful not to offend others in your effort to gain dignity. You must not refuse to speak to or associate with your used-to-be friends. They can do you much harm in the future if you give them the opportunity. Do not, as you look at people, criticize them with your eyes. A great dislike for you may be the outcome if you don't guard against this. Although you may wear exclusive clothes and associate with the social group, don't think that no one would dare to be your enemy. Unless you have a pleasant smile for everyone, even though you are supposed to be dignified you are risking your own neck.

And then be sure, on your way up the ladder to dignity, that you do not skip the rounds of "good times"... for they are the essentials of happiness and popularity. By sitting and acting "dull" and "mopy" (in order to be dignified) just once, you risk your reputation. And when you really think about it, IS IT WORTH IT? Draw your own conclusions. Boys do not admire females who are boring, nor do they like the carefree, loud, conspicuous type. So try to be just an in between. You should be lady-like (mannerly) and feminine if you want admiring eyes to follow you. Check your disposition and see if it is the sweet one you'd like to have. If not simmer down! Don't let your temper run away with the leash.

There is, understand, nothing whatsoever wrong in being dignified but in doing so, take heed of some of the above things! And think over this important problem to see if you can solve it suitably... Is dignity at your age worth the risk of your reputation?

Way Down South

IT'S A REAL HONOR—

According to Hank Volkoff, South Side's most outstanding student, to be acclaimed Valedictorian; but we feel that it must be a greater honor still (if that is possible) to be able to buzz around town in a good looking car. Yes sir, Hank's got the cutest little job you ever looked at which he drives to and from school. It's an up-to-date convertible coupe which from previously proven experience can hold almost any number of people. Hank always makes round trips, and there is no charge for a couple of inches of space on the running board or any other place which doesn't happen to be already accommodated. Recently I have noticed that Hank has a vacant rumble seat; so, if anybody is interested, by all means see Hank or go immediately to his car which is usually parked just west of school. Tsk, tsk, maybe I shouldn't have said all this; but anyhow, Hank has stated that he prefers to transport the weaker sex to and from school. So, if anyone else is interested; one may attain full itinera from Hank.

IT'S A PITY—

that during the recent Clean Up Week, a few of us didn't take advantage of the situation and try cleaning up our grades.

WE HEARD—

a disgusted little sophomore utter the following when he found out that he was a T. B. positive, "I'm allergic to everything but women."

THE LAW OF GRAVITY IS WRONG—

said Bob York when he looked into the mirror and saw that his hair would grow up but wouldn't ever come down.

Among the sweeter tunes we find the tender verbage of LITTLE, SIR ECHO. Double talk?

Oh yes, by the way, student-people, how about walking on the sidewalks this time of year: Give the home-owners a break by protecting their up and coming grassy blades.

Fun In The Making

Listen Editor!

Since spring is one of the happiest times of the year, we thought that for a change it would be appropriate to point out some of the good features of the school and student body. The letters we received this week evidently agreed with us; so we'll pass one of them on to you.

Your column, "Listen Editor", has been composed entirely of letters criticizing various things around the school. I now propose to vary the procedure slightly by commenting on one very excellent feature of the School of Champions which I, being a senior, have had every opportunity to observe. This feature is the help and advice concerning occupations, colleges, post grad work, etc., which is so cheerfully given the prospective graduate by his teachers. Of special merit is the time and work given to this project by the home room teachers. And here, I'm afraid I will have to gripe just a little. I have yet to see a home room teacher who is not eager to lead his proteges into the paths of knowledge, but unfortunately a few of the aforesaid proteges do not want to be led. Take my home room for instance. No, on second thought you probably wouldn't want it. Several different times when the teacher has suggested programs dealing with choosing a vocation or a college, his wishes and the wishes of the majority have been blocked by a few obstinate students. It then became necessary for him to interview the interested students separately. Oh dear, I forgot! This was supposed to be a letter of praise, but such a home room as mine would rile anyone.

Anywho (that's supposed to be funny; I'll scream if the proof-readers change it to anyhow) the teachers who have so patiently warned us of the pitfalls lurking in our paths when we face the cruel world deserve a lot of credit. I am sure that every senior appreciates their unselfish efforts.

APPRECIATIVE.

Along The Clothes Line

In the midst of the short, full skirts why not come out in a narrow skirt that starts about three or four inches above the waistline. These are new but bear watching.

The little spring and summer washables present a refreshing picture. They are fashioned of cool shark-skin, gingham, or tie silk.

Linen and cotton accompany many of the frocks, even the net afternoon dresses.

Many of the summer dresses have novel sun-tan backs in the form of three or four slits reaching from the waistline to the neck.

The cottons are finished with huge bunches of flowers in contrasting colors. Patent leather ones are matched with wide, wide belts.

For a festive formal have one of the light tissue-paper-like material with rows of foamy ruffles.

The last summer deep, bronze tone of the skin will not be fashionable. The summer of 1939 will be remembered for its healthy tan tone, longer shorts, long, full-sleeved blouses to tuck into slacks and shorts, less abbreviated bathing suits and many other worthy fashions. Wear clips, dangling bracelets, and in your hair, ribbons this summer for active sports.

You might add a woven jute belt with felt poppy flowers planted on the very front to a sport frock.

By this summer have a long sun-bright or dainty pastel fish-net to tie up your short cropped hair or tie casually around your waist.

Exchange Extracts By Ima X Pert

A farmer's letter to his sweetheart appeared in the Purple and Gray recently, and I thought it would be smart to let you in on it.

Dear Sweetheart:

I have been in love with you for a long time. My heart beats for you alone. I could dance with you if it wasn't for my corn. Do you carrot all for me? You are a peach with your cherry lips, raddish hair, and turnip nose. You are the apple of my eye. If we cantaloupe, lettuce marry anyway. I think we could make a happy pear.

Your lover,

At Missoula High they have a traditional Old Clothes Day, but they are going to substitute it for Pioneer Day. An assembly and parade are planned for the day's entertainment. Prizes are awarded for the best costumes and longest beard. Everyone is urged to dress as a pioneer, and the boys will let their hair and beards grow.

Convo High has scheduled Miss Betty Robinson to appear at a special convocation. This program gives the students a chance to see and hear one of America's outstanding athletic figures. This is one of the athletic programs which are paid for by the student contributions at the first of the year.

A strange sight greeted the eyes of passers-by at the Lakewood High School not long ago. A kite was flying from the roof of the building, and one person explained that the school had probably lost the flag and was substituting a red, white, and blue kite for it.

Off The Press

The Story of Simon Legree: One of the more hard-hearted sophomores is Karl "Buck" Eberly. It appears that his heart is invincible or else belongs to daddy. So far he has been seen at times with Jean Weil, Alice Hall, Kay Kuntz, Pat Seibel, and Mary Bowly but has not yet made a definite pick. All we can say is that it's nice work this squiring good-lookin' girls around all the time. Maybe it's a vocation.

Unveiling of a Pine: Pine my word, (one of the worse puns slipped in there by mistake) one of the most interesting dedications that ever was dedicated was seen not so long ago by yours truly. The setting—the south end of the school lawn about 8:15 last Thursday morning; the characters—see for yourself. Anyhow, this is the plot. Home room 140, with prexy Miss Magley in charge, planted a pine tree (go out and see if you don't want to trust us) almost two feet high. This little token of something, after being placed into a hole dug by Jack Hogan and Byron McCammon was charmingly draped with a burlap sack of unmeasurable dimensions. Of course, realizing this condition couldn't go on forever, home room 140, collectively, held a dedication service. The principal speaker at this service was Jim Murphy, who interposed sales talk for the Junior Prom with his oration. Jim named the possibilities for the tree, and the fact in the dim, dark future the present members of home room 140 could come back and see the product of their handiwork. This part of the service being completed, Miss Magley performed the actual work of unveiling the plant. While most of this was going on, R. Nelson Snider was busy with his movie camera. The result? Well, it would make nice pictures for The Totem if they turn out.

Lost Opportunity: Circus Day came and went last week and with this attraction went Roy Heavener and Louie Hallenstein's chance to spend an evening with Alice Hall planning the home room program for their home room. We wonder what happened to the home room program they were supposed to work on.

News - Vues

To those who think and believe that South Side's annual Ivy Day celebration is just another senior beauty contest, this article is directed.

Each year some three hundred seniors select from their classmates two persons, an ivy queen and an ivy day orator, to reign over them during the annual celebration. Underclassmen look to the event as one treasured by all, and eagerly await the time when they too, will have a part in like festivities.

The planting of the ivy symbolizes new growth, green beginnings in a world tarnished by human contact. Ivy day is not a time for personal jealousy, but instead should remain one of the few times when graduating seniors have the opportunity for general assembly and an extended last time get-together.

The selection of an ivy queen and orator should not bring dissent, since it seems, their selection can be considered merely additional to an already fine program, which could exist in its excellent state without their selection.

Beginning with the opening ceremonies during the home room period on May 25th, until the final custom observed, South Side's seniors will have the privilege of witnessing one of the most impressive of all school occasions. Indeed, not until the last strains of our own Alma Mater are sung, will the class of 1939 realize the true benefits of an Ivy Day ceremony.

Much credit is due to Miss Emma Kiefer, Mr. Verne Flint and Mr. C. A. Bex for their work accomplished in the Inter-Club Congress drive. Their work, although directed at seniors during their Ivy Day program, is not confined to just a few persons or particular groups, but on the whole reaches the entire student body. Such example is the annual Clean-Up and Paint-Up campaign being directed by the congress at the present time.

And then, the work of this particular group could not be done without the aid of the individual members. Workers, not shirkers, belong to this organization, and little credit is given to them for their efforts.

The Inter-Club Congress has labored long and hard to make this year's Ivy Day a huge success; and this organization indeed deserves all the bouquets that South Side can present.

What Would You Do?

Not so very far in the future, this one sees looming the shadow of an important event—Ivy Day. Now, it is not every day that one gets to witness an ivy planting complete with real ivy, a queen, band, orator, and people who will listen to him, so it might be that you're wondering, we might even say worried, about how to conduct yourself. That is what we are here for—to tell you all about it.

- If, while planting the ivy, you discover a bee in it, you should:
 - Two bees or not two bees, that is the question.
 - That is my cue, boys. Here's where I exit.
 - Get the orator. Maybe he can make the bee see it your way.
- If by accident, you should walk on the queen's train, you should:
 - Notice: I am not responsible for the actions of my shoes. They are not mates anyway.
 - Hmm. So I am riding on trains now. First class at that. Gosh, she's beautiful.
 - If she doesn't object, what is all the excitement about, anyhow?

Now It Can Be Told

Now that the Junior Prom is over and the studes of good old South Side have once more settled down into their regular groove, perhaps the teachers will get a little work out of the befuddled students. But we really doubt it. By the way, another highlight of the social year of South Side is coming up this Friday. It's none other than that eagerly-awaited Sophomore Party.

Is LaVerne Griener going with Safford McMyler or not? Dot is the question. Get it?

Only Alice Miner knows the answer to the riddle of why Dick Teel suddenly lost his appeal for her. Could a certain Dick Gettling have anything to do with it? (Alice must dote on Dicks).

Hilda Knoche really has a crush on Carl Goebel. It's time that somebody did something about it, 'cause she has been burning for him in silence for nigh onto three months now. We've done our part. Now somebody, maybe Carl himself, can take up where I left off.

The little girl that I mentioned last week, namely Ruth Ann Stiegler has finally chosen between Dan Auer and Edmund Bauer. The lucky one? Dan Auer. Too bad, Eddie, but remember: There's plenty of other fish in the sea. From all appearances, Bob Stock is still that way about Jane Nathan. Be a good gal, Jane, and give him a break.

Why is it that Curly always insists on sitting at a certain end of the gym every fifth period? Could the answer be LeRoy Cook?

We hear that Joe Ratliff is overboard over that cute blonde from Central Catholic, Ruth Getty. Must be the real thing from appearance when they're together.

Among Those - Present -

There have been a number of complaints of the "gripe" variety about this column, foremost among which is our neglect of that dear little tease, Micky Mitchell. Setting about to remedy this situation, we shall "pan" little Micky, we hope, in terms agreeable to his many devoted admirers (?).

First of all we shall situate him in your minds extra-curricularly. Executively, he acts as vice-president of Hi-Y and as sports editor of The Totem. He is also a member of the Library, Times, 1500, and Service organizations. His favorite sustainer is pork chops. Hedy LaMar is his one and all,—of her he says, "It's a cryin' shame she had to get married." (We thought it was Audrey Hall.) He finds Kay Kayser and Tommy Dorsey doing "fairly well" in the musical world (condescending chap, isn't he?) He likes "Hold Tight" and abhors "Deep Purple." Expounding publicly (public speaking) is his favorite subject (and incidentally his favorite diversion). His hobby is "horsin' around." Taunting Dan and teasing Lukie is his specialty.

This little boy at heart has a very ponderous problem he thinks worthy of your consideration: His pet peeve is these people who are sophisticated by pretense. Back to his favorites, we find sports heading the list. There is nothing, he claims, that he enjoys more than a "bruising" game of checkers. Of course, he's a "bucket-the-ball" fan too, and "feetball" is all right from the spectating view. This ambition-less way-farer plans to further his education at Northwest, possibly through a course in business management.

Hoping there will be no further complaints of this aforementioned nature, we take our leave of "Egg-head" Mitchell (as his dear friend (?) Chuck puts it).

spends half of her time out at River-side Rink is found in the person of Jerry Miller.

What is this we hear about a sophomore by the name of Helen Kraus going for a cute lad at Central named Junior Varner? This couple broke up recently, (in fact a couple of months ago) and we thought that they never would even be on speaking terms again and here they are practically going steady. My, how perverse human emotions are.

The affair between Jean Reynolds and Bill Thompson is getting pretty serious from the looks of things lately. He haunts her house every night, and she doesn't seem to mind a bit. Must be love, eh?

One of the cutest couples that are now going steady is comprised of Wilma Pierce and Roy Ehlerding. They must have something in common, 'cause this has been going on now for some time.

The affair betwixt Blackie Dager and Evelyn Strunk is the real McCoy. They are continuously writing notes to each other during second period study.

Al Bartholomew and Maxine Fisher have hit a new high in fast work. They have had eight dates in the past few weeks. Pretty soon they will join our rapidly decreasing rank of steadies.

Why doesn't Warren Spangle get settled? Now really Warren you ought to stick to Mimi Dunbar after all the trouble you went to in winning her heart.

Now that Bill Weber has left town, Ann Stepanis will have to find somebody to fill the gap that he left in her heart. It will be pretty hard at first, Ann, but you will find out that time heals everything, even if the memory does linger on.

Wrangler Club Plans Banquet For May 22

"Westward Ho" Is Theme For Affair; Mr. H. Rieke Will Be Guest Speaker

May 22 has been the date set for Wranglers' Club annual spring banquet. Ed Reeves, present president of the organization, has been selected by the program committee to act as toastmaster of the affair. Mr. Herbert C. Rieke will be the guest speaker and will discuss "New Frontiers."

Celebrating the tenth anniversary of Wranglers' Club, the first and fifth presidents of the organization will speak on "Past Progress in Pioneering." As part of the program, Mrs. A. J. Carson will present the Freshmen-Sophomore Psi Iota Xi plaque. Extremoporous trophies will be presented by Helen Banks, Wranglers' Club parliamentarian; declamation trophies by Eleanor Vesey; Wrangler and gold letter S pins by former president and present member Richard Garton. Anna Lou Kowalski, vice-president, will present Wrangler Honor awards.

Another part of the program will feature soloist William Newhard, who will sing the Wranglers' song. All Wranglers will join in singing songs appropriate to the theme.

The theme, "Westward Ho," will be carried out in the blue and gold decorations and in the program because blue and gold are the Wranglers' Club colors.

The committee for planning the menu has been announced as being comprised of the following Wranglers: chairman, Anna Lou Kowalski, assisted by Catherine Clinard, Helen Wiehe, Newell Beatty, and James Murphy. The program committee, which met and drew up the program is comprised of Betty Daniels as chairman, Bob Safer, Anna Lou Kowalski, Betty Neeb, Margery Rapp, Eugene Tigges, Bill Newhard, Anna Anderson, Mary Holthouse, Dorothy Jagers, Don Meyer, Paul Kell, Fred King, Wilma Lageman, Alene Lichtenberg, Alene Loesner, Dick Markowitz, Alan Mueller, and Margaret Niblick.

Prom Is Attended By Four Hundred

Ray Bushing, Jim Murphy, And Bruce Klotz Are Champion Ticket Sellers For The Affair

Approximately 200 couples attended the "Minuet In Blue," the junior prom, which was held in the gym last Friday evening from 8:30 until 11:30 o'clock.

The champion ticket sellers are Ray Bushing, who sold twenty-one tickets, Jim Murphy, sixteen tickets, and Bruce Klotz, fifteen tickets. The decorations were given to Wranglers to use at the various social events of the term.

Some of the outstanding decorations were the well, which was made by Roy McKee, the large star, made by Jack and Bob Hodel, the small stars were obtained from Fritz Lohman, and the colonial home was made by Marjorie Dyer.

Use Novel Favors

The favors were tiny old-fashioned, southern style parasols, trimmed with lace. Larry Fenton's orchestra played for the affair.

Jim Murphy, class president, was in charge of the entire affair. He was assisted by the class advisers, Miss Hazel Miller and Mr. Lloyd Whelan. Other class officers who aided are Tom Gallmeyer, Ella Jo Reed, Bruce Bradbury, Jeanne Gumpfer, and Doris Dickmeyer.

The lounge was a new feature at the prom. Dick Aronhalt was in charge of the arranging of this new feature.

Bill Blass, Marjorie Dyer, and Alice Pope were in charge of the decorations. Tom Thiele and Max Kimble were in charge of the lighting.

The color scheme was carried out in blue and white. Life-size white figures of colonial boys and girls, a colonial home, two old-fashioned carriages, a well, trees, shrubs, birds, and bird baths adorned the walls of the gym. Streamers running from the centers were draped across the overhead to the sides. Stars decorated the overhead.

Name Chaperones

Chaperones for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Whelan, Miss Martha Pittenger, Miss Hazel Miller, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gallmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Reed, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bradbury, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dickmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Gumpfer, Mr. and Mrs. Edith Starn, Mr. and Mrs. Lundy Welborn, Miss Erma Dochterman, Miss Blanche Hutto, and Miss Pauline VanGorder.

Members of the Junior Class wish to make acknowledgments to the following firms and persons for furniture and special aid given in preparing their lounge which was directed by Dick Aronhalt: C. B. Hayner & Co.; Rothberg Furniture Co.; Wainwright Camps; City Light Company; Fort Wayne Tent and Awning Co.; Vesey Florists; Franks; Hillman China Company; Mr. Fred Goeglein; Mrs. John Brooks; Mrs. Walter Kruse; Mrs. E. H. Dickmeyer; Mrs. John Bostick; Mrs. Leon Beck; and Mrs. Jack Lindsey.

Bob Wylie, sophomore, planted the ivy for home room 56. He was assisted by Charles Close, Harry Claggett, and Jack Cranfill.

Charles Haug Leads Seniors In Rifle Title

Charles Haug now leads the seniors in the race for the senior rifle title. He has shot 296 out of a possible 300 to take the lead from Carl Goebel, who previously had shot 395. Charles is sure to take the title because there are only three seniors left to shoot.

In the junior class Jack Ridings is in the lead with 294 out of 300. Dick Theye has captured first place in the sophomore class with 293 out of 300. In the freshman class Everett Arnett is in the lead with 279 out of 300. He is closely followed by Arthur Puff, who has 278.

There will be medals given to each class winner. Medals will also be given to the team winner of each class.

Inter-Club Congress Plans Picnic May 26

May 26 is the date set for the Inter-Club Congress picnic to be held at 4 o'clock in Poster Park. Complete arrangements for the picnic, which will be the last get-together of the club, are being planned by Rozella Foote, Wilma Carrier, and Murray Squires. Present members and members of last semester are invited to attend.

Plans for Ivy Day are progressing very smoothly and the Queen and her attendants will be announced in next week's Times. A list of nominees was sent to each of the senior home rooms where a general election was held to determine the queen.

Archer Social Events For May, June Listed

Although it is nearing the end of the semester, many social affairs are left on the school calendar. The following events have been planned for the month of May: Sophomore party, May 12; Wrangler banquet, May 22; Music assembly, May 23; Wo-Ho-Ma skate, May 19; Service Club picnic, May 24; and the G. A. A. banquet, May 26.

These events have been planned for June: Recognition day, June 2; Senior dance, June 6; Commencement day, June 7; and the G. A. A. breakfast, June 8.

Shoot 470,000 Volts Through 59 Bodies Of Students' X-Ray

"How much do you weigh?" asks Mr. R. Nelson Snider of all girls (probably boys, too) who were X-rayed last Friday. This may seem like too personal a question for a principal to inquire of his young charges but on observation of the X-ray machine, we found the question quite necessary. (Explanation later).

This machine was furnished to the school by the General Electric Company free, except that South Side had to buy the films. Profit made from the never-to-be-equalled Band Concert of Wednesday last helped finance payment of them.

Mr. E. W. Horner from the General Electric operated the machine (technically, we should call him a photographer 'cause he did really take a picture). He worked with a tricky little machine which slid up and down a pole and checked it at the point where it was aimed directly at the "victim's" back. A large plate about 2 feet by 2 feet in size which contained the film on which the picture was to be taken was held by the "positives" in front of them.

Orders given either by Mr. Snider or Mr. Horner were, "Hold the film close to you...Hunch your shoulders...Breathe deep...Now hold it...OK."

That OK probably sounded to the victim like a "Ready, aim, fire" at an execution as the next instant a pair of almost 8,000 volts shot through her. But Yours Truly, Inc., to avoid seeing one of our dear friends crumple to the floor after the shot, covered our eyes. But behold, on peeking through our fingers (we were not cheating!) we saw an invisible light (invisible or not, we saw it) streak from the machine and through the X-ray. After being shot she walked smilingly away from the machine murmuring, "Shucks, I didn't even feel it," and thought of her new experience on which she could elaborate to her friends.

But, dear readers, all this time (if you were so considerate as to read this far) you must have wondered what the "weighty" question has to do with the X-ray. So forthwith, The Times divulges the secret(?) that Mr. Horner has to set something or other (sorry, we're not mechanically minded) on the machine so that the ray will go through a certain amount of "torsoistic" matter to reach the film.

When Mr. Horner disappeared with the film in a nearby darkroom we turned to Mr. Snider and received the information that 59 X-rays were taken that day and no more will be taken until enough money is received for this purpose.

Miss Ann Abbott, '36, has been named for class honors in the School of Arts and Sciences at Indiana University by being in the upper ten percent of her class scholastically. Much Credit Should Be Given Archer Pupils For Beautifying School During Clean-Up Week

South Siders really rose to the occasion of Clean-up Week in fine style last week and deserve all the credit that is being put out.

As Miss Emma Kiefer, faculty adviser of Inter-club Congress, so aptly puts it, "This is without any doubt the most generous response ever made by home rooms to the inter-club Congress plea for beautification. It augurs well for South Siders continued interest and pride in their school."

Announce Projects

Looking over the long list of projects taken over and completed by practically every home room in the school, one can readily see how Miss Kiefer's statement is correct. Home rooms 58 and 60 planted the flowers in the south urn on Calhoun street; rooms 54 and 80 undertook planting the north urn. Beautification of the urns on Darrow street was done by rooms 24 and 25 for the east one, and 74 and 75 for the west one.

The unusually fine magnolia tree was planted by room 12, the pine tree by rooms 61, 62, and 114, and the two birches by rooms 38, 63, and 30. Shrubs were put out by rooms 36, 94, and 102 and the Gym, which planted Forsythia; lilac by room S. 2, and 32; and honeysuckle by rooms 66 and 140.

Rooms Plant Flowers

A good many of the flowers that can be seen growing around the building have just recently been planted by home rooms during Clean-up Week. If you see oriental poppies, the chances are that they were planted by rooms 10, 79, 108, and 110; if they are petunias, room 76 is responsible. Delphinium was planted by room 188; phlox, by 14, 172, and 188. Students of room 188 also put out pyrethrum. Chrysanthemums were set out by rooms 34 and 184. Rooms 8, 44, 52, 56, 72, and 98 planted ivy.

Several rooms saw the need of cleaning the urns with the hope that a beautiful bronze finish would come

Senior Home Room Has Many Students With High Records

There is in South Side a very outstanding home room. It is Senior home room 38. It contains the cream of the crop of South Side.

First, it contains the '39 valedictorian, Henry Velkoff. Secondly, it contains the '39 salutatorian, Eleanor Vesey. Third, but not last, it contains the senior class president, Eugene Schmidt.

In addition, there are eight National Honor Society students. They are George Finkhausen, William Newhard, Edward Reeves, Eugene Schmidt, Frieda Schubert, Robert Shmel, Julia Ann Smith, Gwendolyn Stuart, Carl Stumph, Mary Treen, Henry Velkoff, Eleanor Vesey, Richard Weaver, Charles Will, and Betty Wimmer.

Besides the above show of superiority, it has nine four-year honor roll students. These are Edward Reeves, Eugene Schmidt, Frieda Schubert, Robert Shmel, Julia Ann Smith, Gwendolyn Stuart, Carl Stumph, Mary Treen, Henry Velkoff, Eleanor Vesey, Richard Weaver, Charles Will, and Betty Wimmer.

The teacher of this splendid home room is Miss Pearl Rehorth. You must all know by now that this is the outstanding home room of South Side.

Hi-Y Club Makes Visit To Industrial Houses

Pioneer Ice Cream Company, Furnas Ice Cream Company, and the Coca-Cola plant were the industrial plants which were visited Monday by the Hi-Y. Dick Aronhalt and his committee were in charge of the trips.

The members of Hi-Y who made the trip were Roger Neff, Andy Bremer, Maurice Lehman, Dick Aronhalt, Dick Olcott, Morton Nahrwald, Jack Bostick, Ronald McVay, and Aubrey Kellogg.

There will be no meeting tonight because of the National Honor Society Banquet. Next week all the members are urged to be present because at that time the candidates for the annual Hi-Y best citizenship awards will be selected. Nomination of next year's officers will also be made at that time.

Students in Miss Crowe's health classes are working hard the fifth period and after school on artificial respiration for a First Aid certificate.

Point System Adopted By New Senate Club

A point system which had been drawn up by a committee elected for that purpose was presented to the club at the last meeting of the Senate, May 4. It was discussed and adopted after several changes were made. The system was put in the hands of the committee which drafted it to restate its amendments and in good English.

The club decided that the point system should be applied to the meeting of April 20 and May 4 as well as to the future meetings.

As there was no other business, the program meeting which was conducted in the form of a quiz was held. The chairwoman pro tem was Sarah Jane Makey and the secretary was Bob Zimmer.

Varsity Golfers To Participate In Meet Soon

Eugene Stair, Bud Lampton, Jack Hogan, Rahe Tieman, Ed Reeves On Squad

With the advent of warm spring weather, South Side's golfing population is starting to work out for the varsity golf team. Several matches have already been arranged for the golfers, and others are being made by Mr. Ora Davis, athletic manager.

At a preliminary meeting held in the gym office by Burl Friddle Monday after school, five boys were named to play in the first meet of the season, with a tough Elmhurst squad, which was held last night. The five fellows who were taken along for this meet are Ed Reeves, Rahe Tieman, Eugene Stair, Bud Lampton, and Jack Hogan.

Approximately twenty boys are out for the sport, and these are to practice together, preferably Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays, as much as possible. If others improve, they can replace the ones now on the varsity A squad.

Ed Reeves, Jack Hogan, Rahe Tieman, and Ralph Hamilton are expected to be the big guns of this year's squad with a large number of other good players ready to replace these if they slip a bit.

The schedule, as arranged at the present time, is as follows:

May 15—Elmhurst (return match; first played May 9)
May 17—Angola.
May 24—Peru.
May 27—Conference Meet.
Plans are being completed for other matches.

Intramural Softball Season Is Started

P. McKay Pitches No Hit Game As Cubs, Hottetot Hustlers, Greyhounds Win Easy Games

Three games were played in the intramural softball loop last week. In the heavyweight division the Cubs installed themselves as the real favorites by whipping a tough Adrian nine, 9-0. Phil McKay pitched hitless ball for the victors and his team played errorless behind him. Colicho and Beery hit home runs for the victors. In the other heavyweight game, the Greyhounds swamped the Thugs, 11-2 with Dykes connecting for the only four bagger.

Only one game was played in the middleweight division, and although the game lasted but two frames, the Hottetot Hustlers pushed ten runs over the plate to whip the Palmers, 10-4. Parry connected with the only home run for the Hottetot Hustlers, while the losing Palmers gained but four singles during the whole contest.

Officers Are Nominated For Girls' Rifle Club

The regular meeting of Girls' Rifle Club was held Wednesday, May 3 at the range. A nominating committee consisting of Ruth Hoover, Marilyn Sondles, Mildred Trout, and Marian Feichter presented the following slate of candidates for next year:

President, Jane Merchant and Doris Hopkins; secretary, LaVerne Michelfelder and Delores Ulrich; treasurer, Marjorie Shannon and Doris Williams; Inter-Club Congress representative, Marcia Allen and Marilyn Sondles.

The candidates will be voted on at the next meeting.

Maybe some of you girls don't realize what a grand baseball player we have in Miss Smith. After last Friday's game, she played with the seniors. In batting, she hit a home run and in pitching, she really got it over the plate.

In looking over the scores of last week's game, the outstanding game was the senior vs. sophomore 3 game. The seniors won by the score of 29-4. During the game, Betty Showalter hit three home runs, which must have contributed to the high score.

If you want a laugh girls simply ask Miss Dean about the moo-cow at Washington.

From all indications Barbara Blue looks like some promising material for our coming G. A. A. track events.

Players In Softball End Twelfth Game

All Tilts In Loop Are Run-Aways Except One; Adrians Drub Greyhounds; Score, 8-6

Twelve games have been played in the intramural softball loop thus far; eight contests in the middle, and four games in the heavyweight division.

Every game was a run-away except one, that game being the one in which the Adrians beat the Greyhounds 8-6. This game was in the heavy division. After winning this contest the Adrians came back to lose a game to the Cubs, 9-0. Phil McKay, Cub pitcher, set the Adrians down in order, giving no runs and no hits. The Cubs also took a good game from the Thugs, 6-2. The Thugs continued on their losing ways by dropping a sloppily played game to the Greyhounds, 9-2.

In the middleweight division the Jumpers took the honors, winning their first game from the Pucker Huddle Juniors, 18-4, and in their second appearance swamped the Ten E's, 22-5. The Palmers lost two games, one to the Yankees, 26-9; and their second to the Hottetot Hustlers, 10-4. Also in this division the Outlaws whipped the Musketeers 22-0, and the F.O.P.'s swamped the Yankees, 32-0.

PLANTING THE IVY

Among the shrubs, against the wall there stands an ivy, oh so small; With stem so strong and leaves so green.

It soon will climb, so it can be seen. Room 56 has planted it there Under Robert Wylie's experienced care. Assisted by Claggett and Cranfill too, And Close held the bushes so the rest could go through.

They dug and they dug with their little spade, And soon there was a hole for the ivy plant made. It was then put in and the dirt packed round While Claggett and Cranfill watered the ground.

Now the plant must be cared for every day.

And to Chuck Close that is baby's play So he has the job for a week this time So water the ivy so that it will climb.

Football Practice Starts This Week

Strong Squad Will Be Chosen For Team From Sophomores, Juniors, Seniors, Freshmen.

Spring football practice started full swing this week. Equipment was issued Monday to the players. Our next fall squad should be strong contenders for grid honors, as it is a more experienced and larger team.

The freshman players who will be in next year's squad are William Bone, John Bornschein, Warren Spangle and John Steup.

Next year's sophomores on the team are Leon Lehrman, Bob Ault, John Galbreath, Bud Brudi, Herschel Case, Bob Englehart, Russell Dickson, Jim Holtzman, Sam Johnson, Gene McClain, Verlin Lehrman, Bob Berkenbeil, Bill Bona, Glenn Dager, Loraine Hern, Jim Straybridge, Jim Worman, Max Neff, Bill Selby, George Winkler, Ray Harter, and Wallace Younghouse.

The juniors who have reported for spring practice so far are Roger Bush, Marvin Rutz, Kaye Swain, Ralph Wetter, Chuck Close, Bill Craig, Harry Mayer, Lester Oppenlander, Dick Steury, Joe Loos, and Byron Gingham.

The boys on the squad who will be seniors next year are Alex Azar, Ray Metreze, Paul Fremont, Don Hire, Byron Lehrman, Dick Shinn, Bill Steup, Carl Goodman, Lloyd Griffin, Harold Hoon, Dick Werner, Bob Adams, Clarence Dager, Stu Welborn, Blackie Braden, Robert Porter, Bill Kinsey, Jack Ridings, Dave Roth, Gene Senseny, and Bill Shultz.

In addition to these players, two student managers, Arthur Howard and Bruce Klotz, will help Coach Moss.

G. A. A.'ers Earn Points By Hiking And Skating

Although the month of April was a rainy one, the enthusiastic G. A. A.'ers just couldn't stay indoors and the results were that many points were earned. Heading the list were Bernadine Pressler and Martha Jane Krauskopf.

A few very energetic girls earned twenty points by hiking out to Hometown. These girls were Helen Kraus, Betty Baker, Marcelene Batdorf, Myrtle Ernst, and Kathleen North. Waymendale was the destination for Rose Stemen, Norma Russell, Jeanne Smith, Leonor Kensler, Eva Jean Wylie, Reba Coppock, "Poodles" Nash, "Goon Gal" Sterling, Irene Meyer, Betty Thiele, and Dorothy Herrmann. Ruth Doebla, Marjorie Reincke, and Virginia Goeglein received twelve points.

While checking on the hiking points, we found that one girl had made three "hard-to-get" points by swimming. This was Fifi Bender.

Roller skate for health is the way they advertise for rinks, but G. A. A.'ers believe also in skating for points. Pat Ehle, Helen Kraus, Myrtle Ernst, Rose Stemen, Joan Squires, Mary Alice Duntun, Jeanne Smith, "Porky" Porter, Helen Ellenwood, "Fifi" Bender, Dot Hermann, Martha Cash, Dolores Bodenhorn, Thompson Hall, "Penny" Greany, Norma Whitsel all inhabited Bell's or Lincolnale during the last month.

Intramurally Speaking

Horseshoe is one of the oldest and most popular sports in the whole world. When you were just old enough to walk, you probably had some sort of game in which you would throw rings around a stake. Well, that's just an example of how popular horseshoe is. The game was originally played by such ancient races as the Arabs and Greeks with the plates which were put on the bottom of horses' hoofs, but now-a-days every race in the world plays this ancient sport. Some play the game just as our ancient ancestors did with the plain horseshoes off of the horses' hoofs while others play with expensive sets of shoes. No matter how one plays the game and no matter what he plays it with, no one can resist such a sport which takes so much skill.

South Side is no exception to this sport. This week another new intramural activity opened, horseshoes. The sport is open to all three weight divisions. Middle weights and heavy weights will pitch the shoes 40 feet, while the lightweights will throw the horseshoes a distance of 30 feet. A single elimination style of play has been organized. Thus after losing one game, one is compelled to drop out. However, before you lose a game you must play three matches. The victor must win at least two of the matches. Each one of the games is played until one of the contestants obtains a total of 21 points. Even if you do lose your first game, you still can collect 2 points toward your intramural letter and if one happens to be so lucky as to win a game he obtains two points for every game he wins. Since it's too late for any new entrants to sign up for intramural horseshoe, here is wishing all those who did GOOD LUCK!

From the signs of the Zodiac we see that it's about time we pulled out the old telescope and started looking for our intramural star of the week. After much star-gazing, our tired eyes fall upon a sparkling star in the Southern hemisphere which we immediately recognized as Kenneth Lampton, a freshman. Kenneth, who is better known as just plain Bud, revolves in a spacious orbit containing about every intramural sport mentionable. Without a doubt Bud is well known in practically every intramural sport offered at South Side. His particular interest in the sports world, however, is basketball. He has played intramural basketball since he was a freshman. This year he went out for varsity and he had almost secured a position on the reserve squad before the season closed. Next year we can all expect to see big things out of Bud on the hardwood.

When it comes to the opposite sex, you've got Bud's number down pat. His favorite pastime is the women. He claims that he has such a long string of be-girls that it would take more space than we can offer in this column to enumerate them all. By a coincidence Bud seems to have his uppermost affections turned toward the same girl whom I mentioned in this exclusively-for-boys column last week, Eileen Eidner. Our friend, Mr. Brudi and whoever else it may concern better look into this, meanwhile I say so long until next week!

Senior G.A.A.'ers Chalk Up Victory

Sophomore 4, 5 Teams Drub Opponents; Junior 2 Is Victorious With Score Of 18-10

Last Friday at the upperclassman G.A.A. baseball games the seniors showed they were improving by making a decisive victory over sophomore 3 team, captained by Frances Nash, by the wide margin of 29 to 4. Out of the four games played this season by this senior ball club, they have managed to chalk up only two victories.

The members of Hazel Perry's senior team really gained back their last year's batting eye for the majority of them succeeded in making a home run. Betty Showalter, senior, wasn't satisfied in making one home run for her team, but made three. Others following approximately the same idea were Hazel Perry and Marjorie Schelper, who each made two. Pauline Oetting and Dorothy Bloemker also attained the honor of making a home run. Eva Jean Wylie, of the losing team, was the only member to make a home run. This game was played on the southwest corner south of the school.

On the northwest field sophomore 5 team, captained by Bernadine Pressler, won a close and exciting game over Bernadine Bender's team 1 by the score of 19 to 10. Helen Fry and Marjorie Voltz, of the winning team, each made a home run. The members of the losing team to touch all bases on one hit were Clara Makey, Jane Nathan and Margaret Brower.

At the same time on the southeast field Pauline Werling's junior 2 ball club made an interesting winning over Lucile Scheumann's team 2, 10 to 3. The only home run was made by Marjorie Reincke of the winning team. Other members of the teams contributed equally.

The northeast corner of the field was a scene of a close and exciting game between Jeanne Smith's ace sophomore ball players and Betty Thiele's sophomore 4 team. Jeanne's team overthrew Betty's 18 to 10. Frances Gross and Geneva Martin were the only players of the winning team to make the achievement of obtaining a home run. The only one on the losing team to do this was Betty Thiele.

LeRoy 'Baldy' Cook, Outstanding Athlete Is Small But Mighty

Baldy's a short but powerful little member of our grid, hardwood and cinder squads. He is in no uncertain terms the toughest football player South Side has seen in a great many years. Last year Baldy received the distinctive honor of being the first person to be presented the Kenworthy Trophy, which is presented to the most outstanding athlete in South Side out for all sports.

If you haven't guessed who this super-human he-man is, just go out on the track and when you see a short, bald personage flash before your eyes, you'll realize that you've seen LeRoy Lynn Cook.

LeRoy was born in Fort Wayne, Indiana, on June 18, 1922. He attended school at South Wayne until the seventh grade. At this time LeRoy continued his education at Harrison Hill. While at Harrison Hill, LeRoy participated in all the sports he could and he was particularly outstanding in basketball. However, he participated in softball and track, also.

At South Side he has gained four letters. He was particularly outstanding in track this year.

Although Baldy's pet peeve is school, his favorite subject is English. As far as women go, LeRoy stated that he's a woman-hater, but one of his track mates whispered to your scribe, that he is kinda affectionate toward a certain Celeste Freistoffer.

Girls' Rifle Club Loses To Boys 446 To 444

The Freshman Boys' Rifle Club defeated the Girls' Rifle Club by a mere two points in a contest held May 2. This is the same amount of points by which the girls defeated the boys last year. The five high scorers for the girls totaled 444 points and the five high scorers for the boys totaled 446 points.

The scores of the girls who participated in the contest are:

Aithouse	84
Trout	91
Hall	93
Merchant	85
Hoover	49
Bloemker	63
Price	91
Feichter	84

The scores of the boys who shot for the contest are:

Archers To Enter Sectional Track, Field Meet Saturday

Annual Event Will Be Given At North Side

Principal Fred Croninger Of Central Will Be Host For Affair On Saturday

Six Local Counties To Send Entrants Indians, Prime Favorites, Expected To Give Fine Showing At Cinder Fete

The Annual Sectional Track and Field Meet will be enacted this Saturday at the North Side field. The participating counties, several of which will enter two or more squads, are Allen, Whitley, Huntington, Wells, Adams, and DeKalb. The host will be Mr. Fred Croninger, principal of Central, who was host for the same meet last year. The field is being well conditioned this week for the coming event.

North Side, prime favorite because of its fine showing last week in the N. E. I. C. meet, will be hard-pressed by South Side. Other leading contenders are Garrett and Central.

Depend On Beery South Side's band of tracksters will go out to do battle with their main cog, Don Beery, leading them. Don has been the main point-getter for the Archers and much will depend on him.

Arden Altman is also looked to for a first place in his specialty, the pole vault. Arden is also on the half-mile relay team and has been doing good work lately.

LeRoy Cook, super-miler, and Al Gombert, also a miler, are expected to get points. Paul Fremion and Dick Goshorn, middle distance runners, from their late showings, have also added hope to the Archers for a fine showing.

The Southern's mile relay team has also improved greatly with Bob Ferguson, Dave Roth, Warren Brown, and Jim Worman turning in remarkable time. Our half-mile relay team also looks good this season. Members of the team are Don Beery, Eugene Botz, Rudolph Wuttke, and Tom Moorhead.

Archers Are Strong The Archers are a strong, well-balanced squad and have outstanding men in each event. The best race of the day should be in the low hurdles with Flickinger of North Side, and Arnold and Moorhead of South Side providing the thriller.

The record that is expected to be broken is the half-mile run with Don Kemp providing the new record. Don set a record last week in the N.E.I.C. meet when he made it in 1:59.1.

Other outstanding men of the meet are Likens and Brinkerhoff from Garrett, Cowan, Heiber, Archer, Huth, Irvin, York, Wagner, and Winner from North Side, and Close, Hoffstetter, and Turner from South Side.

When you find yourself locked out of your dormitory just walk around and around until you are all in.

'Baron Speed Demon' Beery Is Great All-Round Athlete

Donald "Baron Speed Demon" Beery has proved to everyone that he is one of the best all around athletes that our great high school has developed. The "Baron" was born on February 23, 1921, and showed signs of becoming a great athlete when he cut his first tooth on a track cinder. A few years after this great event, he entered Harrison Hill where he started his career as an athlete.

After he was graduated from Harrison Hill, he came to the fair ports of South Side. He immediately went out for football, basketball, and track and proved to be successful in all three of these. In his sophomore year, he made the varsity in all three sports and when a junior he received honorable mention for the "All City Football Team". He was a member of our great State Champs, where, incidentally he received his greatest thrill when they were crowned state champions, and he was also one of the leading tracksters when a junior.

In his senior year, Donald has done what everyone thought was impossible and that was to become a greater athlete than in his previous year. Because he did not go out for football on account of a knee injury, he has centered more attention on basketball and track. In basketball he was one of the best guards in the state besides being one of the most accurate shots.

After basketball season was over Don focused all his attention on his first love, track. So far he has proven highly successful since he has scored more points for our track team than has any other trackster. He can do about anything in track, but he does best in the pole vault, shot put, high jump, 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, and the half mile relay.

Don is a member of the champion intramural softball team and member of the champion volleyball team. He is also a member of the Hi-Y, Art Club, and secretary of the Lettermen's Club. Another great achievement of the Baron is that he has six letters and has practically earned his seventh. The total points one has to have to earn seven letters is 1400 which is a great deal of points to earn in any man's language.

When asked about the girls, Don did not beat around the bush telling us about them, but came right out and said, "Girls are all right at times." This must be one of the times, because he is now seen in the halls escorting his favorite girls. Beware, boys, don't try to cut in on Don, because he is now taking boxing lessons.

Don kidded us and said that he was going to Barber College but then added seriously he is going to Alabama or Notre Dame where he wants to study for the coaching profession.

The Baron's favorite musical charmer is Kay Kayser. He hopes to lead his own band some day. His leading dish is spinach with a dessert of pie or cake and ice cream.

A while back Don was paid a great tribute for his ability as an athlete and for his good sportsmanship and that was being named as winner of the King trophy. We also can pay a deserving tribute to a truly fine athlete and that is by coming out to South Side's track meets and watch him perform in true champion style.

Don Kemp Stars In Kokomo Meet

Redskin Ace Runs Fastest Half-Mile Ever Run On Northern Track; Sets New City Record

With a burst of speed at the start and with a fast pace that was never diminished, Don Kemp, North Side's star distance runner, ran the fastest half-mile ever to be run on the Northern track, set a new city record, and came within two seconds of the existing state record. The Redskin ace ran the two laps in 1:59.7 in a performance which featured the North Side victory over Kokomo, last Tuesday, in a dual field and track meet at the Northern field. The end of the meet found North Side leading 58-1-2 to 60-1-2.

Running in an easy manner all the way, Kemp pulled away from the rest of the field at the start and never slackened up on his pace. He ran the half-mile as if it had been a 440-yard dash. His time was better than the Northeastern Indiana Conference and Sectional records.

North Side also took all three places in the 440-yard dash, with Archer, Heiber, and Royer placing first, second and third.

Cowan was the only Redskin who captured two firsts, taking the 100 and 220-yard dashes. North Side took both relay events but was disqualified in the half-mile event.

The North Side summary is as follows:

High Hurdles—Flickinger, third.
100-Yard Dash—Cowan, first. Time—10.3.
220-Yard Dash—Cowan, first. Time—22.9.

440-Yard Dash—Archer, first; Heiber, second; Royer, third. Time—52.7.
Low Hurdles—Flickinger, second.
Shotput—Huth, second; Young, third.

880-Yard Run—Kemp, first; Winner, second. Time—1:59.7.
220-Yard Dash—Cowan, first. Time—22.9.

High Jump—Baumgartner, first; Ervin, third. Height—5 feet, 9 inches.
Pole Vault—Dodson, second; Carpenter, tied for third.

Broad Jump—Ervin, second.
Mile Relay—Won by North Side (Neidhart, Royer, Heiber, Archer). Time—3:37.7.

Half-Mile Relay—Won by North Side (Flickinger, Dodson, York, Cowan), but disqualified for cutting in too closely on turn. Time—1:34.8.

Captain: And I suppose, like a brave soldier, you followed the colors? Private: Yes, I noticed the colors were flying, so I fled too.

Archer Squad Places Second In N.E.I.C. Tilt

North Side Redskins Take Crown With 83½ Points; Green Totals 55 Points

Under the floodlights at the North Side stadium last Friday night South Side's cinder squad walked away with a second placement victory in the N.E.I.C. meet with a score of 55 5/6. The Archer harriers captured two first places, three seconds, three thirds, two fourths and one fifth. Arden Altman, South Side's crack pole vaulter, easily took the first in this event and in the shot put Beery and Close placed first and second respectively in this event.

Although North Side's harriers captured only five individual firsts, the Red team captured the N. E. I. C. conference crown by obtaining a total of 83½ points. Garrett finished third with 37; Central fourth with 25 3-1; Kendallville fifth with 15, Auburn sixth with 6 3-1 and Columbia City last with 4.

Close finishes were the rule in the majority of track events. Due to this, Don Kemp, a North Side mid-distance veteran, was pressed on to form a new N. E. I. C. record by running off the half-mile in 1:59.1. In the half-mile relay the Archer quartet finished only two yards behind North Side's winning four in that relay.

Although the Archer track squad only came in second in this meet, we still have a chance next Saturday in the Sectional meet which is to be held at North Side.

South Side's summary reads as follows:

Mile Run—Cook, third.
100-yard Dash—Wuttke, third.
Shot Put—Beery, first; Close, second.

High Jump—Arnold, fourth.
Low Hurdles—Arnold, second.
220-yard Dash—Botz, third.
Pole Vault—Altman, first.
880-yard Run—Fremion, third; Goshorn, fourth.

Broad Jump—Wuttke, fifth.
Mile Relay—South Side, third.
Half-Mile Relay—South Side, second.

On The Cinder Path

Our congratulations to Alison Arnold, Archer speedster, who set a new record for the low hurdles during the recently held triple meet in which Central, Kendallville, and South Side met. Last year Arnold set a record during the conference meet, and again in the Gas City meet. Both of these meets were held in one week, and each time he won the low hurdles event with a time of 24.6 seconds. This year Arnold is cutting his time down some more.

In the dual meet he turned in a time of 23.9 seconds for a new track record. Last Friday, however, he was off his stride and came in a second close behind Flickinger, Redskin ace, who ran the distance in 24 seconds flat for a new conference meet record. Arnold will have a chance to beat Flickinger in the sectional meet to be held at the Northern track this coming Saturday.

Right along with Arnold will be Tom Moorhead who has been a consistent point recorder in the low hurdles, usually following only Arnold who has had too much experience for other low hurdle men around this city. For four years Arnold has worked on the hurdles and the high jump. Last week, in the conference meet, he also placed, grabbing fourth place. In the dual meet of last week, Arnold took third place behind Kulesza and Glass. The only drawback with such a consistent point winner is that next year he will be doing his stuff for some college, and not for the dear ol' South Side High.

Two outstanding half-mile men are Paul Fremion and Dick Goshorn, both of whom came in at the conference meet behind the first and second place North Siders, in 2:06, only six seconds over the new track record set by Kemp of North Side. With a bit more experience under their spikes, they probably will place South Side out in front in the 880 considerably.

Almost all of Central's track team revolves about the jumping of Hungry Hank Kulesza, who usually wins the high jump, and quite often takes a place in the broad jump and shot put. Talley also is capable of placing in the high jump, so that after Kulesza leaves Central, the Tigers will still have a good high jump man to meet Bob Hines, who will probably carry most of South Side's high jump

Green Thinlies Capture Tilts In Dual Meet

Archers, With Score Of 75 1/3 Victors Over Tigers, 49 2/3, Kendallville, 10

With their list of points approaching the century mark, South Side's track stars set the Central Tigers and Kendallville Comets back on their respective heels, in the dual meet held Monday, May 1.

A total of 75 1/3 points gave the Archers their victory against the other teams which scored as follows: Central, 49 2/3; and Kendallville, 10.

Hank Kulesza, of Central, took the individual scoring honors with eleven points. He placed first in the high jump and broad jump, and third in the shot put. Other individual high scorers were Don Beery and LeRoy Cook of South Side. Both won ten points; Beery with firsts in the shot put and 220-yard dash, and Cook with firsts in the mile run and the half-mile run.

One of the features of the meet was the record breaking run in the low hurdles, which was turned in by Alison Arnold, Archer track flash. His new record is 23.9 seconds.

points on his shoulders.

It certainly is good to see an enthusiastic track team out there in the stadium practicing faithfully every evening after school. For several years South Side's track teams weren't ones to do an awful lot of bragging about, although this was partially due to the fact that many of the boys didn't go out for track until they were juniors or seniors. Coach George Collyer has really been making progress by getting younger boys interested in track, and this policy will pay big dividends when, in a few years, these boys will step up with lots of experience and training and cop many firsts.

Tennis Will Start Under New Coach

Stanley Post Is Supervisor For Racquet Welders; Dammeier, Dormer Only 2 Of Last Year

With only two members of last year's squad returning, the Archer tennis team will embark on their 1939 schedule under the leadership of their new coach, Stanley Post. Paul Dammeier and Dick Dormer are the only two from last year's racquet welders. Dammeier will probably take the number one post while Dormer takes the number 2.

There is a large list of candidates to fill the other four positions. Leading all the candidates is Jack Waldschmidt, and it is almost certain that he will fill the number three post. The other candidates include B. Martin, M. Lehman, H. Werkman, J. Winters and M. Stobaugh.

On May 20, the South Side tennis team will act as host in the annual Northeastern Indiana Conference tennis tournament. The Robin Hoods are again expected to take the tourney, and if they do they will have permanent possession of the N.E.I.C. trophy.

The schedule is not quite definite yet, but the teams whom they will probably meet include Bluffton, Angola, Central Catholic, Concordia, North Side, Central, Hartford City, Dunkirk and Decatur.

U. S. A. Will Give Tea For Mothers

Play To Be Presented At Social This Afternoon In Greeley Room; Rainbow To Be Theme

U. S. A. Club will have its Mother and Daughter Tea this afternoon at 3:30 in the Greeley Room. The theme chosen is the Rainbow Tea. A play with the title of The Rainbow Trail will be given. Marguerite Calkins is the director of the play. The different colors of the rainbow will be explained.

Miss Martha Pittenger, the dean, will give a short talk. Marilyn Soudes, the club president, will welcome the mothers.

The music will also be a main event of the tea. Betty Nichols will play a selection on her violin. She will be accompanied on the piano by Betty Lapp. The U. S. A. trio, composed of Marilyn Sappington, Delane Rose, and Elinor Muntzinger, will sing several songs.

The decorations are being prepared by Eva Jean Wylie and Reba Coppock. Jane Coaks and Delores Reiter have charge of the refreshments.

Marguerite Calkins is general chairman for the Mother and Daughter Tea. Assisting Marguerite is Eva Jean Wylie, Jane Coaks, Delores Reiter, Reba Coppock, Peggy Berning, and Louise Buesking.

Ten Sets Of Twins Aid Double Trouble Among 2,000 Pupils

Lookie! Lookie! Lookie! who's coming! No it is not part of the fifty-seventh variety but ten sets of beautiful and husky twins: All colors, all shapes, all sizes, take your pick before it is too late.

During courtesy week there was quite a confusion. People were fainting, books were flying and waste-paper baskets falling. A little brown-haired girl in Mr. Lloyd Whelan's room rushed to the rescue of a waste paper after it had a terrific fall. This made quite a confusion for who was it Irene or Eileen Blombach who picked up the paper? Who knows but the little brown-haired senior girl.

One day at the Y. M. C. A. there was a splashing in the pool and it went up ten feet. And please don't tell a soul, but it was Bob and Jim Brooks practicing on the Y State swimming team. They are only juniors now. How far will the pool go up when they are seniors? Bing! Bing! My what is going on upstairs? Nothing but junior Ronald and junior Donald Dewysse trying to play basketball at the Y.

No matter what hour, no matter what time, you can always find Faye and Lois Gumpfer in the Times Room working away the "Times." They may be just sophomores but they know how to work.

Zip! Zip! Zip! No there is no fire. Just sophomore Ralph and Richard Seibold practicing for track.

"Fellow countrymen lend me your ears, blab blab!" No they are not conspirators but just June and Joyce McAllister. They are only juniors but they are good speakers.

"Hello Caterpillar." I am not talking to a bug but nice sophomore Eva Jean Wylie. She was a caterpillar in a skit at U. S. A. Her mate is greenie Bob Wylie.

"And now the winner, Ed and Don Meyer, the great intramural athletes," quoted the referee. These boys are only juniors but boy are they good.

"My, who are those two good-looking girls?" Nobody but greenie Carolyn and Marilyn Emrick.

Look at those freshies. They are not actually fresh but just plain freshmen. And guess who? Nobody but Bill and Dick Dreyer.

In next fall's freshman class you will be seeing double again.

Students: Don't Try "Sit Down" Against All Eighth Periods!

Ah! Spring is in the air and with spring usually comes the increase in those little additions to the daily routine. Yes, you have guessed it, eighth periods.

But this year the scene is different. There is no noticeable increase in the number. The Archers and a few Archerettes are improving, for they are no longer skipping the eighths, or should we say, the number of skips is decreasing.

It seems that the students who are to take eighth periods always have some kind of an alibi. No matter how good or how bad they are, Mrs. Lillian Scott has to put up with them. It looks like the students would get wise some day and see through the whole situation. If they are assigned to you, you are expected to take them. If not, a penalty is tacked on to the eighth and the consequence gets deeper and deeper as they are put off. The clever student takes his punishment on the date set and sees in the long run that he is ahead.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

Mary Treen, of Miss Kiefer's English class, read "Ariel," by Andre Manrois, and reported on it to her English class. The book is a biography of Percy B. Shelby.

Mr. Paul Sidell's plane geometry classes, period 2 and 6, are studying the origination of the circle.

In Mr. Sterner's Latin 2 class, period 2, the following students scored 98 to 100 in a 130 word vocabulary review: Gloria Axt, Marcella Kimmel, Billy Jean Stover, Bill Dreyer, Margaret Heine, Catherine Smead, Floyd Steffens, and Richard Vande Bunt.

Mrs. Riecke's public speaking classes have finished giving humorous speeches and are now giving sales talks.

Nathan Holtzberg, a member of Miss Thorne's home room, made the nautical poster which now decorates the bulletin board in room 52.

Mr. Makey's English 8 students are writing short stories.

In a test on "Immense" in Miss Schmidt's German 4 class, the following made the highest grades: Gertrude Merkel, Helen Savage, Martin Gerand, Harold Hollenberg, Sara Jane Makey, and Kenneth Warren.

The students in Miss Mellen's home nursing classes studied the principles of some special diets last week. First the diseases themselves were studied, then the girls, in groups, planned and prepared menus for malnutrition, tuberculosis, anemia, typhoid, and diabetes. The girls drew slips to choose a patient to eat the food prepared. This laboratory work was followed by some practice in applying bandages most often needed to care for home accidents.

A vocabulary game was played in Mr. Cook's home room last week. The purpose was to help build a person's vocabulary so he will have a more colorful speech. The four highest scores were made by Joe Bex, Allison Arnold, Mildred Brett, and Wayne Bastian.

Three girls in Miss Rehorts's sewing classes are making their formal for the senior dance. One is a white floral taffeta; one, aqua with rose trimmings, and the other is aqua net over taffeta.

Mrs. Mary Fred, superintendent of nurses' training at the Methodist Hospital, was the second in a series of vocational guidance speakers given in home room 5. Her topic was "Nursing and Adventure in Living."

The students in Miss Oppelt's two Latin 4 classes are giving interesting talks on the "Private Life of the Romans," including such subjects as travel, books, religion, burial and amusements. The students taking part in these discussions were Dick Theye, Mildred Hanke, Martha Jane Krauskopf, Mary Bowlby, Janet Anderson, Bob Young, Richard Hamilton, Hilda Schubert, Eloise Updike, Marjorie Roberts, Alice Sweet, Janie Weir, Martha Jean Smith, Jean Sheets, Helen Vinde, Roy Heavner, John Bonsib, Sam Bacon, Faye Gumpfer, and June Flaig.

Mr. Paul Sidell's geometry 3 classes are studying the sphere.

In a recent test given by Mr. Mills on commercial law covering all chapters, Charles Bollman was the only one to receive over 90.

In order that people might better understand what takes place at a track meet, Allison Arnold discussed the manner of conducting a track meet and the scoring in a track meet, in Mr. Cook's home room. He also told of some previous track records.

On a test over fifty classical allusions from English 8 literature in Miss Demaree's class, the following students scored perfect papers: Max Wagner, Kathleen Ramer, and Annette Snoke. Lois Rea scored 49, and Clayton Jensen, Charles Will, and Edith Summers each had 48 correct.

The following students in Miss Corvatt's typing 4 class qualified for awards last week: Mary Ellen Larimore, who wrote 53 words per minute with 98 per cent accuracy; and Marcile Passe, who wrote 51 words per minute with 94 per cent accuracy.

In Miss Fiedler's period 1, 3, and 7 beginning reports on poetry.

classes, a contest was held between the boys and the girls. The highest number of points that could be earned was 19. The girls in the first period got 15.0 points and the boys, 13.7; the girls in the third period made 12.4 and the boys, 12.5 points; the girls in the seventh period class, 13.6 points and the boys received 15.3 points.

The clerical practice classes of Mr. Furst have been divided into groups, one group working on machine calculations, the other group working on flings.

The selling classes of Mr. Furst have brought in some interesting advertisements illustrating the use of appeals to instincts in creating desire. These have been placed on the bulletin board in Room 178.

On a vocabulary test in Miss Oppelt's Latin 2 class, first period, the following students made 90 or above: Leslie Baumgartner, Mary Ann Florence, Harold Haberstroh, Betty Medsker, Arlene Perry, Doris Radcliffe, Lee Smith, Vasika Ann Stephens, and Jack Vetter.

Miss Demaree's home room will have a party, Friday, at the home of Alice Meyers, 3309 Piqua Avenue. The plans are not entirely worked out. They will see a moving picture which was taken of them last fall.

In Mr. Makey's English 1, period 6 class Dick Zumstain made the highest grade in a recent test over "Garth and Lynette."

For clean-up week, home room 30 planted a birch tree in the front lawn. Those on the committee for getting the tree and planting it were Earl Werner, Kenneth Warren, Dick Wooding, Oral Hall, and Bob Zollinger.

In a grammar test given by Miss Kelley, Helen Dicke, Betty Kammeyer, Rosemary Spore, and Dorothy Snaveley made the highest grades.

Mr. Gould's advanced classes are now beginning the study of ferns. This study is being carried out through their regular text, lantern slides and quiz sheets.

Those who made the highest grades on two Irish plays, "Riders to the Sea" and "Workshop Ward," in Miss Pocock's English 8 class were Doris Hilbish and Mildred Berry.

Those students who made a perfect score on an abbreviation and quotation test in Mrs. Welty's Latin 4 class were Gladys Foellinger, Jim Holzworth, and Naoma Koopman.

The students in Mr. McClure's American history class were given a test on "The Territorial Growth of the United States." The two highest grades in the third period class were made by Pauline Werling and Carolyn Keel; in the sixth period class, Ruth Ann Harber and Irving Dickerson.

Juvenile delinquency is being studied by Mr. McClure's sociology class.

Students making 100 on a recent biology 1 test given by Mr. Heine are Alice Minser, Delores Selby, Robert Welty, Harold Werkman, and Doris Miller.

The students in Mr. Null's English 8 class did some beautiful singing last week. They sang songs that were poems set to music. Two of the songs were "Auld Lang Syne," which was led by Bill Newhard, and "Flow Gently Sweet Afton," led by Eleanor Vesev and Margaret Null.

In Mr. Mills' bookkeeping class a test was given on Thursday. The following received 100: Coleen Glenzer, Tom Dale, Mildred Holmes, Junior Carst, and Jane Rinehart.

On a vocabulary test based on Cicero's "Orations Against Catiline," the following students in Miss Oppelt's Cicero class made 90 or above: Laura Grazier, Paul Keil, Clifford Matson, Margaret Kutsch, Audrey Smith, Violet Steinbauer, and Shirley White.

Mr. Makey's English 11 students are

Directs Party Arrangements

Mr. Earl Sterner

Miss Lucy Osborne

Miss Lucy Osborne and Mr. Earl Sterner, sophomore class advisers, are directing the general arrangements for the Sophomore Derby Dance which will be held tomorrow evening in the gymnasium. These two were assisted with their plans by Miss Blanche Hutto, Miss Lucy Mellen, and Miss Alice Dean.

Girl Scouts To Hold Father-Daughter Feast

Nominations of officers were made at the meeting of Senior Scout Troop 41 on Wednesday, May 10, in the Greeley Room.

Committee appointments for the Father-Daughter Banquet were made by the president, Jane Merchant. Thompson Hall, chairman of the program committee, will be assisted by Ann Harrod, Hilda Schubert, and Martha Jane Krauskopf. Decorations will be in charge of Peggy Greeney, chairman, Jean Peterson, Betty Dice, Betty Marquardt, and Joan Cox.

Term Will Be Over In Eighteen Days

There are 18 days left in the school term, including today. Students are advised to complete their work, in order to pass.

Home Rooms To Get Questionnaires Today

Questionnaires will be distributed to every home room this morning. The questions on the questionnaire ask what the students are planning to do during the three months of vacation this summer.

The questions concern what to do, a suggestion to follow some hobby, ways of working to earn money, trips to take, and interesting places to visit, or anything else which would be entertaining or educational to do.

These questionnaires are to be returned to the publication room as soon as they are answered.

Thelma Pifer Honored

A poster made by Thelma Pifer is on display at the main public library. It was made for Youth Day held by the Port Wayne Council. She made it during the first weeks of April. They chose her poster because the thought linked the past, present, and future. Her poster was admired by Professor McCluskey.

YEARBOOK STAFFS

require more from their Engravers than just the photo-mechanical work of making the printing plates.

They expect assistance in planning the layouts, figuring budgets and many other problems.

We are proud to be designated to act in this capacity for YOUR Yearbook during this school year.

Group Plans Program For Recognition Day

Miss Elizabeth Demaree is the chairman of the committee for Recognition Day services. On her committee are Mr. Elva S. Gould, Mrs. Alda Jane Carson, Mr. Russell Furst, and Mr. Jake McClure. The only committee meeting which has been held was held last Wednesday. They decided to hold their meetings every Wednesday until Recognition Day, June 2. They have not made any definite plans.

I think that I shall never see
A billboard lovely as a tree
Perhaps unless the billboards fall,
I'll never see a tree at all!

Voices in the dead of the night.
"Wake up quick, wake up!"
"Can't!"
"Why not?"
"Ah ain't sleepin'."

And he said unto the light:
"Either you or I, old fellow,
Will be turned out tonight!"

As I was going up a stair,
I met a man who wasn't there,
He wasn't there again today,
Good gosh, I wish he'd go away.

Annual Production Of Marionette Club Will Be Tomorrow

"Creatures Of Impulse" Is Name Of Puppet Play To Be Given Seventh Period

Will Take Place
In Greeley Room

Tickets Costing Ten Cents
May Be Bought In Room
140, From Club Members

"Creatures Of Impulse," a comical puppet play, will be given as the annual production of the Marionette
Club in the Greeley room tomorrow,
May 19, the seventh period.

The script of the play, secured from the National Service Bureau of the Federal Theatre Project in New York, depicts a French peasant community as the setting where, with a cast of eight personality-plus characters, an old woman very cleverly casts a spell over the inn visitors.

Tickets Cost 10 Cents

Tickets costing ten cents can be purchased in Miss Dorothy Magley's room, 140, or from any member of the club. Various committees have been chosen to supervise the affair. Nadine Mueller was selected to act as general chairman of the affair. Bill Morgan has been put in charge of publicity;
Janice Dyer, behind the scenes. Kathryn Beckman heads the costume committee, with Marney Dyer, Ann Haller, and Mary Ellen Heddon assisting her.

Four captains were picked to lead the sale of tickets. The captains and their respective committeemen are as follows: Team 1, Betty Showalter, captain, Janice Dyer, Jim Strawbridge, Kathryn Beckman, and Donna Dennis; Team 2, Wilma Carver, captain, Max Spencer, Virginia Hill, Mary Ellen Barrett, and Betty Bowman; Team
3, Hilda Leininger, captain, Marcia Allen, Marney Dyer, Mildred Berry, and Jane Klinefelter; Team 4, Mary Lou Feller, captain, Ann Haller, Ralph Ransome, Lillian Sherbondy, and Nadine Mueller.

Here's The Cast
Members of the club who comprise the cast are, Pipette, Lillian Sherbondy; Peter, Ralph Ransome; Sergeant Kloogee, Bill Morgan; Old Lady, Marjorie Dyer; Jacques, Mildred Berry; Bloombeard, Mary Ellen Barrett; Martha, Jane Klinefelter; Dog, Bill Morgan.

This production, by no means the first to be undertaken by the club, is a distinctly humorous play bound to be very entertaining. Other performances given by the club were Cinderella, Ali Baba, Bird's Christmas Carol,
The Pickwickers. These have all been presented during the eight years of the club's existence.

Students wishing to attend the production will be excused from their seventh period class after the attendance has been taken by showing their tickets to their teacher.

Today is the first of a potluck for the members of the club at which time the stage will be set up in the Greeley Room and other final preparations needed will be made. Committee chairmen in charge of the potluck are Mildred Berry and Ann Haller.

Music Assembly Program Chosen

Orchestra, Band, Glee Club
Will Present Pieces Chosen
From Past Music Assemblies

For the next music assembly, Tuesday, it was decided by Mr. Jack Wainwright to let the students pick the pieces from the ones played during the past year. From the list of pieces the students have chosen the following program:

"William Tell Overture" will be played by the band. This piece has been one of the favorites of the as-semblies. The "Poet and Peasant" is another overture that will be played by the band. Carl Goebel and Frances VanBuskirk will present their dance again, accompanied by the orchestra playing "Neapolitan Nights."

Two feature vocal numbers will be given again. Gerald Polman will give his version of the "Umbrella Man," and Wayne Wright will sing "On Parade."

The band will play the novelty number "Comin' Round the Mountain" again for the assembly. "Finlandia" is another piece to be played by the band. One popular number has been chosen for the band, "Stardust."

In addition to these, the chorus will sing two or three numbers.

Math-Science Election To Be Tomorrow Eve

Election of new officers will be held at the last meeting of Math-Science Club, tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the Greeley Room.

Jean Fortriede will talk on her experiences in plant breeding, soil gardening, and soil testing; Kenneth Warren will talk on his experiences in displaying dahlias. He will demonstrate his talk with lantern slides.

Members who have taken either three years of science and two years of math or who have taken three years of math and two of science and who have attained a high scholastic standing in these two courses will be given honor certificates at the club's recognition service.

Plans will also be made for the annual Math-Science picnic which will be held in the near future.

Games will be played, and refreshments will be served. All juniors and seniors who are interested in math and science are invited to attend this meeting.

Romans To Elect New Fall Cabinet

"Travel And Correspondence" To Be Highlight Of Program
Meeting; To Plan For Picnic

"Travel and Correspondence" of the Romans will be discussed at the next meeting of Latin Club to be held on Thursday, May 18, at 3:30 in the Voorhees Room. The committee for the meeting consists of Betty Lou Geake, chairman; Ruth Dauner, Jack Meyer, Ivan Truman, Gene Lou Harges, Dorothy Gildea, Joan Cartwright, Jane Engkeling and Audrey Smith.

The committee will hold a discussion concerning travel by land and water, construction of roads, the inns along the highways, and the speed that could be made. How letters of correspondence were written and sent and how books were made will also be explained.

"America," "Auld Lang Syne," "Whistle While You Work," "Three Blind Mice," "Row, Row, Row Your Boat," and South Side's school song will be sung in Latin.

The nominating committee, composed of William Newhard, Betty Daniels and Rosella Koehler will give the nominations for next year. Announcements will also be made about the picnic to be held in Foster Park, June 1.
The committee for the picnic is as follows: Emelyn Rimmel, chairman; Norman Fortness, Kathryn Gould, De-laine Rose, Gloria Axt, Bernadine
Bender, Eileen Goddard, Harriet
Greer, Ruth Gumpfer, Helen Harber,
Dorothy Heslip, Wilma Lageman,
Richard Markowitz, Betty Medsker,
Jean Peterson, Lucy Smith and Carol Whittem.

Hi-Y Boys Will Select Best Citizen Nominees

Candidates for the annual Hi-Y Best Citizen award will be selected at the Hi-Y meeting tonight. Three boys and three girls will be selected.
Then these candidates will be turned over to the faculty. The faculty then selects one boy and one girl who will receive this award.

All members are urged to be present.

Violin Artist, David Rubinoff, Conducts Archer Band, Jokes Plays Strad In Free Concert

By Dorothy Bloemker and Dorothy Gore

"Rubinoff and His Violin." This phrase has introduced for several years one of the world's greatest violinists, a personality who has made his audience laugh, live, and weep to the strains of his enchanted music.

David Rubinoff, Russian maestro of the Stradivarius, likes to greet the youth of America and bring out in them a desire for a better type of music.

The 208 year old violin which he uses exclusively on all of his concert and radio broadcasts is valued at $100,000. Regardless of the fact that this violin was made by Antonio Stradivarius in 1731, it retains its original finish without scratches to mar its beauty.

Fray and Braggiotti, who have accompanied Rubinoff for two years, are the originators of two-piano harmony on the air.

Teamed Up In Paris

In 1936 in Paris, a great violinist and two, just as accomplished pianists, met and formed a trio of world renowned musicians. Ten years ago, the audience in Carnegie Hall witnessed the American debut of these music masters.

Fray and Braggiotti teamed up because they believed that the only way to play any music is with two pianos.
This arrangement makes it possible to obtain a real appreciation of true harmony.

This piano team is well known for their own arrangements of all the selections they play together and in accompaniment with Rubinoff. These arrangements include, as Braggiotti says, "Everything from Bach to Ger-schwin."

Appearances here at South Side, the only school Rubinoff visited, at the broadcasting station, and at the Shrine auditorium on Tuesday afternoon and evening ended his extensive tour of the country. From Fort Wayne he started for Hollywood where he will start work on a new motion picture.

Hold Contest For Voorhees Science Award

Seniors Must Have Completed 3 Years Of Science
To Compete For Trophy

Seniors who have completed or who are completing three years of high school science are eligible to compete in the essay contest for the Voorhees trophy. Mrs. Herbert S. Voorhees and her daughter, Miss Mary Louise Voorhees, are establishing this award in memory of Mr. Herbert Voorhees.

The award is to be a medal to be given into the permanent possession of the winner each year, and a scroll to be left in the school and signed by the winner each year hereafter.

The subject of the essay deals with science. For the first contest, the subject, "How the Study of Science Has Benefited Me," has been selected. The essay should be approximately six hundred words in length, should be typewritten, and should have the name of the writer on the back of the last page. A margin of one and one-half inches should be left on the left side on the page and also at the top.

The contest papers are to be turned in to Mr. R. Nelson Snider's office by Thursday evening, May 25.

Application sheets were distributed last week to those students who are eligible. These were returned to the office on May 11.

The late Mr. Voorhees was a member of South Side faculty for many years, and while a member of the Archer teaching staff, he was noted the science department where he for his numerous accomplishments in served as head.

He was especially noted for the fact that he not only served to instruct the student body, but he was an excellent friend as well.

Lavon Cartwright, Carolyn Fisher and Betty Marquardt were appointed to invite the girls graduating from the Hoagland, Harrison Hill and James Smart Girl Scout Troops.

Susy Sweet and Jean Ewing volunteered their services to the Visiting Nurses' League.

Folders describing Girl Scout Camp
Ella J. Logan were distributed among the members. Also the troop voted to give a contribution to help pay for the kitchenette in the Greeley Room.

Gallmeyer Is Extemp King Among Kellys

Wins First From Robert Safer, Jim Murphy; Gets Chance To Keep Trophy

As a result of winning the semi-annual South Side Extemporeous Speech Contest, May 11, Tom Gal-meyer, 11A, will have his name engraved on the McAlister Extemp Trophy. He will also receive a medal at Wranglers' banquet, May 22. He discussed the topic, "How can the United States best contribute to world peace?" Robert Safer, 11B, was second in his discussion of the topic,
"What should America do about the railroads." Gallmeyer, because of his recent win, and Safer because of having won the fall extemp contest, will represent South Side in the city extemp meet.

Third place winner was James Murphy. His subject also concerned a peace plan. Other contestants in the last round were Bruce Bradbury, speaking on the labor situation, and Allison Arnold, discussing the railroad problem. Jurgens were Sol Roth-berg, David Parrish and Paul Congdon, all city attorneys.

There were nine participants in the contest on May 10. They were, with winners listed first, second period:
Bob Safer, Tom Gallmeyer, Alison
Arnold, Harold Martin, and Arthur
Chevalier; and third period: Jim Murphy, Bruce Bradbury, Ed Meyer, and Bob Robinson. Jurgens for these contests were Mr. Maurice Cook, Mr.
Jake McClure, and Mr. Benjamin Null.

Five cents admission was charged all those who wished to attend the contest on Thursday. Wednesday's contests were attended by public speaking classes and second and third period classes of the judges, all of whom were South Side teachers.

Chorus Will Go To Camp At Lake

Committees Have Met All Week
To Get Transportation, Food,
For Week-end At Oliver Lake

The chorus of South Side High School will go to the Lumberlost Camp at Oliver Lake with Mr. Jack Wainwright for the week-end. A number of the churches around LaGrange have asked Mr. Wainwright to have the chorus sing to provide entertainment.
The chorus will sing at the Presbyterian Church in LaGrange and at the Methodist Church at Valentine.

The committees for the affair have been busy all week trying to make plans for the week-end. Erleen Lee has had charge of providing transportation. Mr. Wainwright will take a car-full after school Friday. Miss Dorothy Magley, Miss Susan Peck, Mr.
Paul Sidell, Mr. Earl Sterner, Joan Earl, Wayne Wright, Erleen Lee and Lavona Spore will each take a few of the members at eight o'clock Saturday morning.

Emelyn Rimmel has charge of making sure there is enough food. All of the meals on Saturday will be pot-luck. Every chorus member will take something. Mr. Wainwright, however, will take care of the meals for Sunday. There is "a barrel of popcorn at the camp," said Mr. Wainwright.

The chaperones for the affair will be Mr. Paul Sidell, Mr. Earl Sterner,
Miss Dorothy Magley and Miss Susan Peck. Each of the chaperones will take a car-full of the singers to the camp.

Only the chorus will go, not the glee club. The chorus is an entirely independent organization. It is made up of the better singers in the glee club.

Students Tell Of Plans Made For Big Summer Vacations; To Devote Time To Hobbies

It was found through a recent poll by The Times, that South Side students will be seen in many different places in the United States. Other students, it was found, intend to use their vacation time for the furtherance of their hobbies.

Yvonne Bateman is planning on spending some time this summer in Aurora and Marengo, Illinois. Yvonne will also follow her hobbies of bicycling and tennis.

Between going to Toledo and playing baseball, vacation time will be filled for Rubyleen Blanks.

Don Anweiler intends to spend most of summer building model airplanes and working on a farm.

To learn to play golf is Wanda Beckman's ambition for this summer.
She also hopes to visit Detroit and do some sewing and reading.

John Abbot collects miniature statues as a hobby. Besides following this hobby this summer, he intends to go to the lake to swim, fish, and have a good time.

Kathryn Anderson plans on visiting one of the World's Fairs, besides doing some sewing; which incidently, is her hobby.

Richard Bailhe intends to mow lawns to make some money. Richard is also going to the New York World's Fair and take extensive bicycle trips.

DeVal Bailey wants to follow her hobby of tap dancing during summer vacation. DeVal also wants to visit Wichita, Kansas. She has plans for attending Scout Camp.

DeLema Jeanne Benzel intends to follow her hobby of collecting movie

Service Workers Will Hold Picnic

Wednesday, May 24, Members Should Sign Up In Study Hall
By Next Tuesday, Bring $.05

The Service Club Picnic will be held at Foster Park, Wednesday, May 24.
All students who are members of the Service Club are invited to come. Doris Siebold is in general charge of this social affair and Mr. A. Verne Flint will act as faculty adviser.

Members are asked to sign up on the bulletin board in the northwest corner of room 8 by Tuesday, May 23, if they intend to come.

Those who sign up should bring five cents to Mr. Flint's office which is located in room 106, as soon as possible.
This money will be used to furnish ice cream and pop for everyone. Those who attend are asked to bring their own lunch as this is to be a box picnic. Everyone will meet at the wooden pavilion by 5 o'clock and here supper will be eaten.

Games and other entertainment will be in charge of Betty Showalter and her committee, which includes Donna
Dennis, Eileen Hoffman, and Helen Faux.

Notices of the picnic were sent to Service workers Tuesday. These were taken care of by Alma Korte and her committee. On this committee are Edna Volz, Marjorie Jackson, and Dorothy Bloemker.

So-Si-Y To Hold Picnic Next Tuesday, May 23

So-Si-Y's annual picnic will be held next Tuesday, May 23, at Foster Park at about 4 o'clock. Installation of officers and the class prophesy will be the main features of the affair.

Helen Wiehe is the editor of the class prophesy and the installation is in charge of the cabinet. Lillian Patton has the menu completed and each girl is requested to go to Room 66 and sign up for her share of the meal.

Games will be enjoyed and group singing will be added. Phyllis Fackler is in charge of the meeting.

Attendants Are Kitty Clinnard, Lois Rea, Eileen Hoffman, Lillias Patton.

Dick Buchholz Is Orator For Group

Max Spencer To Lead Singing Of "Alma Mater";
Committees Are Listed.

Nadine Mueller, prominent senior, was chosen by the entire senior class to reign as the much honored and coveted Ivy Queen, and Dick Buchholz was chosen to give the oration on Ivy Day to be held May 25. Lillias Patton,
Eileen Hoffman, Lois Rea, and Kitty Clinard were elected to serve as the queen's attendants.

Pomp Is Introduced

Ivy Day has been a traditional activity since 1937 and in keeping with this tradition will be observed again this year. Prior to 1937, junior and senior classes planted an ivy together with comparatively little pomp and ceremony. Then it was decided to make Ivy Day an exclusive senior tradition.

The home room period will be lengthened May 25 to allow time for the ceremony. All seniors will gather in the gym, line up, and, headed by the queen and her attendants and the band, will start marching out of doors around the building. After completing a circuit of the building, the parade will come back to the north lawn, where the actual planting will take place. After the oration by Dick Buchholz, Max Spencer will lead the seniors in group singing.

Committees Named

Mr. C. A. Bex is in charge of the plans for the procession and will be assisted by Tom Moorhead, chairman,
Bill Riethmiller, and Clayton Jensen.
Morton Nahrwald, Vera Berning, and Wilma Carver are in general charge of the musical part of the program.

Plans for the program are in charge of Jean Fortriede, Max Spencer, Max
Magner, and Joan Cox. Murray
Squires and Robert McVay are taking charge of planting the ivy. Dick Buch-holz, Bob Byers, and Carl Goebel co-operated with the senior sponsors and clubs in the nomination and selection of the queen and orator.

Mothers Of U.S.A. Received At Tea

Miss Pittenger Speaks On Work
Of Mothers' Hands; Program
Of Entertainment Presented

Members of the U. S. A. Club entertained their mothers at the club's Mother-and-Daughter Rainbow Tea in the Greeley Room last Thursday at 3:30 o'clock. The room was decorated with bouquets of flowers. Reba Cop-pock and Eva Jean Wylie composed the decoration committee.

Miss Martha Pittenger, the dean, greeted the mothers in a short talk.
In her talk she told of the devotion a mother gives to her children. She also stated reasons why we should have the Mother-and-Daughter teas.
Miss Pittenger told of her own mother's hands and what they used to do for her. As a good example of mothers' hands, the tale of Anna Hemp-stead Branches, who paints pictures of mothers' hands.

And then again there was the terror tale of the dry cleaning establishment, whose motto ran, "We believe in the power of the press."

Why Not Park Feet On Floor?

Do you want to get curvature of the leg? Do you want to be the cause of someone seriously injuring themselves? Do you want to have only "former friends?" Do you want to have to pay a big cleaning bill? Undoubtedly your answer is "No, why?" Here's why, because these are often the results of unthoughtful students placing their feet on the back of the desk in front of them or wiping their shoes on the clothing of the person occupying this seat. A damage suit is not the only possible complication which might result. Often students, not supposing that a leg is thrust out in the aisle, rise hastily to their feet to go elsewhere in the room and promptly go down again—on the floor. Surely a few moments comfort does not compensate for such a mishap. One can be sure that Emily Post would not uphold such conduct either; besides where's your self-respect?

Safety Is Soundest Policy!

Students here at South Side probably wither at the mention of safety in the school, because they claim that they hear about it all of the time. A lot of our students turn a deaf ear on any warning for our safety, but all of us know the essential points for safety inside a building. Now we are being taught the essentials of safety coming to and going from South Side. To the pupils who walk, keep in mind the points which our teachers and parents have tried so hard to impress upon us. To those who ride bicycles, exercise a little care and consideration; and to those students who are lucky enough to drive their own cars to school, remember there is courtesy in driving too. Think about the pointers Mr. Snider gives you as to where to park around the school and put them to work. Also be a little more considerate about driving around the school. Let's all pull together and have a safer South Side.

Let's Keep Plugging, Studes! It's Not A Great Deal Longer

Time is drawing near when we'll all be knocking a tennis ball around and reading for pleasure instead of having to stay in all these fine nights studying to tell a teacher something she already knows. We all have a tendency to slump and let up on our school work about this time. Now we know that it is much nicer to be out doors and much easier not to do any home work, but still that is not a good enough reason for "laying down on the job." Look at it from the teacher's viewpoint. They are just as eager to get rid of a bunch of students hit with spring fever and to get out the reel and bait and go fishing as we are. But do they let up? They keep preparing tests as regular as ever and returning the results, when in reality they do not want to do it. So this being the case, why not dig right in, keep studying hard, everyone will be in a better mood, and school will be out in three weeks.

Why Not Keep Up Reconstruction Job For Archer Building?

There is a great deal of rumor circulating about South Side now in regards to the completion of the building operations which were started last spring. At that time, we were led to believe that more work would be done this summer. In an effort to determine whether this would be done, however, representatives of The Times staff received no confirmation or denial of this common belief.

There can be no doubt in the minds of anyone acquainted with the things that have been done around here that the improvements should be continued. The elimination of eye-strain in the newly-painted rooms, the betterment of visibility in the halls by the new paint job, the enlargement of the building giving added rooms for classes and extra-curricular activities, the installation of new trophy cases, construction of new study halls, betterment of facilities of the entire school by new stairs, rooms, fountains, lavatories, study halls, etc., all have been notable and thoroughly worthwhile improvements. These have created a feeling of appreciation in the minds of the students and have also caused a concurrent desire for the eradication of the remaining inconveniences and faults in the building.

With such good work behind, the continuance of a reconstruction would be highly desirable and highly beneficial.

Among Those - Present -

She's "Cal-i-forn-ia" bound (forget how the rest goes). This quotation is quite appropriate when applied to Helen Wiehe, who is responsible for making people hereabouts "Eyes" conscious. It is on the strength of this prementioned influence that she's "bouncing" to California with several other students for the national speech contest in June. You'll recall, too, that although she had only a fragmentary part, she ended the senior with a "zip and a bang" (one of her favorite expressions—just like the sound of it, I guess, as it is not always actually applicable where she uses it).

Pee Wee (her very unseniorified nickname) is an active member of a good many clubs—namely Philo, Thespians, Wranglers, Radio Players, S. P. C., and So-Si-Y. She's also a Totem staff member. There's just something about peanut butter sandwiches and Meyers cherry cokes (not combined) that get her—she gets her to watching the scales pretty closely when she imbibes too freely, too. When "Kay Kyser's" quartet-ers animate "The Three Little Fishies," just try to hold her down. After some serious consideration, however, she selected Paul Muni and Bette Davis for first place acting honors. People who are late get in her hair (something about which she continually mourns, because it won't stay intact). Just a little sarcastic! Prompted to investigate as to how she passed her time, she startled herself by the discovery that she talks to herself. She sketches at odd moments too. Art and public speaking are her favorite subjects. She's an April Fool issue which may account for some of her peculiarities.

Miss Wee-Hee (proper pronunciation of her name—some people actually get so far off the track as to call her Tee-Hee!) received her grade school education at Bethlehem Lutheran. Desirous of becoming a costume designer or radio entertainer. Helen Wiehe likes to consider herself as a potential student of the Chicago Institute of Art and Drama.

Now It Can Be Told

Once more the nervous tension is relieved a little among the students, when after U and S cards are issued, they discover that they can pass with some hard work at the end of the school year. Anyway, the studes are now willing to give their all to the good cause of studying (?) P. S. They will probably fail anyhow. What all this has got to do with dirt I'll leave to your imagination. Mine isn't ticking this P. M., so I'll let you do all the work.

Baldy Nahrwald certainly does get around. He gives all the girls hearts a twirl and as yet hasn't settled down to any specific one. His latest is Betty Stump. The question is: Will it last? Well, what have you got to say in your behalf, Baldy?

Elizabeth Kelso seems definitely to have gone over the deep end for the very much sought after Robert Hines. Since she firmly denies the rumor (?), maybe I can come to the conclusion that she still cares for Martin Germand.

Apparently Mary Ann Dosch is letting her attention wander from Jimmy Weaver and Norman Karbaugh in favor of Kenny Wallman.

Joe Ratliff couldn't find anybody around our school that suited his fancy, so he trotted over to Central Catholic and presto! he found his one and only. The gal in this quaint tale is little Ruth Getty.

What goes on here between Bob Ferguson and Rita Murchland? From all reports, they really make a nice looking couple. Wonder what the future holds in store for them?

Dick Strausberg's mind is filled lately with lingering thoughts of a certain songbird named Katie (Not Kate Smith of the airplane either). Wonder what Kate thinks of him?

Why doesn't Richard Getty get wise to himself? He has unknowingly captured Alice Minser's heart. That's a pretty good gal you're passing up, Listen Editor!

Dear Editor:
For weeks I've been longing to sling a few printed tomatoes at the perennial wet blankets. Then yesterday, I had such a gruesome experience with one that I actually found the courage to pin back my ears and sturdily pen this message to you. Just so you'll know how I suffered on the day in question, I'll give you a "play-by-play" description of my conversation.

Me: Wasn't the Junior Prom swell? Weren't the decorations gorgeous?
W. B.: It was all right I guess.
Me: I saw you there. Didn't you have a good time?
W. B.: Not particularly.

Me: Oh. (This was followed by a disconcerting silence. Then I hopefully ventured), There goes Janie. Don't you think she's a grand girl?
W. B.: She's sort of funny looking.
Me: Well, she isn't exactly beautiful I admit, but don't you think that her personality makes up for that?
W. B.: No.

Me: Oh.
This hopeless conversation, dear Editor, continued until I managed to break away with the excuse of a splitting headache. I think this example will speak for itself; so I need not say more.
GIVE ME ENTHUSIASM.

Dear Editor:
The track team lost a good bet when I failed to go out for the broad jump. In this case, as in so many others, I have found that practice makes perfect; and believe me I get plenty of practice. As soon as I draw near the school in the morning, I immediately notice the increasing hazards facing the pedestrian. And it is in crossing the streets bordering the school that I have been forced to practice the broad jump. The worst feature of this whole business is that the drivers who cause my unnecessary exercise seem to think my exertions funny. Maybe it won't be quite so funny if they ever meet anyone not so agile as myself. May I suggest a course in auto etiquette for our student drivers?
ATHLETIC.

Dick.
It's about time I mentioned the romance between Rena Mae Bennett and Ned Longworth of North Side. They really make a nice couple. I don't blame Ned one bit for his choice, but I'd like to know when, how and why Bob Irmischer dropped out of the picture.

Betty Peppler is continuously making eyes at Paul Danecker in their first period class. So far her efforts haven't been rewarded.

Barbara Blue (remember?) seems to get along quite well with Herschel Case in their third period class every day. Its either love or they both have a bad case of spring fever. Last week Hazel Perry and Gene Hofstetter had a little tiff, and Hazel's long faithful admirer Sammy Hite took hope but everything's patched up now, and Sammy's once more left out in the cold. Tough luck, Sam.

Gertrude Merkle seems to be in a daze since Johnny Timbers went to Indianapolis five weeks ago. She receives on the average of three letters a week from him, one actually containing ten pages. Tch! Tch! Could this be love?

During a recent dance Elaine Ferguson kept her eyes glued on Jack Ferguson. Watch out Elaine! He is forbidden fruit now that Barbara Brower has competently taken over the territory you left.

Why doesn't Bob Brower give Ruth Smith (C. C.) a break? She's been working hard for his affections, but he just doesn't seem to notice.

Bernadine Bender would like very much to have a date with Bob Wylie. Maybe his sister Eva Jean could arrange if she got an introduction to Bob Hockemeyer in return.

Dale Amstutz has been admiring a certain girl in his health class by the name of Mary Jane Estip. We hope for his sake that Dale can become more intimate in the near future.

Flicking The Tips

And comes the day of all days... Recognition Day! As you, who are being commended for your outstanding work and service to your school, walk up to receive your reward all the eyes of the student body, the faculty members and the parents will be surveying you. It will be, even though you little realize its importance, a critical moment. People will be forming an opinion of you. Will it be good or bad? Will it be the sweet character that you would have for yourself? Or will all those glaring eyes be criticizing you? There is no need to have the slightest fear that anyone might be getting an unfair opinion of you if you will take heed of some of the following Do's and Don'ts.

1. Do have good posture. (Chin up, Stomach in, and Chest out.)
2. Don't bounce when you walk. (Walk with smooth swift steps. Seem to glide like you would in a waltz.)
3. Do wear your school clothes. (Don't dress in your Sunday best. It won't help your character a bit.)
4. Don't shove your way to the front so you will be seen by everyone. (That kind of publicity is worse than none at all.)
5. Do be courteous to the speakers by keeping silent while they are speaking. (Ten-to-one what they have to say is much more important than your gossip.)
6. Don't fuss with your hair or pick your finger nails while you are walking up. (You will appear bashful and self conscious.)
7. Don't applaud too long or too loud. (That's an old trick to take up time and you won't be flattering the person at all.)
8. Don't receive your award with the attitude "well-I earned-it" (We all realize that you have the right to be proud but there is a limit to everything. The time and effort you have put forth will be justly rewarded and you should be proud, but remember, you should receive your award thankfully.)
9. Don't appear cocky, it's bad for your reputation.

With these nine warnings I leave you. Be on your guard Recognition Day so that people will form the right opinion.

Way Down South

SEVERAL WEEKS AGO

We mentioned an old car (Deep Purple, by name) owned by Messrs Albert Schaaf and Dick Fishering. At that time we didn't say much about the outward appearance of the car, so here goes. The said boys most skillfully amputated the upper section or roof of the Model T, thus giving them a touring sedan. The body was then painted a delicate shade of pink, with the wheels painted in a combination of red, green, white and blue. When Dick took his mother to see this gaudy piece of tin, Mrs. Fishering about suffered a hemorrhage from laughing at it. So I'm telling that you better be in a solemn mood when you first glance at it.

PATRICK HENRY—

Exclaims Miss Hodgson whenever you bring up the subject of lakes. Miss Hodgson is definitely prejudiced to anything pertaining to a summer cottage and we do mean pertaining. Miss Hodgson stated that she wouldn't be seen in some of the shacks that some people live in at lakes when they have a perfectly good house in the city. Miss Hodgson likes the water but oh the accommodations. "Bless Ned," exclaimed Miss Hodgson, "some folks even go out and camp in tents." Well, what d'ya know, tsk, tsk. Golly, wouldn't ya hate to rough it with her.

"I HAD SORE EYES—

From doing my home reading the last day," says John Warner. But John soon cured this. After reading late into the night, he dipped his pretty little noggin into an ice cold bucket of water until, finding this to be rather soothing, John made regular trips to the bucket until he had finished his book. John's last words before toppling off to sleep were, "It was a slippery job but I did it. Z-z-z-z-z-z."

"I GET ALONG WITHOUT YOU VERY WELL"—

Is Charlene McAttee's favorite song. However, her secret confession is that this song has a deeper meaning. Maybe someone ought to take a hint.

State Track, Field Meet To Be Saturday At Butler Field

Three Pupils To Represent Archer School

Don Beery, Alison Arnold, Arden Altman, Trackmen, To Enter State Contest

Redskins To Have Two Relay Teams

High Jumper To Represent Central Tigers; Garrett To Have 2 Men At Meet

The state track and field meet will be held this Saturday, May 20, at 10 o'clock at Butler Field in Indianapolis. To qualify for the state meet one has to gain a first or second place in their respective events in the sectional meets.

South Side will be represented by three trackmen: Don Beery, Arden Altman, and Alison Arnold.

Beery won first place in the shot-put at the sectionals last week. This will be the first time that Don has gone to state in the capacity of a track man.

Alison Arnold won second place in the low hurdles and will represent South Side for the second straight year. Last year Alison qualified for the finals going farther than any other Archer did.

Arden Altman Improves

Arden Altman will also be going to state for his second straight year. Arden has improved much over his last year's performances and is expected to establish himself as one of the outstanding pole vaulters of the state.

North Side will have two relay teams and eight men going to Indianapolis. The best chances North Side has to get in the scoring column will rest with Flickinger in the low hurdles; Cowan in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes; and Don Kemp, super half-miler who has ran it in better time than anyone else in the state. North Side will have to improve in the relay races to place since there have been more than four teams which have bettered their time in both relays.

Kulesza Should Place

The Central Tigers have an entrant who should place with ease and might win the high jump since he has done more than 6 feet and is capable of doing better. This entrant is "Hank" Kulesza who is also in the high jump but is not expected to get far in this event.

Garrett will be represented by Brinkerhoff and Likens and both of these boys are expected to win a few points. Brinkerhoff runs the 100-yard dash and Likens runs the mile in 4:31 which is about the fastest in the state.

The track meet scheduled for the Archers with Huntington is cancelled so this will be the last meet of the year and the last time to ever see Don Beery and Alison Arnold perform as Archers.

Parade Will Be Held By Concordia College

Thursday, June 1, the civic celebration of Concordia College's 100th year will begin. As South Side's contribution to the parade we will have our band and a float. We are also to have students march. The committee in charge of the parade has offered a plaque to the school having the largest percentage of students participating in the parade. Prizes of $5, $3 and $2 are offered for the first, second and third best decorated bicycles in the parade. This means that both people on foot and on bicycles are wanted. A motorcycle or squad car escort is provided for safety to those riding bicycles on their way from the college to this end of town.

The course of the parade has not yet been fully decided.

Archer Aces Look Stateward

Archer hopes rest in these three Robin Hoods, Arden Altman, Don Beery, and Allison Arnold. With Altman goes South Side's chances to place in the pole vault event. Don Beery will enter the shot put event, and Allison Arnold will run the low hurdles. These three Archers qualified for the state meet by placing first or second in events which they entered in the sectional meet held last Saturday.

G.A.A. Track Fete Will Be Monday

High Jump, Broad Jump, Fifty-Yard Dash, Potato Race Major Events; Many Minor Ones

The annual track meet of the G. A. A. will be held tomorrow and Monday. To be eligible for participation in the meet, girls must participate in at least three events and in no more than five. The four major events are the high jump, potato race, broad jump, and 50-yard dash. The basketball throw, free throw, baseball throw, baseball target, basketball time, base running, balance beam, throw and catch, and volley ball serve as the minor events. A girl may participate in one major and two minor events or two major and three minor events.

The outdoor events will take place on Friday, including the high jump, broad jump, 50-yard dash, and the baseball throw. If time permits, the following events will take place indoors on Friday, the potato race, basketball throw, and the balance beam.

Monday all the events will be indoors including the free throw, baseball target, basketball target, basketball time, base running, and the volley ball serve.

The official clerks for the track meet will be Mary Fry and Margaret Kienzie. The assistants will be Audrey Hall, Thompsie Hall, Jeanne Smith, Hazel Perry, Jeanne Snyder. The judges will be Miss Gretchen Smith and Miss Alice Dean.

South Side High Track Team Says State Chances Are Good

Each year at this time the Indiana High School track season is brought to a spectacular finish at the state track meet held at Indianapolis. This Saturday outstanding track stars from all parts of the state will compete for individual and team honors at the Butler Field. Due partly to unfavorable weather conditions and inexperience, the South Side track team failed to register a single point last year, but this year a stronger and more experienced squad will again try for honors at the state meet.

Rate Chances High

We decided to get the opinions of a few experts on the subject of South Side's chances at state, and as a result the following are a few of the opinions extracted from the Archer track squad itself:

Allison Arnold: A better showing than last year.

Dave Roth: Arnold, Altman and Beery ought to place.

Rudolph Wuttke: We ought to come out O.K.

Warren Brown: Several of our boys should place.

Tom Moorhead: We can count on the boys to do their best.

LeRoy Cook: Beery, Altman and Arnold will come through with a few points.

Arden Altman: We will at least make a fair showing.

Alfred Gumbert: We'll do better than we did last year.

Paul Fremion: It's in the bag.

Not To Be Downed

Other opinions on our possibilities at state are as follows:

Mickey Mitchell: Altman will score some points.

Margaret Niblick: We'll be fighting all the way.

Ella Jo Reed: I'm sure we'll get along fine.

Marian Miller: We'll do fine.

Bill "Corky" Reithmiller: Altman and Arnold should do all right and Beery will get some points.

Kaye Swaine: We'll go to town.

Bud Brudi: I think we're pretty tough.

Jim Glass: At least, they ought to qualify for the finals.

Blaine Leas: With a year's more experience they should do as well if not better than last year.

Ned Kelsey: If Beery throws it farther than anyone else, he will win.

Wayne Heinzelman: Beery will put the shot fifty feet.

Green Is Victor In Tennis Match

Team Easily Defeats Bluffton In Straight Sets; Dammier, Doermer Spark Team To Win

South Siders can cheer again, for it looks as if the school has another championship team. This time it is tennis. The Archers defeated Bluffton on May 9 in straight sets. With Paul Dammier and Dick Doermer, the only players left from last year's team, providing the spark, South Side easily took the match. Under the leadership of the new coach, Mr. Stanley Post, the Archers showed lots of spark.

These are the scores of the match in the singles: Dammier defeated Wiley 6-1, 6-0. Doermer won over Snyder easily 6-0, 6-1. In closely played games John Waldschmidt defeated Pond 3-6, 11-9, and 6-4. Poff of Bluffton was drubbed by Bill Martin 6-3, 6-2. Harold Werkman won from Fryback 7-5, 6-3. Max Stobaugh won the final singles match 6-1, 6-2.

Two doubles matches were played. The results are: Dammier and Doermer of South Side defeated Wiley and Snyder 6-0, 6-1; and Pond and Poff of Bluffton were also defeated easily by Waldschmidt and Martin by the score of 6-3, 6-1.

An interesting schedule and one which should provide many thrills has been prepared.

These games are as follows:

May 20 South Side vs. Bluffton—Here.

May 22 South Side vs. Central—There.

May 25 South Side vs. Central Catholic—There.

May 26 South Side vs. North Side—There.

May 27 Tennis Conference.

May 29 South Side vs. Central—Here.

June 1 South Side vs. North Side—Here.

Intramural Individualities

By Bob Young

This week we have chosen as our select 'mural individual, not one athlete, but two. Unknown to many of the sporting fans of South Side, these boys, although very small lads, have taken the intramural spotlight for the past season. Our "stars" of the week are Dallas Zuber and Tom Brower. We would have to write several columns to enumerate the accomplishments of these boys; and, although they are only sophomores, we believe that these fellows should be recognized for their swell work. Both of these lads are lightweights and are both under 5 feet, 4 inches. During the past basketball season, Zuber and Brower ranked one-two in the intramural scoring race, being separated by some four points, and leading the remainder of the field by forty points.

In two short contests the F. O. P. (Five Old Pals) team, of which Tom and Dallas are members, took the intramural lightweight crown; but being discontented with this crown, they also whipped the Flashers to take the middleweight title. During the gym class carnival this year, Tom Brower set two new records and Dallas Zuber placed high in all events he entered. Perhaps the most outstanding performance of the entire carnival was made when Tom walked the balancing board over 200 times for a new record which should stand for a long time. When the carnival was completed, the F. O. P. team again got together under their two capable leaders and formed a softball team. So far they have been without a loss in their competition behind the swell pitching of Zuber. The other member of our select duo has been the leading intramural batsman this year. He banged out six hits in six times at bat in one of the highlight games of the year. Most small lads believe that they are too little for intramural competition, but they should take a lesson from Tom and Dallas, who have definitely proved that they can survive in fast competition.

Baseball Winners Are Soph Team 2

Jeanne Smith Is Head Of Group Which Downs Every Squad Encountered; Junior 2 Is Close

Not only are the sophomores superior to their elders in basketball, but they also know how to handle a baseball and bat just a little bit better than the juniors and seniors. (I hope they don't challenge the sophs.)

The victors of this year's baseball season were the members of team 2 captained by Jeanne Smith. These bat swingers won this honor by defeating every team they encountered. Not very close to the winning team but having a record of three wins and two ties were the junior 2 team captained by Pauline Werling.

Down in third place, two other soph teams, led by Fran Nash and Fiff Bender, upheld the spirit of the sophomores. Those on the winning team are Geneva Martin, Mary Alice Dunten, Alice Sweet, Joan Squires, Frances Gross, Carol Lyman, Evelyn Walker, Florella Shimer, Gloria Staley, Roseanna Weston, Marian Seemeyer, Marie Lebamoff, and Jeanne Smith.

In their last game of the season, soph 2, soph 3, junior 2, and junior 1 teams came out on top. Jeanne Smith's soph 2 won from Bernadine Pressler's soph 1 by a score of 5 to 3. The sophomore 3 were handicapped in that they only had four players. However, this did not keep them from defeating the soph 4's, 11 to 6. Ruth Fuhrman pitched a swell game for the winners and also hit a home run. Margaret Brower hit a home run for her soph 1 team, but it was in vain because the junior 1 team made 10 runs to the sophomore's 3. Pauline Werling proved herself an able captain by leading her junior team to a decisive victory of 14 to 11 over the seniors. Both Werling and Betty Marquardt hit home runs.

Tea Is This Afternoon
Wo-Ho-Ma Club "Mother and Daughter Tea" will be held this afternoon in the Greeley Room at 3:30 o'clock. The theme of the tea is the "Tulip Tea." Leah Tassler is chairman. Janie Wier will give a piano solo. Peggy Zirkel will sing several selections. Winifred Myers will give a monologue, "Riding the Butcher." "The Dear, Dear Children," a play, will be presented by a group of Wo-Ho-Ma Club girls. The characters are as follows: Mrs. Willard, Margaret Kienzie; Esther Willard, Wilma Kellogg; Mrs. Titus, Katherine Bultmer; Mrs. DeLacy, Eileen Kieselring; Mrs. Rollins, Louisa Haug; Mrs. Lake, Margaret Geroff; Mrs. Bates, Eileen Hermann; and Mrs. Covelli, Mary Demetre.

Refreshments will be served. The mothers of the girls will be the guests at this meeting. If a member's mother is unable to be present she should bring her aunt, grandmother, neighbor or friend. If one wishes she may bring both her grandmother and mother.

The committee in charge is as follows: Leah Tassler, chairman; Rose Wyss, Norma Jean Sprunger, Marjorie Gerding, and Katherine Bultmer.

Present Program At Meterite Tea

"Too Many Marys," Play; Vocal Selections, Special Music, And Dean's Talk Are Featured

"Too Many Marys," a play in keeping with the theme of Meterite Club this semester, was presented at the Mother-Daughter Tea on Tuesday, May 16. An audience of about one hundred forty mothers and girls watched the play that took place in the dormitory of the Little Flower Academy School for Girls. The cast was as follows: Sally, Gladys Foellinger; Aunt Sarah, who is sending Sally through school, Ellen Harry; Beatrice, Sally's cousin, Lois Hoff; Viola, Sally's chum, Mary Ellen Barrett; June, Sally's chum, Virginia Gray; Nora, Irish maid, Martha Scheele; Janice Sprunger was the director, and Virginia Simmons had charge of properties.

Marjorie McNabb, president, welcomed mothers to the tea. New mother songs were sung to the tunes of "Little Sir Echo" and "The Umbrella Man." Miss Martha Pittenger talked about the value of "Mother." Music selections on the piano were contributed by Carolyn McNabb, who played "Le Papillon" by Lavalie, and Ione Jean Tracht, who played "The Rhapsody" by Nern and Prebade in C Minor by Rachmanoff. On the accordion Virginia Gray offered "Heaven Can Wait," "Three Little Fishes," and "Deep Purple." "Bourree" in the form of a violin and piano duet was presented by Janice Sprunger and Ellen Harry. Dorothy Gildea was in general charge of the program.

Following is the list of mothers in attendance: Mesdames William Dunbar, E. L. Cartwright, Harold Tracht, Harry Cox, Noel Whittier, A. L. Paellinger, E. E. Sprunger, H. C. Beatty, Charles Dice, R. C. UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

The merchandising 2 pupils of Mr. Furst brought articles of various sizes and shapes together with paper and string and demonstrated what they considered to be the best method of wrapping and tying the packages.

Dorothy Lou Hoelle, James Hurst, Agnes Ruch, Ralph Shimer, Marcelline Batdorf, Lorene Hearn, Bill Knoll, and Rose Stemen made grades above 90 in a grammar test given by Miss Kiefer to two English 3 classes.

Miss Smeltz's world history 2 classes are preparing outlines on the world war. They are due June 1.

For the Clean-up Week project, home room 32 planted lilac bushes. The chairman of the committee was Lilian Sherbondy; those on the committee under her were Alva Scholtz, Marvin Schreiger, and Virginia Selby.

Those who made the highest grades on a test in Miss Pocock's English 4 class over the first act of Caesar were Robert Allen, Kirk Brown, Richard Hamilton, Ralph Fortriede, Bob Hines, Lester Oppenlander, Bob York, and Lois Gumpfer.

Betty Showalter and Delilah Schaffer, home room 32, gave interesting talks about their trip to Washington, D. C.

The government classes of Mr. Wilson have finished studying foreign relations and are starting to study public opinion and propaganda.

The students in Mr. Plasket's industrial arts 1 classes have been putting finishing touches on their projects.

Miss Peck's English 6 classes have just finished the Reader's Digest for the year.

On a recent test given by Mr. Pierce to his U. S. history classes, the following made the highest grades: Eileen Briggs, Genevieve Deigert, Richard Dike, Joyce Harwood, Bob Henry, Helen Karnap, Louise Lovelace, Ellen McKay, Ralph Hamilton, and Lillian Wecker.

Home room 34 planted delphinium plants behind the tulips in the front lawn as their part of the Clean-up Week project. They have also kept them watered every day.

The following students qualified for awards in Miss Covall's typing 2 class: Helen Karnap who wrote 40 words per minute with 93 per cent accuracy; Roberta Maggart, 41 words per minute with 91 per cent accuracy; Margaret Niblick, 53 words per minute with 96 per cent accuracy; Maurine Seibert, 42 words per minute with 93 per cent accuracy; and Donna Colicho, 42 words per minute with 93 per cent accuracy.

Ella Jo Reed Is New Head Of Philo Club

Jane Engelking, M. Bowlby, Rebecca Abbott, Phyllis Branning Also Elected.

Philo members elected Ella Jo Reed their next year's president at the last meeting held Monday, May 15, at 4 o'clock at the home of Lois Rea, 2445 Fairfield Avenue. Other girls chosen to fill important positions were as follows: Jane Engelking, vice-president; Mary Bowlby, secretary; Becky Abbott, treasurer; Phyllis Branning, sergeant-at-arms; Carolyn Lichtenberg, program chairman; Marjorie Dyer, art chairman; Ruth Dauner, music chairman; Wilma Lageman, chairman of Thespians; Fay and Lois Gumpfer, co-publicity chairmen; and Virginia Fleming, pianist.

The meeting was in the form of a farewell party for the seniors. Betty Daniels, club president, gave the farewell address and presented the key of the club to the newly-elected president, Ella Jo Reed. Another outgoing senior, gave the juniors a word of advice for the coming year; her speech was answered by Phyllis Branning representing the juniors. The senior prophesy was given by Ella Jo Reed. Songs were sung by the juniors and seniors.

Each senior was then presented with a book mark in the club's colors and bearing the club's insignia. Margaret Null and Betty Daniels, this year's presidents, and Janice Dyer, program chairman, received gifts from Miss Elizabeth Demaree, the club adviser, for their outstanding work. Eleanor Vesey was also given a gift, because she is the salutatorian of her class.

The meeting was closed with refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cake.

Quill, Scroll Members Will Banquet May 25

Quill and Scroll members are to be entertained on the evening of May 25 at Miller's Cafeteria. After dinner, the twenty-seven members from South Side and the twelve members from North Side are to attend the theater.

The students elected to this honor were elected because of their outstanding work on The Times and The Totem staffs. They were judged on their willingness to work and the quality of work done.

This entertaining of the newly elected members is a yearly affair. The members were announced at a recent publication potluck.

Business Training Is Very Beneficial To Eldora Buesking

Eldora Buesking, a graduate of last June, has found that the knowledge of commerce which can be obtained from the commercial course here at South Side is very useful in the business world.

Eldora Buesking

Her business day is full, but she finds her work very interesting. Her daily work consists of keeping books, answering phone calls, doing a little assisting with patients, and most everything connected with the line of secretarial work. She is able to do this work efficiently because of her background and training received from the commercial course.

Concerning the benefits derived from the course she chose, Eldora says, "I think the course is very thorough. I have not encountered anything so far that the commercial course did not cover. The shorthand taught at South Side is about as thorough as that taught at business college."

In Eldora's line of work, she finds that she can apply everything she learned in the business course. Her shorthand, typing, and bookkeeping aid her to carry out the duties of a dental assistant.

While a student here, Eldora received a shorthand pin for her ability to take 120 words per minute. This is an outstanding record and it shows that our course offers the opportunity to master shorthand if the student is willing to do his share to learn it. Both her shorthand and typing abilities have aided her in securing her present position in the world of business.

Eldora was a very active student while here at South Side. She was a member of Philo, Times, Totem, U. S. A., So-Si-Y, Social Science, G. A. A., and Math-Science.

Eldora Buesking is another student who was wise in her choice of a course to follow while in school. She knew that after her four years of high school were completed she wanted to take a position in the world of business. For this reason, she chose to follow the commercial course and now is using the knowledge gained. She has found that there is no better source of knowledge to train for business than the commercial course offered here at South Side.

Two Students Will Manage Senior Issue

Helen Banks, Marg. Rapp, Are Chosen To Be General Managers Of Publication

Will Be Published, Edited By Seniors

Questionnaires Are Filled Out Concerning Incidents Of Years In South Side

Margery Rapp and Helen Banks were elected senior Times' workers to be co-general managers of the 1939 senior issue of The Times. This vote was taken at a senior meeting held in the Times room last Thursday.

The issue, published and edited by seniors only, will be put out on June 7, Commencement night.

Questionnaires Prepared
Graduating seniors filled out questionnaires this morning, concerning their opinions on incidents that have happened during their four years at South Side. The results of this poll will be published in the senior issue.

More May Apply
The faculty adviser of all Times issues, Miss Rowena Harvey, will serve in the same capacity for the senior issue.

Times workers, unknowingly overlooked in the staff selection, are asked to see either Helen or Marge if they wish to work on this issue.

Senior Girl Scouts Are Given Honors

Five Years' Service Stripes Are Awarded To Joan Cox, Carol Whittner; Give Other Badges

Joan Cox and Carol Whittner received five years' service stripes at the third annual Father-Daughter banquet of Senior Scout Troop 41, held in the Y.M.C.A. banquet room at 6:30 o'clock on Saturday, May 20.

Also in the court of awards the highest honor in girl scouting, first class badge, was presented to Thompsie Hall. Insect finder badges were given to Audrey Hall, Hilda Schubert, and Martha Jane Krauskopf. Jane Merchant, president, earned the handywoman, electrician and motorist badges.

Carrying out a camp theme, the program was as follows: Greetings, toastmistress, Jane Merchant; reading, "The Wagon Child," Peggy Greaney; piano solo, "Mountain Belle," Holly Reppert; camp anticipations, Ruthann Stiegler; water sports, Martha Jane Krauskopf; cello solo, "Ava Maria," Hilda Schubert, accompanied by Carol Trenary; handicraft, Betty Marquardt; leisure time, Beverly Ann Griffith; mandolin solo, "Mexican Rose," Joan Cartwright, accompanied by Carol Trenary; what fathers expect of camp, Mr. Dorsey Merchant; court of awards, Mrs. Hazel Barber; camp songs, led by Beverly Griffith; movies of camp, Mr. C. J. Cover; and "Taps."

Roses were given to the fathers. Small teepees and canoes were the favors and place-cards. Committees who helped to make the event a success were: program, Thompsie Hall, chairman, Ann Harrod, Hilda Schubert and Martha Jane Krauskopf, and decorations, Peggy Greaney, chairman, Joan Cox, Betty Marquardt, Betty Dice and Jean Peterson.

Election of officers was held on Wednesday, May 24, in the Greeley Room. As yet the results have not been tabulated, however, those who were nominated include the following: President, Peggy Greaney and Holly Reppert,

Hi-Y Office Nominations Will Be Held Tonight

Nominations for Hi-Y officers will be made tonight at the Y.M.C.A. at 7:30 o'clock. An interesting program has also been planned. All junior boys should be present.

Last week a swim in the "Y" pool was held, after which Maurice Lehman showed moving pictures of the Panay bombing and also Boulder Dam.

Four boys and four girls were nominated for the annual Hi-Y Best Citizen award. Ronald McVay, Dick Aronhalt, and Bill Schultz acted as tellers to determine the nominees. The teachers vote on the nominees and have determined the girls and boys to receive the award. Mr. R. N. Snider will make the presentation on Recognition Day.

Awarded Scholarship

Margaret Null

Western College for women at Oxford, Ohio, has awarded a $250 scholarship to Margaret Null, senior. The scholarship will be given for four years on the condition that she retains a high scholastic record. Out of nearly two-hundred applicants, Margaret was chosen after taking a test and submitting her recommendations.

Margaret Null Wins Award From College

Senior Receives Scholarship For Four Years To Western College, Oxford, Ohio

It was announced through the president of Western College of Oxford, Ohio, Ralph K. Hickok, that Margaret Null, South Side senior, has been awarded the Western College Trustees Scholarship for the Central Division. The scholarship provides for an allotment of two hundred fifty dollars per year for a total of four years that the student attends the college.

It was awarded on basis of the entrant's high school record, health, letters of recommendation, and a special test as the final determinants. Margaret took the test at the college on April 15 as did others in twenty-six cities throughout the United States. Only four scholarships are awarded each year, one to each of the Western, Southern, Eastern and Central divisions of the United States.

During her four-year attendance at South Side, Margaret has been affiliated with many clubs and has held many offices. Philo may claim her as a former president, Latin Club as secretary-treasurer, and French as vice-president. Wranglers, Social Science, Student Players, Library and Three E's have had her as a member.

For four years she has been an orchestra member and for one year a band member. She is also affiliated with The Times as a home room agent. Recently Margaret was elected to the National Honor Society. She is on the four-year honor roll.

In March of this year she was awarded second place in the local short-story contest. When a sophomore, she entered and won the local, county and district annual Latin contest.

Margaret is a former Harrison Hill student. She is planning for a career in the personnel field, and prefers the position of employment manager.

Archer School To Hold Day Of Recognition

Graduating Seniors Appearing In Caps, Gowns; Will Enter In Big Procession

Over 600 Students Will Be Honored

Annual Affair Will Be Held June 2; Group In Charge Of Honor Event Is Listed

More than 600 students are to be honored on Recognition Day, June 2. Students who are outstanding in the various fields of work are to be honored for their leadership.

The different fields in which recognition is given are, scholarship, in which field the valedictorian, Henry Velkoff, and salutatorian, Eleanor Vessey; four-year honor students, and outstanding students in the English, Latin, German, French, Mathematics, Science and Social Science Departments will be honored. Other awards are to be given in home economics, art, commerce, industrial arts, music, drama, publication staffs, public speaking, library, girls' athletics, boys' athletics, library and girls' and boys' rifle clubs. Special awards will also be given by the Hi-Y Club and the D.A.R. for good citizenship. Although the outstanding members of the Service Club have already received their awards, they will be presented at the assembly.

Demaree Heads Group
Miss Elizabeth Demaree is chairman of the recognition committee. Assisting her are Mrs. Alida Jane Carson, Mr. Elma Gould, Mr. Russell Furst and Mr. Jake McClure. This year marks the fifth consecutive Recognition Day assembly.

All graduating seniors will appear for the first time in their caps and gowns. This procession will enter the gymnasium in a body and will sit in the bleachers in group formation. Heralds, selected from the band, will announce the arrival of the seniors and the coming of different groups of seniors to be recognized.

Not To Disclose Names
None of the names of the students to be recognized have yet been disclosed. These names are only known to the faculty committee and will not be disclosed until the time of recognition. All students to be recognized will sign Mr. R. Nelson Snider's large green book. This book has been kept since the first Recognition Day five years ago.

Students to be recognized are to come down on the gym floor to receive their awards of recognition and, after signing the green book, are to sit in the chairs provided for them.

The names of those who are to give awards will be printed in the future. Also the exact time of the assembly will be announced later.

Picnic Is Planned For French Club

Foster Park Is Site Of Picnic To Be Today; Committee Is Appointed For Arrangements

French Club's final meeting of the year will be held in the form of a picnic at Foster Park this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The committee in charge of general arrangements is headed by Ellen McKay and Betty Marquardt.

Officers for the fall term were elected May 11. They are president, Margie Sheldon; vice-president, Gloria Staley; secretary, Clara Makey; point recorder, Rosalie Hall, and Inter-Club Congress representative, Maria Allen. Retiring officers are president, Joe Bex; vice-president, June Holzworth; secretary, Jeanne Smith; point recorder, Gerald Pohlmann; and Inter-Club Congress representative, Murray Squires.

An exceedingly interesting review of "Les Miserables" was given by Joe Bex. Biographies of Victor Hugo, Anatole France, and Alexander Dumas were read by Suzanne Sweet, Jeanne Smith, and Marjorie Price.

Wins Scholarship

Eugene Schmidt

Eugene Schmidt, senior class president, has been announced as one of the four county winners of state scholarships to Indiana University. Eugene was selected for this honor because of his high scholastic standing and his interest in the many various activities which he has taken part in.

Senior Class Prexy Winner Of Scholarship

Alternates For Scholarships To University Are Kitty Clinard, Melvin Eggers'32

Eugene Schmidt, sophomore and senior class president, has been announced as one of the four county winners of state scholarships to Indiana University. Kitty Clinard and Melvin Eggers, a South Side graduate who is at present a student of the university, have both been chosen as alternates from this county.

Eugene was chosen last December as a member of National Honor Society. He has been president and sergeant-at-arms of the Social Science Club, business manager of the senior play and he also participated in intramural athletics. Making the four year honor roll and working on The Totem have also been among his achievements. He also is a member of Math-Science and Latin Club.

Two hundred state scholarships were awarded in Indiana. These scholarships, won by Eugene and the three other Allen county winners, carry with them the remission of contingent fees for the year, in addition to the scholastic honor involved in successful competition in a field of 988 selected candidates.

Other winners include Mary Frances Laurer of Central High School, Suzanna Cutler of Central Catholic High School, and Maurice Hill, a graduate of Central Catholic High School, now a student at the university.

The two other alternates from this county are Loretta Michaelis, of Central Catholic high school, and Richard Huffman, Madison Township High School at Hoagland.

Bob Hageman Is New Prexy Of Math Club

Other Heads Are Jane Bowen, Jeanne Shinnick, Richard Gerig, Ronald McVay

Robert Hageman was elected president of Math-Science Club at the last meeting of the semester last Friday evening in the Greeley Room at 7:30 o'clock. The other officers who were elected are vice president, Jane Bowen; secretary, Jeanne Shinnick; treasurer, Richard Gerig; and Inter-Club Congress representative, Ronald McVay.

Mr. R. Nelson Snider then conducted the annual Math-Science Recognition service. Those to be recognized must have been a member of the club for at least one year, have had an average of A— in three years of Math and two of Science or two years of Math and three of Science, be a graduating senior, and have done something outstanding in the Math-Science Club. Those who were recognized are Richard Buchholz, James Craig, Carl Goebel, Robert Hawkins, Max Magner, William Peters, Eugene Schmidt, Max Spencer, Kenneth Warren and Henry Velkoff. A rising vote of thanks was given for Mr. Snider in honor of his being present.

The annual Math-Science Club picnic was held at 4:30 o'clock last Monday at Foster Park.

The club song was sung with John Magley leading and Richard Gerig accompanying on the piano. Alida Randall then played Stardust and Deep in a Dream on her accordion.

Jean Fortriede took charge of the rest of the program. The theme was botany. She introduced Kenneth Warren, who explained the growing of prize dahlias. Jean Fortriede talked on her experiences in soilless gardening and plant breeding.

Bruce Bradbury and Richard Buchholz took charge of the mock trial that was held. Gwen DeWees was charged with Witchcraft. The state was represented by Max Magner and the defense by Carl Goebel and James Murphy. Robert Hageman officiated on the bench.

The case was thrown out of court for lack of evidence.

Refreshments were served, and the meeting was adjourned.

1500 Club Potluck Will Be On May 31

Jeanette Warren, Delores, Betty Daniels, Kenneth Warren Are Four Committee Chairmen

The 1500 Club potluck will be held in the cafeteria next Wednesday and will be the concluding social event of the publications department.

The program committee is headed by Jeanette Warren as chairman, with Bob Robinson, John Gumpfer, Bob Guntherhauser, John Magley, Mickey Mitchell, Anna Lou Kowalski, Bea Etzler, Phyllis Geller, Beverly Griffith, Doris Williams, Dick Aronhalt and Gwen DeWees as her helpers.

Delores Daniels is chairman of the arrangements committee with Helen Banks, Virginia Goeglein, Richard Gerig, Lois Gumpfer, Faye Gumpfer, Marjorie Sheldon, John Bonsib and Sam Bacon assisting her.

On the food committee is Betty Daniels, chairman, Lora Lee Montgomery, Jessie Freeman, Eleanor Vessey, Robert Young, James Brooks and Jean Fortriede.

Kenneth Warren, chairman, Emilo Allendorph, Mauriene Seibert, Dick Garton and Richard Buchholz comprise the clean-up committee.

Graduate Is Honored

Jerry Zebr, '37, was among the twenty-five students at Northwestern University elected to Purple Key, honorary social fraternity for men who have made outstanding records during their freshman and sophomore years. Members of Purple Key are selected from the sophomore class by an annual election. Jerry is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, and is a member of the varsity swimming team. While at South Side, Jerry was president of both his sophomore and junior classes.

Scholarship Winner

Helen Banks

Helen Banks was granted the largest scholarship given this year. This scholarship to Olivet College was won on high grades and interest in extra-curricular activities. Helen is also a member of the National Honor Society.

Olivet College Offers Senior Honor Award

Helen Banks Is Granted One Hundred Dollar Stipend To Be Renewed 4 Times

Granted the largest scholarship given this year, Helen Banks, co-managing editor of The Times, was named last Tuesday the recipient of a four-hundred-dollar scholarship by officials of Olivet College, Olivet, Michigan.

The award, to be given in four one-hundred-dollar payments will extend through the regular four years of college.

"I am very happy to receive the award, and I hope that I can more than fulfill its requirements," declared Helen.

All-Around Student

Outstanding in many fields, Helen was elected sergeant-at-arms of Philo, and a member of S.P.C., Library, 1500, Service, Booster, Totem and Meterites. During her senior year, Helen was named to the four-year honor roll, the Promoteans chapter of the National Honor Society, and to Quill and Scroll, international high school journalistic society. Helen also works in the school library, for which she possesses a bronze pin. As a member of the publications staff, she has won a silver pin.

Wins Journalistic Honor

This spring, she also was accredited honorable mention in a Quill and Scroll headwriting contest. As a member of Wranglers, she was outstanding in fields of oratory, and at the annual Wranglers' banquet was given the honor of presenting all extemporaneous speaking awards.

As a result of her work in the field of publications, Helen was named co-general manager of The Times for the annual senior issue by Miss Rowena Harvey, publications adviser.

South Side Speakers Are Able To See Play

The five South Side speakers eligible for entry in the national speech contest anticipate attending a play at the famous Pasadena Playhouse in Beverly Hills. All entrants desirous of attending the performance will do so as guests of the producers. In regard to the presentation, Charles F. Prickett, one of the Playhouse producers, has written the following letter to Charles F. Wright:

Dear Mr. Wright:
It may be interesting for you to know that the play which the Playhouse will give on June 23 for the participants and delegates of the National Speech Tournament is J. B. Priestly's "I Have Been Here Before."

Yours very truly,
CHARLES F. PRICKETT.

Totem Covers To Be Leather For This Year

Color Still Remains Secret; Will Contain More Pictures Than Ever Before

Date Of Delivery Is Set For June 2

Underclassmen Polls, Reconstruction Pictures Are Special Features Of Book

"What will the cover of The 1939 Totem be like?" is the question of many subscribers as they await June 2, the Totem's date of delivery. The Totem staff and Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser, have stated that the cover will be leather but will not divulge the color of it.

These covers, which will last forever, enfold more pages than The Totem has ever contained before.

Also featured in The 1939 Totem are the results of the underclassmen polls. Students may have been wondering since last December who the prettiest, the most popular, or the best dancer, of their class is. Those students' pictures will appear in this Totem.

Pictures of the reconstructed South Side and the process of reconstruction will also be of interest to this year's subscribers. As Max Spencer, editor, says, "These pictures will hold a lasting memory of the biggest improvement of the 1938-39 school year. Never again can these pictures be taken; so the students with 1939 Totems will have more than owners of past Totems ever had."

Janice Dyer has contributed a good deal of her work to its memento. Miss Harvey says, "Janice has given The Totem the greatest art work of her whole high school career. Four full pages, besides two cuts which are seventeen and a half by eleven inches each, are adorned with her handiwork." On some pages she pictured important people such as Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Miss Martha Pittenger, and Mr. Merle J. Abbett.

Students wishing to have separate copies of pictures in the book may stop at The Totem office and purchase them. However, these pictures will not be sold until after the books have been delivered.

950 books are being printed, so students may still subscribe by bringing $2.25 to The Totem office. However, it will be impossible for these students to have their names embossed on the covers.

The major 1939 Totem staff consists of Max Spencer, editor; Kenneth Warren, business manager; Nadine Mueller and Phyllis Geller, circulation managers; Janice Dyer, publicity manager; and Margie Quackenbush, Laura Jane Reed, Bob Byers, Eugene Schmidt, Dick Buchholz, Hazel Perry, Dick Garton and Margery Wallace, assistant circulation managers.

Music Department Presents Features

Jack, Betty Wainwright Feature In Last Music Assembly This Semester; Give Good Program

One of the best features of South Side's last music assembly this semester was the solo of Director Jack Wainwright. Presented with a petition with 1,500 signatures, he was asked to play. To the disappointment of the assembly Mr. Wainwright informed them that his horn had not arrived. He was forced to play on an old trombone on which the slide was stuck. Summoning the janitor, they succeeded in breaking and smashing the horn. When the new trombone arrived, Mr. Wainwright played "Yankee Doodle" on the tool used to open the box. Then he played a selection, "Tangle Foot."

Another of the fine features was the surprise presentation of pieces on the harp by Betty Wainwright, who is a graduate of South Side. She has played in the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra and arranges harp parts in movie shorts. She is the daughter of our director, Jack Wainwright.

The presentations that were chosen by the home rooms were: "Semiramide Overture" played by the orchestra. The band repeated the "William Tell Overture" for which it has had many requests. Gerald Polman dressed as a peddler and carrying umbrellas sang "Umbrella Man." A harmony selection, "Out of the Dusk to You," was sung by Joan Earl and Betty Franklin.

Carl Goebel and Frances Van Buskirk presented formal dancing to "Neopolitan Nights," accompanied by orchestra and chorus. Wayne Wright sang "On Parade," accompanied by the orchestra. By special request, the band played "Finlandia." Also the chorus sang, "Marianina." One popular number was played by the band. It presented "Stardust."

Archer Airplane Club To Hold Annual Picnic

On Friday, June 22, at 4 o'clock, approximately twenty boys of the South Side Airplane Club will hold their annual picnic. Mr. Joseph Plaschke, club adviser, announced that the final plans had been completed by the club officers. The boys will play a couple of games before they eat their evening meal. After supper they will have a few more games, recognize any outstanding member of the club and then go home.

At the last meeting of the club, after deciding what to do at the picnic, the boys proceeded to the gym, where they had a chance to test any plane they might have with them.

Incidentally, fellows! How many of you have already graced the lucky ladies by asking them to that social highlight, the Senior Dance. From upperclass illusions it promises to be nothing but outstanding.

It's just so many days now, Archer enthusiasts, before the final cap and gown procession will be wending its way from our Southern portals into the ranks of another world. Here's the best of luck to each and every one of them.

Nice Conduct, Gentle Students!

When things come to a show down, South Side students surely know how to act in a public gathering. Witness—the Rubinoff and his violin assembly. We don't know when we have noted such all-round interest of the whole student body nor when we have heard less noise at an assembly. All during the time Rubinoff was playing his theme song, the gym was so silent that one could almost have heard a pin, had one been dropped. Even admitted that the type of assembly presented had a lot to do with the students giving their undivided attention, still it was a great step forward toward more polite conduct in future assemblies. If at every assembly in the future South Side reacts in such a fine fashion, we can all be assured of bigger and better assemblies. How about it, South Siders?

Listen Fellows! How About Taking Your Time Slower?

For some time the students of this school have been complaining about the crowded conditions in the halls and in the locker rooms. Whether the student body as a whole does or does not realize it, this condition need not exist in present form; because it is the result of the actions of the students themselves. If every one in the school pushes, shoves, and bumps into other people, and takes absolutely no interest in what is happening to other people, there can be only chaos as at the present. But, if everyone would co-operate and extend only help and courtesy to neighbors and fellow Archers, we could indeed be proud of our hall and locker room traffic systems. Naturally a Utopia cannot be achieved overnight. If this were done, there would be little appreciation for the deed; but if all will work together, there will be a much smaller number of bruises and other wounds or injuries suffered inside this school.

Ditch-Digging Might Become Some Folk But Not Graduates

In a few weeks, that's not very far off, our seniors will leave South Side and their places will be taken by other persons who will be called seniors instead of juniors. Wouldn't it be interesting to follow each graduate of this school to find out just what he or she becomes, and what they have done in the world to make themselves and others happy? A large number of Archers plan to attend college; others will be satisfied with going to business college; and others will start right in at some work in an effort to acquire valuable training and experience while still very young.

No matter what each one does, it would indeed be interesting to see what part South Side has played in their careers. Maybe some will go on to be great athletes, others to become doctors, lawyers, teachers, and members of many other fields of endeavor; but whatever it might be, we think it would be more fun to see how their years at this school helped them to prepare for their future life so that perhaps the knowledge thus gained would help us, those who will follow the graduating class, to find out what we should get out of high school life. Undoubtedly, many grads can tell us that their time in classes here caused them to take up a certain line of occupation. We wonder if the time spent in high school has been used by many of the grads to their best advantage. Probably not, but, if some flicker of ambition crossed their path while here, that is indeed a heartening fact. Maybe the same thing will happen to us so that we can be sure about what we want to do or be after we leave this place.

Meanwhile, why waste high school years! There are many good times to be had, and things to do that will be of great advantage later on. Too often students lose valuable time in high school, time which could be spent making friends, learning things, getting acquainted with unknown objects, time which could mean much if the person had the right attitude. So our advice is, take heed to the words of grads and don't waste high school years; they come only once in a lifetime.

There have been polls and polls taken, but the Isaac C. Elston Senior has inaugurated a new one. A poll of favorite colors. The results were that blue was the favorite. Blue, incidentally, is the coldest color. The symbol of courage, red, was the second best color. The next choice was green. This shade is the national color of Ireland as well as the sacred color of the Mohammedans.

The Crimson Comet.

Russ Hoogerhyde, a second Robin Hood with his bow and arrow, was presented to the students of the East High School in a recent assembly. Feats that he has accomplished are shooting balls out of an assistant's hands, shooting two arrows at once, shooting from behind his back, left-handed, and a fantastic upside down shot.

Aurora, Illinois.

Teachers are always telling us that to carve into the desks at school is a bad habit, and I agree with them and add that it shows up a person's breeding. The Santa Maria Union High has the right idea. They have a special place reserved in their school for the purpose of printing "fools names in public places." Maybe this would not be so practical for us, but it's an idea.

A little squeal,
And down she goes.

Benny Goodman, who will appear here soon, will have a new songbird when he opens at the Coconut Grove. The new vocalist, who will replace Martha Tilton, is a resident of Alhambra, California. These facts were taken from the Alhambra Moor.

What Would You Do?

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party." Committees to the right of them and so on. Well, say anything you want and it all adds up to this—there are too many party, potluck, and picnic committees to go to, especially when they can't get together on the important difference between a whole sandwich and a whole piece of bread, whether or not a piece of bread makes a whole or half sandwich. Honestly, I'm so mixed up I don't know which side is up—they say the buttered side. Oh, well, let me give you some pointers on attending these committee meetings and how to defend yourself in times of internal strife. Take it from one who goes.

- If the members can't make up their minds as to how much of the park to lease, you should.
 - Recall the fact that even Hedy Lamar couldn't persuade the Park Board to give her the whole park. Not if we know the swell city.
 - Remember the song, "We cover the water front." Why not?
 - Think, so they are wanting the whole park now, mosquitoes and all. My, my, what next?

★ Info Please ★

Since the recent announcement of the leaders of the graduating class, students are voicing their opinions of what they think about having a valedictorian and a salutatorian. Well, it seems that their ideas are all pro and none con. Since such honors are really honors, it seems that just the mere thought of becoming class leaders inspires underclassmen to work for such a goal.

A few of the Archers were asked to voice their opinions and the results are thus:

Dot Gardner: I think it is a good idea, but the students that lose this honor by just a few points don't get recognition due them.

Bob Hageman: A student who works hard deserves such a recognition.

Betty Geake: It is a good idea, because in this way the student who is high ranking can really be recognized for the good work he has done.

Bob Peters: I think it is a good thing. It gives a student something to work for.

Marjorie Dyer: I am in favor of it, because it affords students a definite goal to work for.

Tom Roy: We should have them, because it is something for a person to work for.

Phyllis Frysinger: I think people who work hard for four years and who reach this goal should be recognized for it.

Dick Shorter: I think it is a swell idea. It gives a student something to look up to and something to work for.

Norma Jean Sprunger: It creates a desire to work hard to achieve such a goal.

Aletha Randol: It is a swell idea, because it gives you something to really work for and something to look forward to.

George Finkenhausen: I think it is a good idea, because I believe that students in the senior class who receive these honors show that they have had a strong will power to work and make good grades.

Off The Press

Editorial Comment: Last week an assembly was held at which the speaker did not talk loud enough for everyone in the auditorium to hear him. Therefore, many of the students, especially on the north end of the gym, turned to other forms of entertainment. Perhaps this seemed a good idea at the time, but actually it was very discourteous to the speaker. We believe that there should be some way to prevent the recurrence of this thing. Maybe it would help if Mr. Snider would explain to guest speakers and also to members of our own faculty that since we are not now blessed with an auditorium, and because of this, the speakers must almost yell in order to be heard.

Nice Work. Many times we have been told that "steady couples" don't last, so we want to give those disbelievers an example of a steady couple that lasted on through high school. The people—Eleanor Vesey, incidentally a swell person, and one who really fits the title of salutatorian; and Ozzie Eggers, last year's class prexy. What do you say now, you unbelievers in the life of a steady?

We Wonder: where the writers of successful columns get all of their bright ideas? If they use the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow; then, let it pour.

New Combinations: During the past few weeks, we have seen a large number of new couples getting together; often for the first time and often for the second or more times. Anyhow here are a few: Alice Hall and Bob McKay, at the Junior Prom; Betty Harrison and Ray Heavner, same place; Pat Seibel and Karl Eberly; Virginia Groth, of North Side, and Dick Galloway; Jean Weil and Dick Galloway; Marjorie McMahon and Dick Galloway (evidently a popular person); Jean Weil and Karl Eberly; Betsy Dale, another North Sider, and Bob Young; and naturally enough others too numerous to name. With all the flowers that bloom in the spring tra-la, may be that a couple of new romances will bloom from among all of the seeds floating about in that little group mentioned above.

Where Is the Lowdown on that party attended a Saturday or so ago by several unexpected guests. Must have been an evening for everyone involved.

Now It Can Be Told

Prepare yourselves for a shock! There is actually going to be only two more issues of the reputed Times. So if you desire to see some of your friends' (?) names spattered in the dirt column, you'd better start slinging the dirt, pronto. In other words, let's really have a super-super dirt column next week.

What's happened to that swell romance that was developing so nicely between Maury Lehman and Eleanor Carroll of North Side? It seems to me that they should get together again since they got along so swell for such a long while.

Some of these absent-minded girls that haunt South Side. Tch, tch. Ruth Ann Archer made four different dates for the night of May 13. What I'd like to know is how did "forgetful" Ruthie get out of this mess? It must have looked like a mob scene at her house that night.

Is Bob Robinson ever burned up since Dick Galloway started dating Kate Kuntz. The answer is definitely yes. Bob was getting along fine and dandy with the lady of his affections when Dick decided to do his share of wooing the fair Catherine.

The itty Jean Weil has been seen practically everywhere lately with witty Dickie Green. Now if there was a third party in this picture, I could label them the Three Little Fishies.

Bob McKay is enviously watching Don Parkinson to find out what he's got that gets that cutie Alice Hall. He's getting nowhere fast by the way, 'cause Don is a very complex fellow.

Kenny Warren at last mustered up enough courage to ask LaVerna Greiner to the Senior Dance. It looks

Among Those Present

"Guess Who" is a popular game at the moment. Let's have a session of it. Who's that prize package of personality-plus, that panty-waist, who plugs placidly for the prolongation of our pupiled portals, pedagogues, and paper (bet even Fibber's be jealous o' that)? That dandel never in distress, always at ease who carries her five-foot, one hundred-leven pound self, daintily as you please? Whose favorite dish, pastime, sport, and otherwise is Dick Keyser? That's the give-away—well sooner or later you'd have guessed it was Miss Nadine Diane "Nikki" Mueller anyway!

"Nikki" simply abounds in honors, extra-curricular activities, etc.—a number of these are her presidency of Marionette Club, her membership in Quill and Scroll Society, National Honor, and four-year honor roll. She is secretary of her junior class and is a present member of the senior social council. G. A. A. may claim her as a letter girl, the Totem as circulation manager, The Times as a room agent. She recently received a distinguished honor by being elected Ivy Queen of her class. Her second rate sport (the first is mentioned above) is dancing; and her bestest pal, (a bit irrelevant, nevertheless true) Janice Dyer. She can make a meal on popcorn and lime phosphates alone. Her favorite subject is English; song, "Begin the Beguine"; orchestra, Guy Lombardo; and actor, Richard Greene (wait'll Ducky Dick hears o' this craving!). Miss Nik is a competent musician also—plays the accordion. Jack Benny directs her favorite radio program. A special portion of her heart is reserved for Chuck McCarthy, too.

She kind of yearns for a career of physical education, directing with possibly a continuation of her education at Indiana Extension. Incidentally another of those immigrants from Smart School.

The Musically Minded element in South Side is once again in raptures over the announcement that Benny Godman of swing fame will probably play the popular tunes at the Paramount in a short time. No doubt Archers have absorbed more music from well-known orchestras during the past months than ever before; but it is such fun; ain't it?

For the beach a long robe matching your sun tanning costume is in order. For a dazzling effect use all white for one such outfit.

The snood idea is not a new one, but crocheting is. What has that got to do with fashion? Just this. Crochet yourself snoods in every color to wear with your summer ensembles.

If you have several skirts and blouses of matching or contrasting colors and fabrics, you will be surprised at the amount of outfits one can dish up.

If you have a pastel wool dress that lacks the smartness of this season's numbers, put eyellet embroidered collar and cuffs on it and let a matching slip hang out.

This summer the place for the decoration or attraction is the hemline. You might trim a navy blue serge skirt with rows of tiny, white pearl buttons. With the skirt wear a wine sweater trimmed also with the tiny buttons. For other hemline accent you could use braid, the point is to express yourself.

You could make a stunning pastel printed wool chalis with, of course, a tight waist. Instead of the full skirt, put about fourteen rows of ruffles on it. Have it slightly flared.

Since white collars on black have become so prominent why not vary the effect with something a little different. Tie a crisp, white embroidered baby bib around the neck of a severely plain frock and pin a tiny gold pin on it to anchor it down.

Why is it that Marilyn Chaney gets all worked up into a nervous state every time she sets eyes on Jim Warren? Says Marilyn "He has got that certain something that gets me. Wow!" End of quote.

And so comes the end of another dirt column and with it a hint. Let's try to get as much dirt as possible concerning the senior class, because they are leaving our dear portals soon never to return. What a sad thought!

Through The Looking Glass

With Dorothy Bloemker
Since this is a new column, we have decided to attempt to give you a little bit of everything. (You know, sort of like a tenses).

First, we bring you the want ads. To sell, A black and white terrier pup. Will eat anything. Loves children.

Also to sell: Oak bedstead. Formerly the property of a neat old maid. Has a solid wooden head and latticed foot.

Now we bring you Why, Daddy, Why (Courtesy, Baby Snooks).

Why isn't everybody as smart as I am?... Why didn't the shark eat those three little fishes?... (Editor's note: 'cause it was three to one and past his dinner time)... Why doesn't that Archer ever let go of the arrow?... Why does gum have more flavor after a night on the bedpost?... Why doesn't someone oil the Times mice so their squeaking doesn't bother columnists with late stories? (It's not polite to talk about yourself—Ed)... Why does my father get mad when he finds that I am at the bottom of my class? (Doesn't he know the same thing is taught at both ends?)

Grime from the Smokestack: And when I say grime, I mean just plain unadulterated grime.

Marge Quackenbush has fallen for Stu Welborn, but why shouldn't she—the affair has gone far enough for him to ask her to go steady. But he must take into consideration the fact that she was at Lake James with another... Chuck Long has again found that his whole universe revolves about Betty Marquardt. Now the perfect couple is back together, we think, for keeps... Jack (Freddie Bartholomew) Lindsey is a regular butterfly with young lassies around these h'yar halls... Personal snooping on the part of one of my stooges (don't blame me for what they saw) disclosed that Bud Lampton and Thompsie Hall got along just swell at one of the latest dances... And then there is the ever-burning adoration of Red Ferguson for Jeanne Gumper (but she doesn't mind).

But enough about people you know, let's have some Brief Biographies of people high school students aren't expected to know (at least, we don't think so).

Benjamin Franklin—He was born in Boston, traveled to Philadelphia, met a lady on the street, she laughed at him, he married her, and discovered electricity.

Edmund Burke—Born at Dublin, his speech was a sensation to the Parliament. Old enough to retire, so he did.

And now we take up the progress of a typical high school student. As a freshman he thought a bread and butter note was what your mother gave you when she sent you to the store. As a sophomore he said, "On account of my rheumatism the doctor told me to avoid dampness, and you've no idea how silly I look sitting in an empty bathtub and going over myself with a vacuum cleaner." As a junior he asked, "Who will take me to the Junior Prom?" And when he became a lofty senior, we asked him why there are fewer railroad accidents than automobile accidents and he said, "Because the engineer isn't always hugging the fireman."

This was too good to pass up, sooo: What did the man sitting on the ground looking up at the horse say? "I must be a little off." (Ain't it the truth though?)

This has been too much for me (and I suspect the same in your behalf) so for now I shall take leave of all you guys and gals with the admonition to always be kind to people whose name came after With.

Along The Clothes Line

Most of the bathing suits of this year's stock are more conservative, but they are showing a few two-piece ones made of smooth fitting, stunningly printed latex.

For the beach a long robe matching your sun tanning costume is in order. For a dazzling effect use all white for one such outfit.

The snood idea is not a new one, but crocheting is. What has that got to do with fashion? Just this. Crochet yourself snoods in every color to wear with your summer ensembles.

If you have several skirts and blouses of matching or contrasting colors and fabrics, you will be surprised at the amount of outfits one can dish up.

If you have a pastel wool dress that lacks the smartness of this season's numbers, put eyellet embroidered collar and cuffs on it and let a matching slip hang out.

This summer the place for the decoration or attraction is the hemline. You might trim a navy blue serge skirt with rows of tiny, white pearl buttons. With the skirt wear a wine sweater trimmed also with the tiny buttons. For other hemline accent you could use braid, the point is to express yourself.

You could make a stunning pastel printed wool chalis with, of course, a tight waist. Instead of the full skirt, put about fourteen rows of ruffles on it. Have it slightly flared.

Since white collars on black have become so prominent why not vary the effect with something a little different. Tie a crisp, white embroidered baby bib around the neck of a severely plain frock and pin a tiny gold pin on it to anchor it down.

Why is it that Marilyn Chaney gets all worked up into a nervous state every time she sets eyes on Jim Warren? Says Marilyn "He has got that certain something that gets me. Wow!" End of quote.

And so comes the end of another dirt column and with it a hint. Let's try to get as much dirt as possible concerning the senior class, because they are leaving our dear portals soon never to return. What a sad thought!

Flicking The Tips

No dates? Well that's a mighty serious problem. It will take lots of thinking and redoing to satisfy your hunger for dates. It will involve lots of plotting and planning to get dates with the right people.

If there is some tall, dark, and handsome lad that you have had your eye on for a long time that you'd like to meet, plot and plan until one scheme works. There are various ways to strike up acquaintances. Drop something in front of him. Invite your friends over and have someone that knows him bring him along and introduce you. Use your head! But after you have met him, don't let it stop there. Find out what type he likes and alter yourself accordingly. From there on, you're on your own.

If you are not seen around, boys will forget that you're a possible date. Ask boys that you admire to the dances at which it is perfectly proper for girls to ask dates. It will take a lot of nerve and courage, but it will be worth it. If he accepts, you must carefully prepare for the event. Be sure that you go with a crowd of people and you will be assured of a good time. Dress appropriately so that he will be proud of you. Never let the conversation lag. If you are one the many who have to struggle to keep up the conversation, plan what you are going to talk about beforehand. Think up a few good subjects to chew the rag about and be sure they are subjects that he is well informed about. Boys always like to make a good showing, and they are always pleased to think that they are telling you something that you don't know the least thing about. If you pick out something big enough and interesting enough, perhaps it will carry you through half of the evening.

If you go to dances and are a wall-flower, do something about it. There is no reason why you should sit out every dance that your date is engaged in tripping the light fantastic with someone else. If you plan and scheme, you too can "rope" someone else's date. (Don't, however, make a practice of it.) If it is your dancing that is holding you back, you know how to remedy that fault!

And the old adage again proves itself of value, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try, again!"

Way Down South

With final exams coming or being over, everybody is a mental wreck. And with the tempting weather we have outdoors, everybody is a physical wreck. So if this column doesn't sound up to par (which is not very high itself) don't blame the consequences entirely on us. Anyhow let's go to press:

A SPRING CLASS:

The third period class entered the hot, dark room as if they were walking the last mile to their unapplauded doom. They then slouch down in their respective seats to await the entrance of their pedagogues. His burly shape looms over the horizon, and in he comes while the students slouch farther down in their seats as if they were preparing themselves for a period of hibernation. The teacher then nonchalantly leads off with the recitation, thoroughly unaware of the inner thoughts of the students. Suddenly the tired little boy in the back row lets forth with a reverberating snore thus waking the teacher up to the state of the class.

A PENNY FOR YOUR THOUGHTS

Was the question put before Joel Salon last week by Rubinoff. Joel thought he'd be smart and snap a picture of Rubinoff for next year's Totem. Well, Joel, expert that he is, must have gotten a little bit nervous in the process of snapping the picture; for he wasted one whole flash bulb by mistakenly snapping a picture of the floor. But the real humor in the incident happened later. After Joel had snapped Mr. Rubinoff's picture, Rubinoff so generously offered our little photographer a whole great big copper penny for his trouble. Wasn't that thoughtful of him though!

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD

That Delores Daniels' favorite song is none other than "Now It Can Be Told." However, if we can't tell the name of the individual involved in this situation, we can give a little description. He's a junior in our midst, and he possesses dark hair. Delores always makes it a practice to go out of her way to class just so she can get a little glimpse of her S. P.

100th Birthday Of Concordia Will Be Feted

Parade Begins Celebration; Cyclists And Pedestrians Will Compete For Prizes

Thursday, June 1, South Side will take part in the civic celebration of Concordia College's one hundredth year. Also in the educational group will be North Side, Central and Central Catholic. These schools will all have a special float and decorated bicycles. The bands of the respective schools will lead the floats and the student body.

To stimulate student participation in the parade, a trophy or award will be given to the school having the largest percentage of its enrollment in the line of march. Also individual prizes of five dollars, three dollars and two dollars for the three best decorated bicycles will be awarded to each school. This means that both bicycles and persons on foot are wanted. A motorcycle or squad car escort is provided for safety of those riding bicycles.

Plan Parade Route

Following the parade, which will begin at the intersection of 10th and 11th streets, will go down Barr Street, then east on Washington, down Maumee to the Concordia Stadium over the east drive where the entire parade will be viewed, a bronze tablet indicating the flagstaff plus the flagstaff will be dedicated by Major Ottomar Krueger of Concordia College. Military groups under the direction of Major F. H. Boucher, will also be present. Robert Bartel is in charge of the entire parade.

Covered wagons pulled by a team of oxen will blaze the way. Following this will be people dressed in costumes of the people one hundred years ago. Colors, consisting of the American and several school flags, will be next. Major Baals, President Krueger and military leagues will be in the first part of the procession.

By the request of the Public Relations Committee, Concordia College cadets will escort the parade to Concordia College campus.

The school groups will be followed by city and county officers, then the military groups of the city, which will be followed by the civic groups. The athletic groups will come next, consisting of all the soft and hard ball teams of the city in their respective uniforms, the Fort Wayne Turner tumbling team, General Electric Athletic Club team, St. Joe Athletic Club and Y. M. C. A. volleyball team.

Community To Aid

The civic community organizations will consist of the representatives of the police and fire departments. The police will be dressed in their spick-and-span new uniforms. Fort Wayne's first fire fighting apparatus, just as it was one hundred years ago, will be represented. A 4-horse-drawn stage coach, operated in Fort Wayne and points north of Fort Wayne one hundred years ago, will be a feature in the parade.

Various other features and many other beautiful floats will be viewed. All the marchers will carry balloons bearing the print of the memorial to be dedicated. Sixteen bands have declared their intention to participate in the parade.

Travel Club Picnic To Be Wednesday

Swinney Park Is Site Of Annual Affair; Phyllis Branning Is In Charge Of Arrangements

Travel Club's annual picnic will be held next Wednesday after school at Swinney Park. Phyllis Branning is in general charge of the picnic.

Helen Luepke is in charge of entertainment for the affair and Aleda Randol is assisting her. Irene Briggs is in charge of the eats and Irene Shultz is her assistant. Wieners and buns, potato chips, pickles, cookies and ice cream comprise the menu. Various games will be played throughout the evening. Nothing will be charged the members of Travel Club for this picnic, and even the transportation will be provided for them.

Installation of next term's officers was held at the last meeting of the club, Wednesday, May 17. This term's officers also took part in the ceremony, and it was carried on in poetry. San Francisco was the theme of the meeting, and Lilias Patton was in charge. Mary Jane Christie began the program by telling of her trip to the city of San Francisco last August. She also showed some snapshots of the city to the club. Mildred Brett talked on the organization of the San Francisco fair. Irene Meyer spoke on the celebration of the opening of the fair, and Wilma Jean Sullivan told about the buildings on Treasure Island. Following this, Mildred Brett and Emelyn Kemmel sang "California, Here I Come" and "San Francisco," accompanied by Elaine Hirschey at the piano and Betty Elbertson at the violin. Refreshments consisting of lemon-orangeade and cookies were then served.

Teacher's Father Dies After Full Law Career

Mr. David E. Smith, father of Miss Gretchen Smith, gym instructor, died Saturday, at his home, after a two-week illness. Mr. Smith served as judge of the Adams circuit court at Decatur from 1913 until moving to Fort Wayne in 1919. He was a member of the Fort Wayne School Board from 1929 to 1937 and served one term as president of the board. He was a thirty-third degree Mason. Former Judge Smith was a member of the Allen County Bar Association, the Methodist Church, Knights of Pythias Lodge at Decatur, and Sigma Chi, national collegiate social fraternity. He was possessed of one of the keenest of legal minds and his scholarship was by no means limited to law. His wisdom, integrity, and sunny personality were respected and admired by everyone.

Slick Establishments Starts New Method Of Pillow Cleaning

Pioneering in an entirely new field, Slick's Family Washing Service, located at 3200 South Clinton, have established the new Muroza feather pillow cleaning service for the benefit of the citizens of Fort Wayne and vicinity. Boasting of the new process which completely cleans both the ticking and the feathers of the pillow without damage, Slick's have installed this new service for only forty-nine cents per pillow.

In this new scientific, safe method of cleaning, the feathers are transferred by suction from the ticking to a clean, individual cloth bag. The ticking, a necessary part to the process, is then thoroughly washed, sterilized, and beautifully ironed.

The soiled feathers are transferred from the cloth bag to the Muroza feather cleaning and sterilizing system where each tickful of feathers is scientifically cleaned in a separate, completely enclosed compartment. The feathers are not washed but are thoroughly and immaculately cleaned by pure, filtered, fresh air, and gentle sterilizing steam that completely destroys any germs or bacteria.

The combined action of gentle steam and rapidly circulating fresh air restores the natural curl to the feathers as it cleans and sterilizes them.

Feathers that are flat and packed down become downy and fluff to make a softer, lighter, more lovely pillow. After the feathers have been thoroughly cleaned, sterilized and fluffed, they are blown back into the clean, sterilized ticking without once being touched by hand, and the pillow feathers never come in contact with feathers from any other person's pillow. The original feathers are sent back to the owners in a soft, fresh, sterile, clean pillow.

Interview With Wayne King Is Given To Times Reporter

By Bob Martin

With the King and Queen of England having landed on the shores of North America, we, not to be outdone by other reporters, set out to interview another titled gentleman, Wayne King, "The Waltz King." Mr. King came here from Indianapolis, and after a six-day stay moved on to Washington, D. C., with his unit which is one of the best stage shows that has graced the Paramount stage this season.

Included in his revue were Peppino and Camille, very graceful exhibition dancers; Dean Murphy, an impersonator who stopped the show, and Lynn Royce and Vanya, a Dancers' Nightmare.

Answers Questions

After the show we found Mr. King willing to answer any and all of our questions, and here's how the answers ran.

Mr. King's home town is Savannah, Illinois, where he attended public schools. His hobbies are flying and fishing. His favorite sports are football and golf. For his favorite subject he picked accounting which almost became his life's work. As to any pet peeves, he has none.

Mr. King is 5 feet 9 and 1/2 inches tall, has blue eyes and brown hair. His favorite type of music is American numbers. There are thirteen in his band, including himself, which proves that thirteen is not an unlucky number for him.

Wayne King and his orchestra have been on the air for a good many years on such programs as "Lady Esther" and many others.

Proves Flying Ability

While flying, he has had many interesting moments in which he has had to prove his ability as a pilot. Several times he has run out of gas on long flights and had to land "dead stick." This is probably done every day by someone somewhere but it is something that shouldn't be attempted unless you know your flying.

Now here is something that will prove interesting to you fans of the swing piece, "Josephine." It was originally a "hot" clarinet chorus for the number "Twenty Million People," which Wayne King and the orchestra recorded some seven years ago. It grew so popular that they just played the hot chorus of the piece. Then it was called "I Found You." When words were needed, they changed the

Speakers Hold Tenth Banquet Monday Night

Eighty-seven Wranglers To Be Honored At Fete; Eddie Reeves Is Toastmaster

Wranglers' Club's tenth anniversary banquet was held in the school cafeteria last Monday, May 22. Eighty-seven public speakers were honored at the affair of which Eddie Reeves, club president, presided as toastmaster. Mr. Herbert E. Rieke, guest speaker, discussed "New Frontiers."

The first and tenth presidents of the organization were featured speakers. Paul Brunner, charter member head, reminisced in regard to the club's early activities. Tenth President Eleanor Cupp, explained the "Policy of Isolation" adopted by the Wranglers during her term of office. The Psi Iota Xi plaque, awarded to Freshmen-Sophomore speech winners, was presented to Harold Brudi and Robert Safer by Mrs. A. J. Carson. The McAlister Extemp Trophy was presented by Helen Banks to Thomas Gallmeyer and Robert Safer. Declaration medals were presented to Robert Safer, Helen Wiehe, Jeannette Warren, June McAlister and Bill Newhard during her term of office. Medals for extemporaneous speaking were awarded Bob Robinson and Tom Gallmeyer.

Award Gold S's

Eleven active student speakers were given the coveted gold "S" by the Wrangler organization. It is the highest award to be attained as a speech student. Recipients were Thomas Gallmeyer, June McAlister, Bill Newhard, Bruce Bradbury, Robert Safer, Helen Wiehe, Joyce McAlister, James Murphy, Jeanne Gumpner, Ed Reeves and Jeannette Warren. They were presented by Richard Garton.

The eighty-seven speech enthusiasts who were presented with Wrangler honor awards by Anna Lou Kowalski are: Alison Arnold, John Bonsib, Sam Bacon, Bruce Bradbury, Charles Bollman, Bob Byers, Tom Gallmeyer, Carl Goebel, Dick Garton, Jeanne Gumpner, Max Kimble, Phyllis Geller, June McAlister, Joyce McAlister, Edward Reeves, James Murphy, Bill Riethmiller, Bob Robinson, Dot Rohrbach, Ed Kettler, Hank Veltok, Bob Safer, Marion Owens, Arthur Chevalier, Morton Nahrwald, Donna Foutz, Betty Daniels, Bill Gernand, Dorothy Gore, Dick Dyke, Margaret Null, Joe Bex, Dorothy Foellinger, Sally Moorhead, Dick Buchholz, Helen Wiehe, Eleanor Vesey, Margaret Niblick, Leonard Weinraub, Janice Dyer and Charles Will.

Others are Dick Shorter, Imogene Wright, Elaine Bernstein, Jeannette Warren, Harold Martin, Ed Meyer, Don Meyer, Dick Fishing, Wilma Lageman, Bill Siebold, Albert Schaaf, Max Atkins, Vereil Springer, Paul Keil, Janice Cross, Joyce Reed, Reba Coppock, Margaret Gross, Kenneth Warren, Caroline Lichtenberg, Ellenman Gross, Jane Bowen, Mary Holt Barrett, Safford McMyer, Marge Quakhouse, Carol Whittier, Marge Quakhouse, Dave Slatery, Marion Owens, Doris Hilbish, Ruth Luyben, Russell Long, Phyllis Hayner, Mary Harvill, Dorothy Gardner, Bill Bundy, Doris Williams, George Finkhausen, Eileen Hoffman, June Holzwarth, Evelyn Kruse, Nadine Mueller, Dorothy Ringenberg, Dick Warner, Dick Weaver, and Anna Lou Kowalski.

Service Club Holds Picnic Last Evening

The Service Club held its last social event of the year last night. This event was in the form of a picnic and was held at Foster Park at 5 o'clock.

Mr. A. Verne Flint, faculty adviser, and Doris Siebold, general chairman for this affair, made all arrangements for this function.

Before the meal, Betty Showalter and her committee arranged a baseball game. Finishing supper, the Service members participated in a scavenger hunt.

All students brought their own box lunches, but pop was served to all of them. Everyone that came donated five cents for this treat.

Those girls assisting Betty Showalter were Donna Dennis, Eileen Hoffman, and Helen Faux. Four girls made out notices and sent them to all Service Club members. Those girls were Alma Korte, chairman, Marjorie Jackson, Edna Volz, and Dorothy Bloemker.

"Westward Ho" Is Subject Of Wranglers' Annual Fete

South Side's Wranglers dined to the theme of "Westward Ho" Monday at the annual banquet of the club in the cafeteria. This theme was chosen because several Archers will travel to California this summer to compete in the national contests.

Starting at 6:30 o'clock with nearly 150 in attendance, the banquet proceeded to its climax when awards for outstanding achievements in public speaking during the past year were given to ardent Wranglers. After the eats had been served by a group of Archer boys, everyone sat back and listened to the speakers on the program. The fellows who acted as waiters for the banquet were Harold Martin, who was chairman of the group, Don Meyer, Ed Meyer, Tom Gallmeyer, Dick Buchholz, Bill Riethmiller, Jim Murphy, Vereil Springer, Roger Neff, Jim Brooks, Bob Brooks, Kenny Warren, Morton Nahrwald, Bob Robinson, Sam Bacon, John Bonsib and Ronald McVay. They acted in behalf of the club so that the money otherwise spent for some one to serve the food would go into the club treasury.

Colorful Decorations

Decorations for the banquet consisted of programs in the club colors, blue and gold, ceiling decorations in the same colors, and flowers also in Wrangler shades. The club colors were chosen earlier in the history of the club because the blue sky and gold stars were the favorite of the club members told about the blue sky and gold stars. Several songs were sung by the entire club, one of them being "California, Here I Come" in honor of the Archers going west for the nationals. In this song a verse was devoted to naming the speakers who will go west. A new club song also was dedicated by the entire membership of the organization.

Among the speakers who were on the program were two former officers of the club. One was Paul Brunner, the first president of the club, and the other, Eleanor Cupp, tenth secretary of the club. These two were the first speakers on the program and were followed by Eddie Reeves, now the twentieth president, who spoke on the progress of the organization; Helen Banks, who presented extemp contest awards; Bill Newhard, who gave a solo; Dick Strasburg, a piano solo; Dick Shorter, who made awards for the declamation contests; Dick Garton, who presented eleven gold-letter S pins for interscholastic competition; Anna Lou Kowalski, who presented eighty-five Wrangler honor awards; Dick Strasburg, another piano solo; and Mr. Herbert Rieke, who spoke on "New Frontiers." Mrs. Alda Jane Carson presented the winner of the last two Freshman-Sophomore speech contests with their plaque awards during the first part of the program.

Many Guests Attend

A large number of guests, mostly members of the faculty of this school and others connected with the school, as well as parents of some of the students, were present for the banquet.

All in all, Wranglers' banquet, celebrating the tenth anniversary of the club went off to the complete satisfaction of all involved. The program celebrating the tenth anniversary of the club was designed to show the progress the club has made during its years of organization and what is in store for it in years to come.

Oh, So You Wish To Find Out About Honor Day Awards?

The Laurels of Olympus. The badge for the Knights of the Garter. The Victoria Cross. D.D., Ph.D., M.D., A.M., or A.B. degrees. Pulitzer prize. Nobel award—all of these awards are desired and coveted by great people, but they mean not a whit to the present South Side students who have Recognition Day on which to reap their rewards.

The Senior Latin award is one of the most worked for rewards for four years of this language. It is awarded to the student making the highest grade on a certain test; besides being based upon previous Latin grades. For two boys who have majored in science, there is the hope of winning one of the Bausch and Lomb Science awards. Faculty members of the science department vote for two boys who are then given medals to be kept permanently. One of the boys is chosen at mid-semester, but his name is not announced until Recognition Day in June.

New Voorhees Award

A new award this year is the Voorhees essay award. All students completing three years of high school science are eligible to compete in the essay contest for this honor. The essay is on the subject of "How the Study of Science has Benefited Me." The Social Science senior award is given to the boy who, in the opinion of the faculty deserves it most. The Hi-Y Best Citizen awards are given to the boy and girl which are selected by the entire faculty to represent best citizenship. Their names are engraved upon a plaque which is kept by the school.

D. A. R. Offers Awards

Best Citizens awards are also given by the Daughters of the American Revolution. Janice Dyer was elected last April, and the boy chosen will be announced at the Recognition service.

Seniors To Receive Caps, Gowns June 1

Seniors will obtain their caps and gowns Thursday, June 1, to wear the next day in the Recognition program. The caps and gowns were formerly distributed in the Greeley Room and it is probable that they will again be distributed there. Seniors receive their caps and gowns upon payment of $2.

Sponsors Trip

Mrs. Dorothy Rieke

Mrs. Dorothy Rieke will sponsor the South Side five winning speakers who will take a trip to Beverly Hills, California, the week of June 19 to speak against national competition. Mrs. Rieke is asking all of South Side and all the friends of South Side to help back her in her efforts to raise money for this worthy cause. May 31 is the date set for the benefit program put on by the music department and many other interested people.

Archers To Attempt To Exact Justice In "Mock Trials"

For the next week Archers will attempt to deal out justice in several cases which are being brought to trial in Government 1 classes of Miss Hazel Milley, and also in the public speaking classes of Mrs. Dorothy Benner Rieke.

In every class which is to have a trial, committees of students are arranging details for the holding of the trials, to begin today and to continue until the end of the semester.

Gory murders, a very popular subject indeed, makes up the chief type of crime which is being discussed and sentences passed upon. In one case a man was killed in a rooming house. Witnesses called by the defense and the prosecution will appear during the trial with each side trying to gain either an acquittal or a conviction from the jury.

Hideous details brought out in the revaluation of the crimes will no doubt haunt many Archers for weeks and weeks to come. Each year classes study trials, and one of the best means of getting inside details about trials is to hold a mock trial. This system has found great enthusiasm in South Side among the students particularly since they get a lot of fun out of the trials.

So if you wonder about the sounds issuing from class rooms from now until the dismissal of school, remember: some one's life hangs on the balance of the decision of the jury.

Oliver F. Hinsdell To Judge Contest

Is Paramount Pictures Dramatic Coach; Attended University Of Northwestern

Oliver F. Hinsdell, Paramount Pictures dramatic coach, and a group of his colleagues will be available to judge finals in dramatic reading in the National Speech Tournament.

After graduation from Northwestern University, Mr. Hinsdell supported famed stage stars such as Nat Goodwin, Jane Cowl, and others in New York.

He then went to Le Petit Theatre du Vieux Carre, New Orleans, and attracted the attention of the Dallas Group. A $150,000 theatre was built, and Hinsdell produced plays with great success for eight years under its auspices. The Dallas and New Orleans theatres today rank ahead of all other non-professional theatres.

In 1931 he was called to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, for he had attracted their attention when his Dallas Little Theatre players took all honors at the National Little Theatre tournament in New York for the third successive year. He inaugurated the school for actors there which has trained such stars as Robert Taylor. Later he was transferred to Paramount.

Naturalness and individuality are stressed in Hinsdell's school. He urges all young people interested in stage and screen careers to get a college education and "background before trying Hollywood."

Prospective contestants in the declamation will do well to remember that Mr. Hinsdell believes in "naturalness and individuality."

Dinners To Be Given To Speech Contestants

Banquets are scheduled for both Monday and Tuesday evenings at the National Forensic League convention. The location of the banquets have been withheld as a surprise. But Charles S. Wright, tournament chairman, suggested that the banquets will be held in a location which "will add glamour to an already intriguing occasion."

Through the generous assistance of hundreds of Beverly Hills citizens, all national tournament contestants, congressmen and coaches will be accommodated without charge in the homes of the community. Non-participating visitors are not included. However, guests will provide their own meals. These rooms will be available Saturday afternoon, June 17, for the duration of the tournament.

Public Speakers To Meet In June

South Side To Send Five To Represent Indiana's Bid For The National Orator's Crown

The best high school speakers in America will gather at Beverly Hills, California, this June for the ninth National Speech Tournament.

This will be the first tournament to be held in the west. Previous tournaments were held in the mid-west or mid-east.

To accommodate the need for more travel time, a June date was chosen. In this manner students and instructors both will have opportunity to visit California en route.

Entry is limited to first and second place winners of established state contests and to like winners in the larger National Forensic League tournaments. Only first place winners in the smaller National Forensic League tournaments qualify.

No contestant is to travel to the tournament city until his eligibility has been established and his registration has been accepted.

Freshmen Close Baseball Season

Rose Stemen's Team Wins First Place In G. A. A. By Conquering Four Out Of Five Teams

The frosh baseball season has come to a close with Rose Stemen's "Sluggers" coming out on top. They attained this honor by winning four of their five games. Those on the winning team are Betty Baker, Betty Bligh, Dolores Bodenborn, Dolly Disler, Ilo Hirschman, Betty Littlefield, Audrey Longworth, Kathleen Neith, Gloria Orr, Neva Rabel, Rose Stemen, Vasilka Stephens, Maxine Voltz, Alice Witte, Lyons Melrose and Helen Peck. Lenore Moyer put her team in second place by leading them to three out of five victories. Martha Cash's team took third place.

Ending the season with a bang-up game, were Martha Cash's and Betty Hargan's teams. After two innings of fast and furious playing, Martha Cash's came out on top. Betty Kammeier and Elaine Boerger hit homers for the winning team. Pat Ehle saved the reputation of the losing team by smacking a home run. The final score was six to five. The final game of the evening was between Rose Stemen's players and Lenore Moyer's team. Rose Stemen and her teammates having won every game of the season, were set back by Lenore Moyer's mighty hitters. The score was very decisive, being twelve to six. Although Rose and Betty Baker hit homers for the losing team, they were completely outplayed by Moyer's team.

Flowers To Coach Collyer . . . George Collyer, South Side's new track coach, has certainly done a great job for the Archers. In his first year he has turned out one of the best squads the Green has seen, and this was not plain luck because he has taken a team which was ridiculed by graduation and made it into a fine squad. Mr. Collyer has also given all the boys a chance, whether they are slight of build or big and burly. He was also fair to all of the boys on the squad and gave everyone a chance to show his ability. Congratulations, Mr. Collyer and we hope you have continued success.

Watch Jim Worman . . . Jim Worman, big Archer freshman, has been burning the tracks lately with his great speed. Jim has just been out for track for about three weeks, but in this time he has made the varsity mile relay team and runs in the 220-yard dash. Jim's time in the quarter-mile run is about 55 seconds which is exceptionally fast for a freshman. Mr. Collyer pointed out some points for Jim to improve on, and Jim is now working very hard to get these straightened out. After he gets these straightened out, he should be one of the fastest men in the city.

What Can't Beery Do . . . Don Beery is one athlete that can do anything. He has demonstrated his ability in shot putting by winning in the sectional meet last week. Don can run any distance in very good time up to a half-mile which is very much out of the ordinary. Don was unable to run in his specialty, the 220-yard dash, last week because of a leg injury. Our only hope is that it won't bother him in his shot-putting this coming week for the state title.

Miscellaneous . . . LeRoy Cook is really proving to be a man of great endurance lately. LeRoy ran the mile and then immediately ran the half-mile. He did well in these by placing third in both. . . . Dave Roth has been doing some good running lately, his time in the quarter is 54 seconds. . . . Alison Arnold and Arden Altman are representing South Side for the second straight year at state. . . . Phil Pressler is rapidly improving in the mile run; Phil is always at LeRoy Cook's heels and last week came right in behind Cook in the Garrett meet. . . . For the first time in many years South Side has three half-milers who are capable of running it in less than 2:10. These boys are Paul Fremion, Dick Goshorn, and Paul Drewysier. . . . Burl Friddle, basketball coach, has really come through in the pinch. Mr. Collyer was sick a few days before the sectionals and Mr. Friddle very obligingly took up the duties of track coach until Mr. Collyer will return. That's really nice cooperation, Mr. Friddle!

'Bubbling' Ferguson Shows Much Ability In Football, Track

Robert "Bub" Ferguson is a very peculiar boy, for with his blond, curly hair and pleasing personality, he entered South Side from Harrison Hill grade school with the distinction of being the most timid freshman of his class. This is an unusual qualification for a future salesman. However, he soon became wrapped up in sports and determined to remain in that condition until his graduation this coming June.

This was a very move for he has ended up with two intramural letters plus a varsity letter, which he earned in football and track. During this, his senior year, he will be remembered as that speedy football player who looked so small and determined in our gridiron clash with North Side and as a member of the mile relay team on our track squad.

Bubby has lengthened his stride by becoming a consistent track winner in the broad-jumps; standing barely 5 feet 8 inches, he makes it a habit to complete a jump of 20 feet or more.

One of Bub's hobbies is fishing and like all true fishermen, he can be counted on to tell you about the one that got away. Bub is becoming Mr. Lightfoot of dancing and he prefers to be accompanied on such occasions by a mass of blonde hair and blue eyes and a slight Southern accent. Mr. Lightfoot has two teachers whom he believes to be the best. He likes Mr. Briner for his well organized intramural sports program and Mr. Collyer for his excellent work as track coach.

The only thing that Bubby disapproves of in South Side consists of not having a six-year term high school before you have to go out and really work. Don't forget the next time you see Bubby walking along, carrying track shoes and a few ball bats, plus a couple of golf clubs and a striped tennis ball, amid a crowd of wondering spectators, he is not at all surprised for he is a very peculiar boy.

Arden Altman Places Third In State Meet

Hammond High Thinlies Defeat Other Teams By Piling 44 Points, Record

The Hammond High School's trackmen soundly defeated the other track teams by piling up 44 points and setting the only record of the meet in the half-mile relay. North Side of Fort Wayne and Horace Mann of Gary divided runner-up honors with 25 points. Anderson's small band of Indians received third place with 23 1-2 points.

Arden Altman of South Side tied for third place honors to be the only one from South Side to register any points. Don Beery, in the shotput, and Allison Arnold in the low hurdles, were eliminated early in the affair.

Give Summary
Summary of the scoring teams are as follows: Hammond, 44; North Side (Fort Wayne), and Horace Mann (Gary), 25; Anderson, 23 1-2; Shortridge (Indianapolis), 14; Kokomo, Froebel (Gary), and Mishawaka, 13; Lew Wallace (Gary), Central (South Bend), and New Albany, 10; Elkhart, 9 1-2; Manual (Indianapolis), 9; Brazil, 8; New Castle, Tech (Indianapolis), and Southport, 6; Corydon, 1 1-2; Fairmount and Central (Muncie), 5; Central (Fort Wayne), and Bloomington, 4 1-2; Delphi, Garrett, Goshorn, Hobart, Logansport, New Richmond and Vincennes, 4; Alexandria, Boonville, Bosse (Evansville), Broad Ripple (Indianapolis), Rutz (Evansville), Springfield Township, Riley (South Bend), and Washington (East Chicago), 3; Albion, 2; South Side (Fort Wayne), 1 1-2; Ben Davis and Washington (Indianapolis), 1.

The victory was Hammond's fourth in this meet and the second time in a row. In chalking up a win the boys from Hammond scored in eight of the eighteen events. The climax of the meet was Hammond's half-mile track race, composed of Lyle Dell, Irving Barney, Adam Kwalek and Bob Cobb, furnishing a new record with a 1:31.4 performance to erase the 1:31.9 set by Froebel of Gary seven years ago.

Besides this first place Hammond got only two other firsts in the meet, its mile relay team winning one of the races, and Wally Ziemba winning a blue ribbon with a heave of fifty-one feet, ten and one-eighth inches, being one and three-eighths inches shy of the record set by Don Elser in 1931.

There was only one two-event winner in the meet, Arthur Egbert of Lew Wallace, Gary. He won the 220-yard dash and the 120-yard high hurdles.

Don Kemp, chunky North Side half-miler, won his specialty in the slow time of 2:05. Don was not pressed at all throughout the whole race and was saving what he had for the mile relay race. The other first place that North Side won was by the mile relay team, composed of Wagner, York, Flickinger and Cowan. A fine performance was given by Bob Cowan who won fifth in the 100-yard dash, second in the 220-yard dash, and was on the winning mile relay team.

Henry Kulesza tied with Frost of Bosse of Evansville for first place in the Central their only place in the meet.

To Be Letterman Is Principal Aspiration Of 'Stubby' Fremion

"Stubby" is strictly Fort Wayne. If you don't know "Stubby", then perhaps you will recognize him as Paul Donald Fremion. Anyway, "Stubby" has ideas like other normal young men and his main one is in the form of an aspiration to be one of the lettermen.

His horoscope shows this to be a certainty for his participation on our track squad has proven him to be the best South Sider capable of running a gruelling half-mile. He registered his best time in the last N. E. I. C. track meet by circling the cinder track twice in the fast time of 2:05. Stubby is just a junior and thus we have not heard the last of this boy who from all appearances is let the better part of his hair took the appearance of growing in instead of out.

His smile is part of him, just as much as his hair isn't. With his collecting of souvenirs he enjoys English best of all his studies, with the South Side sport program a close second. He enjoys the latter because of its lack of home work. Give him Fibber McGee and he will let you have the rest of the braggers as they comprise his pet peeves of which he has few. Paul Donald Fremion, alias Stubby, has the backing of all his friends and he does have a great number because of the smile which is really genuine.

Intramurally Speaking

Another new intramural sport has swung into action. Golf is perhaps the most interesting and most taxing sport in the whole intramural regime. To be able to play the game of golf, you've got to have some kind of interest in it or else it will prove rather boring. Walking around the entire eighteen holes of a course gives one plenty of exercise, and unless one enjoys getting exercise or hitting a ball, it won't be so much fun.

Golf, like many other sports, is a very ancient game. No doubt it originated in Scotland where the first club and first set of rules were officially formed in 1774. There are two types of tournament play. In "medal play" the person taking the lowest number of strokes for eighteen holes is the winner. In "match play" the person winning the greater number of holes is acclaimed the winner.

Although golf was played in the United States in the early colonial days, the first United States Golf Association was organized in 1894 with only four clubs. It now consists of about 200 clubs and there are approximately 750,000 golfers in the United States. So come on, all you South Side putters, drag out your sticks and amble out to Municipal or Brookwood; and, if you do pretty well, you've got a first class chance to make the next year's varsity squad. Good luck, and don't forget to sign up today.

The intramural incident of the week also deals with the topic of golf. William Miller, one of our more prominent dubbers, signed up for intramural golf. He then went around trying to build up a name for himself in an attempt to secure out all opposition. The day finally came for Bill to go out and burn up the links and he did this in no uncertain terms. The fact remains, however, that our friend Mr. Miller didn't know much about the Royal Game of Golf. For when he first teed off and got well out on the fairway, he saw a ball rolling along in the grass. Immediately Bill thought he had made a spectacular find, for the ball happened to be a 75-center. At this time Bill's opponent walked up and started looking around for his ball. When Bill saw this, he recognized his ignorance and to cover up his embarrassment he decided to give up the whole thing. However, at the present as far as I know, Bill still has possession of the ball.

Scribe Lists Results Of Archer Survey In Track Meetings

The best way to determine a successful track season is to compare the track meets won and lost to the material available. If you can not remember the entire past season, perhaps this brief summary will help you.

The South Side thinly clads opened their track season at Notre Dame, where they made a very good showing in the Gary Relays held there. Having gained a little experience, they lost a close duet meet to Elkhart by the final score of 57 1-2 to 51 1-2. The following week Montpelier suffered a defeat from the Archers when the latter amassed 62 points to win in four-way competition. The next goal presented was at LaPorte where in a five-way track meet, South Side totaled 80 points to cop first honors. The Archer, Central, Kendallville track meet ended with the respective scores of 75 1-3, 49 2-3 and 10.

After competing in the Kokomo Relays, South Side used their 55 points to place second in the conference. They proceeded on to the sectionals where they qualified three men for the state meet. Remember these boys, Beery, Altman and Arnold. "Tiny" Altman was the only South Sider to place in the state finals when he made a vault good enough to tie for third place in that particular event and that was practically against college competition.

While catching up from that whirlwind season, let us consider those tracksters who practiced about eight hours a meet to make such a season possible. Along with Beery, Cook, Gumbert, Altman, Botz, Arnold, Close, Moorehead, Ferguson, Brown, Roth, Goshorn, Fremion, Glass, Bolyard, Hines and a host of other cinder track stars, we can salute Mr. Collyer as a swell coach and a track season filled with memories that help to make our high school a more pleasant place in which to be!

World Cruise To Be Theme Of G. A. A. Fete

Annual Banquet Will Be Held In School Cafeteria Tomorrow At 6 O'Clock

Tomorrow evening, Friday, May 26, the members of the Girls' Athletic Association will hold their annual spring banquet in the school cafeteria at 6:00 o'clock. The theme is "World Cruise," and will follow up the idea carried out in the annual spring show given by the group several weeks ago. Toastmistress for the affair will be Hazel Perry, president of the organization. Velma Lehman is arranging a program of music, dancing and stunts.

List Guest Speakers
Guest speakers will be Miss Martha Suter, high-point girl in 1934; Sis Arnold, president of the Central G.A.A.; Virginia Steele, president of the North Side G.A.A.; and Mrs. Clem, swimming instructor at the Y.W.C.A.; and Miss Martha Pittenger. Talks will also be given by Miss Gretchen Smith, Miss Alice Dean and Betty Showalter. Committees have been working on the affair for the past two weeks, and all members are urged to buy their tickets in the gym office today. The price is 45 cents. At the banquet the results of the election of officers for next year will be announced.

Declare Committees
In charge of decorations is Margery Price, who is assisted by Gwen Roberts and Janet Whetsel. Hazel Perry is program chairman, and she has on her committee Betty Showalter and Norma Russell. In charge of tickets for the banquet are Audrey Hall, chairman, Thompkins Hall and Geneva Martin. The menu committee consists of Velma Connott, Betty Hargan and Rose Stemen.

Three Games Played In Intramural League

Three more interesting games were played in the intramural softball league last week. Two in the middleweight division, and one in the heavyweight. The Ten E's whipped the Jumpers, 10-7; the Hottentot Hustlers won over the Musketters, 11-9; and in the only heavyweight game the Guses bowed to the Alexanders, 21-15.

GAA GAZETTE

Records still remain unbroken from former track meets. We wonder if new ones will be set this year. We feel sure that they will with such outstanding tracksters, in our midst, such as Geneva Martin, a star broad jumper; June Neith, that super high jumper; and Sylvia Sholty, a first class pitcher.

And so another G. A. A. year is almost over and all are looking forward to the banquet, breakfast, and election of officers. Here's hoping we have a successful outing at Foster Park, good eats at our annual feast, and also a swell set of officers for next year.

Soon we will have a new addition to our group of letter-girls. The surprise this year is the number of sophomores who are to receive their letters (they hope). Congratulations to Marguerite Calkins, Bernadine Pressler, Martha Jane Krauskopf, and Bernadine Bender, who are the lucky sophomores.

We wonder what has happened to the mighty seniors when it comes to playing baseball. According to the scorecard, they have lost two games out of four. This puts them about third on the list, with the sophomores at the top. Maybe they're in love!

After seeing Dorothy Bloemker miss a perfectly innocent fly and instead show off by doing the splits at the last baseball game, we know that the seniors are in a daze. But despite of these errors, Marge Price, Dot Bloemker, and Betty Showalter all made a home run.

Was "Poodles" Nash ever embarrassed when she tore a gigantic hole in a very pretty blue dress. She was skipping toward the gym office when she was roughly stopped by a nail.

1940 Track Team Hopes Are Good

Cook, Close, Pressler, Altman, Fatheree, Roth, Hamilton And Hines Are Few Of Mainstays

Prospects for next year's track team seem much brighter than they did this year. South Side is losing some of its best stars, but Mr. George Collyer, track coach, is bringing the freshmen and sophomores up and developing them. A few stars will return to track fame again next year, but these new tracksters will take the place of lost stars.

In the mile run Leroy Cook, our star of this year, will be back. Close on his heels will be Phil Pressler. Chuck Close, who has been coming up in the shotput, should score many points. Jim Fatheree also shows possibilities. The high jump honors will rest on Bob Hines' shoulders, with Kilpatrick also scoring some points. Fremion and Cook are good prospects in the half-mile run. At present, the broad jumping laurels rest on Rudolph Wuttke.

The mile relay team should develop into a point-winner foursome. Some of these prospects are Siebold, Worman, Brown and Roth. A crack half-mile relay team will again score many points. Wuttke, Altman and many others who are making a strong bid, will make up the team. Jim Worman, who with little experience this year, showed strength in the 220-yard dash, should star next spring.

Hamilton should be our point man in the high-hurdles. In the pole vault Altman, our star, will be back again. Gene Hoffstetter also will compete. In the 100-yard dash, Wuttke will again lead the field. Dave Rotn will be the leading point scorer in the 440.

These boys have gained experience this year and should show good performances next year. In addition to these, many boys who have been storing up knowledge will star next spring.

Sophomore Party Is Great Success

Attendance Is Estimated To Be Approximately Four Hundred
Couples At Derby Day May 12

With more than four hundred couples attending, the annual Sophomore Party was held May 12 in the school gymnasium. The theme of the party was Derby Day, and all favors, programs, and decorations were carried out in this theme.

The gym was decorated in the form of a race track with spectators' stands at the sides of the gym and at the ends. In the middle of the gym floor was the judges' stand, from which the orchestra, Bob Anweiler and his Sophisticated Swing orchestra, played.

The program consisted of games in which everyone entered: a floor show, and dancing. A skit, written by Harold Martin and featuring the seven sets of twins in the sophomore class was presented. This skit depicted the life of a mother with her many children who all looked alike. The twins who took part in this are Don and Ed Meyer, Bob and Jim Brooks, Eva Jean and Bob Wylie, Richard and Ralph Seibold, Faye and Lois Gumpfer, Bill and Dick Dreyer, and Marjorie and Carolyn Emrick. Elaine Hirschy played a piano solo, and Katherine Beckman and Emalyn Remmel sang solo numbers to complete the program which had a surprise ending when Ferdinand the Bull appeared during the singing of that song, and two horse races were run. The broomstick preliminary race was won by Bob Grogg, John Gumpfer, Art Howard, Dick Trott, and Charles Miller. The final race, the Kentucky Derby, was run by Barrie Tremper and Bud Lampton, the latter winning under the title of Johnstown.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria in shifts since the number attending was so great. Chaperones for the party were parents of the class officers and members of the faculty as well as many other people who came later in the evening.

Bob Hines, president of the sophomore class, was in general charge of the event and was assisted by the other class officers, Lecky Abbott, vice-president; Sam Backus, secretary-treasurer; Betty Elbertson, social committee chairman, and Bob Robinson and John Bonsib, members of the social committee.

The sophomore class wants to take this opportunity to thank all of the students and teachers who helped the class put over their annual event, and also gives special thanks to the class advisers, Miss Lucy Osborne and Mr. Earl Sterner, and to Miss Lucy Mellen, Miss Blanche Hutto, Miss Alice Dean, all of the chaperones, and to the custodian staff.

Martha M. Pittenger Speaks At Wo-Ho-Ma

Miss Martha Pittenger was guest speaker at Wo-Ho-Ma Club "Mother and Daughter Tea" last Thursday in the Greeley Room at 3:30. She told of the nice things that mother does for us and the good qualities of Wo-Ho-Ma Club.

Peggy Zirkel sang "Star Dust" and "Believe Me of All Those Endearing Young Charms." Winifred Myers gave a monologue, "The Bride and the Butcher." "Dear Purple" was played on the piano by Janie Wier. "The Dear, Dear Children," a play, was presented by a group of Wo-Ho-Ma Club girls. The characters were as follows: Mrs. Willard, Margaret Kienzie; Esther Willard, Wilma Kellogg; Mrs. Titus, Kathryn Bultmeier; Mrs. DeLacy, Eileen Kiessling; Mrs. Rollins, Louisa Haug; Mrs. Lake, Margaret Geroff; Mrs. Bates, Eileen Hermann; and Mrs. Covelli, Mary De-metre.

The Greeley Room was decorated with spring flowers. As each mother entered the room, she received a corsage of lily of the valley and violets. While the refreshments were being served, Janie Wier played "Blossom Time" and "My Love." The refreshments consisted of ice roll with tulip centers and cookies.

The committee which was in charge is as follows: Leah Tassler, chairman, Rose Wyss, Norma Jean Sprunger, Marjorie Gerding, Margaret Kienzie, Marjorie Wright, Rosa Weiss, Ruth Fuhrman and Katherine Bultmeier.

Quill, Scroll Banquet To Be Held May 25

The Quill and Scroll banquet was held Thursday night at Miller's cafeteria.

This dinner is an annual affair held for the members of the Quill and Scroll. It is a very informal affair with the members wearing their sport clothes. There are no speeches or ceremony of any kind. The dinner will be served in a private room at the cafeteria at the corner of Clinton and Wayne Streets. After the dinner the members went to one of the motion picture theaters which has been chosen by Miss Rowena Harvey, The Times head.

Cubs Win Intramural Softball Championship

The Cubs won the fifth period intramural heavyweight softball crown by whipping the S. O. M. A. C. 11-2 and 16-1. Phil McKay pitched both wins for the Cubs and established himself as a fine pitcher. Both games were loosely played, but the victors committed but three errors despite this fact.

Pins Are Awarded
Hilda Schubert, a sophomore, recently received a bronze pin awarded for 1,500 points earned in Times work. Martha Jane Krauskopf, another sophomore, received a silver pin awarded for 3,000 points.

Teacher Is Absent
While Mr. George Collier, the teacher in Room 8, was absent, his wife took charge and acted as his substitute. Mr. Collier has been absent since May 11.

Archers Will Spend Vacation In Summer Months Working On Diverse Favorite Hobbies

Many interesting hobbies are planned this summer by various students in South Side.

Robert Devlin will spend his summer playing tennis, golfing, and fishing. Beside these hobbies Bob will visit in Michigan.

Kenneth Disler will have a full vacation as he intends to camp at Tippecanoe, visit Barbee Lake and go to the World's Fair. His hobbies will be playing ball and riding his bicycle.

Fred Dilker is a candid camera fiend. This summer he will snap pictures of his friends. Fred will also practice tap dancing.

Last summer Eris Davis found collecting souvenirs a very interesting hobby. This summer she plans to resume her favorite hobby.

Russell Dixon is a lake fan. He intends to spend his entire summer in Kome City.

Fishing and swimming will fill Bob Doty's summer vacation. Beside these hobbies he is going to the World's Fair and the lake.

Many people are collecting odd and interesting objects so Genevieve Dyerger will follow the crowd.

Between swimming and housework Betty Jane Ditch will visit New York World's Fair and Washington, D. C.

Working will be Norma Driver's occupation. She will visit relations in Ohio and Indiana between her working hours.

Traveling will keep Don Duiser busy during the summer. Don will visit New York, Chicago, Detroit, Michigan, and other interesting places.

Joy Degitz is a movie fan. This summer she intends to collect as many movie star pictures as she can.

Painting is Edward Dicke's hobby. Edward's time will be mostly spent in following this hobby this summer. Between interesting hours of painting, Edward will carry papers.

Joe Dryer will be kept busy playing a lot of baseball. Between his hours of baseball playing Joe will visit Chicago, New York and some lakes.

Exercise is Charlotte DuWan's hobby.

Study Hall Teacher, Daughter Are Same In Scholastic Record

By some strange coincidence Mrs. Lillian Scott, session room teacher, and her daughter, Jean Scott, have had an almost identical scholastic record, and their school activities have been on the same order.

Mrs. Scott was valedictorian of her class in high school, while Jean, salutatorian of the senior class at North Side. Mrs. Scott was editor of the Warsaw High School paper, "The Tiger," which was published monthly. Her daughter was the publisher of North Side's paper, "The Northerner." Mrs. Scott attended Indiana University, and Jean would like to go there. Jean has been taking the college preparatory course in high school, which Mrs. Scott also studied. It is interesting to note that both Mrs. Scott and her daughter were given permission to take shorthand and typing along with their regular studies.

Mrs. Scott, when questioned about this, stated, "I think it is much more difficult to be a valedictorian or a salutatorian of a large class than in a small one. I am proud of Jean, because she worked hard, and Eleanor Vesey worked hard, too."

Robert Hageman Wins In Senior Rifle Contest

In last week's Times it was stated that Charles Haug had won first place in the senior class. He failed to place, the real winner being Robert Hageman, first, and Jack Hornberger, second.

In the junior, sophomore and freshman divisions, the final winners have not been determined. Any boy who is a member of either the Senior Rifle Club or the Junior Rifle Club is eligible to compete in this contest.

Jeanet Whetsel Heads Next Meterite Drama

Meterites' next meeting will be held on Monday instead of Tuesday, due to Decoration Day coming on the usual club day. Plans for the annual picnic will be discussed. A play, entitled "The Wedding," will be presented.

The director is Jeanet Whetsel; the cast includes Mary Louise Dunbar, bridegroom; Janis Tremper, bride; Lois Bloemker, best man; Ann Haller, bride's father; Norma Russell, the groomsmen; Gloria Korum, bride's aunt; and Marjorie Haller, bridegroom's mother. There will be music with the program.

Snook Receives Honor

Richard Snook, '37, was elected to the State of the Case School of Applied Science in Cleveland, Ohio, as a representative of the sophomore class next year. While at South Side, Dick was active in the music department, and was elected to the National Honor Society.

Progress Parade To Close Sunday

Preview Of Exhibition Is Given
South Siders Last Friday;
Glass, Cotton Are Featured

Last Friday, directly after the home room period, Mr. Roland Seward, a representative of General Motors, previewed the "Parade of Progress" being shown at Swinney Park this week. Closing Sunday of this week, the exhibition shows the development upon scientific lines of textile and electric equipment in this country.

Assisted by Henry Velkoff, senior scientist, Mr. Seward demonstrated the "talking flashlight," an instrument which showed the strength of the photo-electric cell. The flashlight, equipped with a microphone on one end, was held by Hank about ten feet away from the instrument. Talking through the microphone, the sound waves created a series of impressions upon the plate of the instrument which was hooked up to an amplifying system, thereby amplifying Henry's voice, audible to the entire audience.

Glass dresses and neckties proved to be a sensation of the display, when Mr. Seward demonstrated how glass at the present time can be spun into unbreakable textile material.

Showing by use of diverse equipment, the creation of a "hard cotton" was seen in making the rims of colored glasses, flywaters, and other paraphernalia adaptable to the American public.

The exhibition at Swinney Park is open to the general public, no admission being charged. The display is open from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 10 o'clock at night.

Jack Wainwright Is Host To Musicians

Jack Wainwright, Archer bandmaster, entertained the chorus of his music camp last week-end. Mr. Wainwright and several students went to the camp Friday night and the rest of the chorus and chaperones came Saturday or Sunday.

Picnics were held all day Saturday; and, in between times, the students enjoyed themselves by swimming, playing tennis, dancing, loafing in the club house, plucking feathers from chickens for Sunday dinner, doing dishes, etc. Sunday, Jack baked pancakes for the guests' breakfast. The chorus then went to Valentine, a town near the camp where they sang two religious vocal numbers. Sunday dinner consisted of a half chicken apiece with many, many accessories. Most of the students left about 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

There were about sixty at the camp, including the chaperones. The chaperones were Miss Susan Peck, Miss Elizabeth Kelley, Miss Dorothy Magley, and Mr. Paul Sidell and family.

Applying Cartoonists To Submit Samples

Underclassmen applying for the position of Staff cartoonist of The Times next fall are to submit samples of their work to Janice Dyer in room 16 by Friday of this week. Students who did not attend the meeting held Monday of this week, but who still wish to try out for the position, are to submit work in the same manner as the other entrants by tomorrow evening.

Play Of Marionettes Is Greatly Enjoyed By School's Faculty

Our masterful pullers of strings presented to the faculty members, "Creatures of Impulse" last Friday night after school. From the following expressed opinions received by yours truly it is quite evident that this play was thoroughly enjoyed. Who wouldn't enjoy seeing or even participating in such a hobby which has places for people to develop in the lines of music, art, and drama.

One of the enthusiastic members of the audience was Miss Fortney, who enjoys marionette plays so much that she was compelled to take a front seat. Miss Fortney says, "The marionette play was very restful. As we enjoyed it, we did not realize how much time and real hard work had gone into the production. I think the club members and Miss Magley deserve a lot of credit for such a fine performance."

Miss Hutto, art teacher, has had much experience in making and working puppets and seems to enjoy presenting original skits with her puppets. To an inquiry on how she enjoyed the play, Miss Hutto replied, "South Side Marionette Club deserves commendation on its production. The dog was particularly well executed and acted. The voice work of all was very excellent. This club is very worthwhile for art, music, and dramatic students because it is an application of all the arts. Puppetry is a vocation and these pupils are practicing something which can be of monetary value to them in later life as well as a worthwhile, interesting hobby."

Miss Kiefer says, "I found the marionette play a delightful relaxation at the end of a busy day and week. The only disappointment was that it ended too soon."

Mary Kathleen Mills, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. James Mills, seems to have had a performance a lot of fun. Mr. Mills says, "Mary Kathleen enjoyed the profusely executed bow made by the most highly renowned pianist who draped himself so lustily over that very miniature instrument. Really, she wants to know if she can see it again next year."

Yours truly found Miss Perkins extremely busy grading a group of French test papers but she said she enjoyed the play and believed that the manipulators spent a lot of time working on it.

Last, but not least, Miss Pocock says, "The Marionette Club was very generous to give a special presentation of 'Creatures of Impulse' for the faculty members and children. I always enjoy puppet shows, and this performance was not disappointing. I believe the faculty feels gratified at being allowed to see the guest presentation."

Girl Riflers Will Hold Box Picnic On May 31

At the last meeting of the Girls' Rifle Club it was decided to hold a box-picnic at Foster Park May 31 for the next and last meeting. A committee for the picnic composed of Audrey Hall, Marcia Allen and Marion Feichter was appointed.

Because the slate of officers did not meet with Miss Pittenger's approval, a new slate was made out as follows: President, Jane Merchant and LaVerne Michelfelder; secretary, Deloris Ulrich and Betty Thiele; treasurer, Doris Williams and Marcia Allen; Inter-Club Congress, representative, Marjorie Shannon and Marion Feichter.

Dr. William Gear Spencer To Make Graduating Address In School Gym At 8

423 Are Leaving Portals Of School

Is Largest Class To Graduate; Program For Evening Of June 7 Is Given

Dr. William Gear Spencer, president of Franklin College, will make the graduation address to the largest graduating class in the history of South Side, 423 seniors, at the annual graduation exercises to be held in the school gym next Wednesday, June 7, at 8 o'clock.

A large program for the graduation exercises has been arranged. This program consists of the following: Semiramide..... Orchestra Harp Solo..... Betty Wainwright Processional—Coronation March.....

Invocation..... Rev. A. H. Sholtz Introduction of Speaker..... Merle J. Abbott Superintendent Fort Wayne Public Schools

Address..... Dr. W. G. Spencer Presentation of Diplomas..... R. Nelson Snider Recessional—Trisgian March.....

The orchestra will be directed during the commencement exercises by Jack Wainwright.

Dr. Spencer has held the position of head of Franklin College since 1933; prior to his present appointment he served as president of Hillsdale College, Hillsdale, Michigan, from 1922 to 1932, and also as an instructor at Colgate Academy, Hamilton, New York, and at La Jolla Academy, La Jolla, California.

Dr. Spencer is widely known as a commencement speaker.

South Siders Cheer Concordia's Centennial

CONGRATULATIONS, CONCORDIA!
With this brief message, Concordia, South Side sends all the praise, and continued hopes of freedom and democracy she could possibly send. For in a world of religious persecution, hatred and war, it is good to know we live in a nation founded on a basis of goodwill toward others. The passing of your hundred years proves to us the predictions of our forefathers, and yours—that a people bound together by the principles of our Bill of Rights can endure in their own pursuit of happiness—are right. We are proud to have you as a neighbor, Concordia; may your years be long and filled with plenty.

Senior Issue

To Be Given At Graduation

Helen Banks, Marge Rapp Are Co-General Managers Of Times To Be Published

The senior issue of The Times for the class of '39 will be given to every one attending the Commencement exercises of this class on June 7, in the South Side gymnasium.

The senior Times workers held a meeting two weeks ago in the Times room and elected Helen Banks and Marge Rapp as co-general managers of this issue.

Graduating seniors filled out questionnaires last week concerning their opinions on incidents that have happened during their four years at South Side and also their opinion of their classmates. Results of this poll will be published in the senior issue.

Choose Staff Members

The faculty adviser of all Times issues, Miss Rowena Harvey, will continue in that position as she will advise the publication of this senior issue.

Should See Managers
Times workers, unintentionally overlooked by Marge and Helen in their staff selection, should see either of the girls if they would care to help in any way to publish this issue.

Both girls have been co-managing editors of the regular issues of The Times since last September and both have filled the job of copy editors for The Totem of 1939. They were also elected as members of Quill and Scroll in April.

Bill McNulty To Head Forum Club Next Fall

Officers for next semester were elected by the Forum Club at the picnic of the Forum and the Senate Clubs last Thursday. Those elected were Bill McNulty, president; Sarah Jane Makey, vice-president; Marilyn Loomis, secretary; Bob Hageman, parliamentarian; Dick Bailhe, Inter-Club Congress representative; and Elizabeth Kelso, point recorder.

The election was the only business feature of the picnic and the club members and Mr. Makey, club adviser, spent the remainder of the evening playing baseball and consuming the picnic lunch.

Co-Managers Of Senior Issue

Helen Banks and Margery Rapp were named the general-managers of the senior issue by Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser. They have selected their staff, composed of seniors, to aid them in the publication of the senior issue which will be given out the night of graduation.

Baccalaureate

Talker To Be Noted Pastor

Dr. Charles Houser Chosen To Speak At Exercises, June 4 At Shrine, 7:30

The speaker for the annual Baccalaureate address for graduating seniors of South Side will be Dr. Charles M. Houser, who is pastor at the Plymouth Congregational Church of this city. Dr. Houser was chosen to make the baccalaureate address by a secret ballot in all senior home rooms this spring.

Baccalaureate exercises this year will be held June 4, Sunday, at the Shrine auditorium, at 7:30. Graduating seniors, other students of South Side, parents of graduates, friends, and the general public are invited to attend these services.

The South Side school orchestra will furnish the music for the ceremony. Several selections, not yet announced, will be given.

On the speakers platform will be Dr. Houser, Mr. Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of public schools, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal, and Eugene Schmidt, president of the senior class, who will lead the responsive reading.

Mr. Snider will probably introduce the baccalaureate speaker.

It is believed that an almost capacity crowd will attend the ceremonies held annually for the graduating class. During the past, facilities at the school gymnasium have been over-taxed. This year, with the seating capacity of the Shrine, school officials believe that the crowd can be handled satisfactorily.

Philatelic Chooses New Club Officers

Ed Turner, Maxine Case, Ralph Herb, Don Hensch, Melvin Schwartz Are Officers Chosen

Ed Turner, president; Maxine Case, vice-president; Ralph Herb, secretary; Don Hensch, treasurer; and Melvin Schwartz, point recorder; were named new officers of Stamp Club last Wednesday. A sergeant-at-arms, and Inter-Club Congress representative will be named next fall.

Carlton Clem, program chairman, took charge of the meeting in conducting a radio quiz program featuring "Specialization in Stamps."

Bob Wylie and Betty Clem reached the finals of the radio quiz with Bob emerging the winner. Peggy Zirkel led a group of stamp club members in the orchestration of several numbers. Miss Pauline Van Gorder, faculty adviser, accompanied the group on the piano. Howard Fishack served as an announcer for Stickum's Glue during the program.

It was decided by the club to hold their honor services next fall as a special program meeting. There will be a Stamp Club picnic scheduled for last Friday, was canceled.

Retiring officers of the club include Dave Slattery, president; Mary Virginia Russ, vice-president; Jack Feller, secretary; Norman Fortness, treasurer; Wilmer Bengs, point recorder; Bob Wylie, sergeant-at-arms.

Big Assembly Of Recognition To Be Friday

Miss Elizabeth Demaree Is In Charge Of Affair To Be Held In Archer Gym

R. Nelson Snider To Be Presiding

Many Awards To Be Given; Seniors Will Appear With Caps And Gowns In Group

South Side's annual Recognition Day will be held tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 1:10 o'clock in the Archer gym, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Demaree, who is arranging the entire program. Assisting Miss Demaree are Mr. Russel Furst, Mr. Elma Gould, Mrs. Alda Jane Carson and Mr. Jake McClure.

Principal R. Nelson Snider will preside over the affair as he has done for the past five years. Mr. Snider will explain the purpose of the assembly, and will serve to introduce the diverse program to be offered.

Open to both parents and friends of South Side, the assembly will provide for the recognition of all students in South Side who have contributed outstandingly to all fields.

Seniors To Meet
Using the same system as used in the past, seniors will meet in room S at 1:05, where they will convene until the gym is ready for them. Preceded by two heralds, Richard Gerig and Robert Safer, from the music department, they will arrange themselves at the north end of the gym in the lower section of the bleachers.

Instructions for students that were discussed in home rooms early this week follow briefly: Archers to be recognized are to come to the floor immediately by way of the north entrance, or south entrance; also each student to be honored is to cross the south end of the floor by the speaker's table in order that he may sign his name in Mr. Snider's book, and in order to receive an honorary ribbon.

Students are to receive and display only one ribbon, and are to sign their names in the big book only once. After this action, they are to take their place in the chairs on the gym floor.

No One Excused
Students who are dismissed at the end of the sixth period regularly are to receive dismissal slips from their home room teachers, for no one will be excused from the assembly. Miss Blanche Hutto, Mr. Ward Gilbert, Mr.

Carolyn Snoke Is Meterite Leader

Janis Tremper, Mary Lou Feller, Mary Ellen Barrett Are Others Named To Offices.

Carolyn Snoke was elected president of the Meterite Club at the meeting held Monday, May 29, in the Voorhees Room. Janis Tremper, Mary Lou Feller, and Mary Ellen Barrett took office immediately after the election of vice-president, secretary, and treasurer.

Meterite's annual picnic will be held in Foster Park, Tuesday, June 6, at 5:00 o'clock. The girls are to bring their own lunches. Following are the committees appointed for the occasion by the retiring president: entertainment, Mary Carlo, chairman, Phyllis Strasburg, and Carolyn McNabb; and food, Jane Rinard.

Eight graduates received awards and diplomas. They were: Marjorie McNabb, Ionejaan Tracht, Dorothy Gildea, Joan Cox, Joan Cartwright, Betty Ann Bohn, Jane Rinard and Carol Whittier.

Graduating without honors are Edith Ream, Tompiss Hall, Peggy Greaney, Dolores Bodenborn, Marilyn and Carolyn Emrich, and Doris Miller.

A vocal solo, "Sweethearts," was rendered by Elinor Muntzing, accompanied by Janice Sprunger.

Three pantomimes, directed by Janet Whetsel, were presented. "The Fatal Quest" included the following cast: The King, Ann Haller; devoted Queen, Lois Bloemer; handsome duke, Mary Louise Dunbar; and lovely princess, Janice Tremper. Narrator was Gloria Kortum. Ann Haller read "Columbus Discovers America" while Mary Louise Dunbar acted the part of Queen Isabella; Janis Tremper, Columbus; Norma Russell, crew; and Mary Lou Feller, Indian. The third skit, "The King with a Terrible Temper," was told by Norma Russell with the help of a chorus.

A picnic has been planned for the near future. The committee which will decide the arrangements and program consists of John Magley, Maurice Lehman and Morton Nahwald.

The members will meet in room 75 at 3:30 o'clock and will walk out to Foster Park in a group. There will be a treasure hunt. The girls will also play baseball. Refreshments will then be served.

The committee in charge is Eileen Goddard, chairman; Gertrude Markel and Bernadine Bender.

Class Of '39 Selects "Sunrise Serenade" As Senior Prom Theme

Jimmy Sanford's Orchestra Will Provide Music From 8:30 Until 11:30 O'Clock

Fete To Be Staged In Gym On June 6

Tickets Are Now On Sale By Class Officers And In All Home Rooms For $1.00

Graduating seniors will present their annual dance with the theme "Sunrise Serenade" this year. The dance will be held in the school gymnasium, June 6, from 8:30 until 11:30 o'clock.

Jimmy Sanford's orchestra will provide the music for the event which has been planned by the senior class officers, Eugene Schmidt, president; Max Magnus, vice-president; Max Spencer, secretary-treasurer; Janice Dyer, chairman of social council; Eddie Reeves and Nadine Mueller, members of the social council. These officers are working in conjunction with Miss Dorothy Magley and Mr. Paul Sidell, class advisers, and Miss Blanche Hutto, who is assisting the seniors with the art work in connection with the forthcoming event.

Committees Named
Tickets for the dance are on sale by class officers and home room ticket salesmen in every senior home room for one dollar. These senior home room ticket salesmen are pushing the sale of tickets to people in their home rooms and also to underclassmen, many of whom usually attend the senior dance.

Decorations for the "Sunrise Serenade" are being designed by Janice Dyer and James Craig, co-chairmen of the decorations committee, and Miss Hutto, of the art department. To coordinate with the theme, a sunrise is being pictured out of many vivid colors ranging from light pinks to dark purples. This sunrise will extend to the top of the gymnasium where it will merge into a cone. The sides of the gym will be covered with the sunrise. A large decorations committee will begin work on this part of the dance at the first of next week.

Lounge Room Provided
A lounge room will also be provided by the seniors for those attending the dance. This lounge will dispense drinks during the evening.

Chaperones for the dance are members of the South Side faculty, and parents of the class officers, and others connected with the school. Although specific chaperones are named, all parents are invited to view the dance. The chaperones selected by the class are Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Snider, Mr. and Mrs. Merle J. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sidell, Miss Dorothy Magley, Miss Blanche Hutto, Miss Erma Dochterman, Miss Eileen Fiedler, Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Chappell, Miss Martha Pittenger, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Null, Mr. and Mrs. David Vesey, Dr. and Mrs. M. Velkoff, Mr. and

Well, Speakers, What Now?

Every South Sider who was loyal enough and thought enough about South Side to help in the worthy cause of selling and buying tickets to the Wrangler's benefit performance, deserve all the slaps on the back that they care to give themselves. One of the hardest things we can think about is to try to sell something to the public, especially when people are not receptive to the plea. It takes plenty of initiative to go out in this kind of weather and campaign for any cause, but South Siders have done it. Now it is all up to the speakers who will represent South Side in the national contest. It is up to them to put on a performance better than that of any other school in the country and to bring home the bacon. South Side has seldom had national champions and here is our chance. Every South Sider is backing you to the limit, speakers; let's see what you can do.

Nice Going, Upperclassmen!

Between Purdue tests, last minute adjustments, grades, and what-have-you, it appears as if South Side has been too busy to give the departing senior class the recognition it deserves. Even Recognition Day itself can hardly fill this bill. The class of '39 is definitely "tops" in almost every field offered in this institution. Look at the number of seniors elected to the National Honor Society this year. Recall the elaborate affairs which the graduates have put on during the past year. Muse over the athletic events in which the Archers have gained laurels and note the many contributors from these super-men. Perhaps many outgoing seniors regret the fact that they were able to enjoy the new improvements of our school for only a short time. At any rate South Side is only too glad to wish this brilliant class the best of luck and is only too sorry to bid them farewell.

Listen, Fellows! How About Making Summer Worthwhile?

Here's something you hear every year about this time, the close of the school year; but it is still worth repeating. It is only a reminder to spend your summer months in a worthwhile manner.

Of course you have a chance to loaf, all during your vacation; or you can do something that will do you worlds of good later on. The summer months are a good time to catch up on your reading. No better time to read the many good books that one is unable to read during the school term presents itself. Another good thing to do during your annual vacation is enter in sports and get a lot of exercise. Through the winter months we are unable to get much of the exercise which we need to keep healthy; now is the time to catch up on that missed exercise.

All in all, you will get a lot more enjoyment out of your vacation if you do something worthwhile. At least, you can try this out; others have been enthusiastic over its results.

Hail To South Side! May We Express Our Deepest Thanks

All through the year we have attacked various systems, have engaged in a campaign to better conditions and to get things added to the school, to support worthy movements, and have done other things on this editorial page, but very few times have we praised persons for their actions.

That is what we intend to do this time. We are picking out no one in particular for praise, but instead desire to congratulate the school as a whole for its actions during the past two semesters. Naturally, some things have been done which shouldn't have been, but in a school of young healthy people that is only to be expected. For the most part, however, the Archers have been a pretty good lot.

When we lost that eventful basketball game to Ossian, for instance, we took our defeat in a swell way, even went down to Ossian for our victor's pep meeting.

Many other times we have shown good sportsmanship, and that is one thing that is as important to any school as a whole batch of expensive improvements which do nothing to better the school spirit.

Archers have supported school events and have helped South Side win many laurels; so, before they forget what it is like, we want to congratulate the student body and remind the students to continue this attitude par excellence next fall when school convenes once again.

Flicking The Tips

It seems that in everyday conversation what you know about the world problems has become more important than what you know (or don't know) about love. Boys and girls have the most peculiar ideas about what it takes to be popular, and some never take into consideration that conversation is far more important than being attractive. There is a hidden meaning to the word "popularity" and to find it (popularity) you must look into more than one of its essentials.

How in the world can you expect to carry on a conversation for more than five minutes if all your knowledge is limited to love and clothes? What you need is a little more information on good books, inspiring movies, sports, present history, and subjects of interest to different types and sexes. A conversation mainly centered upon clothes can be interesting if stretched out into an evening chat. So go lightly on topics of this sort (including gossip).

Think what you want to but be sure you spare the horses in talking about people to people. There is nothing more undesirable than a cat, and the people you discuss others with will think that you talk about them in the same manner. Consequently, you will lose friends in place of making them.

And then, too, in order to carry on an intelligent conversation, you must be well informed on numerous subjects. Yes, it means you must get busy and read. You will find that your vocabulary will be greatly improved too.

For instance, what would your reply to your date be if he, out of a clear blue sky, asked, "Well, Jean, what do you think about the T. V. A.?" I suppose you would remain quiet, which would be embarrassing to you both, or perhaps you would intelligently reply, "What's that?" You have missed an opportunity of a lifetime. This could very easily have been turned into an interesting and exciting quarrel had you known what he was talking about. Such are common occurrences and could be avoided if you would expand your knowledge on world problems. Even if you aren't a second Venus, you can be popular for your intelligent or witty conversations.

And that brings us to another problem, that of being witty. If whenever you open your mouth something that tickles everyone present comes out, then you are naturally gifted. But if you are the kind that has to lay awake and think up funny things to say, then you'd better give up. Ten to one your jokes will not be told in an entertaining manner, and these kind are worse than none at all. If you will limit your conversation to your type you will find it much easier to converse with people. Don't try so hard to be amusing! But those of you who are naturally witty be thankful and exercise your ability whenever possible.

Way Down South

It seems sorta sad sitting here and writing this old column for the last time, and yet I suppose a lot of people would look at it in another light, what with all of the many forthcoming fun-fests on their way to all of us deserving students. Anyhow, I guess mental meditation is o.k. for everything but a high school newspaper, so off with sad thoughts and on with those things which go on about us daily.

We often wonder just what Kolman Gross and the walking talker deluxe, Robert Safer, had in their meandering brains when they held a careful of blushing damsels up in a North Side drug store not so many nights ago after one of South Side's club eating fests. It seems that the poor young feminine chiefties were forced to wait nearly twenty-five minutes until these bullies allowed the little ladies to withdraw. Is that nice, fellows? I'm asking you.

And the angels sing, sweetly and softly at the cap and gown assemblies, for it is then and there that all senior charmers receive that highly-prized diploma to the tune of "Hail to Thee, Old South Side High School." It's a mighty touching spectacle, but we can't say that we're sorry that we can stick around here just a little while longer, on account of just how swell our institution of learning is.

And do you remember... 1. How Banks, Rapp, Neeb, Kowalski, Dyer and Null used to vocalize during those bully fifth period sessions in ye olde presse room.

2. The little wrestling matches Betty Daniels and Bev Griffith used to stage just for something to do.

3. How elated Mr. Gilbert was when his home room hot-stuffs gave him a comb for Christmas. We'll never forget his face. It was rare!

4. The time Bill Reithmiller literally slung the bull at one of our pep rallies.

Now It Can Be Told

Well, here I am diligently writing the last of this year's dirt column. Ain't it sad to think of that thought though? O. K. No cracks, please.

What's this we hear about Betty Dibble and Gene Ayres breaking up? It seems that Gene got kinda tired of hanging around Betty all the time (or visa-versa), so he started to explore some new fields of fens. All this added up to the grand break-up. I have not heard yet who Gene's latest is, but she must be somebody plenty hot if all this secrecy means anything.

Marge Butler is really up against a lot of competition lately in trying to win the affections of Bill Peters. The mainstay of this competition is none other than that cute little blonde, Marilyn Wolfe. I don't blame Bill if he gets a little befuddled over making a choice between these two. That would be a difficult job even for the smoothest fellow.

If Don Beery is interested in a picture collection of himself, then I advise him to consult that cute freshie, Bertha Murphy. Dear little Bertha has been collecting pictures of her distant lover for over a year now. Hmmm... this would prove to be very interesting if anybody took the time to investigate.

Richard Hamilton ain't what he used to be. In other words he is no longer a timid old fashioned boy. He has now blossomed into one of the more modern lovers of South Side. His latest in heart affairs concerns Emma Jane Raschal.

At one of the recent dances, Jean Hensch took one of her many suitors, Roger Busch. What's the matter Byron? Can't you keep up with the tide of things, or have you just lost interest?

James Weaver has been seen these summer nights (excuse me, I mean spring) lurking around the house of Hilda Knoche. I don't seem to hear the lady in question uttering anything against him though, so I guess it's all right.

Off The Press

At Wrangler's Banquet: Ed Reeves, toastmaster for the event, made some swell remarks which concerned various Wranglers and faculty members.

An example: he told the audience, when Dick Garton began to present letter "S" awards, after Helen Banks and Dick Shorter had made awards, that it was unusual for Garton to be following blondes—they usually follow him. What could have been meant by that? Bill Reithmiller got all riled up when his seat, next to a certain person, was taken, and did not rest until his place was returned. Also heard at Wrangler's banquet besides the speakers were Al Schaaf and Dick Fisher, who serenaded the group with an automobile horn. Congrats are due, however, to Mrs. Carson, of the faculty, for the way she carried on the presentation of Freshman - Sophomore speech awards during the interruption mentioned above.

House Parties Were The Rule a week-end ago. A group of prominent seniors gathered at Lake James; the details of this meeting have remained in the dark for the most part though, so that there is nothing to tell, except that something must have happened. The other group of week-end wrecks were quartered at Lake Wawasee and included close to two dozen well-known sophs. Ask some of those present at this party why such a large number of absences in their crowd was reported Monday and Tuesday after the event. Couldn't be because nobody got more than one hour of sleep while at the party, or could it? Never can tell, but everybody present was worn out the following days carrying the bags under their eyes.

Bob Bolyard is a not so silent admirer of Gladys Beverford lately, and does Gladys ever eat it up.

At last Lorraine Iba has found the only guy for her. He is none other than that Robert Taylor of the senior class, Eddie Reeves. The feelings are apparently mutual, 'cause come every week-end Eddie keeps the Iba line plenty busy. This will probably turn out to be one of those prolonged summer affairs that are so lasting in the heart and memories.

I heard that Phyl Lansborough secretly burns for Henry Velkoff, South Side's champion woman-hater. However, one look at cute little Phyllis could almost change any woman-hater's mind. How about it, Henry? Loretta Yergens, that cute little red head of the sophomore class, has really fallen hard for Dick Berkenbeuhl and visa-versa. Loretta had looked high and low for the boy that exactly fitted the picture that she had in her mind of her dream boy. She had almost given up when Dick popped into sight. Now everybody's happy. Same old plot. Boy meets girl; boy and girl fall for each other. Period.

Why is it that Beauford Carper won't do anything but think of Eileen Smith the whole day through? Why don't you give some other girl a break, Beauford?

Jack Rogers, commonly known as Mac, and Etheldreda Behling, known as Tillie, for some reason or other are trying to keep their romance a secret. Most kids do just the opposite. They go around sighing and gushing to everybody they meet telling of the great love in their life. Oh well, maybe they like to be different.

Max Spencer has a very persistent admirer in the person of Katherine Beckman. Every night Katherine beckons down to the Times room, and carries on a prolonged conversation with the light of her life. I wonder what Max has to say on the matter. So long till next year. Yours truly..

Among Those - Present -

He's a combination of brain and brawn. In regard to his gray matter, you will remember him as the graduating senior who missed the salutatory by a margin of two thousandths; in regard to brawn, as that active participant in varsity football and track. It is indeed Joe Bex, often said by his friends to possess a great "poison"-ality. He might be described as a loquacious individual, a teller of jokes without points (he is well-known in this field), or as one addicted to following intellectual pursuits with but few captives.

Monsieur Bex is president of French Club and chief copy editor on The Totem staff. He is a member of Extemp and Math-Science Clubs. He is a former editor of The Times, and present member of the Radio Players group. Needless to say, he is a member of National Honor Society, Quill and Scroll, and Four Year Honor Roll. His accomplishments in the field of speech and publications are many. A gold pin and fourth place in an East Central States Editorial Writing contest were both honors he won while a sophomore. It would be impossible to list his wins in the speech department (space does not permit). He has been a winner of both the Freshman and Sophomore Speech Contests, winner of a former oratorical declamation contest, second and third several times in extemp contests and for these outstanding honors has been awarded two gold S's by the Wrangler organization.

Joe has only one dislike it seems, at least there was only one he would speak of. In regard to this pet peeve of pet peeves he says, quote, "I dislike interviewers such as you, who ask form questions." May we add here another of Mr. Bex's outstanding characteristics: his directness or "unbeating-about-the-bushiness." His favorite food is milk (there you are, boys, if you want muscles like Joe's); his favorite book, "Autobiography of Lincoln Stephens"; sports, football and basketball. Joseph is classed among this school's few philosophic gentlemen. He attested to this fact when he said, "Life is sometimes very dull. I wouldn't live if I could find any better way to spend my time."

His ambitions are many. As yet he has singled them down to only three: to study sociology, to be a writer, or to be a motion picture director. A college education is, of course, among his aspirations, too.

Along The Clothes Line

A new silhouette and a dressmaker touch can be summed up in the words, notched collar and nipped in waist line. These could be combined in a lovely summer gad-about frock of a light-weight material.

Fine chalk stripes in white cut across sunny pastel flannels fashioned into shorts with brief jackets, or slacks with longer jackets.

This summer you will see bunches and bunches of costume jewelry on crisply tailored shirts that are tucked into smartly cut shorts and slacks. This jewelry of course will be lighter in color and weight. I have seen some really clever pieces that would give joy to any female heart.

Many of the play suits have been inspired by the 90's. One that I particularly remember was made of awning striped fabric with bloomers, panties and camisole top. The bodice was gently shirred.

For inexpensive play suits make them of sail cloth or gingham.

If you want to look like an old fashioned coquette and add a very new touch to your summer formals, carry a tiny lace fan. They are so convenient when you do not know what to do with your hands.

Why not whip up a slick black and white checked daytime frock with starched collar and cuffs? Have the cuffs button with links.

Instead of wearing a kerchief tied under your chin as in bygone days, think up something that begins with you, maybe something in the form of small hats, or clever wrap-around turbans or a bright straw fisherman's hat, that looks like your fathers.

Plents, both pressed and unpressed, will be in vogue for formals.

And that's all, folks!

Adding Notes

Congratulations to Margaret Null and Helen Banks among others for the honor given them when they were awarded scholarships to outstanding institutions of higher education.

We Wonder how many romances will break up during the coming summer season? There are some couples which have been thought safe of any crack-ups; but others have not. We wonder—will they last. Only time can tell.

And Speaking Of Time, it will be some time before your correspondent returns to you through these columns of The Times (there's that word again), and in the meantime (again) remember me if you have time (need I say more?) I'll be expecting to come back next fall to meet you all again on the same terms, I hope, I hope, I hope.

What Would You Do?

I thought strongly about composing a little bit of poetry but upon second thought decided that that wouldn't be such a good idea. Anyway, I'm not so disappointed because I didn't want to compose anything anyway. So where does that leave us? Right back at the beginning with several questions still unanswered. With only four days of school left to stick out and a whole summer ahead of us, aren't you wondering how you should act during the long summer days? Well, here goes.

1. If, while swimming, you should start sinking you should:
 - a. Deat those biscuits I made.
 - b. Hey! I can't do this. What will my mom say?
 - c. Don't tell me; I can guess.
2. If, while lying in the hammock, a fly insists on pestering you, you should:
 - a. Step along, brother, my time is valuable.
 - b. Listen, fly, I can stand to be openly attacked, even to be chewed up, but when you sneak up on me and climb in my mouth without giving me a fighting chance—no, not that.
 - c. That is not being very sporting of you, fly. You know I'm a pacifist and won't kill you.

Listen Editor!

Ship ahoy, seniors! It won't be long now until you're strolling diplomaw-don that last mile. After four delightful years our '39ers have spent within these celebrated portals, we are sure that they will want their swan song to be the acme of perfection. In former years, one discerning correspondent has detected many faux pas during graduation activities. In order that these social slips may not mar your commencement, seniors, we will pass his letter on to you.

To the Seniors:

The zero hour approaches, bringing with it pleasure and "sweet sorrow." The underclassmen view your approaching departure with regrets. Many of you have been true friends to us in our moments of need, and your absence from these halls will leave, for a time at least, an irreparable feeling of loss. Another reason for our heavy hearts is that with every commencement we subtract another year from our high school life. Although most of us try to put on a bold front and pretend to gloat over our high status by teasing the latest crop of freshmen, in reality we rather envy them their four years' voyage. Because of my high regard for your past accomplishments and because of my goodwill toward you, I would like to make a few observances concerning former commencements I have seen. I hope that you will accept my criticisms in the same spirit in which they are given. First, I would like to pan the attitude of many seniors toward their caps and gowns. It doesn't seem to me that they give them the consideration worthy of symbols of scholastic attainments. After all, graduation is the culmination of four of the most important years in a person's life and, as such, should be approached with a feeling of reverence. This brings me to my second "peeve." Certainly a person can't have much respect for his "mortar board" when he cocks it on his head at an angle giddy enough to make the latest Paris creation blush with envy. I'll admit I'm a bit hairy when it comes to Emily Post's cap and gown, but you can at least get a faint gist of my arguments.

A JUNIOR.

★ Info Please ★

Well, foremost in all of our minds is the thought of Recognition Day. Yes, we have put in a good year, and we do deserve some super, extra special praises. Of course, not too much; but at any rate enough. They always say that you can see an expansion of two or more inches on the chests of all those who received recognition. Because we do have a special day for recognition, we can consider ourselves quite lucky, for, you see, some schools don't have such assemblies.

Upon a little inquiring it was discovered that students have both pro and con views. Following are the views of those students questioned.

Alice Sutter: I think it gives other students a chance to see who is at the head of the different classes.

Maurice Everson: It is a good idea, I think. It gives a chance for those who deserve honor to receive it.

Carolyn Cartwright: I guess it is a pretty good idea, but it is usually so long and drawn out. People are honored for every little thing.

Jane Merchant: I think it gives the rest of the student body a chance to see what other people are doing to help themselves and their school.

Laura Grazier: I think that it gives honor to those students who really deserve it.

Betty Ellingwood: I like the idea, because I think that everybody is interested to know who the persons are who receive recognition.

John Davenport: I like it, because I think other people should know what students have done.

Helen Gusingyer: I like the idea. This is the only opportunity that the other students have to know who is doing outstanding work in the school.

Wilma Yost: I think it is a good thing, because in this way students are rewarded for the work they have done.

Classic Books Entertain 211 Latin Scholars

"The Standard Bearer" Is Most Popular Volume;
"Unwilling Vestal," Next

Two hundred eleven students in the Latin department read at least a book apiece this last semester. Among the numerous books reported on to the Latin teachers, "The Standard Bearer" was the most popular, as it was read by thirty-three of the classic readers. Twenty-four read "The Unwilling Vestal," and twenty-three, "With Caesar's Legions." "The Forgotten Daughter" and "The Singing Seamen" were also among the list of favorites.

Following is the list of those students who reported on Latin reading books and the volumes that each read: Arden Altman, Virgil.

German Teacher Is At Art School

Classes In Industrial Art Are Principal Features For Fort Wayne Art Students To Take

Professor Emmy Zweybruck of Vienna, Germany, has proved to be a principal feature of the Fort Wayne Art School and Museum's classes in industrial art, conducted this past year for Fort Wayne art pupils.

Especially open to graduating senior high school students, Professor Zweybruck's classes have attracted a large number of art students. Attempting to bring about a closer relationship between art and industry, the artist tries to help the individual pupil develop his or her ideas along this line.

Possessing a miraculous knowledge of both American and European design, she is capable of rare teaching ability which enables her to inspire and develop students.

In charge of advertising in Central Europe for the Clark Thread Manufacturing Company of Scotland, besides conducting her own school of art in Vienna, she has contributed industrial designs to leading United States Manufacturers such as Macy's, the American Crayon Company, and to the Medici Prints Unit.

Besides possessing Professor Zweybruck, the Fort Wayne Art School can boast of an efficient staff of excellent teachers.

Beginning next fall in a series of lecture courses, complete studies of the Yale Puppeteers, Elizabeth Hawes, Thomas Hart Benton, Christmas Living Pictures, and Thomas Craven will be made.

Application blanks for Art School scholarships are to be secured from Mr. Snider, principal. Final awards will be based upon personal interview, submission of art work examples, as well as upon a drawing examination at the school. During the past several years, Archers, have won a number of these scholarships, and South Side students still have the opportunity for continuing the showing already made.

Students Write To Governors For Seals With Latin Mottos

A few weeks ago the students in Mr. Earl Sterner's Latin 3 class, the first period, wrote letters to the governors of the states asking for the state seal or facsimile of the seal which bore a Latin motto. There are twenty-six states in the Union which have a Latin motto. To date twenty-one replies have been received. It has been a very interesting project and the knowledge of a great many facts not anticipated has been gained.

Each student was proud to write to a governor of some state. He learned how to address a letter to a state executive. Some review of geography, such as state capitals, was acquired. With the seal, some of the governors' plain the emblem on the seal, telling the state flower, the state bird, and interesting facts about the states.

A few of the pupils were thrilled and lucky to receive the autographs of the particular governor to whom he wrote. These were few as most letters were answered and signed by the governor's secretary.

The Great Seal of the State of Michigan will be taken as an example and described in detail.

When one looks at The Great Seal of the State of Michigan, he will see the eagle, which has been named our desire for peace, and arrows to emphasize that our nation is ready, if necessary, to fight for its principles.

The shield is supported by two animals representing Michigan: the elk, on the left; the moose, on the right. The rising sun casting its beams over the lake calls attention to a man. Desire for peace is shown in his uplifted right hand, but preparedness for defense, by the gun at his side. One will also notice some peculiar words. They are difficult to read. That's because they are Latin. The first expression, "E Pluribus Unum," you've seen before. These words are our national motto. You'll find them on our coins. They show our union. They mean: "one from many." That means that out of many states was formed one nation.

Expressions Explained

The next word "Tuebor" is illustrative of the Michigan people. The state has a frontier position. It is next to Canada. We expect peace. We love peace, but this word says for each individual of Michigan, "I will defend."

Additional 1940 Totem Officers Are Published

Jim Murphy, Heartha Hoffman To Serve As The New Co-circulation Managers.

Staff Is Announced At 1500's Potluck

Co-activities Editors To Be Maurine Seibert, Audrey Hall; Others Are Listed.

Announcement was made at the 1500 Club potluck held last night of the newly appointed members of the Totem staff for next year. The announcement was made by Virginia Goegelein, editor of next year's yearbook. Virginia and Richard Gerig, next year's business manager, chose the new staff, which was publicly announced after it had received the approval of Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser for the publication.

Although a large number were named to the staff, only a nucleus for the final staff has been made. Writers, copy-readers, proof-readers, and many others must be chosen next fall by the staff as selected at the present time.

List Entire Staff

Serve As Understudies
The only members of this staff who have already done work on the Totem are Virginia Goegelein, Richard Gerig, and Joel Salton, all of whom have served as understudies during the past few months. The selection of Virginia as editor, and of Richard as business manager, was made at an earlier Times potluck by Miss Harvey. They have been working in the Totem office since they were chosen as the heads of next year's staff so as to get as much help as possible from the present staff. Joel Salton has served during the past semester as assistant photographer to Kenny Warren, this year's business manager of the Totem.

Miss Smeltzly Aids In Arranging Trail For Historical Trek

Miss Eleanor Smeltzly, history teacher, assisted with the planning of the trek taken by six hundred women last week, to the historical spots of Fort Wayne.

This trip required one and one-half hours time, but took in most places of interest in Fort Wayne during that short interval. Along the trail were the United States Post Office and Government Building. Across the street from the government building is located the home of the Lincoln National Life Insurance Company which houses the Lincoln Library, established by the Lincoln Life Foundation. A "Historic Old Apple Tree," supposed to have sprung from a seed accidentally dropped or purposely planted by some of the early French trader or missionaries was also seen.

Miss Smeltzly played a major role in planning the route to be taken, working with Mary Catherine Smeltzly, her sister who teaches at Central High School, and Mrs. J. Thompson.

Members Of Philo To Hold Breakfast

Annual Affair To Be Held June 9 At 7:30 In Foster Park; Menu Includes Bacon, Eggs

Philo seniors are making plans for their annual breakfast to be held Friday, June 9, at 7:30 o'clock in Foster Park. Although the meeting is in charge of the seniors, every club member is invited to attend.

Traditional bacon and eggs will be served. No program has been planned, but members are asked to bring their tennis racquets as games will be organized. All girls wishing to come are urged to pay ten cents and sign up in Room 68 by June 2 if possible. Since this is to be the last Philo meeting of the year, a large attendance is expected.

Committees for the breakfast are as follows: park, Betty Daniels; food, Annette Snokke, chairman, Lois Rea, Janice Dyer, and Kathleen Ramer; wood, Gwen DeWees and Eleanor Vesey.

French Club Picnicks At Meeting Thursday

May 25 French Club's final meeting of the year was held in the form of a picnic at Foster Park. Approximately twenty-five club members were in attendance. A French word puzzle contest constituted the only form of amusement as the prospect of rain dampened party spirits.

The committee in charge of general arrangements for the affair was comprised of Ellen McKay and Betty Margard with Murray Squires as chairman.

Will Return Locks

The senior locks will be returned Friday, June 2. They will be turned in to the general office.

Cubs And T.O.P. Are Champions In 'Mural Ball

Bruins Beat S. O. M. A. C. In Heavyweight League, 16-1; Outlaws Beat, 15-14

The Intramural softball tourney reached its peak this week as the final and championship games were played. In the heavyweight loop the Cubs breezed through the tourney without a loss, winning all of its games easily. In their final game they drubbed the S. O. M. A. C. by a score of 16-1. In this game Phil McKay pitched a two-hit game for the Cubs.

In the middleweight division, one of the closest games of the tourney was played. It took 10 long innings before the T. O. P. defeated the Outlaws, 15 to 14, to win the crown.

These tourney games started in April and have been played the fifth period and after school. Many entries were received in the two divisions.

The box score of the Cub-S.O.M. A.C. game is:

G. A. A. Track Fete Results Are Given

Events Of Annual Spring Meet Concern Baseball, Basketball, Volleyball And The Jumps

The results of the annual spring track meet are listed below. Although no records were broken this year we are assured again that we have some fine athletic girls in our school. The events that were held were baseball distance throw, base running, basketball free-throw, broad jump, high jump, balance beam, potato race, baseball target pitching, time baskets and volleyball serve.

In the baseball distance throw Geneva Martin placed first by the throwing 170 feet four inches. Second, third and fourth were taken by Ruth Doehla, Pauline Werling and Maxine Sterling.

Kathleen Neith and Maxine Sterling tied for first place in base running with a time of 8.2 seconds. In this event Leona Meyer and Pauline Oetting tied for second and Francis Nash and Pauline Werling tied for third.

In basketball free-throw Betty Thiele and Rosanna Weston tied for first by making six out of ten basket shots. Neva Rabel, Elma Shearer and Irene Meyer all made five out of ten baskets. Ruth Doehla and Virginia Simmons tied for third place.

Tiny Margaret Brower showed her superb ability by capturing first place in the broad jump. Margaret jumped 13 feet four inches. Second and third places were taken by Sarah Makey and Pauline Oetting.

Marjory Price, by high jumping 4 feet three inches, captured first place with Kathleen Neith, Sara Makey and Margaret Brower following close behind with second and third places.

Maxine Hudson placed first in the basketball distance throw by throwing 70 feet five inches. Kathleen Neith placed second and Evelyn Walker in this event. Margaret Brower, Helen Marchand and Neva Rabel placed first, second and third in the 50-yard dash.

Bernadine Pressler won first place in walking the balance beam. Martha Jane Krauskopf and Jeanne Smith won second and third. Winners in the potato race were Bernadine Pressler first running the race in 19.15 seconds, second and third made by Frances Nash, Gertrude Merkel and Elaine Boerger.

Frances Nash, Betty Thiele and Marion Feichter won first, second and third respectively in baseball target pitching. Betty Thiele won first in time baskets for one minute, Betty making twenty baskets while second and third made seventeen and fourteen, respectively, made by Geneva Martin and Irene Meyer.

The last of the sports entered was the volleyball serve, and June Neith won first place by serving ten good shots out of ten tries. Second and third places were captured by Geneva Martin, Margery Price and Marion Feichter.

Highest score winners were made by the sophomores. They are Margaret Brower, Bernadine Pressler, Geneva Martin and Betty Thiele with respective scores of 10.75, 10.33 1-3, 10.00 and 9.70.

Book Of Signatures Is Being Prepared By R. Nelson Snider

On the afternoon of Friday, June 2, solid volumes of De Maupassant, Tom Swift, Aristotle, Dick Tracy, Edna Ferber, Edgar Allen Poe, or any other manuscript (including the Rover Boys and Horatio Alger) won't mean a thing; for it's Mr. Snider's Big Book that counts.

Once each year, on the afternoon of Recognition Day, approximately six hundred Archers place their scrawls, scratches, etc., sometimes referred to by the cultured, as signatures or autographs, on the large white card-board sheets of the Big Book; for this is the only written record of the honored—written by the honored.

You see, for five years, Principal Snider has had placed on the desks on the gym floor, pen and ink with which South Side's most outstanding students are expected to sign their names on the sheets of the book. After the services, the card-boards are gathered tenderly by assistants, carressed with ultimate care, until they are placed with the pages of other years in the Big Book.

So, in placing your mark on the Big Book, remember Mr. Snider would well do without any other book in the world on this day—except the Big Book.

Big Assembly Of Recognition

Lloyd Whelan, Mr. Earl Sterner, Mr. Albert Heine, Mr. C. A. Bex and Mr. Cook have been appointed to serve at the end of the sixth period at the school's entrances. Only those students with properly signed slips will be permitted to leave.

Highlights of the affair will be the presentation to seniors the Best Citizen awards by the D. A. R. and Hi-Y; the bestowing of the Social Science award; the giving of the Bousch and Lomb science medals; the announcement of Senior Good D's for dramatists; and the giving of the G. A. A. senior plaque.

For the first time, the Voorhees Memorial will be presented in memory of Mr. Herbert S. Voorhees, the "grand old man of South Side High School," who passed away this winter, to a senior boy majoring in science.

Not only seniors, but all students will be rewarded for their efforts in home economics, art, commerce, industrial arts, music, dramatics, publications, girls' and boys' athletics, library service, and the boys' and girls' rifle clubs.

Archer Basketball Schedule For 1939-40 Is Announced

Three Teams Are Published As New Foes

They Are Burris Of Muncie, Crawfordsville, Jeffersonville; All Are Strong Ones

First Game To Be Here December 1

Southern Gymnasium Will Be Scene Of Twelve Tilts On Next Year's Program

Three new teams, all strong Southern Indiana outfits, are featured on the 1939-1940 South Side basketball schedule. Crawfordsville, Burris of Muncie and Jeffersonville are the three new opponents whom the Archers will meet.

The schedule for the coming season, as announced by Mr. Ora M. Davis, Archer athletic manager, is one of the most attractive of any in the history of the school. Twelve of the scheduled games will be played in the southern gymnasium, a fine opportunity for Archer season ticket buyers.

Begin In December

The Fiddlemen will open their schedule, which is every bit as tough as last season's, December 1, on their home floor against the Kendallville Comets and will continue their opening home stay against Bluffton's Tigers the following week-end. Vincennes, one of the three teams which managed to beat last year's squad, will be the Archers' opponent in their first road game of the season. The Archer netmen will then travel to Crawfordsville to play one of the three new additions to their schedule.

Probably the best home attraction for Archer fans will be the Burris of Muncie game to be staged here on December 22. The Burris Owls, it is to be remembered, were one of last year's four state finalists and will have a veteran squad next year. Horace Mann of Gary will be the next Archer foe in a game to be played at Gary. The following week the Archers come home for a five-game stay and also begin their defense of their city crown when they take on Central Catholic's National Champions in a game that should arouse a lot of interest among Fort Wayne net fans.

To Play Here

For the first time since North Side was erected, the Archers will play their first Redskin game in the South Side gym. This game should also be quite an attraction, since the Redskins have a veteran outfit and will be gunning for that old city title. Hartford City, Auburn and Connersville will complete the first Archer home stay. The Green will then travel to Elwood to take on "Hank" Francis' charges. Returning home the following night, the Archers will meet Huntington's Vikings and will close their home schedule against North Side, Kokomo and probably Central. Southern Indiana furnishes the last two Green and White potential victims in New Albany and Jeffersonville.

The Archers will meet the Central Tigers in their regular two-game series. However, the dates for the contests have not been definitely decided upon. Probable dates are January 17 at North Side and February 10 on the Archer floor. Another probable foe will be Froebel of Gary, who will play here on January 6.

List Schedule

The complete 1939-40 basketball schedule is as follows:

- December 1—Kendallville, here.
- December 8—Bluffton, here.
- December 15—Vincennes, there.
- December 16—Crawfordsville, there.

Kenworthy Trophy

One of the most outstanding sports awards South Side can confer upon its athletes is the Kenworthy Trophy. The trophy is donated to the school by Herb Kenworthy, proprietor of the South Side Grill. Every year on Recognition Day the athlete selected by a committee consisting of the student with the highest number of points on The Times staff and a person of the opposite sex chosen by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, receives the trophy for a year. Last year's winner was LeRoy Cook, who was outstanding in athletics.

To be eligible for the award, a boy must go out for all three varsity sports at South Side, and show a reasonable amount of ability in each sport. Several boys are eligible for the award this year, but the winner will not be announced until Recognition Day.

Paul Dammeier Is Ace Tennis Player In Singles, Doubles

Paul Dammeier, our hardy tennis ace, was born on January 12, 1922. The school he attended was the Zion Lutheran school. While in the Lutheran school, he began playing tennis. He played his first game of tennis at the tender age of eleven years. While still in grade school, he won the boys' singles and doubles contests in the grade school tournament.

In September, 1936, he entered South Side High School. He immediately went out for tennis. He won the singles and double tournament in his first year. In 1938, he was awarded his letter for tennis. Paul is a junior this year and again intends to play tennis for our school. He will play in the city and district singles and doubles tournament.

If he is able to qualify in these contests he will enter the national tournament, which is to be held in Cuba the latter part of August. Paul is a slender, blond, blue-eyed boy. As a side-line from tennis, he also umpires intramural softball. His tennis playing in all has netted him six ribbons, five medals, and a statue, which is not a bad collection for such a young man.

Paul's ambition is to be a professional tennis player. At the rate he is going now, we see no reason for his not being able to fulfill that ambition.

Redskins Win City-Wide Affair With 82 Points

Southerners Place Third By Score of 23½; Blue Thin-lies Amass 27½ Points

Coach George Collyer's Green thin-lies placed third in the city track meet held at North Side last Friday afternoon. The North Side team, winners of the city meet for eleven straight years, again ran far away from the second place Tigers and the third place Archers by amassing 82 1-4 points. The Central harriers scored 27 1-2 markers, and the Green totaled only 23 1-4.

However, the reason that the Archers were so outclassed was due to the fact that they were not able to muster a full team. In fact, up to Thursday the Archers had declared they would not compete in the meet, thus giving our lads little practice for the event.

Make New Records

Two new city meet records were made. Arden Altman, South Side's star pole vaulter, set a new record in this event by vaulting 11 feet 7 1-2 inches to break the record set by Donald Shiltz of North Side in 1936. Don Kemp, North Side's 880-yard run specialist, turned in a record time for the city in this event of 1:58.8. Les Menze of Central formerly held the 880 record at 2:00.4. The tracksters failed to endanger any more standing records.

South Side won but two firsts, while the Blue won two and North Side nine. Perhaps the biggest surprise of the meet came when Paul Baumgartner, North Side's won the high jump. Hank Kulesza, one of the best high jumpers in the state, was badly off form and retired when the bar was only at 5 feet ten inches. Henry has been jumping consistently over six feet this year.

Give Summary

This meet wound up the sports season for the local high schools. The meet summary is as follows:

100-Yard Dash—Cowan (N.S.), first; Wagner (N.S.), second; Altman (S.S.), third. Time—10.6.

High Hurdles—Campbell (C), first; Charlton (C), second; Moorhead (S. S.), third. Time—15.9.

Mile Run—Love (N.S.), first; Bruck (N.S.), second; Cook (S.S.), third. Time—4:37.6.

Shot-put—Close (S.S.), first; Huth (N.S.), second; Young (N.S.), third. Distance—44 ft. 3 ins.

440-Yard Dash—Sandkuhler (C), first; Royer (N.S.), second; Niehart (N.S.), third.

Broad Jump—York (N.S.), first; Ervin (N.S.), second; Kulesza (C), third. Distance—20 ft. 8 1-2 ins.

220-Yard Dash—Cowan (N.S.), first; Fulkerson (N.S.), second; Charlton (C), third. Time—23.4.

High Jump—Baumgartner (N.S.), first; Kulesza (C), second; Ervin (N. S.), third. Height—5 ft. 10 ins.

880-Yard Run—Kemp (N.S.), first; Winner (N.S.), second; Turpinhoff (C), third. Time—1:58.8 (new city and field record).

Low Hurdles—Flickinger (N.S.), first; Arnold (S.S.), second; Moorhead (S.S.), third. Time—24.0.

Pole Vault—Altman (S.S.), first; Dobson (N.S.), second; Drake (C), third. Height—11 ft. 7 1-2 ins. (a new city record).

Mile Relay—North Side, first; South Side, second; Central, third. Time—3:34.7.

Half Mile Relay—North Side, first; Central, second; South Side, third. Time—1:33.4.

GAA GAZETTE

Once again the dynamic sophomores completely overwhelmed the seniors. This time, it was in the track meet. In second place were the freshmen. Seventy-six points were scored by the sophomores and the freshmen scored twenty-six points.

In the following paragraphs yours truly will endeavor to give some really true and complimentary pointers about the individual winners in the track meet.

Margaret Brower is a very active sophomore with plenty of speed and strength. She (with the help of her orange juice, which she drinks daily) took first place with ten and .75 points.

In second place was Bernadine Pressler with 10.33 points. It seems that blondes have the upper hand this year. There is a peculiarity about Bernadine and that is the fact that she likes G. A. A.

Geneva Martin and Betty Thiele came to the rescue of the brunettes by taking third and fourth places respectively. There girls are as different as day and night when it comes to a certain subject. We just can't keep Geneva away from the boys and Betty Thiele won't even glance at one.

Who was the generous friend of Miss Smith who sent her that beautifully wrapped package which contained the stub of a pencil. After consultation with the school detective, we found that it was Betty Lapp.

What unhappy sophomore with blonde hair and pretty pink sweater went around school the other day with eyes red from crying over her dear bird's death. It seems that she even sang the funeral song for it.

And so we lose another prominent G. A. A.'er. Lois Jarvis, who especially excels in badminton and baseball is leaving for Tipton, Indiana. It seems that she was all set on seeing someone down there and then found that party was coming to Fort Wayne (at least, that is the way we heard it).

Girls' Rifle Club Shoots Second Round Targets

The second targets for the class contests were shot at the last meeting of Girls' Rifle Club. A list of the girls who will probably receive letters on Recognition Day was made out as follows: Marian Feichter, Delores Ulrich, Jane Merchant, Ruth Hoover, Audrey Hall and Mildred Trout. "lection of next year's officers was held.

Jeanne Smith Is New Head Of G.A.A. er's

Hertha Hoffman, Mary Dunten, Geneva Martin, Lucille Scheuman Are Others

Jeanne Smith was announced as the next president of G. A. A. at the annual spring banquet of the organization held last Friday night in the school cafeteria. The other positions will be filled by the following girls: Vice-president, Hertha Hoffman; secretary, Geneva Martin; treasurer, Lucille Scheumann; Inter-Club Congress representative, Mary Alice Dunten; and manager of sports, Betty Hargan.

The tables at the banquet were attractively decorated with spring flowers, and blue and white steamships called S. S. G. A. A.'s marked the places of the guests. Large cardboard advertisements were placed at various places throughout the room, carrying out the cruising idea.

Lehman Leads Singing

Between the courses of the meal, the group was led in singing by Velma Lehman, with Ruth Bade accompanying on the piano. Songs sung were Little Skipper, Three Little Fishies, I'd Love to Take Orders from You, Little Sir Echo and Shipmates Forever.

Hazel Perry, the chief steward of the evening, introduced the first guest speaker of the evening. She was Miss Martha Suter, a former high point girl while she was in G. A. A. Following her talk was a hornpipe given by four sailor girls. Miss Alice Dean then recognized the freshmen who had been active in G. A. A. during the last school year. Alice Jean Light presented a violin solo, followed by a talk by the president of the Central G. A. A., Sis Arnold. A clever two-piano arrangement of Glow Worm was given by Ruth Bade and Velma Lehman. The next speaker was Ginny Steele, the president of the North Side G. A. A.

Teachers Present Act
One of the highlights of the evening was an act presented by Mr. Bill Moss and Mr. Henry Chappell. Mr. Moss, appearing as a lazy negro trying to get some work done, sang two songs, Lazy Bones and Josephine. Following this, a prophecy of what some of the senior G. A. A.'ers would be doing fifteen years from now was given by Betty Showalter. Mrs. Clem, who was to be one of the guest speakers, was unable to attend; but her message to the group was read by Gwen Roberts. Aletha Randol then presented a clever tap dance.

Miss Pittenger, acting as captain of the S. S. G. A. A., gave a talk and invited the senior girls to the captain's dinner. The boat was steered safely into port by Miss Gretchen Smith, who recognized the outstanding upperclassmen in G. A. A. She announced the officers for next year; and before the boat docked for the ending of the trip, the group sang their farewell song, the school song.

Brilliant Prospects Succeed Completion Of Football Practice

South Side's football prospects for next fall are exceedingly bright.

Coach Moss will have a sizeable line backed up by a speedy backfield. With the return of the easy football schedule, the Archers are sure to win most of their games. Most of the Archer students will be glad that South Side has come out of the football doldrums.

Spring football practice finished last Friday for this year. Moss was well pleased with the showing the boys made. Byron McCammon, who has been shifted from guard to fullback, is looking swell in that position. But Porter, Roy Demetree, Ralph Shimer, Bob Englehart and Blackie Dager are waging a fight for the two tailback spots. Don Hire has looked best for quarterback with Stu Welborn pressing him for the position.

But perhaps the most surprising candidate out for spring football is Ralph Vetter. Vetter plays end and if Cook and Braden don't look to their laurels, he is going to be playing in there next fall. Dick Warner, Harold Hoon and Jack Ridings are battling for the tackle posts. Hoon is a 236-pounder and fast for his weight. Dave Roth is working out at the guard post. The other guard position is wide open. The center position is another wide open spot. Dick Shinn, Byron Ghinger and Bob Goodwin are really waging a battle royal for this spot. Regardless of who gets the starting assignments, Coach Moss will have plenty of capable reserves.

Coach Moss will probably discard the shift he used last fall and all the plays will be run off from a standing formation. Punting duties will be taken care of by Blackie Braden and Ralph Shimer. Bob Englehart will again do the heavy passing.

South Side Golfers Take The N. E. I. C.

Edward Reeves, Rahe Tieman, Tom Hall, Ralph Hamilton Bring Crown To Kelly Klads

The South Side golf team captured the N. E. I. C. golf crown on last Saturday. Previous to this match the Archer mashie wielders had dropped a match to Central Catholic, 7-1-2 to 4-1-2, on Wednesday evening.

The golf team had been having matches for the past three weeks and are steadily developing into a fine aggregation. The four lads who have brought the N. E. I. C. title to our school were Ed Reeves, Ralph Hamilton, Rahe Tieman and Tom Hall. Dick Zeig also saw action in the varsity matches.

The above posted the best scores in the intramural golf tourney held in the early part of May. Other good scores were turned in during the progress of the selecting of the team by Bob Robinson, Jack Hogan, Eugene Stair, Bud Lampton, Arthur Longsworth, Joe Loos and Bob Young.

All boys who wish to try out for the team should sharpen up their game this summer so that they might place high in the intramural golf tourney next year and win a place on the golf team. Several vacancies will be left on the team by the graduation of Ed Reeves and Dick Zeig, so that Coach Burl Friddle will expect several new candidates to fill their shoes next year.

Announce Staff Of Publication For Fall Term

Miss Harvey, Times' Head, Bruce Bradbury, General Manager, Name Posts

Give All Applicants Places On Paper

Lora Lee Montgomery, Emilou Allendorph, Jean Fortriede Are Slated Chiefs

"With Emilou Allendorph and Jean Fortriede as co-managing editors leading the editorial staff, and with Lora Lee Montgomery, business manager, directing the activities of the business staff, The Times will begin next fall with renewed energy in acting as an agent of the student body," announced Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser, and Bruce Bradbury, future general manager of the school paper, at 1500 Club's last potluck of the year held last night in the cafeteria.

Emilou and Jean have been working as copy editors on the copy desk this year, and Lora Lee has acted as business manager since last semester.

Other major staff members announced at the potluck include John Ponsib as advertising manager; Dick Aronhalt, circulation manager; Marjorie Sheldon, news editor; Dorothy Gore, feature editor; Bob Robinson, editorial page editor; Bob Young, makeup editor; Alex Azar, boys sports editor; John Gumpner and Bob Guion, copy editors; Jeanne Smith, girls sports editor.

Plan Early Sessions

During the last of July and the entire month of August, the new staff will convene in order to shape plans for next fall. A semi-school for reporters and other members of the staff may be held, during which underclassmen will have the opportunity to learn the fundamentals of each position. If at all possible, graduated students, former members of The Times, will be on hand to act as coaches. Staff members will be notified by post card of the first session of the group.

Positions awarded this year were based upon previous service, and the results of the intensive understudy system which has gone into effect for the last six issues. Underclassmen, working for two weeks at a time directly under major staff members, were given the additional experience for numerous positions even though they may not have been eligible to fill a particular job for next fall.

Top honors among minor staff positions were given Bob and Jim Brooks who will act as assistant business managers; Mildred Hanke, auditor; Martha Jane Krauskopf, credit manager; and the six assistant circulation managers, Kolman Gross, Caroline Schueler, Audrey Hall, Tom Thiele, Betty Marquardt, and Lois Hoff.

Grant Other Positions

Other high places granted were classroom news editor, Faye Gumpner; mailing manager, Lois Gumpner; assistant mailing manager, Eileen Kiessling and Louisa Haug; assistant credit manager, Ruth Hoover. Ad solicitors include Helen Anderson, Erma Jackson, Lois Likens, Julia Smith, Mary Lou Feller, Suzanne Roebel, Eileen Eidner, Jean Peterson, Alice Klenke, Margaret Ann Meyer, Mary Louise Dunbar, Jean Shimmel, Katherine Kixmiller, Hilda Schubert, Kathryn Kayser, Shirley Rubin, Mary Lucille Carlo, Nadine Woeh, Jean Stewart, Jane Marie Cocks, Mary Burt, and Phillip Schwartz.

Among the bill collectors are Mary Burt, Helen Anderson, Jean Stewart, Jane Marie Cocks, Mary Lucille Carlo, Nadine Woeh, Kathryn Kayser, Jean Shimmel, Mary Louise Dunbar, Margaret Ann Meyer, Alice Klenke, Jean Peterson, Mary Lou Feller, Suzanne Roebel, Julia Smith, Lucy Smith, and Erma Jackson.

Applicants for positions as copywriters, editorial writers, news writers, girls sports writers and classroom news writers will be given tryouts next fall in special classes before school begins, and the actual persons chosen.

Apply As Reporters

Students applying for positions as reporters include Joan Cox, Ellen Harry, Margaret Kienle, Dorothy Gilden, Mary Elizabeth Turner, John Virt, Doris Williams, Etheldrea Behling, Bill McNulty, Ronald McVay, Marilyn Loomis, John Logue, Marjorie McNabb, Alene Loeser, Sally Hobbs, Dorothy Jagers, Lois Craig, Dick Bailhe, Carolyn Snoko, John Gumpner, Janice Sprunger, Gloria Werkman, Jeanet Whetsel, Mary Louise Wilson, Mary Ellen Barrett, Lois Bloemker, Dick Brandt, Lois Bremer, Betty Hargan, Ann Haller, Ruth Hoover, Barbara Koenig, Jean Foreman, Becky Abbott, Virginia Gray, Marilyn Gregg, Patricia Underhill, Martha Lee Wake, John Wells, Pat Sanford, Bob Guion, Marjorie Haller and Katherine Bultemeier.

Other future reporters include Elizabeth Kelson, Neva Kirk, Delores Ann Reiter, Wilma Jean Sullivan, Eleanor Traycoff, Bob Gunzenhauser, Delores Ulrich, Ruth Ann Steigler, Eileen Kiessling, Marilyn Dennis, Louisa Haug, Phyllis Fackler, and Gladys Foellinger.

Aid In Class News

Underclassmen to serve as classroom news reporters are Nancy Hess, Virginia Hill, Constance Hirschy, Sally Hobbs, Katherine Bultemeier, Marianna Klotz, Gladys Foellinger, Ruth Ann Archer, Janice Sprunger, Ruth Ann Steigler, Wilma Jean Sullivan, Theda Tyndall, John Wells, Etheldrea Behling, Lois Bloemker, Betty Ann Brindle, and Delores Ann Reiter.

Those who wish to be editorial writers are Constance Hirschy, Louis Hallenstein, Delores Daniels, Margaret Kutsch, Sam Bacon, Ruth Ann Steigler, Janice Sprunger, Mary Elizabeth Turner, Gloria Werkman, Doris Williams, Mary Ellen Barrett, Betty Ann Bohn, Dick Brandt, Bill McNulty, Charlene McAtee, Josephine Frosh, Katherine Guild, and Bea Etzler.

UP AND DOWN OUR INCLINES

On a test given by Mr. Mills on the Potter Practice, Mildred Holmes scored 96 correct answers out of possible 98, which is A plus work.

On a recent test that was given by Mr. McClure to his sociology classes, the following students made the highest grades: period 1, Janie Weir and Bernita Gregory; period 2, Joan Gunter; and period 4, Arthur Bear.

On May 16, in Miss Dean's home room 98, Miss Pittenger, our dean, gave a talk on vocations.

The long-talked about ear of corn which grew in Mr. Gould's green house in a water solution minus soil, has now ripened and has been husked.

The students in room 25 are preparing for the summer vacation. They discussed the topics of fish and fishing Friday. Twenty topics were suggested, from which they made their selection. For a variety, Marie Lillich, Millicent Frank, Virginia Nunen-kamp, and Dorothy Cooper sang "Three Little Fishes." They were accompanied on the accordion by Betty Fremion.

Miss Van Gorder's occupation classes finished their term reports and turned them in last Friday. Each student chose a certain occupation on which to write his report.

Mr. Mill's bookkeeping students are working in the Potter Practice Set, which will require knowledge of all the different things studied through the semester.

On a series of tests over "A Midsummer Night's Dream," given by Miss Kiefer to her freshman English classes, the following students made the highest grades: Phyllis Minnier, Franklin Thompson, Paul Wolford, Phyllis Orr, Agnes Ruch, Ralph Shimer, and Jack Powers.

Mr. McClure's sociology class are working out problems in three units: farm, town, and city.

All themes are in, in Mr. Null's English class, with the exception of a few yet to be corrected.

Miss Hodgson gave a test to her geometry classes covering geometry 1 and 2. Safford McMyler received 100; and Carlton Clem, Clarence Freeman, Martha Jane Krauskopf, Levon Schnepf, and Bob Palmer received 95.

On May 24, Marilyn Wolf entertained home room 98 by giving several tap dances.

While the students in Miss Pocock's English 4 class were studying the "Chambered Nautilus," Lisea Kaiser brought some shells to school.

There are 77 persons in Miss Crowe's health classes who will receive Red Cross certificates.

William Hambrock, a pupil of Miss Pocock, made a cartoon illustrating McNulty, and Joan Cox will act as proofreaders.

Serving under Jeanne Smith on the girls sports staff are Elaine Hirschy, Nancy Hess, Lois Holzworth, Ruth Hoover, Barbara Brower, Martha Jane Krauskopf, Mary Alice Dunten, Delores Ulrich, Jeanet Whetsel, Betty Bligh, Beverly Smith, and Neva Rabel. Under Alex Azar, boys sports editor, are Bruce Klotz, John Gumpner, John Virt, Bill McNulty, John Logue, Dick Bailhe, Dick Brandt, and John Wells.

the use of who and whom.

In Miss Crowe's health classes, those who made the highest grades on the final aid test were Edward Meyers, Homer Sommers and Margaret Kutsch.

Doris Hilbish compiled an excellent bibliography on Eugene O'Neill in Miss Pocock's English 8 class.

In Mrs. Welty's 9B classes, the review of all the work covered has been divided into three parts. Each part reviewed is covered with a test.

In a test given by Miss Hodgson to her algebra 1 and 2 classes Paul Johnson made the highest grade of 93; Richard Markowitz received 92, Marie Boehm 92, and Lois Bloemker 90.

Mr. Mills' business economics students are making written reports on causes of business fluctuations of 1929 to 1939.

I. U. Extension Proves Popular

The Indiana University Extension in Fort Wayne is rapidly taking on the aspects of a complete and varied program for people of many interests: high school graduates seeking a complete year's work prerequisite to liberal arts, medicine, dentistry, social service, nurses' training, Purdue engineering and teacher training; graduate courses; and courses designed especially for business and professional people who wish to further their professional as well as cultural interests. In addition to these courses many subjects are offered for students of sophomore, junior and senior standing, since sixty hours can be completed in extension classes. During the present academic year, 1938-39, the enrollment for both day and night classes was 1,061 different students. This large enrollment is impressively indicative of the versatility of the extension program. Outstanding among the courses which have appealed to both academic and professional students have been the special lecture series which are arranged to supply both practical and broader cultural values to students.

Not only does the extension program attract residents of Fort Wayne, but many graduates of out-of-town schools take advantage of this opportunity of completing one and often two years of work. Besides the regular student group who are working toward academic degrees, the student body consists of stenographers, bookkeepers, industrial employees and representatives from seventy-five other vocations. Another feature of interest, especially to Fort Wayne students, is the addition of the day-time program to the extension classes. Now it is possible for freshmen students to take practically a full college load of fifteen hours during the day.

With the advent of our day classes, the Fort Wayne division has expanded its activities which include many interests. Outstanding among the social innovations has been the organization of the I.N.D.X. Club which directs the social activities of the student body.

This year the club has sponsored a skating party, two informal dances, a spring formal which was held at the Anthony Hotel ballroom on May 6. An additional feature of the annual spring formal was the crowning of the Charming Queen.

For students interested in music, the music workshop supplies a pleasant and profitable diversion.

1939 Yearbook Delivery Date Is Tomorrow

Seniors Will Receive Totems During Home Room, Others To Go To Room 16

Seniors will receive their 1939 Totems tomorrow during their home room period; while other students may call for their books in the Times room, 16, during their study periods.

All day tomorrow, Friday, room sixteen will be closed to all Times staff members and all other students with the exception of those underclassmen who are calling for their books, and of course, the major Totem staff members.

Features of the 1939 Totem other than the leather cover, are the senior and underclass polls, reconstruction pictures, art work by Janice Dyer, and engraved names on the cover. Those students names will appear on their Totems who subscribed during the original campaign at the beginning of this school year or who paid ten cents later, and were entirely paid up when the names were recorded.

Pictures appearing in this year's Totem may be purchased separately in the Totem office after school tomorrow, or sometime next week.

These books, which are to arrive today from Chicago, where the covers were put on, were printed by the Fort Wayne Paper Box Company.

P-T.A. Leaders Hold Last Meeting May 25

The final meeting of the South Side Parent-Teacher Association executive committee was held at the home of Mrs. John Bostick last Thursday night. Guest speakers were Dr. W. W. Duemling and William Gernand, a member of the Wranglers' Club of the South Side High School. Reports were presented by the committee chairman and by Mrs. A. K. Remmel and Mrs. John Brooks, who attended the national P-T.A. convention held recently in Cincinnati, Ohio. Following the business session, a luncheon was served by the hostess to the twenty-three members present. The rooms were decorated with flowers presented to Mrs. Bostick by the executive committee.

Five Reserved Seats Allotted To Seniors

Five tickets for reserved seats at South Side's annual commencement services next Wednesday night will be available today for each graduating senior student, it was announced this week by Principal R. Nelson Snider. Although the tickets are for the reserved section, they are not marked for a particular seat. The reserved section will only be held open until 8:25 o'clock that evening.

Inter-Class Meet Held By Thinlies

South Side Seniors Lead With 53 Points; Juniors Are Second; Sophs, Third; Frosh, Fourth

The track season has taken another step toward the time when all cinder track men shelve their shoes and suits and every one begins to think over the '39 track season. It is unanimously agreed that the track meet that displayed the most enthusiastic aspirations was that last Thursday's inter-class track meet.

The final results showed the mighty seniors leading with a total number of points of 53, the juniors second with 43, the sophomores third with 19, and the frosh trailing with 2. The seniors did establish their supremacy over the underclassmen, but they were forced really to put out in order to win.

This meet had many peculiar angles to it. In the first place Beery, Altman and Arnold were not allowed to participate in these events in which they competed in the state finals held at Indianapolis, and also this track meet was just for the fun of proving whether the freshmen, sophomores, juniors or seniors were tops. Former running partners were now opponents and everyone was really trying even though the sun was hot enough to fry.

Mr. McClure, as the official starter, the sun a Times reporter, plus a very few spectators, comprised the outsiders who witnessed this unusual but interesting track meet.

Beery had a field day winning the 100-yard dash, pole vault and high jump and then only stopped because three events was the limit. Cook took his two in the 880, and the mile. Moorhead scored twice in the two hurdles races, and Arnold, Roth and Close took one first place each.

The records stayed intact but the runners had to fight off a host of fellow hecklers and one of the hottest days of the year.

The interesting summary is as follows:

100-Yard Dash—Beery (S.), first; Wuttke (Sophs.), second; Altman (J.), third. Time—10.6.

220-Yard Dash—Arnold (S.), first; Botz (S.), second; Worman (F.), third. Time—24.2.

440-Yard Dash—Roth (J.), first; Ferguson (S.), second; Feistkorn (Sophs.), third. Time—55.0.

880-Yard Run—Cook (J.), first; Fremont (J.), second; Turner (J.), third. Time—2.19.

120 High Hurdles—Moorhead (S), first; Thiele (J.), second; Brown (J.), third. Time—16.7.

220 High Hurdles—Moorhead (S), first; Thiele (J.), second; Brown (J.), third. Time—26.0.

Shot Put—Close (Sophs.), first; Fatheree (Sophs.), second; Goshorn (S.), third. Distance—43 ft. 8 ins.

Pole Vault—Beery (S.), first; Hofstetter (J.), second; Turner (J.), third. Height—10 feet.

High Jump—Beery (S.), first; tie for second, Altman (J.), and Turner (J.). Height—5 ft. 2 ins.

Broad Jump—Arnold (S.), first; Ferguson (S.), second; Wuttke (Sophs.), third. Distance—20 ft. 8 1/2 inches.

Half Mile Relay—Seniors, first; Sophs, second; Juniors, third. Time—2:00.

Mile Relay—Juniors, first; Sophs., second. Time—4:05.

Elsie Campbell, '38, Also Makes Good In Office Position

Elsie Campbell is the second student who, after graduation last June, is now working in a grade school office.

Elsie Campbell

A short time ago Ruth Henline who is working at the Harrison Hill office, was featured in this column. Miss Campbell is the office clerk in the Franklin school. Since she is the only clerk, she is kept quite busy answering phone calls and questions of inquiring parents and pupils, typing, mimeographing, keeping books, issuing street car passes, collecting milk and lunch money, and taking dictation. From this long list of daily duties it is obvious that Elsie has a busy day. She says that her day is full of things to do, but in spite of this, her work is very interesting and enjoyable. She further says that often she does not know how to plan her business day until she gets to the office. Many times she does not know what will have to be done and is therefore forced to wait until she is given a list of the daily activities.

It seems that Elsie received her position in a very interesting way. While a student in the commercial course here at South Side, she was given the assignment to write a letter of application, applying for a position in a grade school office. Elsie prepared her letter and regarded it as just another assignment. A few weeks later she was told that she was to take a position in the Franklin school office. She secured this position because her employer was impressed by her letter and her ability.

Letter Brought Job In her typing class she received a ribbon for her ability to type sixty words per minute. She was also outstanding in her shorthand class.

Elsie was an active member of G.A.A., So-Si-Y and the Totem staff while attending South Side.

In regard to the benefits which can be derived from the commercial course as it is taught here, Elsie says, "South Side has a very thorough course. After taking it, it is easy to get an office position because of the knowledge gained from the course." Elsie Campbell is another student who saw that she wanted to work in an office after graduation and because of this desire she chose to follow the commercial course. After her four years of training she was able to secure an office position and now is making a name for herself in the world of business.

Boys' Rifle Club Names New Head

Richard Hornberger Will Lead Organization Next Semester; Others Are Elected To Office

At the last meeting of the Boys' Rifle Club Richard Hornberger was elected to serve as president for next year. Others named to office were Fred Pugh, vice-president; Edmund Bauer, range officer; and Dick Theye, secretary-treasurer.

The most recent outstanding activity of the rifers was the crowning of the various champion marksmen. The individual match saw Robert Hageman, last year's winner, again take the school championship with a score of 199; the second place winner was Wayne Bastian who shot 198. The class champions were Robert Hageman, senior; Howard Ensley, junior; Richard Hornberger, sophomore, and Everett Arnett, freshman.

In the competition between the senior and junior class teams, the seniors emerged the victors with Robert Hageman shooting 100, Wayne Bastian 98, Carl Goebel 96, Charles Haug 99 and Mark Hall 95, for a total of 488. For the underclassmen, Howard Ensley shot 98, Audrey Hall 93, Paul Gruss 92, Marion Feichter 99 and William Whetsel 84, for a total of 450.

At the recognition day service tomorrow medals will be presented to the school champion, the class champions, and the class team champions.

Following are the scores of the two individual shootings and the totals of the two which determined the school winner:

Name	Score	Score	Total
Hageman	100	92	199
Bastian	99	99	198
Hornberger	98	100	198
Haug	99	98	197
Ensley	98	99	197
Thiele	98	97	195
Hall, M.	95	99	194
Hall, A.	93	93	186
Whetsel	84	93	185
Arnett	95	88	183
Hawkins	90	91	181
Feichter, M.	90	90	180
Trout, M.	91	82	173

Henry Velkoff, Eleanor Vesey Lead '39 Class

Highest Averages 96.51 And 95.85; Joe Bex, Margaret Null Rank Third, Fourth

Fifty-eight Seniors Make Honor Roll

Both Leaders Are Qualified In All Respects To March At Front Of Procession

Sincere and earnest endeavor have earned Henry Velkoff and Eleanor Vesey the titles of valedictorian and salutatorian and the privilege of leading their class in the annual commencement exercises. They lead their fellow-students of the class of 1939 with the scholastic averages of 96.51 and 95.85, respectively. Joe Bex ranks third with an average of 95.848. Margaret Null's average, 95.803, also was extremely close. Besides these leaders, fifty-four other students have won the right to a place on the four-year honor roll by maintaining an average of 90 or above throughout their three or four years of attendance at South Side.

Besides being outstanding in scholarship, Hank and Eleanor have excelled in service, leadership, and character; and, as a result, they were named to the South Side Promethean Chapter of the National Honor Society last December. Hank has served as president of Airplane Club, is a member of Extemp Club, and belongs to Wranglers.

Eleanor was general manager of The Times for the fall term of 1938. She is a former president of Art and Social Science Clubs, and was vice-president of the Indiana High School Press Association. She is also a past secretary of Student Players Club. Last year she placed second in the third division of the state-wide Latin contest. Because of her endeavor for the school publications, she is the possessor of a gold-jeweled pin, and membership in Quill and Scroll Society and 1500 Club.

The four-year honor roll students whom Henry and Eleanor lead are: Edith Allen, Alison Arnold, Ruth Bade, Helen Banks, Joseph Bex, Andrew Bremer, Mildred Brett, Richard Buchholz, James Craig, Betty Daniels, Donna Dennis, Gwendolyn DeWees, Janice Dyer, Helen Faux, Donna Lou Foutz, Phyllis Geller, Richard Gentis, Carl Goebel, Joan Gunter, Dixie Lee Hanna, Mary Lee Hines, Eileen Hoffman, and June Holzworth.

Also Audrey Jefferies, Marjorie Jackson, Ruth Kaiser, Sophia Kelak, O'Lily Kensler, Eleanor Kneller, Rosella Koehler, Alma Korte, Evelyn Kruse, Velma Lehman, Max Magnar, Nadine Mueller, Velda Oppenlander, Dorothy Pifer, Margery Price, Kathleen Ramer, Margery Rapp, Della Rauner, Lois Rea, Earl Edward Reeves, Mary Sapp, Eugene Schmidt, Frieda Schubert, Robert Shimel, Betty Showalter, Julia Ann Smith, Annette Snoke, Max Spencer, Jeannette Warren, Kenneth Warren, Richard Weaver, and Charles Will.

Catherine Clindard, Robert MacKay, and Ruth Ellison have not been here for the three years required to acquire a place on the four year honor roll but have maintained an average which makes each eligible.

School Physician Thanks Principal

Mr. R. N. Snider Receives Letter Expressing Appreciation For Cooperation In Testing

The following letter was recently received by Mr. R. Nelson Snider, principal:

May 25, 1939.
Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Prin.
South Side High School
Fort Wayne, Indiana.
My dear Mr. Snider:

Please express my thanks and appreciation to the teachers of South Side High School and the Parent-Teacher Association for their splendid co-operation in completing the tuberculosis survey in South Side High School. The fact that the survey uncovered a number of students who should be under observation and have a periodic check-up is of inestimable value both to them and to their associates, and cannot be measured in dollars and cents. Now that the need for this program has been shown, I hope that ways and means will be found to carry it on year after year.

The demonstration at South Side High School is an indication of what can be accomplished with the help of the teachers and sincere interest of the parents, and will stand as a challenge and inspiration to the other schools of the city. It also demonstrates the vital importance of the teachers and parents in any health program in the schools.

Again assuring you of my sincere appreciation for your splendid help and co-operation, and your own personal interest and enthusiasm which have meant much to me, I remain, Yours very truly,
W. W. DUEMLING, M.D.
Chief of Staff of School Physicians.

Windmiller Is Prexy
Mr. Harold Windmiller, former commercial teacher at South Side, was named president of the Fort Wayne Schoolmaster's Club at their semi-annual banquet, held recently at the Zion Lutheran parish hall.

Leaders Of The '39 Class

Henry Velkoff

Henry Velkoff and Eleanor Vesey were named valedictorian and salutatorian of the class of '39 recently. Henry's average was 96.51, and Eleanor's was 95.854.

Janice Dyer, Gene Schmidt Best Citizens

Are Presented With D. A. R. Medals By Miss Gretchen Smith, Recognition Day

Best Citizen awards made by the Daughters of the American Revolution named Janice Dyer and Eugene Schmidt as the two best citizens of South Side.

Both of these two received medals from Miss Gretchen Smith on Recognition Day. Janice will also have her name put in a lottery with names of approximately four hundred other girls who were chosen as best citizens in their respective schools. The winner of this lottery will go to Washington on a special trip along with girls from the other forty-seven states in America. The purpose of this trip is to acquaint young Americans with the workings of their government. During the period of time when the D. A. R. has chosen best citizens from the city high schools, no Fort Wayne girl has been selected to make the trip to Washington, D. C.

The winners of the best citizen awards were chosen by a vote of the seniors in which three boys and three girls were chosen who received the highest number of votes in the balloting and whose names were then given to a group composed of faculty members of South Side who passed final judgment for the best citizens.

The other two girls besides Janice who were considered for the honor are Betty Daniels and Phyllis Geller.

Both Janice Dyer and Eugene Schmidt have been active in extra-curricular activities in South Side during their four years' here. Both have served as officers of their class and have worked on school publications and have been members of many clubs.

Seniors To Demand Extravagant Salary According To Votes

"I'll always want more," stated an unusually honest senior, when given the question, "When you get a job what salary will you be satisfied with?"

We suspect every senior of thinking the same thought (can anything but a thought be thought?), although they were polite enough—polite without a senior knowledge of politeness—to give us figures as the answer to that question.

Figures of salaries ran from ten to ten thousand dollars a week as the salary they would be satisfied with. Twenty-five, twenty, and fifty dollars all came in for their share of the votes in the order named.

Although the hoped for future salaries of '39 graduates went way up to ten thousand dollars a week, very few students went that high (we take it upon ourselves to suppose) even in their imaginings.

But one figure that made us wonder was the quotation of one hundred and thirty-one dollars a week. Whatever you suppose the one dollar was for?

Even as seniors, some students have not as yet even made up their own minds. They are as indefinite as freshmen and showed it by such answers as "anything reasonable," "unknown," "depends on job," and many other freshmanlike answers.

Two Senior Rooms Give Teachers Gifts

Two senior home room teachers received gifts from their home room seniors last Friday.

Miss Amanda Hemmer was given a personal portfolio and Miss Mary McCloskey received a desk set.

Miss Hemmer in turn surprised her seniors by giving each of them a miniature diploma consisting of a green and white candy stick tied with a bow of white ribbon.

Many Events Rate Outstanding Places With Super Seniors

Senior Archers had many and varied answers on the question, "What other event has seemed the most prominent?" The answers ran from the ridiculous to the sublime, so to speak.

The senior play which will long remain in our fondest memories, the many public speaking events in which our fair school has always excelled, the great honors that have been captured by the best school newspaper, The Times, and that spectacular, lavish event we all loved, the Junior Prom, were among those events that rated top-notch places with our super seniors.

Other prominent events listed were, the North Side-South Side football game, when we had those "fightin' Redskins" 13-12; the South Side-Central interscholastic meets which always produce some unexpected thrills, the assembly when Chief Eagle Plume entertained us with his war dance; those thrilling and hectic days when we were wondering whether we would have to finish our school days at Irene Byron because of those mysterious little patch tests which we were all sporting around; the appearance of Rubino and his violin; and the Ivy Day celebration.

One of the very (?) humorous answers put forth by one of our bright seniors was this answer, my first date was the most prominent event. Oh, well, we all have our weak spots.

Seniors Select Max Wagner As Archer With Prettiest Teeth

Among the many personal appearances which usually catch another's eye is the presence of a pretty set of teeth. According to the senior questionnaire recently canvassed in the home rooms, several boys walked away with signal honors. Seniors named Max "Pure Boy" Wagner as the owner of the most perfect set of teeth. Max has been known for his pretty white incisors which make his smile a memorable and pleasing one. Max rather disheartenedly disclosed to your reporter that he uses a special tooth paste which he has prepared by a chemist.

Running neck-and-neck for second place in this honored contest were Richard "Beacon" Buchholz and Max "Spence" Spencer, both proud possessors of their pretty teeth. Buck, as Richard is affectionately called by his friends, is particularly known for his broad, pure white smile, while Spence has used his smile to sell the dissatisfied patrons of the Totem office.

Two contrasting answers on two contrasting papers were "me" and "not me," so it is easy to understand why seniors have such contrasting (there's too much contrast here) opinions as to include 29 boys' names.

Picture Used As Cover

The cover of the May, 1939, issue of The School Press Review published by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association was taken from The Totem of 1938. Signifying that school days are over, the picture shows the shadows of three South Siders leaving school by the west exit.

"Four years of work upon any task deserves an evaluation. What are the results of this work? What has been accomplished? What kind of a record has been made? I believe sincerely that the Class of 1939 of South Side High School may look back with pride upon the four years which they have spent here. The scholarship record of this group of graduates has been excellent, as the large number of four year honor roll people, and the high scholastic average will certify. The participation in activities and management of the school has been full and beneficial. Trophies,

Many Seniors Receive Honor Memberships

Tagging Of Society Members Of 1939 Class Occurs On December 22, April 26

Sixty-two Selected To National Group

Attend Banquet As Special Guests Of Faculty May 11 At Plymouth Church

Sixty-two students of the graduating class of 1939 were elected to the National Honor Society. This was the largest number ever selected. The tagging of the members of National Honor Society from the class of 1939 occurred on December 22 and April 26.

Many requirements are necessary for membership in this organization. Students must be in the upper third of the class before they are considered as possible members. A list of eligible students is sent to teachers who select as many students as they think qualify for the honor. Their choice is based upon scholarship, character, service, and leadership. The lists are then handed to the membership committee which considers the names and prepares them for the final decision.

Banquet Is Held

South Side's National Honor Society Banquet was then held May 11 at the Plymouth Congregational Church at 5:30 p. m. All new members were the special guests of the faculty members. The alumni and parents of the members were invited and urged to come. Two hundred thirty-two reservations were made for the banquet. The number of reservations indicated that the largest banquet in the history of the organization in South Side would be held this year.

The theme of the banquet was America, and the decorations were carried out in this theme. Music was played by the South Side trio, and speeches were made by R. N. Snider, Virginia Kincade, Eugene Schmidt, Margaret Null, Betty Neeb, Henry Velkoff, William Newhard, Richard Buchholz, Mr. Merle J. Abbett, Janice Dyer, Mark Hall, and more music by Ruth Bade, and Velma Lehman.

Members Named

The 1939 members of the National Honor Society are Alison Arnold, Ruth Bade, Joe Bex, Mildred Brett, Velma Connert, Phyllis Geller, Carl Goebel, Dorothy Hall, Audrey Jefferies, Eugene Schmidt, Frieda Schubert, Robert Shimel, Henry Velkoff, Eleanor Vesey.

Senior Lads Choose Brunettes, 2-1; Girls Vote Same Way, 3-1

No question concerning appearance seems to hold the spotlight throughout the ages quite like the one about the degrees of attractiveness gauged by the color of the hair only. "Some like it hot, some like it cold," but the majority of South Side's senior boys and girls prefer brunettes.

The gentlemen are not adverse to more than a little variation. Their preference of brunettes was on a two to one basis, while the ladies' was on a three to one basis. The boys seemed to be more able to handle the hot-tempered red-heads, than the girls. "Les messieurs" seemed to prefer blondes more than "les mesdames," also.

The latter overwhelmingly preferred "brownies." To many it seemed to make little or no difference; but one bright senior gentleman attested to the fact that he liked all of them!

All of the training, all of the additional facilities furnished you, will be valuable only as you put into practice the elements of fine citizenship and strengthened character which you have learned and employed here. The measure of the success of the efforts of South Side will be the extent to which you contribute to the development of the civic, social, intellectual, and moral life of the communities in which you will live and work. All of us who remain at South Side have supreme confidence that the training which you have received here will produce excellent results."

Piloted Seniors During Four Years

Mr. R. Nelson Snider

Through four years of happiness, hardships, and pleasures Mr. R. Nelson Snider and Miss Martha Pittenger have guided the seniors diligently and skillfully to a graduation at which they may look back and smile at the past short years. If seniors accept the standing advice they have given, there should be no doubt of their succeeding.

Miss Martha Pittenger

Do It Over Again? Graduates Say No, But Would Change

"If you had your four years to do over, what would you do differently?" An idle question, but very interesting. Most of us (and it's no joke!) seem to think that longer hours of brainstorming (studying) wouldn't have been amiss. This collective calculation is closely followed by the regret that we did not join more school organizations.

Quite a goodly number of gentlemen feel that they have missed that coveted honor of being hero-worshipped, and regret having not "gone out" for athletics. As many as wish that they had become Times staff members, wish they had taken advantage of the public speaking course offered.

A real regret that many harbor is that of having the feeling that they have taken the wrong course or subjects. Others think a little knowledge of typing, did they have it, would prove advantageous, others shorthand, French, chemistry, Latin, art, participation in speech contests and the musical organizations.

One disgusted gentleman feels that he would have been much better off if he had been a hermit (woman-hater). A few don't have anything to regret—lucky people! And eight people actually answered the question "yes"—you'd think they would at least read the question; anyway, translate as you will. And some regret the whole four years!

Seniors Can Always Think Of Some Way For Spending $50000

Whether or not a second Rockefeller graduated with the class of 1939, we can not say at the present time, but from the results of a poll taken by the Times for this issue of the paper, we can say that every student knew what he would do if given fifty thousand dollars with no strings attached.

The majority of the grads voted to put their $50,000 away in cold storage to keep until some future date since most of them said that they would invest the money in Government bonds or in a similar manner. Another large group of seniors said that they would use the money to further their education in college.

After these two worthy means of using the money came the travel crowd who would take a trip, presumably to the New York or San Francisco World's Fair.

The rest of the answers listed a variety of means to use the money. Some seniors said that if they were presented with $50,000 they would faint with no preliminaries. Others said they would make their friends happy, get relatives out of debt, buy a new car or new clothes, buy a house, or start a business.

Attend Speech Session

Miss Dorothy Rieke, public speaking teacher, attended a conference last Saturday at Indianapolis where speech coaches from all over the state discussed reorganization of speech activities in high schools, colleges, and universities. Mr. Loy C. Laney of North Side High School, also attended the meeting.

Teacher Receives Gift

Last Friday, the members of Miss Mary McCloskey's senior home room presented her with a desk set as a remembrance.

Betty Daniels, Henry Velkoff Receive Honor

Recipients Of Hi-Y Best Citizen Plaque; Is Given At Recognition Services

Betty Daniels and Henry Velkoff, valedictorian, were chosen to receive the Best Citizen award of the South Side Hi-Y Club by members of the club and members of the faculty of South Side. The selection was announced last Friday at Recognition Day services; the names of the two will be engraved on the Hi-Y Best Citizen plaque which is kept in the trophy case in the front hall.

At a meeting of the Hi-Y club several weeks ago, club members began the balloting to choose the best citizens. To be eligible the person nominated for the honor must be in the upper third of the class scholastically. The entire membership of the club made a list of names of both boys and girls whom they thought were suitable to be named as best citizens. After this large list was chosen each member of the club made eight selections of persons who they thought were suitable to receive the award; four of the names on this selection list were those of girls, and four of boys.

After each member of the club had made his choices from the nomination list originally named, a committee of club members, juniors, counted the votes and the four girls and the four boys who had received the largest number of votes were sent to a faculty committee which made the final selection.

Betty Daniels has served on The Times for two years and was general manager during the past semester, she was president of Philo Club, president of Latin Club, president of USA Club, secretary of 1500 Club, won her numerals in the Girls' Athletic Association, was a student leader in gym classes, and also was a member of the

Archer Seniors Set 90 Years As Limit For Matrimony Step

Beware, southern lassies!! We advise you not to incur the ill will of the "one and only" by suggesting deferring marriage until you are at least ninety years old.

We discovered this age limit on the senior questionnaires as answers to the question "How old do you think a girl should be before she gets married?"

However, don't be too sad, my dear young ladies. This answer was not the prevailing one as the favorite marital age of the class of '39 is that of twenty years. (My, my, they even favor marriage before voting!)

Twenty-one, twenty-two, eighteen, and twenty-five are each thought by the seniors as the O.K. ages for marrying.

During our tabulating we discovered one paper, with the unmistakable handwriting of a girl, to quote seventeen as her choice of a marriageable age. (Could we help but suspect something?)

One answer that "took the cake," so to speak, was "when she's old enough to know better." (Maybe it's an old joke but yours truly never heard it before.)

Other answers consisted of "old enough to know what she's doing," and "it all depends on the girl."

Class Of 1939 Graduates 423 This Evening

Graduation Culminate Four Years Of Pleasure, Heart-Aches, Accomplishments

Head Of Franklin Gives Final Talk

Dr. William Gear Spencer Is Principal Speaker At Exercises This Evening

Tonight a total of 423 former seniors received their diplomas from the hands of the man who has been their principal for four years, Mr. R. Nelson Snider. Marching down the aisle two by two, every senior received official confirmation of the fact that he or she was no longer attached to South Side as a student.

Dr. William Gear Spencer, president of Franklin College, was the principal speaker for the commencement exercises which were held this evening, June 7, in South Side's gymnasium.

The program for the graduation was arranged as follows:

Semiramide Orchestra
Harp Solo Betty Wainwright
Processional—Coronation March
Invocation Rev. A. H. Sholtz
Introduction of Speaker Mr. J. Abbett
Superintendent Fort Wayne Public Schools

Address Dr. W. G. Spencer
Presentation of Diplomas
Recessional—Trisigian March Orchestra

Jack Wainwright, head of the South Side music department, was director of the school orchestra during the graduation exercises.

This graduation has been the last of a series of important senior functions beginning with the senior banquet and continuing through the funfest, ivy day, recognition day, and Baccalaureate.

Dr. Spencer served as president of Hillsdale College from 1922 until he accepted his present position in 1933. Prior to his appointment at Hillsdale, Dr. Spencer was an instructor at Colgate Academy, Hamilton, New York, and at Latin Dodane Academy, Dodane, Ohio.

The graduating seniors, who received their diplomas are listed below:

One-Man Exhibits Shown To Pupils

Art Department Displays Exclusive Work Of One Archer For 2-Day Period In Room 77

Comparable to the one-man bands are the one-man art exhibitions now being staged here at South Side in room 77. For two days at a time, one person's work has been hung to the exclusion of all other art work.

Miss Erma Dochterman, art director, has already hung the work of two of her outstanding students, Fritz Lohman and Marvin Schleiger. Fritz's work consisted of water color in composition and illustration; whereas Marvin's work was made up of water coloring of landscape and flowers. He also does quite a bit of commercial work.

Other exhibits which Miss Dochterman will hang this semester are the work of Billie Lou Beaver, Jane Karyl Belt, Herbert Jasch, Betty Kayser, Roy McKee, Helen Wiehe, Velma Connert and Bill Morgan.

Miss Dochterman says that the exhibit of Herbert Jasch will contain only Old English printing. Other students will have illustration work, costume designing and many other phases of art on exhibit.

"All different lines of art work will be on exhibit because of the varied interests of the art students," stated Miss Dochterman. She also invited anyone interested to come and see the exhibit. As the same exhibit will be up for only two days, students may come and view the different exhibits as often as they choose.

Rea Is Elected

Sam Rea, Archer graduate, was elected to the Sphinx, senior honor society at the University of Pennsylvania, recently. He also was made a member of Beta Kappa Sigma, honorary organization in the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce.

Keep South Side Immortal

It's all over, seniors. No more drudgery in a classroom. No more worrying about whether Hamlet had to be or only thought he had. How does it feel? Not as wonderful as you would have it be, eh? Remember way back when the only time you felt grateful for a teacher's interference was the time you were locked up in the elevator shaft; and the time you sneaked out of the study hall and found Mr. Snider on the reception committee. O joy! Those were swell times. They are all over now, but there are many good times left in the bag. Use them wisely and appreciate them to the fullest extent. Just remember that when you attain the heights on the Success Ladder, don't forget all the friends who helped you to get there. Remember South Side, your Alma Mater, seniors!

Fellow Graduates! We're Destined For Nice Sailing

There's stardust on the moon this June and perhaps a hint of a tear in the eyes of many sad-hearted seniors. But it's best not to look back and wish that we'd done this or that (reminiscing is permissible of course) during those joy-filled and woe-filled four years. We should look ahead and prevent such mistakes as may have happened over this period from happening again, profit by past experience or all has been futile. The best of our life, philosophers tell us, is yet to be lived. Naturally, any senior who has gained from high school all that he should, who has profited by his studies and affiliation with extracurricular activities, will not fly from these portals like a caged bird freed, but must realize the world has not come to an end! If we don't like this world we're being pushed into we should make an effort to change it, not mourn the fact that we are no longer under the protection of the green and white colors. Thousands of students, all over the United States, are singing "Hail To Thee" just as we are. They'll be glad to pull together with us, to help us clear the "fear of stagnant waters." So steer carefully, it's fair weather ahead.

There Is Very Little To Say To Seniors Except Nice Going

It seems that there is very little that we can tell the seniors: after four years at such a place as South Side they should have, by this time, learned just about all they are supposed to learn. Now no one can say that the students and the faculty of this institution are not the best in the entire world (pretty good at least, don't you admit?)

We could ramble on for hours and hours about the things that have been accomplished by South Side, but so many are her honors that it would be next to the impossible even for a loyal Archer. But one thing remains to be done by Archers this term, and we cannot consider it completed until this thing has been accomplished. The five Archer speakers must win at California in the national speech contests.

We of South Side know full well that these five speakers are tops in their respective divisions, and so do many others in Fort Wayne after the program put on by these speakers in conjunction with the music department of the school. Whether these five are tops in the nation, nearly tops anyhow, remains to be seen. The very best in America will be present at Beverly Hills, and therefore can be expected to be the best possible competition for our speakers.

As everyone in Fort Wayne and Indiana knows, South Side once won the basketball championship of the state, and we all are familiar with the conquest Central Catholic High School of this city made in the national basketball meet. It would surely be swell if national honors in the field of public speaking could be won by some Archers; but if our personal champions are defeated, they will still be champs to us, and well worth the energy spent in sending them to the Pacific Coast.

One thing those five must be convinced of is that there is always someone else who is good; maybe better than yourself. We of South Side don't want that do or die spirit in our speakers because we want to see the ones that will be with us next year, back, and we would like to see the ones graduating this year go on to college or whatever else they have planned for future times.

Flicking The Tips

This week's tips are dedicated to the graduates who are starting out in the world of impending wars, fears, and hardships. You grads are going to need plenty of advice, and we hope that you will accept ours friendly and concerningly.

If we compare the world to a drama, we find that the stage is set; and many students are trying out for parts in the play. The ones that have gained the most knowledge are the ones that are going to play the prominent roles. Are you going to take a part like this? Is yours the name that will be plastered on every signboard of fame from coast to coast? Or will you be half of the setting? A little nobody! You, grads, are the future rulers of the world; and we hope that you have received all you possibly could have out of your high school life. To rule successfully you must not only work for money and to be the "boss", but you must strive to be a leader with your friends. When the curtain closes, are you going to have your purpose accomplished? You must feel prepared for the last scene. And remember that money will not do the trick (although it always helps). You must leave behind you the love, respect, and companionship. Feel that you have done something for the world. When you have reached middle age, don't slacken your pace. Be able to tell yourself that you have been everything that you admire in other people. Have REAL friends. (And if you are true to your acquaintances you will have). Remember that friends count so much more than money, and also that money can't buy friendships. Listen to other people's views on all subjects in place of being a know-it-all. Ten to one your IQ will be much higher if you follow this advice. Talk less and listen more.

Most of you are choosing a field in which to travel and expand your knowledge. Be sure that you are suited to the one you choose. Be sure that it is what you really want to do. Remember that to do a thing successfully your heart must be in it.

Be able to trust people as you would be trusted, and forgive as you would be forgiven. What is more important, be appreciative of what you have instead of wanting more all the time. Never for a moment forget that it was your family that made you what you are today, and no friend could possibly ever do as much for you although they may seem friendlier. It is your true friends that tell you your faults, and that is where your family comes in.

For fear that we are becoming too serious we close. Here's lots of luck to you all, and may you never forget the important thing in life "popularity."

The Seniors Muse

Your wandering scribe, after unearthing many departing seniors, managed to gather a bit of personal info on just exactly how they felt about graduating.

Chuck Bollman: I'm sorry to leave but will be glad to get away to Olivet.

Bob Hawkins: Sorry it's all over and wish I could come back for another semester.

Carl Goebel: I'm sorry to leave the dear ol' portals and the inhabitants thereof.

Roger Neff: I'm sorry to get out, but the teachers are glad to see me go.

Marg Rapp: I hate to leave the ol' school. Met lots of swell people here and had lots of good times.

Bill Newhard: I wish I was a freshman. I'd probably do a lot of things different. Sure, I'm sorry to get out. Gwen DeWees: Of course I hate to graduate, but I would hate worse not to. I hope I have accomplished something, because I've had every opportunity to do so in this swell school.

Jean Porter: I'm happy now, but it won't be long 'till I'll be sad.

Adelheid Scheele: I'm sad about the whole thing.

Bob McKay: I wanta cry.

Kenny Erne: Can it be true, that's what I want to know.

John Magley: I'm gonna be at a loss when I graduate. I won't know what to do.

Max Mitchell: I'm awfully sorry to go and am sorry that the teachers can't say the same for me.

Donna Dennis: I'm awfully tired of school right now and am glad to get out because I am looking forward to a trip to Florida after graduation. I am sure that I'll be more sorry than can be put into words when fall comes.

Lois Rea: I like it fine.

Ed Reeves: Fine thing! Fine thing!

Mary Lee Kixmiller: I've been here but one year and have enjoyed every minute of it. Wish I could have been here my entire high school life.

Loraine Iba: I'm sad now. What will I be next fall?

Jack Bostick: I'm sorry as most of the other grads are. Four years is a long time to be here, and it's hard to leave without sad thoughts. The good times I've had and the different clubs I was in sort of tied me down to the old school.

Don Beery: I feel swell.

Bill Peters: I don't feel so bad at present but the memories that I'll have next year will probably bring tears to my eyes.

Betty Daniels: It's very difficult for me to leave the place that for four years has meant so much to me. The time I spent here has been the happiest and best of my life.

Betty Neeb: High school has meant a great deal to me, and I sincerely dislike leaving the old portals of South Side.

Betty Bolyard: I'm very sorry about graduating, and I feel that I have gained a sufficient education besides making a lot of friends; and I know that what you put in to it, you eventually get out of it.

Helen Banks: High school has been the grandest and best days of my whole life, and I surely hate the thought of ending four such swell years.

Kitty Clinard: Now that I'm really graduating, I hate the very thought of what I'm leaving behind. High school days are the happiest and best of your life, I believe.

Janice Cross: Graduating is usually thought of as a sad event; however, it would be much sadder not to. I have a great deal to look forward to next year, so I'm very glad that I'm graduating in such a swell class.

Marg Wallace: I'm not exactly happy to leave the place that has done so much for me. Still, I don't think graduating should be looked upon as such a sad event. After all, we can still come back, and we'll still have our "memories."

Dick Buchholz: Never will forget the swell time, good friends, hard work. I had a swell four years here and looking forward to starting out again. I am going to try to make all the future years as full as these.

Senior Synopsis

By R. U.

Graduating

Well, goodly folk, we've been through a great deal together this year. The worthy exponents of this column have expounded happily and proudly to all of you gracious members of the reading public. And although it was a little wearying at times to type out upperclass rarities in order that you might be able to hear the latest in oddities about the scintillating seniors, we consider it well worth our time if you've had happy optics through our press medium.

We Remember When we were a couple of hundred freshie Archers, plugging our confused way through the baffling immensities of the Southern portals. In those days, way back in 1936, very few of us imagined just exactly what our futuristic high school life was going to have in store for us. We perhaps doubted then that we would ever reach the realms of senior maturity, and now as we approach the nearness of a cap and gowned assemblage, we find our graduating state a very unhappy one.

You've Got to Admit that our stay here at South Side has been a regally enchanted one, and one that enfolds as a beautiful volume before us. We turn the pages of our high scholastic novel and find the never-to-be-forgotten events rising and falling before our hungry eyes. It is a little hard to reminisce sometimes, and yet in the years to come a mellow memory is all we will have left.

Our Hearts Are Filled with overwhelming gratitude to our principal, Mr. Snider and the patient, tolerant staff of devoted teachers; for it has been only with their careful guidance and earnest instruction that we have been able to achieve any small goal whatsoever. And we feel that perhaps they too must sense some small bit of sorrow as they watch the products of their careful manufacturing walk out of their tender midst.

And When We Stand at the commencement together, in last minute union, we are bound to feel that painful lump in our throat and the pang in our hearts; for on the level, fellows, it's been so great being together through these swiftly departing four years that a little bit of fearful remorse is bound to come.

And Now The Time has come when we must all lend an ear to a bit of an au revoir, for all good things must eventually come to their end; and so we reach the termination of our happy schooling. And yet we can't help but know that our presence will haunt every classroom and hall for memories are the one thing that even absence cannot take away, no matter how distant a treasured past may become.

Our Freshmen Fancies

Evenin' folks, hi y'all. Now that we are preparing to go out into the busy-ness of business, it seems sorta like maybe perhaps it would be a little enjoyable to glance back upon the loves and lives of our graduating folk. It's rather difficult to unearth some of these Casanova-like frivolities, and yet we have succeeded and forward them to you thusly.

How many of you remember when Lois Rea was seen hither and yon under the loving eye and attention of former Archer biggie, Paul McConnell. And how many of you recall how frosh youngster, Roger Neff, used to chase himself all over the hall to see Lois, only to find her under the fateful charms of another.

And do you recall Lorraine Iba and Bill Siples making a neat little two-some in our happy midst, along with that other delectable pair of Aubrey Kellogg and Adelheid Scheele. Ah those happy days!

Then too the class cutie, Eddie Reeves, was found beating time with such feminine coquities as Barbara Arney, Barby Noble, and Eleanor Vesey. Eddie found it rather difficult to find the true love of his life in those days, and so he has kept busy dividing his suitoring talents equally.

Oh, lest we forget Bill Hall and Margie Lou Wickes weren't doing so badly either, and William was found nightly waiting for his dream girl in order that he might show her the way to go home.

And wasn't it Nadine Mueller and Max Wagner who found life a great deal sweeter if they could enjoy each other's companionable presence.

And how many times did we wonder if the sizzling venture between Bev Griffith and Dick Garton was anything less than the real thing, what with them helping each other with Latin translations and stuff.

And Boyohoyohoyohoy, was Helen Banks ever finding high school interesting, especially if one Thomas Clapper was within an easy whereabouts.

And wasn't it Mary Lampton who was mourning the loss of a young bit of manhood, nominally Stephen Shea, whose departure from these Archer portals was keenly felt by the sweet young Mary.

Also squiring around with loving glances in their eyes were Robert Hawkins and Phyllis Geller, who thought that Mr. Cupid was really a pal.

It seemed mighty nice when Fred Peters and Betty Daniels were found taking long strolls in the sweet dusk of summer evenings, for they felt that life had just begun, really and truly.

Finding love grand, we mustn't forget to remember the long-lasting courtship between June Enoch and Bob Hodell, for they were found also cutting a rug or two at many of our better places.

But come now enough of this ancient exposition. We must pack up and truck merrily on, for other things are calling. Yours for happy memories!

How Sad - - This Parting

Crystal -- Gazing

It is the habit of most crystal gazers to start out thusly: "The crystal is very cloudy—I can see nothing. But wait! Ahhh! it is clearing!" However, our crystal is clear from the first—no dark cloud can blot out the brilliant futures of the members of the shining, distinguished, and immortal class of 1939!

But since you have not my powers of foresight, you are probably anxious to have me tell you what I see in the crystal ball. And I will—here we go into the year of 1950.

We are in the outskirts of that great metropolis of Fort Wayne. Incidentally, we are hitch-hiking, but as yet haven't gotten a ride. The first sight that meets our eyes almost blinds us with its brilliantly golden hue. At last, when we are accustomed to the glow, we see before us beds and beds of dandelions—yes this is the famed dandelion farm of Eleanor Vesey, now known as Mrs. O. Eggers. We shout a word to her and in return she tosses us a posey. We have only a few steps to walk to reach the new house of Janice Cross, now buyer in the French room of Shimmel's Department Store. We won't stop as we can see that she is in the midst of her house-painting.

Well, bless my soul! If it isn't Janice Dyer. We had heard she had turned to house-painting, her specialty being to paint ivy and flowers right on the houses.

What is that which is rustling overhead. Can it be someone in the trees? It is Tarzan, Tom Moorhead, and his mate, Gwen DeWees, swinging through the branches.

We find that we are needing a little refreshment after that shock, so let's stop in at Springer and Reichart's cream puff parlor where Mary Lampton acts as hostess. Our waitress is petite Marge Craig; and as we sip our sodas, Ruth Ellison entertains with a blues number.

Finally we run across a huge tent, surrounded by colorful flags and loud bands. Upon investigation, we find that it is Pee-Wee Nahrwald's ten ring circus. Our old school mate, Hank Velkoff is featured as the trapeze artist, and Marge Wallace and Mary Lee Kixmiller as bare-back riders.

Jack Brazy is the capable barker of the show.

Roger Neff, champion Fuller brush salesman who happens along, informs us that if we're looking for members of the class of '39, we'll find a goodly number in "Corky" Bostick and McTavish Lehman's night club across the street.

We enter the night club and after a brief chat with Joe Bex, the hefty bouncer, we are seated by head waiter, Bill Newhard. Seated at the table, we are shown Ruth Bade, the world's greatest concert pianist; June Enoch, model at Jeanette Warren's Swank Dress Shoppe; Helen Banks, holder of Venus title, Marge "Adrian" Rapp, the famed dress designer; Calvin Schultz, the big game hunter in Africa; and Goebel, the politician, known as "Windy Carl."

The lights are now dimmed for the floor show, and the first number is a toe dance by Frieda Schubert. Next on the program are gymnastic stunts by "Nicky" Mueller and Adelheid Scheele. And now, lastly, the specialty, the feature "Bubbly" Bev. Griffith, the balloon sensation.

More of our old chums are being seated at the table. Why there's Mark Hall, and who are all those veiled women behind him—his Egyptian Harlem, you say? My, how times change people! Here come Magner, Magley, and Spencer, heads of the N. Y. Tiny Times Syndicate and trucking along with them jitterbug, Betty Neeb, star reporter.

The music is exceptionally good, we notice, but why not? It is Carl and Chuck Hall's noted swing band, Liliat Patton now vocalizing. The orchestra stops and then breaks into a rumba. The lights are dimmed again and this time for the celebrated dance team, Geller and Schmidt.

Following their number, we look up to see Dick Garton just entertaining and then he is shut out of sight by mobs of autograph seekers and fans for he is America's glamor boy of the movies; finally he makes his way to our table and gasps that Eddie Reeves is on his way over. We inquire about Eddie and discover that he is now the president of an escort bureau at which Phil McKay and Aubrey Kellogg are escorts most in demand. Dick tells us that Ed is esquireing Lois Rea, his secretary. Tonight Lois, incidentally, leads a double life—she's Eddie's secretary during the day and a mannequin at night.

Harold Kitzmiller and Bill Bundy now make their appearance, and we wonder what they're doing out on a school night—you see, they are still struggling to graduate from dear old South Side.

It's swell seeing everyone again, but we've been here long enough. Let's stop by the Hall and Merchant Dime Store for a few odds and ends and then go to a show.

Beating it out on the piano in the dime store, is Peg Bacon and singing their theme song, "Put a Nickel On The Drum" is Margaret Null. We buy a piece an dthen make our way to the Korte Cosmetic counter where B. Arney is demonstrating a powder base.

We have exactly five minutes to get to the stage show, "Fort Wayne Floppy Frolics of 1950." This hit is directed by Donna Lou Foutz and Velma Lehman. Glancing at our programs, we are astonished to see that Al Lichtenberg is the producer of this success, and Margaret Gross, Barbara Noble, Betty Jaebker and Charlotte Kern the front row girls in the chorus.

But now, once again we start out on the somewhat wearying road. Ah! At last someone is actually stopping to pick us up. It's that old public speaking professor, Dick Zeig. How good it feels to stretch out and relax. And so we wave goodbye, with happy hearts and tired feet.

What Would You Do ?

Well, seniors, you are about to embark on a great adventure. Your teachers have watched over you for four years and now you are practically on your own. It gives us deeply to see you go, you and your smiling faces, your ready quips, etc., etc. And now when your last hour has come, let us give you some parting fatherly advice about how to go about obtaining a job when you go the way that thousands of others have gone.

- In approaching a man who looks like an employing person, you should:
 - Gush out a sticky sweet "Hello"
 - If you are taking on employees as fast as you are taking on weight, I hope you will by all means consider me, sir.
 - Try the "I don't care" method. "I don't think I like you, Bud. You're not the type."

Info Please

Through asking a few of our graduates, it was revealed that various events made a deep and lasting impression in the minds of those students who were questioned. The following is the result of the inquisition.

Lois Rea: Our own Junior Prom.

Phyllis Geller: The Social Science Club meetings and the 1938 Junior Prom.

Bob Hawkins: Winning of the State Championship.

Janice Dyer: Everything that happened during my four years.

Eleanor Vesey: Tagging Betty Neeb for National Honor Society.

Morton Nahrwald: Winning the State Championship.

Beverly Griffith: Being tagged to the National Honor Society.

Margery Rapp: To me the greatest thrill of my four years was being tagged.

Bob Byers: Graduation.

Helen Banks: All events of my senior year thrill me the most.

Among Those - Present -

By Jeanette Warren

All favorable and complimentary adjectives can be applied in the highest sense to the scholarship, service, leadership and character of the girl with "the gorgeous brown eyes." As the preceding would testify she has well-earned her membership in National Honor, Quill and Scroll Societies, and Four Year Honor Roll. Many students have asked why a sketch of Betty Daniels has not appeared in this column; here's why: we know when we've got a good thing for dessert!

"Dan," the gal who does things and sees that things get done is incorporated, as officer or member in fourteen different school organizations! Three of which were mentioned above. She is, of course, at present the very efficient general manager of The Times—and it is no easy, nor leisurely job! Besides she is president of that popular junior-senior girls' club, Philo; secretary of 1500, and copy editor on the Totem staff. She is also a present member and ex-president of Latin Club. Three E's, Library, Social Science, S. P. C., Wranglers, and Service, also, claim her as a member.

But there's a secret to her success: spinach is her favorite food!—no kidding! Of course, she doesn't mind if you slide a little apple pie in on the side. She likes to participate in a stiff game of tennis, and act as spectator at basketball, football, or big league baseball games. "Wishing" and "My Reverie" are at present among her popular song favorites; Wayne King, her favorite "leader-man." The subject she enjoys most is English. Summing up all the movies she has ever seen, she chooses "Magnificent Obsession" as her favorite. Nelson Eddy and Loretta Young occupy her private limelight of celebrities.

Dan's dislikes seem to be confined to types of people: (1) those who permit everyone to know they are chewing gum, (2) unreliable persons, and (3) inattentive persons, especially those who like to talk themselves but won't listen to others. But, folks, we learned of a weakness: Miss B. Daniel's incapability to "put up" her own hair, for this task must be performed by her sister.

A graduate of Harrison Hill, Betty hopes to become a high school instructor of journalism—and incidentally (it may be none of our business) but it's our opinion (and that's a collective "we"—all Times staff members included) that she'll make a dog-gone good one! Her aspirations as to future education is to attend Indiana University.

Class Will

We, the Graduating Class of 1939, realizing that all good things must come to an end, do hereby bequeath to our followers, the juniors, sophomores, and freshmen of South Side High School, all our joys and sorrows, our traditions, and all that we hold so dear to our hearts.

I. To you, the underclassmen, we, the seniors, will to you:

This lovely building, the ideals of straightforward and correct thinking as set forth in the ideals by our principal, Mr. R. Nelson Snider, and all his associates.

II. To the teachers who have been our faithful friends and stood by us when we did our worst, we bequeath the underclassmen and the problem of giving tests to the students for the years to come.

III. From the seniors to each underclassman we bequeath:

Max Spencer's personality to Richard McIntosh. Betty Neeb's dancing ability to Jean Stewart. Pinky Dyer's personality to Dorothy Koonjohn. Max Magner's beautiful smile to Bob Brooks. Buck Buchholz' hard working ability to Bob Gunzenhauser. Betty Bolyard's humor to Eileen Kiessling. Helen Wiehe's oratorical ability to Marjorie McNabb. Adelheid Scheele's popularity to Louisa Haugk. Ruth Bade's musical ability to Marjorie Sheldon. Gwen DeWees' Latin knowledge to Lois Gumper. Carl Goebel's inquisitiveness which makes him popular with all the teachers to Ronald McVay. Joe Bex's brains to Robert Young.

Frieda Schubert offers her sympathy to any and all underclassmen; Eleanor Vesey's ever encouraging attitude to Lora Lee Montgomery; Betty Showalter's pleasant attitude to Hilda Schubert; Kenneth Warren's business-like attitude to Alex Azar; Marjorie Wallace's friendliness to Violet Steinbauer; Jeanette Warren's speaking ability to Nexa Kirk; Helen Banks' and Margery Rapp's leadership to Emilou Allendorph and Jean Fortriede; Beverly Griffith's French abilities to Nancy Hess; Nadine Mueller's petiteness to Lois Likens; Phyllis Geller's personality to Faye Gumper; Kitty Clinard's blonde hair to Gloria Werkman; Eddie Reeves' golfing ability to Sam Bacon; Eugene Schmidt's calmness to Kolman Gross; Betty Daniels' ability, personality and initiative to Maurine Seibert (and she really wants it!); Hank Velkoff's earnestness to Dick Fishering; and Bob Hodell's helpfulness to Dick Shinn.

PARTING

By Betty Neeb

It's exceedingly hard, all this leaving, and we know in the years to come that we'll always remember our days here. For they signify pleasure and fun.

But here at the crossroads we're standing. In our cap and gown'd file of array. And we say au revoir to dear South Side. With a heart filled with sorrow'd dismay.

Totem Proves Great Success With Archers

Subscribers Are Pleased With Attractive Green Cover Of 1939 Edition

Staff Uses Letters To Relate Events

Special Feature Attraction Of Book Is Original Art Work By Janice Dyer

Once again the South Side Totem scored a direct hit with the student body when the 1939 edition, bound in an attractive bright green cover was presented to the subscribers last Thursday. Using letters as the method of relating the past year's events, a complete panoramic view of the reconstruction of the building last summer was presented to the reader in an interesting way, giving many pictures of the building as it appears now and as it used to appear. The letter theme was quite unique in its detail and afforded an opportunity to relate many important facts in the major division pages.

One of the feature attractions in the newest "book of memories" was the original art work done by the art editor, Janice Dyer. Her pictures of Mr. R. Nelson Snider, Mr. Merle J. Abbett, and Miss Martha Pittenger could easily be judged equal to professional standards, while the cartoon of the Greeley Room and the animated plans of the first and second floors of the new building may be displayed as excellent examples of perfect creative work.

The business staff consisting of Kenneth Warren as business manager, Nadine Mueller and Phyllis Geller as co-circulation managers put across one of the most successful subscription campaigns in the history of The Totem. Nearly one thousand subscriptions were sold to the students, over seven hundred of these being embossed with the owners' names.

Undertaking a most difficult and trying task, the class editors worked many long hours in preparing the information concerning the classes. Frieda Schubert and Edith Summers were responsible for the compiling of the senior section, with Beverly Ann Griffith and Phyllis Hayner carrying the burden of the junior class. The sophomore editor was Joan Bradley, who had Helen Wiehe as her assistant. Betty Bolyard and Irene Kirk took charge of the freshman section, discharging their duties equally well.

The excellent photograph, which is usually one of the most important factors in making a good annual, was capably handled this year by Kenneth Warren, who was assisted by Joel Salton, a junior.

The copy staff had a difficult task this year since the book contained more type than usual. Those persons who are responsible for the work in this department were under the brilliant guidance of Joe Bex who served as chief of the copy staff. The persons who served as copy readers under Joe were Eleanor Vesey, Helen Banks, Margery Rapp, Betty Daniels, and Betty Neeb.

With clever titles, lots of information and good pictures of the organizations, the activities section, handled by Anna Lou Kowalski and Jeanette Warren, the co-activities editors, turned out to be very complete and very interesting to read.

With Max Mitchell as sports editor and Eddie Reeves as his assistant, the sports division contained a complete record of our teams' victories and losses met during the past year. Besides covering the usual varsity sports, a complete story of the Girls' Athletic Association, track, and intramural sports were included.

Untiring effort was indicative of every club writer who contributed to the activities section of the book, the largest of this type of section ever to appear in The Totem. Thirty-two stories were printed about different clubs.

Phyllis Geller And Ed Reeves Chosen For Prettiest Hair

Did you seniors know that we have among us a little girl called "Pepper" who has been voted as having the most beautiful hair in our graduating class? If one sees her, one knows immediately how she got her nickname. She has the prettiest curly red hair plus a top personality. If you don't know by now whom I am talking about, it's Phyllis Geller.

But we must not forget the boy with the most beautiful hair. This boy is Ed Reeves, who possesses black curly locks that have attracted the attention of so many seniors.

Both have been very outstanding in their four years at South Side. Phyllis was vice-president of Philo, a member of Meterites, S. P. C., Extemp, and 1500 Clubs. She has been one of the circulation managers on the Totem for this year. During her senior year she was named to the National Honor Society and to Quill and Scroll.

Ed was given Wrangler honor speaking award. He belongs to Extemp, 1500, Math-Science, and Torch clubs. Being sports editor of the Times kept him busy, besides working on the Totem. He was elected to the National Honor and Quill and Scroll this spring.

Kitty Clinard and Gene Porter ran a close second for the girl with the most beautiful hair, while Max Spencer was second choice for the boy.

Max Spencer, Dick Garton Chosen Best Senior Gentlemen

The gentleman of the 1939 graduating class is an exquisite example of Crother's gentleman (Evolution of a Gentleman). This outstanding personality comes in the form of a well-known senior, Max Spencer. Max not only breaks his neck to open a door for the girls but dives for papers which his teacher may have dropped. Max being well-mannered, quiet, studious, and having a passion for clothes go together to make him an altogether pleasing gentleman. Max is often seen making huge delicious sodas and sundaes behind the counter at the Harrison Hill Drug Store.

Dick Garton, who carries a true southern style of a gentleman took second place in this election. Although he did not win first place we feel that he doesn't mind so much for Dick is at least a gentleman in the eyes of Kitty.

Others who received many votes were Eugene Schmidt, Henry Velkoff, and Richard Buchholz.

Three Seniors Are Awarded Scholarships

Helen Banks, Margaret Null Eugene Schmidt Receive Awards For High Grades

Three seniors of the class of 1939, Helen Banks, Margaret Null, and Eugene Schmidt, class president, recently received scholarships for their high scholastic standing and interest in extra curricular activities here at South Side. All three were elected to the National Honor Society.

Helen was awarded a one hundred dollar scholarship to Olivet College, Olivet, Michigan. The award was the largest given at the college this year.

By virtue of winning the Western College Trustees Scholarship for the Central Division, Margaret will attend Western College for women at Oxford, Ohio, for four years providing she retains a high scholastic record. This scholarship provides two hundred fifty dollars per year for four years. As the final determinants it was awarded on the basis of the entrant's high school record, health, letters of recommendation, and a special test.

One of the two hundred state scholarships to Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana, was won by Eugene Schmidt, the president of this year's graduating class. Kitty Clinard and Melvin Eggers, a graduate of South-Side in 1932 who is now attending the university, were chosen as alternates from this county.

Senior Votes Decide Income Is Preferred To College Learning

"Would you go to college, if you had a chance for a job?" was asked of the seniors on a recent questionnaire.

Eighty-five per cent of the students questioned were of the opinion that immediate wages were more important to them than a college education. The other fifteen per cent were in favor of giving up a job and spending one to four years in a school of higher education.

However, most students were of the opinion that the type of job and their chances of promotion at that position had to be taken into consideration before they would conscientiously and truthfully give an answer.

Majority Of Seniors To Attend College; Others Will Work

From the results of the poll taken of all graduating seniors, a large majority of the grads want to go to college after they break away from South Side. Nearly three times as many signified the fact that they intend to go to some college, and the rest, although no doubt most of them have made plans to work or learn a trade, do not intend to continue their education at some higher institute of learning.

In the poll those intending to go to college not only mentioned that fact but also told what college they wanted to attend. Many are good and faithful Hoosiers it seems, for the college which received the most votes is Indiana University, with 21 tallies and this college's smaller brother, Indiana Extension, getting the nod from four other seniors. Purdue, another major state university, also got a number of votes from the graduating seniors, fifteen to be exact (and you may rest assured that we are being as accurate as possible). Perhaps one of the reasons that these people want to go to these two well-known Indiana institutions is that they are closer to home than most colleges would be.

Next on the list was International Business College, which annually draws a large number of graduates who want to complete their business training course without having to go to some far away point to do it.

Besides these places which ranked near the top in the seniors favor are somewhere to follow the example of other learned scholars and get as much knowledge crammed into their heads as possible. Other notable institutions, however, which also had their followers in the poll are Olivet, William Woods, Western, Indiana Technical, Tri-State, Michigan, Illinois, Butler, Ball State Teachers, Valparaiso, Huntington, Wisconsin, Hanover, U. of California (in Los Angeles), U. of Southern California, Northwestern, Franklin, Wittenburg, Rockford, Ohio, Earlham, Missouri, and Arkansas. Several persons, evidently girls, want to attend a beauty college, and, out of the entire group of seniors, only four are undecided as to what college they want to attend.

Seniors Put Out Last Times Issue

Margery Rapp, Helen Banks Act As Co-General Managers; Entire Staff Composed Of Grads

Last paper on which the graduating seniors of the class of 1939 will work, the senior issue of The Times, was given out tonight to everyone attending South Side's graduation exercises. A staff made up of seniors prepared the paper and did all work in connection with it so that the paper would be a senior issue, for the seniors, by the seniors.

Margery Rapp and Helen Banks were co-general managers of the issue; they chose the following senior staff to assist them: Eleanor Vesey, managing editor; Betty Daniels, business manager; Dorothy Bloemker, news editor; Betty Neeb, editorial page editor; Dick Buchholz, sports editor; Betty Showalter, girls' sports editor; Betty Daniels and Eleanor Vesey, make-up editors; Jeanette Warren, star reporter; Beverly Griffith, circulation manager; Jessie Freeman, advertising manager; Gwen DeWees, Betty Bolyard, Mary Lampton, Nadine Mueller, and June Enoch, copy readers; Lois Rea, Joe Bex, and Anna Lou Kowalski, editorial writers; Mary Lee Kixmiller, Betty Bolyard, and Gwen DeWees, reporters; Ed Reeves, Dick Garton, Max Mitchell, John Magley, Beth Ellen Chadwick, Donna Dennis, Wilma Carrier, and Eileen Hoffman, sports writers; Janice Dyer, cartoonist; and June Enoch and Mary Lampton, ad solicitors.

Action on the special senior issue was begun three weeks ago when the co-general managers met to choose their staff and to lay plans for the final issue of this publication for the term just completed.

A feature of the paper will be a group of stories concerning the results of a questionnaire given to all seniors about their life in South Side for four years.

Both co-general managers have served on the regular Times staff in the position of co-managing editors; both are members of Quill and Scroll and held positions on The Totem during the past two semesters.

Green Stadium To Be Lighted By Floodlights

Outfit To Be Installed By Central High School To Get Improved Attendance

After several weeks of negotiations between school officials, Central High School and South Side came to an agreement whereby floodlights will be installed in our stadium so that Central may play night games here instead of at North Side. It is probable that several South Side grid contests will be held under the floodlights during the coming season.

The reasons that the Tigers intend to play eight of their ten 1939 games under the floodlights were given in a statement made to newspapers by Central athletic officials. The statement said, "We have found ourselves unable to break even on football when played under the sun's light. Fort Wayne is too close to many good college games each Saturday, and more and more grid fans are out of the city each week-end to see the college games. Others are staying home on Saturday afternoons to listen to the radio. We know that in playing night football we are making the only possible step toward preventing the heavy losses on the sport that have spoiled our seasons for the last few years."

Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of public schools, granted Central permission to use the southern field for the Tiger home games, all of which will be played under the lights, according to the present schedule. Eight of Central's ten games are expected to take place under artificial illumination.

The plans for the installation of a lighting system at South Side's stadium include the construction of ten high poles on which 52 floodlights will be placed, with 1,500 watts in use. The work on the lights will be done during the summer months by the City Light Company. Officials of this company have conferred with Central officials on the project and have indicated that, because of conditions in the stadium, the Archer grid field can be made into one of the best lighted fields in the entire state high school system.

Other Teams To Play
Athletic officials in the four city high schools will no doubt get together from time to time so that, as much as possible, games can be scheduled on nights when the other teams in the city are either out of town or are idle.

Central has tried lighted games several times before. Last year the Tigers played at the North Side field, since Central has no home field, and several seasons ago tried to play night games at League Park, which was recently demolished. Neither of these experiments turned out successfully, however, because North Side had first pick for dates at the northern field and because at the field in League Park the spectators were too far away from the action of the game. Under the system to be inaugurated next fall it is expected that the Tigers will have one of their more successful seasons although they lose nine letters. Central gave out twenty-five letters last year, and many of these boys will be back with plenty of experience to begin the season with.

May 25 Sees Students Parade In Ivy Service

An impressive Ivy Day ceremony was witnessed by approximately 500 graduating seniors and 12B's on the north lawn of the school grounds, May 25.

In accordance with all precedents set by seniors in former years, the parade of students assembled in the gym and headed by the South Side band and the Ivy Queen, Nadine Mueller, and attendants, Lilia Patton, Lois Rea, Eileen Hoffman, and Kitty Cline, marched around the school, halting on the north lawn.

Here, on a raised platform, Dick Buchholz delivered the Ivy Day oration. Mr. R. Nelson Snider and Eugene Schmidt, senior class president, addressed the students in the interest of Ivy Day. Max Spencer led the seniors in singing The Ivy Song and Alma Mater.

Archers Will Spend Vacation In Summer Months Working On Diverse Favorite Hobbies

Robert Blair hopes to spend an interesting vacation fishing, swimming, and playing tennis. He also intends to spend some time in Chicago, Detroit, and other cities of interest.

Robert Bollinger has a full summer planned. He will visit New York City, Chicago, and Lake Michigan. During his spare moments he will play baseball.

Maurice Everson will follow his hobby of collecting plants and pictures. He is to work for money by working in a drug store. Maurice intends to go to Chicago for a ball game and north to fish.

Marion Ehle has hopes of attending International Business College for her summer vacation.

Karl Eberly's plans for the summer include following his hobby of golfing, swimming, skeet shooting, and baseball. Karl is going to work at odd jobs to make some money. He also intends to visit New York's World Fair and visit Clear Lake.

Jane Karyl Belt will spend her summer preparing for college. Jane will make a notebook of her drawings which have to be shown before she enters an advanced school.

Taking care of children will occupy Gladys Beverford's summer. While Gladys is not working she will spend her time reading.

Dorothy Burke's hobby is very interesting. She will collect antique miniature furniture. Dorothy also hopes to visit the New York World's Fair.

During the time of caddyding at different golf courses, Robert Buschman will collect score cards.

Beware of James E. Bunner because his hobby is photography and he delights in taking odd pictures of people. Joanna Hovers only ambition for this summer is to visit the New York World's Fair.

Cletus Evans has definite plans for the summer. He plans to study music. Cletus also wants to go on the following trip. He plans to visit Chicago, New York's Fair, and Southern Indiana.

Paul Ellinger intends to follow his hobby of reading. He also intends to work as caddy to make some money. Paul looks forward to his trip to the San Francisco World's Fair. In August Paul is to spend two weeks with the State Militia at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

Katherine Craig will be busy this summer collecting various things for her scrapbooks.

Vivian Crill has a full summer planned working and visiting Indianapolis, Anderson, and Chicago.

Bill Cargile intends to follow his hobbies of building model airplanes, and baseball games in major leagues. Besides these hobbies he wants to visit the World's Fair.

Virginia Callisin will probably have many pretty clothes this summer because she will sew during her vacation. Between her sewing hours she will visit Chicago, and Lake James.

Jack Cranfill will keep cool during his vacation, he will work at a summer resort up north. He also will do a little exploring in a canoe.

Kathryn Creman is planning to be busy this summer taking care of her cousins and going to the lake.

Swimming, baseball, and tennis seems to be Jim Dunaway's hobby this summer. He intends to fish at Seymore and he will probably bring back some whoppers.

Work seems to be Claude Davenport's hobby. He will spend his summer working in a filling station and carrying papers.

Betty Lou Day is another movie fan. Betty's summer will be spent saving movie stars' pictures and continuing with her movie scrapbook. She also plans to visit Miami, Florida.

Building model airplanes and designing will occupy Frank DuWaldt's vacation. Frank also hopes to catch large fish at the lake. He will probably be lucky and catch a whopper.

Henry Ditton will be a farmer this summer. Henry is going to spend his time on his grandfather's farm.

Swimming, playing tennis and reading will be Donna Dennis' hobbies during vacation. Florida and Lake James will be the places Donna will visit.

Paul Butler is a watch maker. Paul will spend his time fixing old clocks and watches if possible. He thinks himself capable.

Lavern Bushore will spend an interesting summer meeting people by communication. Lavern intends to collect stamps.

Again I sit down to the old typewriter to write this column, but this time it's different from the other times. This time it's the last, so here goes!

Poor Margery Price! If prophecies hold true, she really has a life ahead of her. At two recent banquets she has been prophesied as taking care of little children. The one time she was to be keeping a girls' camp, or something like that; and the other time she was to be Aunt Floo Flookerty, telling fairy stories to all the dear little children of the radio audience. Don't worry, too much, Margery.

We were indeed sorry that Mrs. Clem couldn't be with us at our Spring Banquet. We did appreciate her message, however.

Donna Dennis was one of the lucky Fort Wayne'ers who got to attend the recent automobile races at Indianapolis. I guess she had a wonderful time. (He must be pretty swell, Donna).

A big bunch of roses goes to the new president of G. A. A., Jeanne Smith. For the first time in our history, a junior will stand at the head of the G.A.A., beginning next fall. We wish Jeanne all the success possible in her new leadership. We know she and the other officers under her can keep the G. A. A. swinging through another year.

We salute our retiring president, Hazel Perry! She has the highest number of points of any graduating senior and therefore earns the right of having her name engraved on the G. A. A. plaque. Sincere congratulations, Hazel!

We regret that we must leave the G. A. A. before Bill Moss becomes a regular member. A word of advice to the ones who will still be here.—He is quite near to joining, so keep after him next semester. He was at the banquet, you know, and that's a sure sign that he's interested. Maybe he will also bring Josephine along.

Maybe we've had to carry around a sprained finger now and then, maybe some of us have had sprained ankles, or maybe we've got hit in the chin by a flying hockey ball, but we have had fun in G. A. A.—more clean, good fun than it is possible to imagine. We'll even miss the fun in the shower room.

Before I jerk the paper from the typewriter, I think special credit should be given to some of the outstanding senior G. A. A.'ers who have played their last games while in G. A. A. These include Gwen Roberts, Hazel Perry, Adelheid Scheele, Patty Lyman, Donna Dennis, Wilma Carrier, Mildred Franz, Frieda Schubert, Dorothy Bloemker, Margery Price, Velma Connett, Virginia Sprunger, Pauline Oetting, Margery Schelper, and Betty Showalter.

Some of the G. A. A.'ers wonder who Jeanne Smith has been practicing tennis with. Won't you tell us, Jeanne?

Archer Arrow Is Float For Parade

The Archer Arrow, a float designed by Miss Erma Dochterman, was part of South Side's contribution to the parade in celebration of Concordia's centennial celebration last Thursday night. This extravaganza was made from white corrugated paper with a little airbrush decoration in green over a foundation of wood built by boys under Mr. J. Henry Chappell's direction, Bob Biedenweg, Bob Stillwell, Bill Bundy, Maurice Archbold, and Bob Cummins.

This streamlined float was the last word in modern design and was representative of progressive South Side. Art work was supervised by Miss Dochterman and Miss Blanche Hutto. Students who labored especially hard are Bob and Jack Hodell, Wayne Heinzelman, Harold Kitzmiller, Jim Glass, Charles Macamer, and Bill Blass. All work was done in the Koomer Garage on Darrow Avenue.

An added feature was the human arrowhead formed by seven boys dressed in new Archer costumes made by Miss Pearl Rehorst and the girls in her sewing classes. Also each carried a quiver and arrows furnished by the Archery Club. The boys were Henry Velkoff, Eugene Schmidt, Jim Glass, Dick Buchholz, Jim Craig, Wayne Heinzelman, and Max Spencer.

Adelheid Scheele Is Tiniest Of Seniors In G.A.A. Activities

A veteran of the G. A. A. courts during the past four years has been Adelheid Scheele, better known as simply "Scheele." She has the distinction of probably being the tiniest member of the senior G. A. A. combination. She is seventeen years old, having been born on October 2, 1921, so her age has nothing to do with her short stature.

Adelheid graduated from Emmaus Lutheran grade school and entered South Side as one more link in the long line of Scheele girls who have all been prominent here. A great part of the last four years she has spent in poring over the college preparatory course. As a 12A, Adelheid looks back over the trials and tribulations of those four years and names G. A. A. as one of her most relaxing recreations. She selects as her favorite subject and teacher, civics, and Miss Perkins, respectively.

In G. A. A. she participated in baseball, basketball, tumbling, and volleyball. She has earned her numerals and will probably receive her letter in June, as by that time she will have achieved 1500 points.

Mademoiselle Scheele has a touch of the French in her and enthusiastically attends the French Club meetings. She likes to read and swim, listen to Tommy Dorsey, and see Errol Flynn and Loretta Young in films. Of all the sports, she likes best to play baseball. Numbering among her other accomplishments are playing the piano and cooking. And speaking of cooking, her favorite foods are cream puffs, olives, and cauliflower; however, she dislikes chop suey and onions. And she does not like people who talk about her behind her back.

Miss Scheele has many preferences—too numerous to mention. But she does favor bluish hues, and she simply adored the handsome vocalist in Clyde McCoy's band. (Who didn't?)

She holds unlimited admiration for two prominent seniors: Janice Dyer and Henry Velkoff. But even that does not make her forget a certain embarrassing incident when she fell off her chair in Mr. Murphy's civics class. Her ambition is to attend college for at least two years and then follow the career she will have decided upon.

Sportlights

A Resurrection from the Dead! A column brought back to life for the enjoyment (?) of its readers. Little Jack Horner was again sitting in his corner, but this time he deviated from the usual plumb-pulling and pulled out "Sportlights." And as long as it's out, we present it to you by bringing you interesting bits from here and there on the sport front.

A rookie to watch is twenty-nine-year old Whitlow Wyatt, who is playing his first season with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Coming from Milwaukee, where he won over twenty games last season, Wyatt is giving a little spark to the Dodgers. Already he leads the National League with three wins against no defeats. He should be able to add more life to the pitching staff and help bring Brooklyn out of second division.

Tired of warming the bench season after season, Gene Lillard turned from the infield to try his hand at pitching. With two wins to his credit against one defeat, Lillard seems to have conquered in his fight to get out and play for his team. Although good at playing the infield, Lillard could not compete against the Cub infield. So he switched to pitching and found his stride.

Who called the American League a race? With the Yankees setting the pace, they are a cinch to repeat. Now the only race in that league is for first division, with Boston, Cleveland and Chicago vying for second, third and fourth. If the Yankees take their fourth title, it will be the first time in the history of the junior league.

Jimmy Snyder captured the pole position in the starting line-up in qualifying for the race by setting a new track record of 130.757 miles an hour. Already fifteen racers have qualified. Every one of them did it at better than 120 miles per hour. Johnny Seymour of Grosse Pointe, Mich., barely escaped with his life when his car turned over and was destroyed by fire.

The St. Louis Cardinals have been setting the pace in the senior loop. They have continued to beat their foes—usually taking each series. St. Louis and Cincinnati will probably be the two teams to beat in the National League. Warneke, one of the St. Louis Cardinal pitchers, can well have a great deal of credit for he already has five wins to his credit against one loss.

G. A. A. President Has Most Points

Hazel Perry Will Have Name Engraved On Plaque, Others To Receive Letters At Service

Hazel Perry, president of G. A. A. for the past year, is high point winner in the club and her name will be engraved on the G. A. A. plaque. Other seniors, juniors, and sophomores received their letters at the recognition service last Friday afternoon.

Three seniors received their letters in January, but they were recognized again with the rest. They were Bernice Bender, Mildred Franz, and Margery Price. Those seniors who get theirs in June are Wilma Carrier, Adelheid Scheele, and Virginia Sprunger.

Dorothy Amstutz, Mary Griffith, Audrey Mutschleener, Lucille Scheiman, Pauline Werling, and Eleanor Wittwer are all juniors who earned their letters by last January. The following juniors are now ready for their letters: Mary Jane Derck, Virginia Goeglein, Dorothy Herrman, Audrey Hall, Lois Jarvis, June Neith, Miriam Rarick, Pauline Zaegel, Marion Feichter, Dorothy Beyrau, and Betty Marquardt.

A few sophomores were able to accumulate enough points in their first two years and they are Bernadine Bender, Jeanne Smith, Martha Jane Krauskopf, Bernadine Pressler, and Marguerite Calkins.

1938-39 Athletic Events Pass For Review Once More

Wins, Losses Mark Seasons Sports' Parade

Gridiron Team Suffered Ten Straight Losses In Spite Of Its Fighting Spirit

Net Squad Turns In Brilliant Season

First Perfect Basketball Record Established; Are Defeated In Regionals

The 1938-39 South Side varsity sports program brought a great many ups and downs in the feeling of Archer fans. The Archer grid men suffered ten straight losses. The basketball team, on the other hand, won all twenty of its scheduled games only to be knocked off by a small, but mighty Ossian five in the regionals at Huntington. The track squad promised to be one of the best in the state, but ran up against some tough luck and were beaten again by the North Side track squad in their bid for the N. E. I. C. and City crowns. Archer tennis men again vanquished all opposition and turned in a victory in N. E. I. C. competition. The golf squad had a mediocre season but came back strong to win the N. E. I. C. tournament.

Coach Bill Moss replaced Lundy Welborn as the Archer grid mentor last fall and ran into a mighty tough assignment. Most of the grid candidates were either small or lacked experience. Nevertheless, Coach Moss put a lot of spirit and fight into his charges, and, although they didn't win a game, the South Side gridgers well represented the old Alma Mater. The Green lost their opener to Washington of South Bend, 40-0. This was followed by defeats at the hands of Woodward of Toledo, Bryan, Peru, Michigan City, Froebel of Gary, Central Catholic, North Side, LaPorte, and Central. However, Moss will have a lot of boys back next season and should turn up with a winning team.

The basketball team, fresh from their state championship victory picked up where they left off last year. The result was the first perfect season record in the history of South Side. In winning all of their scheduled games the Archers swept with them the city and N. E. I. C. titles. The Green tournaments got under way. Frankfort and Vincennes had noosed the Archers in the Hammond Holiday Invitational tournament. Central, Leo, Decatur, and North Side fell before the Green Wave in the sectionals and the Archers advanced to the regionals co-favorite with Frankfort to win the state title. Redkey expected tougher to beat than had been projected, finally succumbing, 28-25. The Ossian game proved to be just one of those things in Indiana basketball, of the Bears pulling the biggest upset of the season in beating the Archers 42-28.

Basketball season closed, the Archer track men grabbed the spotlight and developed into the best South Side track team in many a year. However, the loss of Merchant and Bol-yard just before the sectional, N. E. I. C., and city meets left the Archers badly crippled. The result was North Side victories in each of these meets. Three men, Arnold, Beery, and Altman, represented South Side in the state meet, Altman placing in the pole vault. During the season several school records were bettered. Bob Bolyard set a new record in the broad jump with a leap of 21 feet, 5 1/2 inches. Alison Arnold lowered his own low hurdle mark and "Tiny" Altman pole vaulted 11 feet, 7 1/2 inches for the last of the new records.

Tennis and golf competition resulted in two more N. E. I. C. championships. The Archer netmen had another undefeated season. The golf team won only one of five matches but nevertheless outdistanced the field by 25 strokes to win the N. E. I. C. title for the third straight year.

G. A. A. Seniors Plan To Work, Enjoy Sports During Summer

Many of the graduating G. A. A. seniors have their plans all made on how they are going to spend the coming summer. The majority of them hope to get jobs, while some already have jobs promised to them. Others hope to travel to various parts of the country before they settle down to working or other plans which they might have. But regardless of the vocational side of the question, all of the girls have included some sports in their leisure time for the coming summer. When some of the loyal G. A. A. seniors were asked how they were going to spend this coming summer, the following replies were given.

Patty Lyman: I hope to work if I can, but everybody knows how indefinite that can be. If this proves to be an impossibility, I will probably do what one usually does in the summer, swim, play tennis, and etc.

Betty Showalter: I want to try getting a job "plunkin'" the typewriter, and making use of my short-hand. Of course, I want to play a lot of tennis this summer, that is, if I can convince my pals to get out of the shade. Then, too, I want to go swimming as often as possible.

Donna Dennis: I'll be off for Florida in another week where I am going to visit my aunt and uncle. Since they have a house on Treasure Island, I expect to do a lot of swimming and boat riding. Then when I come back, I hope to do the same as Betty.

Hazel Perry: Well, I'm going to be different. I want to go back to school. No, not South Side but International Business College. If I have time, of course, I want to play tennis, go swimming, and indulge in other summer sports.

Gwen Roberts: I'm going to try to get a job and if I can't do that I'll probably lay around home. Then, too, I suppose I will go to the lake and play tennis.

Margery Price: Massachusetts is my destination. There I will be assistant cook at a camp, "Chimney Corners." I'll get to go swimming every afternoon, so I'll have plenty of fun.

Dorothy Bloemker: Gee, I don't know. Mom, what am I going to do this summer? Oh, I guess I will spend a week at the lake with some other kids, and then I hope to go to Chicago, Detroit, and St. Louis. Isn't it funny, I have never thought of what I am going to do this summer.

Frieda Schubert: Right now I am working at General Hository and I am going to continue to work there the rest of the summer. Then in the fall, I am going to enter nurses' training at the Lutheran Hospital.

Wilma Carrier: I hope to do some traveling this summer, for it might be my last chance. First, I am going to Portsmouth, Ohio, to visit my sister, I hope. Then, I am going to spend the rest of the summer trying to convince my folks to go to the San Francisco Fair and take me with them.

Ends Good Year

Mr. Louis Briner

Louis Briner, physical education teacher and intramural supervisor, should be honored for the fine way in which he conducted the intramural activities this year. In fact, under his control, our intramural system tops that of any high school in the state.

G. A. A. Fetched Out Various Top Events For Senior Lassies

G. A. A. has presented many outstanding activities during the last four years, but the seniors have their own idea as to which ranked the highest in their mind. They all readily agreed that the club's activities were all highly entertaining and they would never forget the fun and good times they have had in participating in them. The following statements were made from graduating seniors to the question, "What in your mind was the outstanding activity that G. A. A. offered during the four years you have been in South Side?"

Donna Dennis: Personally, I liked the last lettergirls' play day in which the girls of Central and North Side were our guests. I thought we had lots of fun, and we did have plenty to eat.

Betty Showalter: I agree with Donna, the play day was my favorite too.

Hazel Perry: Oh, I liked the parties, of course. I guess I liked the play day and Halloween party best.

Margery Price: I enjoyed the play day at Kendallville, and I shall always remember the fun I had. I also like the banquets, for they are so quiet and different.

Gwen Roberts: I agree with Hazel in selecting the parties and play day.

Patty Lyman: They were all so good, that it is difficult to choose one; so I'll just say I liked them all.

Dorothy Bloemker: I had the most fun at the last play day but I think the exhibitions were real nice.

Frieda Schubert: Ditto.

Marjorie Schelper: Sorry, but I guess I'll have to agree with the others.

G. A. A. Will Have Annual Breakfast

Affair Will Be Held June 8 At Foster Park; Letters, Numerals Will Be Given Out

Tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock the members of the G. A. A. will hold their last activity of the semester. The affair will be a breakfast at Foster Park. At this time, letters and numerals will be awarded to all those members having at least 300 and 1500 points respectively.

Chairman of the entertainment committee is the new president, Jeanne Smith. Aiding her in providing games, etc., are Martha Scheele and Martha Cash. The new vice-president of the G. A. A., Hertha Hoffman, is chairman of the food committee. Helping her are Delaine Rose and Pauline Werling.

Chairman of the fire committee is Geneva Martin, the club's new secretary. Ho Hirschman and Neva Rabel are working on this committee. The clean-up committee is headed by Lucille Scheuman, the new treasurer. Mary Alice Dunten, the club's new Inter-Club Congress representative, and Betty Hargan, the freshman representative, are aiding her.

G. A. A. Season Is Great Year For Memories

Halloween Party, Inter-School Play Day, "The World Cruise," Stand Out

"Thanks for the memories," murmur the departing seniors. They will remember a school great in many ways. Many athletic girls will remember an especially great G. A. A. season. They will remember the guiding hands of Miss Gretchen Smith and Miss Alice Dean, rolling the season off to a nice start.

The first big upset of the season was when little sophomore Jeanne Smith copped off the crown of tennis champion from all the other expert players, including the seniors.

Then the girl athletes took time out to enjoy the annual G. A. A. Halloween party; and bums, ex-convicts, clowns, pirates, and farmers frolicked at the affair.

Shortly after that event, Rose Stemen's freshmen team walked off with the speedball championship. Hazel Perry and her senior team captured the hockey crown at the same time. In December, G. A. A. lettergirls from Central, South Side, and North Side met here for their annual Play Day.

Betty Hargan's freshman volleyball team pulled through to a championship by virtue of an undefeated season. The seniors accomplished a similar feat to carry off the upper-class volleyball championship.

With the holidays over, January brought Recognition Day; and consequently, honor to a number of prominent G. A. A.'ers. February 16 was a joyous day. The seniors became the basketball champs. (This championship business was beginning to become a habit with them.) Then came the blow. A remarkable sophomore combination, led by Jeanne Smith, defeated the undefeated seniors to win the honor basketball tourney.

In March the tumbling season came to a close and preparations were doubled for the G. A. A. exhibition on March 31. "The World Cruise" was a huge success due to the willing work of hundreds of students.

Jeanne Smith and her sophomore team wound up a very successful year in May when they became the unchallenged winners of the baseball season. The track meet was the very last event of the season. Now all G. A. A.'ers, seniors and underclassmen, can relax and enjoy a richly deserved vacation in compensation for all the effort they put out to make this one of the most successful G. A. A. seasons in South Side's history.

Senior Class Votes Champ Team Upset As Most Sad Affair

Though most seniors will claim, and rightly so, that their years in South Side have been joyful ones, apparently there have been some sad times, as was shown by the senior questionnaire. Many odd and varied answers were received to the query, "What do you think was the saddest event during your four years here?"

In the opinion of most of the seniors, and of course the rest of the student body will back them up on it, the saddest thing for them was the defeat of the Archer basketball squad last March when they bowed to the giant-killers from Ossian. A total of ninety-four persons chose this event as the saddest they experienced; the 42-28 loss evidently taking with it the hopes of many a senior for another championship team.

Next on the list of saddening events to the students was the death of the grand old man, Herbert Voorhees, who died at the age of seventy-nine, just a year short of his appointed goal of eighty years. The seniors probably felt this blow more than anyone else in school since the underclassmen have had less opportunity to become acquainted with the grand old man than have others attending South Side.

The last of the big three sad events is commencement; for a large number of seniors apparently aren't too happy over the prospect of leaving South Side. Perhaps after the seniors have taken off their caps and gowns for the last time and know for sure that they have left South Side and their Archer friends behind, more will believe that commencement is the saddest event of the year for them.

Besides these sad events listed by those taking the questionnaire, a number of other events were named. Among them the death of Donald King, who was killed by an automobile a short time ago. Some of these sad events were: thinking up theme subjects, taking tests, last year's football season, grade cards, getting my first eighth, having a certain teacher a second time, starting to school (any school according to the person taking the questionnaire), getting kicked off the track team, and not getting a letter for sports participation.

Two hardy souls in the graduating class were apparently untouched by the many sad events listed above because they informed us that they found no event sad while in South Side. Nice work if you can get it, eh!

Teacher: Your hands are dirty. Tommy. What would you do if I came to school with my hands dirty? Tommy: I'd be too polite to mention it.

Archers Winners In Tennis Match

Central Is Defeated By Green In Straight Sets; Dammeier Is Spark In Tough Match

South Side's Archer tennis team completely vanquished the Central Tigers in a match last Monday by the score of 6-0. The match was closer than the score indicates for there were several hard-fought battles.

Paul Dammeier, the number one man on South Side's team, was featured in the best match of the afternoon. Dammeier easily took the first set 6-2, and after trailing in the second set finally conquered his opponent, Heller, 7-5.

The doubles match between Waldschmidt-Martin and Squires-Smallwood proved to be a thriller with the Archers finally conquering.

The complete results are: P. Dammeier (South Side) defeated Heller, 6-2, 7-5; Doermier (South Side) defeated Squires, 6-4, 6-0; Waldschmidt (South Side) defeated Bond, 6-3, 6-2; Martin (South Side) defeated Smallwood, 6-2, 6-3; Dammeier-Doermier defeated Heller-Bond, 6-0, 6-2; Waldschmidt-Martin defeated Squires-Smallwood, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4.

Through your years at school, mistakes seem so real until their opposite, the Truth, the real, is known. May the present step in growth you are making be the real, the Truth, rather than the seeming real, mistakes.

Noted Minister Gives Sermon For Graduation

Reverend Charles Houser Is Baccalaureate Speaker At The Shrine Auditorium

Reverend Charles M. Houser, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational Church, gave the baccalaureate sermon for the South Side graduates Sunday at 7:30 p. m. in the Shrine Auditorium. The topic of the sermon was "The Language of Happiness." The main points of the speech were stressed by the pastor were—Get your grammar right. Live in the active voice rather than in the passive, thinking more about what you do than what happens to you. Live in the indicative mood rather than in the subjunctive, concerned with things as they are rather than as they might be. Live in the present tense, facing duty of hand without regret for past or worry about the future. Live in the first person criticizing yourself rather than finding fault with others. If you want a verb to conjugate you cannot do better than take the verb Love. Love God with all your heart and your neighbor in the same practical way that you love yourself. The program for the sermon was as follows:

Orchestral Prelude—"Venetian Love Song" "Buona Notte" (from "Day in Venice" suite).....Nevin
South Side High School Orchestra, J. W. Wainwright, Director
Class Processional—"Processional March".....Cobb

Honor Society Receives New Memberships

Elect 27 To Quill And Scroll At Potluck; Hold Annual Banquet May 25

Twenty-seven members of Quill and Scroll national honorary society for persons interested in journalism who have worked on high school publications, were named during the past school year by Miss Rowena Harvey, faculty adviser for all South Side publications, who chooses the members of the society on their work and scholastic standing. Every year the students chosen to receive Quill and Scroll pins are announced at a Times or 1500 Club potluck.

Qualifications For Membership

To receive the award a student must be a senior and must be in the upper third of his class scholastically.

Last fall six members were named; these were Ed Reeves, Eleanor Vesey, Joe Bex, Frieda Schubert, Julia Ann Smith, and Phyllis Geller.

This spring at a Times potluck, the remaining twenty-one members were announced to be Helen Banks, Vera Berning, Betty Bolyard, Richard Buchholz, Wilma Carrier, Beth Ellen Chadwick, Betty Daniels, Donna Dennis, Gwendolyn DeVees, Janice Dyer, Richard Garton, Beverly Ann Griffith, Eileen Hoffman, Nadine Mueller, Betty Neeb, Margery Rapp, Lois Rea, Betty Showalter, Max Spencer, Jeanette Warren, and Kenneth Warren. Each of these as well as those named earlier have received Quill and Scroll pins for their work on The Times and Totem.

Banquet Is Held

A banquet for all Quill and Scroll members was held at Miller's Cafeteria; May 25. After this banquet, at which no speeches were given, the members of the organization went to a theatre party conducted by Miss Harvey. This was the only activity the South Side Quill and Scroll members entered into.

To The Faculty-- From The Class Of '39

(Read at National Honor Banquet)

For Four long years we have suffered, Suppressing each thought and each word;

Evidently we were to be the students Who were to be seen and not heard! Up to now, we've been very quiet We've said nothing we've wanted to say—

But when we were given a minute tonight, We decided to have our way!

At this point you may have expected Verse after verse on the wrongs Which you, the teachers, have committed Against us, the victims, so long. And don't think for a minute we'd have spared you,

From relating the torturing you've done, But as we stopped to enumerate, We could think of practically none.

We thought of your classes we'd been in; Of the tests that you'd given us, Of the daily lessons we'd prepared for you, Of the trials, tribulations, and fuss.

We could think of nothing That had ever been done To hurt us in any way; All we could think of Were the things you had done To help us from day to day!

The hardships seemed small The triumphs so large that Only happy times came into view—

The reason for this— That one thing we're sure Is the real help that we've had from you.

There are high schools all over the country But we've failed, as hard as we've tried, To find one which offers its students A faculty like the one at South Side. Guess there have always been teachers

Guess that there always will be But like "you" there'll not be another If there is, we'll believe when we see. We want to thank you for our four years of high school,

For it's you that we owe them to; We want to thank you for reviewing the old things,

And for patiently explaining the new. We want to thank you for helping us over the bumps,

And for turning our wrongs into rights For it's you who made possible the victory

Which terminates our four years of fight. —Beverly Ann Griffith.

Music Assemblies Are Most Enjoyed Senior Recollections

With so many interesting things going on in South Side day after day, it was almost impossible to find the most interesting happenings of the seniors during their high school careers. Naturally, when the seniors tried to list the thing most interesting to them as students in high school, all sorts of things started flowing through their minds.

After giving much thought to the subject, a majority of the students who answered the senior questionnaire said that the most interesting thing that went off at South Side was the music assembly which was presented at regular intervals by the music department. Next on the list was the appearance of the world-famed violinist, Rubini, who stopped over here at South Side when he was in town to play a concert at the Shrine Auditorium. These two things are pretty much alike though, since they both concern music and music assemblies in particular.

Following closely behind these two things were the pep sessions held during football and basketball seasons, the Senior Play of 1939, the senior Funfest, and Jimmy Richards. It can be easily understood that each of these interesting things would have their followers.

Also in the running in the poll of the seniors were the senior banquet, social health lectures, state championships celebrations, "Martha," chemistry, industrial arts, the junior prom, Richard Strauss, the senior play of 1937, the National Honor Society Banquet, the Indian who danced in an assembly, and the Wittenberg College Band concert.

Mark Gross, '35, Wins Honors At Graduation

Mark Gross, '35, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Gross, was graduated from Swarthmore College with high honors in philosophy at the commencement exercises June 5. Mark played the lead in "Liliom" given by the Little Theatre Club, of which he was elected president. He has been a member of the Student Council, of the Press Board, of the advisory board of the Phoenix, college weekly newspaper.

In 1938 he received the Crane prize for the outstanding philosophy student in the junior class. Mark was awarded his varsity letter in track and was a member of the junior varsity football team. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Our Dean Says

To The Students of South Side High School:

There is deep satisfaction in coming to the end of the school year with a good record of work well done. If you have added to your fine record, happy associations, healthful recreations, and lasting friendships you have had a successful year. I hope that you will have a well earned, profitable, and happy vacation.
